WEDDING BELLS

Mills—McKim.

On the evening of September 2nd, 1927, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. S. McKim, Adelphi Street, when their daughter, Evelyn, became the bride of Mr. Frank B. Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Mills, Napanee.

Promptly at six o'clock, the bride, looking sweet and charming in white satin, and carrying a bridal bouquet of ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley, entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Susie Shorey. She stood before an arch of pink and white roses, and attended by Miss Clancie Hall, of Belleville, as bridesmaid, who was becomingly attired in rose shot taffeta. Rev. James McChillivray assisted the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Pawson, of Trinity Church, Napanee, assisted by Rev. W. H. Truscott, of West Huntingdon, brother-in-law of the groom, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and a few intimate friends, who stood reverently through the short but impressive ceremony.

After the congratulations a delightful buffet luncheon was served by the Misses Nina McKim, Marie Paul, Nellie Morgan, Edith Taverner, Susie Shorey and Nina Wilson.

A pleasing feature of the happy event followed, when the bride gave to each guest a flower from her bouquet as a memento of the occasion. The happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti, and the good wishes of a host of friends, for a month's wedding trip by motor to Toronto, Toronto, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, and Atlantic City.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hall, Belleville; Miss Lottie and Mr. Percy Asselstine, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mr. M. V. Lake, Miss E. Parke, Mrs. Joyner, and Mr. W. Gault.

Mooney—Slee.

A very quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Basil's Church, Toronto, on Saturday morning, the 3rd inst., when Miss Mary A., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Mooney, South Napanee, was united in marriage to Mr. John, eldest son of Mrs. M. and the late Mr. Slee, of 494 Markham St., Toronto, the Rev. Fr. Fidelis officiating.

The bride, attired in powdered blue georgette with hat to match, and given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. Mooney, of Oshawa, was ably assisted by Miss Catharine McGarry, attired in a similar shade, while the groom, who is a prominent young broker of the city, was ably assisted by Mr. Joseph Mooney, of Oshawa, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a sterling silver compact, and to the groomsman a set of gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the bridal party amidst showers of rice and confetti, left the church to motor to the reception held at the bride's home, a sumptuous repast was served, to which a few of their many friends were invited. The bride received a large number of useful and handsome presents, showing the many friends she has made in Toronto. We all join in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

McCaw—Helferty.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Gregory's Church, Picton, on August 31st, 1927, at St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church, Picton, when Monica, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mc-Helferty, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence McCaw, second son of Mr. Edwin J. and the late Mrs. McCaw, Rev. Father Crowley officiating. Miss Marguerite LaVelle presided at the organ. The church was prettily decorated with gladiolis, asters and hydrangeas, the bride's table being done in L'Immache.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a French frock of orchid-mauve georgette with Milanese lace and pearl trimmings, finished with moire ribbon bows at the bodice and shoulder, with white picture hat and shoes to match. She carried a sheaf of mixed roses, lily-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern. The bride was attended by her only sister, Winifred, who wore a becoming dress of Nile green blue georgette, with trimmings of silver lace, grey fox fur, with black picture hat and shoes to match, and carried pink asters, carnations and maiden hair fern. Mr. Jack McCaw, brother of the groom, was best man. The wedding breakfast was given at the home of the bride's parents, after which the newly-wedded couple left amid the immediate relatives present. During the nuptial mass, solos were sweetly rendered by Miss Margaret Ward, of Toronto, and Mr. Charles E. LaVelle, of Rochester, N.Y. The bride travelled in a gown of lavender blue flat crepe with touches of Nile green georgette, coat to match, fur, hat and shoes to match. Last Sunday night, in the United Church, Rev. Mr. Anderson preached an excellent sermon on "Where Rich and Poor Meet," which was very appropriate for Labor Day.

CAMDEN EAST LADIES' AID

The Ladies' Aid of Camden East United Church held their September meeting on the 6th inst., in the Ladies' Parlor at 2.30 o'clock.

There was an attendance of sixteen members and one visitor.

The President, Mrs. D. K. Saul, was in the chair. Hymn 133 opened the meeting, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the business was then discussed. It was decided to serve hot dinners at the School Fair which is to be held on the school premises on Sept. 23rd. The committee in charge of the organization for a first class hot dinner, which will be served in the church shed. A refreshment booth of ice cream, candy, etc. will also be on the grounds.

Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. B. Yeomans were appointed to purchase knives and forks for general use in church purposes.

An invitation was received from the Secretary of the County Ladies' Aid to attend the 9 annual convention, which is being held this year at Enterprise, on Sept. 28th. Two delegates, Mrs. B. Yeomans and Mrs. Geo. Scott, were chosen to attend the above convention.

Following the roll call, the collection was then taken and the meeting closed with the singing of Hymn 37.

BIRTHDAY PICNIC

On Thursday, Sept. 1st, 1927, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arnold, Roblin, Ont., were taken by surprise, when a number of their children and grandchildren gathered at their home, and filled baskets, to spend the day in honor of Mrs. Arnold's 77th birthday; this year also being the 60th anniversary of their marriage.

The party had intended an out-door picnic, but, owing to several days of rainy weather previous to this, it was confined to the house. At noon the table was laid and all sat down to a dinner like you don't see every day.

In the afternoon some snapshots were taken, after which some of the party went up the river for a fish. However, they came back later with very little, which made up that there were no fish left in Salmon River, and as Mr. and Mrs. Arnold had been out the day before and got a nice bunch, they decided that they must have caught them all. The day seemed to go all too soon, and again it was time to lunch. So after enjoying another meal together, the party dispersed to their several homes, wishing Mrs. Arnold many happy returns of the day, and trusting that they may be spared to spend many years of wedded happiness together.

TREASURES WON EASTERN TITLE.

DEFEATED THE LEAFS IN TWO STRAIGHT GAMES

What happened to the Leafs? After playing an excellent brand of ball for weeks, particularly in the last few games, they moved up into the play-offs for the Eastern Ontario Championships last week. The Leafs fell. They continued with their effectiveness at the bat, and outshone the Treasures in both their games, but at the bat was the only time that they looked very much like championship conflicters. The pitchers struggled along, doing their best at the heartbreaking task of trying to win games with no support, and their pitching, particularly that of Lillian Wagar, was immensely superior to that of the Kingston team's. Here and there a Napanee player showed a flash of the form that carried them through their league, and one or two played good ball in both games, particularly Beatrice McGuire. But on the whole, their team work was missing, their base running weak, their fielding poor and their throwing weird and awful. Nineteen errors were charged against them, but the scorers were charitable, and could have found twice that number.

In the first game Napanee earned eight runs, Kingston four. In the second Napanee earned twelve, Kingston seven. The actual scores were 22-9, and 12-16.

It may be that next year someone will organize another girls' team, and go through to a real championship, but they are never apt to have as good a chance as they had this year. The ten mile limit gave them the services of Beatrice McGuire, who undoubtedly is one of the best batters in the game, as well as an excellent fielder; Ruth Dickson, one of the most consistent and conscientious players on the team; Violet Whitton, the snappy little shortstop, and Lillian Wagar, the best pitcher to perform here this year, except those of the Nationals. It is not likely that these players will be available another year, and it will take a long time to find others of equal calibre. Not only was their play outstanding in every game in which they appeared, but they always tried hard, and did as they were told. Without these outside players the Leafs would not have had a chance, and the thanks of the management is due to them in great measure, for the way they came to town whenever called on to play for a team which represented a town other than their own, for the sheer love of the game.

The Kingston team which eliminated them, the Treasures, have some very good ball players in their lineup. Their pitcher, Miss Elaine Beck, was absent from both games, but her services were not necessary for Miss Fredericks was quite capable of winning, the way the Leafs were playing. In Miss Connelly they have a very expert catcher, and their infield Coakley, Ellerton, Compeau and Salsbury, work together nicely. The Leafs wish them the best of luck and success in their next round, probably against the Toronto Nationals.

Whether or not the locals will now be able to make a trip to Toronto is questionable. Their treasury is not strong, and their fans, who would have gladly helped them along to a playoff game, feel that it would be useless to send away a team which plays like the Leafs of the last two games. However, an exhibition series may be arranged presently with the Toronto Nationals. If they could regain their form of Fair week, they could give a real argument to the Ontario champions.

While their backers are disappointed over the playoff games, still they are proud to have been able to organize and manage a team which up until that time made such a creditable showing. They played with the strongest teams with which games could be arranged, winning 17, losing 13, and tieing 2.

They won the league in which they finished last in 1926, and they certainly boosted sport in Napanee. It is to be hoped that a town league will be organized this winter, similar to that of 1925-26, so that new players may be developed to take the place of these who will not be available in 1928.

Varicose Veins

Reduced or Money Back

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results."

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning as directed to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of running sores and ulcers, should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

THE TONIC THAT GIVES STRENGTH

After Acute Disenses the Blood Must be Built Up Before Recovery is Complete

Fevers and other acute diseases like pneumonia and influenza, leave the patient weak, with thin blood and unstrung nerves. The period of convalescence is often long and trying, and years of poor health have frequently followed so brief an illness as an attack of influenza or pneumonia.

Much of this sort of misery could be avoided by taking steps to build up the blood so that it can carry to the nerves and other tissues of the body the elements they need to restore their normal functional activities. To build up the blood and restore it to its rich, health-giving vigor, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last it is their mission to improve the blood and thus restore good health and vigor.

The value of these pills in conditions described above is shown by the statement of Mrs. Rebecca O'Brien, Pembroke, Ont., who says:—"In November, 1925, I was stricken with pneumonia, and at the time but little hope was held out for my recovery. However, with the best of care I was able to walk about after some months. But I did not recover my strength. The doctor told me I was anaemic. My appetite was poor, I grew nervous and restless, I was deathly pale and practically gave up hope of ever being strong again. However, remembering that in my girlhood I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with decided success, I decided to try them again. By the time I had used two boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me. Continuing their use I was soon able to attend to my household duties. I continued taking the pills, however, until I had used twelve boxes, by which time I was enjoying better health than at any time in the previous ten years. In gratitude for what the pills have done for me, I give this statement in the hope that it may point the way to health to some other weak, despondent woman."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Help to Weed Out

THE INCOMPETENT MOTOR DRIVERS

By securing your Motor Vehicle Operator's License now.

NO matter how cautious you are in the handling of your car, the safety of yourself and your passengers is dependent largely on the other drivers on the road. To prevent incompetent persons endangering your family and yourself, each driver in Ontario, not already licensed as a chauffeur, must possess a Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

Secure your application form today. You can get it from any garage or dealer of motor cars. Licenses in the Province. The fee for License is $1.

Traffic Patrol Officers may call for the production of Operator's Licenses both on city streets and country highways. If you cannot produce your License you will be subject to a penalty under The Highways Traffic Act.

New drivers, and those suffering from physical disability, have the opportunity to pass an examination by Inspectors of the Department. These Inspectors are located at convenient points throughout the Province. Your garage will tell you of the one nearest to you. The examination fee is $1.

Ontario Operator's Licenses are recognized in every Province and every State. Wherever Operator's Licenses are required, an Ontario Operator's License is necessary for everyone in charge of an Ontario car. Do not attempt to leave the Province without your Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

A satisfactory measure of support by the great majority of motorists has been accorded the Department in its past efforts to maintain the safety of the highways. The higher speed limit and an abnormal increase in traffic now render this additional measure necessary. The Department therefore sincerely hopes you will indicate your support of safe highway travel by securing your Operator's License without delay.

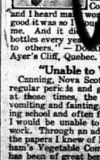
YOUNG WOMEN SUFFER MOST

These Two Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Ayer's Cliff, Quebec. — "I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year I always feel tired and have no appetite. I was awful sick each month, too, having pains in my back until someone told me I was 'obliged' to stop work. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I heard many people telling how good it was so I got it and it would help me. And it did. Now I take six bottles before my period and recommend it to others." — DONALDA FANTEUX, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

"Unable to Work"

Canning, Nova Scotia.—"I had irregular periods and great suffering at these times, the pains causing vomiting and fainting. I was teaching school and often for some hours I would be unable to attend to my work. Through an advertisement in the papers I knew of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has been of great benefit to me, the trouble having entirely ceased." — LAURA J. EATON, Canning, King's County, Nova Scotia.

Autumn Millinery

The season's smartest Chapeau shows closely the relief set by fashion's Parisian designers. Crowns of the head are high with the aid of tucks and soft folds. Brims droop dramatically and often evenly; they are definitely upright from a pretty off-the-face line. There are no brims at all, but a lightly moulded crown that fits the head as closely and becomingly as your own hair.

They all stress the use of felt, velvet, velour and satin in plain and combination effects.

Colors black, beige, blues, wood shades, grey, and the new wine shades.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

On Thursday evening, Sept. 1st, Sandhurst Parish Hall was the scene of a recital, when the pupils of Miss Eleanor E. Ham, A.T.C.M., A. Mus., played before a good sized and appreciative audience. It was the initial appearance before an audience for many of them, and this alone, added to the fact that the acoustic properties of the hall leave much to be desired, might have been sufficient reason for receiving an unfavorable impression of the recital, but the applause accorded the various participants was adequate evidence of the approval of the assemblage. The amount of time and care expended on the pupils, together with the faithfulness with which they pursued their studies, was manifested in the manner in which they set forth their attainments, thereby reflecting great credit on both instructor and pupils.

As a prologue to the recital, Miss Ham's rendition of the "Rhapsodie Hongroise," by Franz Liszt, was given in her customary style, with much expression and splendid technique.

The most difficult number on the program was "Roses di Boheme," by Kowalski, played in a brilliant manner by Elma Whyte.

The simple melodies, "Haymaking," played by Josephine Quaif, and "Narcissus," played by Jean Hogeboom, were well interpreted.

Beethoven's "Minuet in G" was played with deep expression by Peggy Ham.

The "Sonatina in F," by Beethoven, rendered very accurately by Vera Whyte, was much appreciated.

"The Goblins' Frolic," by Stephen Heller, is a light fairy dance, played by Ada Tackett, and was worthy of its splendid reception.

Also very worthy of mention were "L'Hirondelle," by Burgmuller, played by Margaret Wright, and the "Gipsy Rondo," by Haydn, played by Edith Bush, were both very gracefully and effectively executed.

"The Jolly Darkies," by Karl Bechter, a gay and dashing number, for four hands, was exceedingly well given by Frances Wright and Margaret Wright.

Mention must also be made of the little duet played by Jean Hogeboom and Peggy Ham, "The Little Prince," by C.W. Krogmann. This simple selection was played very well by these two youthful students.

Miss Beatrice Poston very ably assisted Miss Ham in the successful carrying out of the program. Miss Poston is a gifted contralto, and her voice is one of pleasing grace and flexibility. Her solos were greeted with much enthusiasm by the audience.

The co-operation between teacher and pupils contributed to making the recital a success, and with such a propitious beginning in this community, recitals of this kind are well on their way to popularity, and the next one will be attended by an increased number of music lovers.

DORLAND

Everyone was glad to see Mr. Plant in the pulpit again, after his recent illness. The solo rendered by Mr. Corfield, of Watertown, was a treat to the congregation. Mr. Corfield is a stranger here, but his father is a native of Adolphustown. — Word has been received that Mrs. Robert Foster, of Ottawa, passed to her eternal rest early on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Foster had been in very poor health for some time. During her residence in Adolphustown she made many warm friends, who are saddened by her death. She leaves, besides her husband, two sons and one daughter, Mr. G. Foster, of Richmond; Mr. F. E. Foster, of Adolphustown, and Miss Edith Foster, of Ottawa. — We are glad to report Miss Marjorie Allison as recovering nicely from the operation recently performed on her throat.—This district has been well represented at Toronto Exhibition. — The schools have resumed work under the same teachers as last year.

MORVEN

Mrs. J. F. Lake has returned, after a pleasant two weeks spent with friends, including a short visit with Mrs. Margaret Carruthers, at Whitby. — Mr. and Mrs. E. Lund visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Close on Sunday. — Mr. Chas. Gausden left on Saturday to attend the Toronto Exhibition.—Mr. Thomas Irish and mother, of Niagara, visited at Mrs. Addie Fraser's recently. — Mr. and Mrs. C. Mills, Oshawa, spent a few days at Mr. A. Mills'. — Mr. and Mrs. M. Shetlor spent Sunday in town. — Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sharp attended the Toronto Exhibition during the week. — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hall, Oshawa, and Mrs. D. Valleau, Kingston, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John Hall. —Mr. and Mrs Corkill, of Weedsport, N.Y., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stone. Mr. Cork ill added to the service on Sunday evening by rendering a splendid solo.—A very fashionable wedding took place at St. Thomas' Church at high noon on Tuesday, the contracting parties being Miss Elsie Young and Mr. Earl French. We wish them every happiness. — Do not forget the food sale at the parsonage next Wednesday afternoon.

A MARINE CHASE

It Was For a Crook and $50,000

By WARREN MILLER

The most interesting chase I ever had in all my experience as a detective officer was for Simpson, who had robbed the — National bank of $50,000 in currency. Simpson was located in New York by the police, or was supposed to be, and his problem was to get out of the city with the plunder. The problem of the police was to arrest him with the funds on him.

My being called into the case arose from certain information that came from Philadelphia. The chief of police of that city gave out information that a small steamer no bigger than a canal boat that had been laid up for some time had been purchased and was being put into commission. The owner could give no satisfactory account of the sale or who was the real purchaser. Indeed, they had become suspicious of the use to which she was to be put and had advised the police to be on the lookout.

The way we got on to Simpson's connection with the steamer was this: An anonymous letter was received at police headquarters which stated that he had chartered a single sticker at New London and was intending to make for Canada in her. Had we not heard of the Philadelphia matter we would have been on the lookout in the direction of New London. As it was we inferred that Simpson had written the anonymous letter to put us off the track. But if this were so he had not counted on our being in a position to put these two bits of information together.

As soon as I arrived at Philadelphia I went to the dock where the suspect was lying. Without appearing to be interested in her I made a mental note of everything in her outward makeup. She was evidently such a boat as is used for carrying passengers short distances between a city and its outlying towns. She had a single stack, was moved by a propeller and was painted white. The name on her stern was Peter Muller.

There were no signs of her leaving port, and I got the idea that I was off on the track. I employed a man to watch the boat and made a visit to the police department, hoping to get some more information concerning her. They told me they thought they had traced the new ownership of the Muller and it was all right.

Had it not been for this information I would have watched the boat myself or at least taken better measures to keep advised of her movements. As it was I went to my hotel and to bed early, being tired. I was awakened at 3 o'clock in the morning by a bellboy, who ushered into my room the man I had placed on watch. He told me that he had gone to sleep about midnight and was awakened by a puffing. Opening his eyes, he saw the Muller going out.

I chartered a tug, and, having received information that my quarry after making the ocean had gone northward, I followed in hot haste. The Muller must have had good motive power, for despite the fact that we put on all steam she kept ahead of us. We saw nothing of her, but upon inquiry learned that she was several hours ahead of us, making northward.

Before leaving Philadelphia I had telephoned the New York police department of what had taken place, but whether or not they took steps to head off the fugitive nothing came of my notification. I kept on, guided by inquiry alone all day, but all day gaining on the Muller. When night came on I felt that temporarily at least I had lost her, for at night she could go where she pleased without her movements being noted.

However, I reasoned that the Muller would not know that she was being chased and would therefore not be likely to attempt to throw me off her track. At any rate, I determined to put into the first available port and try to pick up information of the fugitive the next day. This I did and in the morning started again northward, making inquiries along the way. About noon I got the first information. The Muller had been seen about five hours ahead of me, still pointing northward.

In this way I followed the fugitive for several days. The last I heard of her was off Cape Cod. She was then pointing for Portland. I now saw her object. She would make for Casco bay, in which there are several hundred islands, among which she would have an excellent opportunity to lose herself. There would be both advantage and disadvantage in this to me. I would have her cooped within a limited area, for she could not go on with safety northward, there being no harbor between Maine and the St. Lawrence river. But to find her among the islands of Casco bay would be like looking for a needle in a haystack. At the same time I might hunt her down by the same process of inquiry I had already pursued.

I made Portsmouth, where I learned that the Muller had been there. A man had come ashore to buy provisions, answering to a description of Simpson. It was evident from this that he did not suppose he was followed, or he would not have given the risk of going ashore unless disguised. This theory turned out to be wrong, as will appear later.

I looked for a week among the islands of Casco bay for the Muller without getting any trace of her whatever. Then one morning when I came up from below I saw a boat anchored in a cove that answered to her except that the latter was a lead color, while the Muller was white. It happened that we had for two days had one of those fogs that float in from the ocean in that region. This put me off to a train of thought. My father had been in the volunteer navy during the war between the states, and he had told me that ships attempting to run the blockade of the Confederate ports were painted a light gray, this being the color best adapted to concealment, especially in the gray of the morning. This, together with the resemblance in all except color between the Muller and this boat I was looking at, suggested to me that the fugitive had been repainted. During a two days' fog there had been ample opportunity to do this.

I at once ran over every point I had noted when the Muller was lying at Philadelphia, and this gray boat before me corresponded with her in every particular. I at once gave orders to steam for her. We were lying at anchor at the time, and the fires were banked. Before we could get the anchor up and sufficient steam on the gray boat got off and disappeared around a point of the island.

She had evidently been waiting for the return of a boat that had gone ashore and started without any appearance of haste as soon as it reached her. I did not believe—if she were the Muller—that she suspected we were after her. In order that she might not know that we were I avoided all appearance of haste, though I was immensely impatient. When we finally got off I purposely went around the island on the other side from the suspect. When we next saw her she was steaming along deliberately.

Looking eastward I saw a low bank of fog on the horizon and feared that we would be caught in it before reaching the suspect. I ordered on full steam, but the fog bank rose rapidly and we were soon enveloped in it.

That was the last glimpse we got of the gray boat for another week, when in passing a narrow inlet in the mainland I saw her at the further end partly concealed by overhanging trees. I at once ordered our course altered, and we entered the cove. I now felt easy, for she could not get out of the inlet without our discovering her. As we sailed, on drawing closer and closer, I noticed that she was lying at anchor, but no one was on deck. No move was made to get away from us, and when we drew up within a cable's length of her we saw plainly that no one was aboard of her. I got into a small boat, was pulled alongside of her and got aboard. Every entrance to her cabin was locked, and there was reason to believe that those who were cruising in her had gone ashore and had left her under lock and key to avoid losing what she contained.

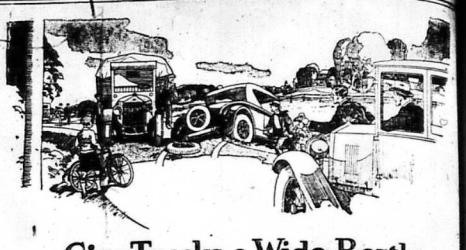
On pulling toward her I had noticed the name on her stern. It was the Seminole of Jacksonville, Fla. My suspicions of her were lulled by this till I remembered that no such small craft from Florida would be likely to make its way up to Maine. Besides, the letters had been evidently freshly painted.

I felt such confidence in her being the vessel I was looking for that I sent to my tug for implements, broke open the doors to the companionway and went below. Everything indicated that the crew had gone ashore. There was no steam on—indeed, no fires in the furnaces. I searched her for evidence as to what she was or to whom she belonged, but could find not a scrap of anything to give the information. I was reluctantly forced to the conclusion that she belonged to a party who were cruising for pleasure. So I fired up the door as well as I could and got back to my tug.

The captain, after hearing what I had to say about the matter, said that he would go aboard the Seminole and have a look for himself. I concluded to go back with him. Having obtained access to the cabin, he led the way straight to the furnace and opened the door. All was dark within the fire box. The captain scratched a match and held it inside the box. Then he took out a package. I snatched it from him, unrolled it and exposed a large package of bank bills. On being counted they turned out to be the amount I was after, lacking about $2,500, which had evidently been paid for the boat and other expenses.

I asked the captain how he had come to suspect that the money had been hidden in the firebox, and he said that when an examination had been made of the interned German liners at Hoboken at the time the break was made between the United States and Germany he had been on hand and seen pieces of the machinery of one of the vessels taken from an unused furnace.

The rest of the story remained for some time a mystery. Then one of the Simpson's crew, who at the time did not know what he was hired for, revealed the facts. Simpson got word of the fact that we were inquiring for him and during the two days' fog repainted his boat and changed her name. Being caught in the cove, he had little time for deliberation. He resolved to make the pretense that had deceived me, trusting his plunder to the firebox rather than taking it with him. There was nothing for him to do after we found the plunder but to make off without it and save himself a term in state prison.



Give Trucks a Wide Berth They always have the "Right of Weight"

THE truck was a big brute—wide, long, and none too wieldy,

The merchandise that made up its seven-ton load represented an important part of the daily food supply of the city to which it was consigned.

The driver had been doing his best to keep plugging along—always well within the speed limit.

Right at this curve the driver of the sport car wanted to "cut in" ahead of the sedan. In five seconds more the truck would have passed and the way would have been clear. But rather than wait, Mr. Sport took a chance.

The truck driver—in his proper place well to the side of the road—couldn't turn out. So it happened . . . a side swipe . . . the ditch!

Motoring on the highways would be so much safer if everybody would remember that, in any argument with a truck, the best one can get is the worst of it.

MADE HER BABY PLUMP AND WELL

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit confessed upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak in enthusiastic terms of them. No More Indigestion

After Mrs. Monette Took "Fruit-a-tives"

MRS. O. MONETTE

There's comfort for all who suffer from indigestion in the following letter written by Mrs. Oreste Monette, Montreal: "I hardly dared take 'Fruit-a-tives', fearing my dyspepsia would vanish," Mrs. Monette frankly confesses, "but finally took two boxes and now I eat well and recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to all my friends as the best remedy for dyspepsia." Mrs. Monette expresses the sentiment of thousands of people whose digestions came quickly back to normal under the healing influence of "Fruit-a-tives".

This wonderful medicine is a combination of intensified fresh fruit juices and tonics. Indigestion and biliousness often are due merely to lazy bowels, liver and kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" overcomes these conditions gently and naturally. Get a box from your druggist, 25c or 50c. Rebate your food again as Mrs. Monette does.

ODESSA

(For last week)

The Woman's Auxiliary of the United Church met at the home of the President, Miss Annie Asselstine. The subject for outside was far from pleasant, but inside there was lots of sunshine in the faces of those thirty enthusiastic missionary workers. A splendid programme, with united singing by the audience, had been arranged. One interesting feature was the display of a dozen dolls dressed like Canadian daughters, with hammocks to rest in, which are being sent to cheer the little tots in India for Christmas, by the Mission Band. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Mary Roblin and grandson, Arthur Mack, of Roehester, N.Y., spent a few days last week with their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Mabee. They were motoring around the lake and expected to visit the Toronto Exhibition and see the swimming match on the 31st. Mr. and Mrs. George Way, of Watertown, N.Y., were also their week end guests, returning from a motor trip to Belleville, Stirling and Picton.—Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Derochie and Miss Asselstine, of Napanee, and Mrs. Costigan, of Toronto, called on the former's sister, Mrs. George Watts, last Wednesday. — Mrs. Brooks and daughter, Toronto, are the guests of the former's brother, Ralph Benjamin. —Harry Davy and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, Toronto, are guests of Mr. Davy's and Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. CENTREVILLE

(For last week)

The weather at present is very unsettled and rainy, making it bad for the farmers who are stook threshing. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McKeown, of this place, left on their vacation to Toronto Exhibition. — Miss Pauline Thompson has finished her beauty course, and expects to start up a parlor in Centreville. — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson and Miss Mona are leaving soon to spend the winter in Toronto. — Our minister, Rev. WISE AND OTHERWISE

A girl of 18 has married a man of 52. That's carrying the love of antiques pretty far.

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Remover is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

"Someone told me you entertained your neighbors informally last night."

"Yes, I had a quarrel with my husband on the front porch."

Teacher—"What is half of one-third?"

Young Ted—"I don't know for sure, but it can't be so awfully much."

For years Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has ranked as a reliable worm preparation and it always maintains its reputation.

Mrs. Small—I believe I shall have to give up bridge.

Mrs. Sharp—Really! Isn't the game worth the candle?

Judge—"Were you ever in trouble before?"

Prisoner—"Well—I—er—kept a library book too long once, and was fined two cents.

Landlady—"Well, sir, I hope you had something you liked for breakfast this morning?"

Lodger—"Yes, indeed, Mrs. Howe, I had a magnificent appetite!"

"Dorothy, is that sweetheart of yours an auctioneer?"

"No, father. Why?"

"Because he keeps on saying he's going—going—going, but he hasn't gone yet!"

Mistress—"Sarah, you were entertaining a man in the kitchen last night!"

Sarah—"That's for him to say, m'm. I was doing my best with the scraps I could find."

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

A Member of Parliament, addressing his constituents, said he had not been idle, as he had asked the Government during the session no fewer than one hundred and seventy-five questions. Thereupon one of the audience remarked audibly, "What an ignorant fellow you must be!"

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Hostess—"Why didn't you bring your friend with you?"

Guest—We drew lots to see who would come.

Hostess—And you won?

Guest—On the contrary, I lost.

A Foe to Asthma. Give Asthma half a chance and it gains ground rapidly. But give it repeated treatments of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and it will fall back even faster. There is no half way measure about this remedy. It goes right to work and drives asthma out. It reaches the inmost breathing passages and leaves no place for the trouble to lurk. Have it by you for ready use.

Wife (with newspaper)—"It says here that men grow bald because of the intense activity of their brains."

Hubby—"Exactly. And women have no whiskers because of the intense activity of their chins."

A visitor to a prison discovered a man he knew among the inmates. This particular prisoner had for many years swindled the public, but in such a clever manner that it was practically impossible to lay a charge against him. However, he had been caught in the end, and at a time when he was a prominent figure in public life. Now he sat in prison making sacks. The visitor went up to him and said: "How do you do? What are you doing, sewing?"

"No," was the reply, "reaping".

Wife—"I wish we had a nice house where we could give a dance!"

Husband—"Just for the pleasure of inviting some of your friends, eh?"

Wife—"Yes; and the pleasure of not inviting some!"

With so thorough a preparation at hand as Miller's Worm Powders, the mother who allows her children to suffer from the ravages of worms is unwise and culpably careless. A child subjected to the attacks of worms is always unhealthy, and will be stunted in its growth. It is a moral act to rid it of these destructive parasites, especially when it can be done without difficulty.

Hayseed had bought an ancient motor car at an auction sale in a nearby town.

After a great deal of argument he managed to persuade his neighbor to accompany him on a joy ride.

They started off very well, but after descending a steep hill the car gathered much more speed and the passenger began to get alarmed.

"Hayseed," he cried, "I'll gie ye a fi'-pun note if ye'll stop and let me out."

The other swung the vehicle round in a sharp bend.

"I'll gie ye a tenner," he replied, anxiously, "if ye'll tell me how to!"

Never Again

that anxious question "Will it jell?"

No fruit by itself contains enough jellying substance to jellify all of its juice. That is why, by the old-fashioned methods of jam and jelly making you have to "test your fruit mush" until enough of the juice has boiled away to concentrate the jellying substance in the fruit.

But with Certo, which is simply the natural jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled, you do not have to boil your fruit down. One to two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender "set". It cannot fail to jell.

The short boiling saves the color and flavor of your fresh fruit, so that your jams and jellies look better and taste better. You get a larger amount from your fruit, too, because you save all the juice that used to boil away.

Who wouldn't be a small-town merchant?

If Buying only small stocks enables the small-town merchant to try out the novelties and new styles people are looking for — on which the margin of profit is greater than on staple lines. Hand-to-mouth buying keeps down the capital investment, and additional cities or odd sizes can always be ordered by long Distance.

If Thanks to this method of conducting business retailers have never been able to show as many up-to-date styles as now.

If By using Long Distance the widest awake small-town merchant with his low overhead expense can make his store the buying headquarters for a large surrounding territory.

The Corn Borer.

This pest which has made such ravages in the corn fields of Western Ontario, is now to be found on many farms around Napanee. It had a wonderful chance to winter over in the stubble of last year's corn crop, which in many cases was not plowed under. The local agricultural representatives advise a thorough clean up of corn fields this season. No corn refuse of any kind should be left lying around. Feed the stalks and plow the stubble. Cover it well. Burying the corn borer and cutting off his feed supply offers an effective means of attack. 36a

School Fairs.

During the next two weeks, ten school fairs will be held in this County. A list of dates and places may be found in local papers. The school fair movement which started over twenty years ago with one fair has grown, until this fall over one hundred and fifty of these fairs will be held in Ontario. Every encouragement should be given to the boys and girls in this important work. Plan to attend your township school fair. The programme is interesting to grown folks as well as the young exhibitors. It includes contests, demonstrations, school parade, sports and classes for exhibits of grain, vegetables, flowers, fruit, live stock, poultry, farm mechanics, nature collection, cooking, sewing, writing and art.

Presentation and Address.

The members of the Wesley Mission Circle met at the home of Mr. Ed Sexsmith, on Wednesday evening, August 31st, to bid farewell to Miss Hazel Sexsmith before her departure from our midst. During the evening an ivory handled silk umbrella was presented by Mr. Edgar Drew, and the following address was read by Miss Daisy Moore:—

Dear Hazel,—The young people of Wesley have met to-night for their last Circle meeting before your departure from our midst. We would feel indeed as if we had failed should we neglect mentioning our appreciation of your past services.

In future we will not meet so frequently face to face, but we trust that you will ever remember your Wesley Mission Circle, and all that it has meant to you. We pray that in your new field of labour, that each day will be filled with joy, through your great desire for higher service. With one accord we wish every success to crown you in your coming years.

We ask you to accept this small gift as a slight token of our friendship, and whether in sunshine or shadow, may you ever feel your friends of Wesley are staunch and true.

Life is before you! From the fated road
You cannot turn; then take ye up the load
Not yours to tread or leave the unknown way
Ye must go o'er it, meet ye what ye may.
Gird up your soul within you to the deed,
Angels and fellow spirits bid you speed.

Signed on behalf of Wesley Mission Circle.

Miss Sexsmith, in a few words, thanked her Wesley friends, after which they joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow". The remainder of the evening was spent in games.

WILTON

The demonstration of culling and plucking of poultry, which was held at the home of Mr. Charles Conners on Thursday afternoon, was largely attended, about fifty being present, and all took much interest in the addresses of Mr. Smith and Mr. Laughland.—Mostly all of the farmers are finished with their threshing, and Mr. Kenneth Martin has started again with his corn binder. It makes everyone think that fall is not very far away.—The friends of Mr. E. Clark are sorry that he is a very sick patient at the Kingston General Hospital, and hope he will soon be home.—A number of Wilton residents are taking in the Toronto Exhibition this year.—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Babcock have returned from Toronto, and report the Fair a great event this year.—Mr. and Mrs. Guy Simmons and daughter, Leila, left for St. Catharines, where they are going to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark, former residents of Odessa, and on their return they will stop over at Toronto and attend the Fair.—Miss Evelyn Connerg left on Saturday for Toronto, where she is spending the week with relatives and friends.—Mr. Douglas Bell, of Sharpton, spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. Blake Switzer.—Some very bold thieves tried to break into Mrs. K. N. Storms' store on Thursday night, but did not make very good headway, as they were interrupted.—A few from here attended Belleville Fair last week.

WONDERLAND

One of the Most Charming Picture Houses in the Province.—The New Fireproof Building is Artistic, Comfortable and Safe.—Theatres in Napanee Past and Present.

History, it is said, repeats itself, but it often takes a long time in doing so, and this is certainly the case in regard to Napanee's experience of having a neat, comfortable and altogether up-to-date theatre.

The period between the two epochs is about fifty years.

There are still those here who will remember the beautiful little theatre which occupied a site on which now stands the Harshaw Block, on Dundas street. The writer is informed that it was a most attractive house, modelled on the lines of the theatres in the larger cities with stalls, pit, balcony gallery, stage-boxes, with large stage accommodation, scenery, dressing-rooms, in fact a fully equipped house which accommodated the best companies that toured the country in its day. It was well lighted, charmingly decorated, and every attention was paid to the comfort and convenience of patrons. Alas, about half a century ago fire destroyed this beautiful theatre and the theatre-going people of Napanee have had to put up with makeshift places of amusement until the advent of Mr. George J. Tustin, who in this year 1927, has done credit to himself and honour to the town of his adoption by building the present Wonderland Theatre. It is an institution of which the citizens are proud and the large audiences, which attend nightly, should prove a source of gratification to Mr. Tustin, as an appreciation of his efforts to serve the public.

Fifty years ago the moving picture shows were not thought of, but now they have largely replaced the travelling theatrical companies, and the better films are considered a boon to the people, both from the point of education and enjoyment. Another reason for popularity is that prices of admission are so reasonable that this pleasure in life is within the reach of all.

Since Napanee's fine theatre of fifty years ago was destroyed by fire, we have had but substitutes for theatres until now. The first of these, which operated for a number of years, was the theatre which was also destroyed by fire, on East street, at the rear of the old Brisco House—now Card's Garage. The first moving picture house was "Wonderland", which occupied the metal-clad building on John street, now used by O'Brien's Musical Instrument Store and Loucks' Butcher Shop. Later, under the management of James Foster, Wonderland moved to the premises immediately to the west of the Standard Bank. After a short time there Mr. Foster acquired the building where the present theatre is. He ran it successfully for a number of years and sold it to Mr. Tustin.

The Strand Theatre, under the management of M. Maher, was operated at the corner of Dundas and East streets, for a few years, and the building was bought by Mr. Tustin, who remodelled it into store premises.

The official opening of Wonderland Theatre took place on the evening of July 29th by Mayor E. J. Roy, who gave unstinted praise to Mr. George J. Tustin for his enterprise in building such a well-planned, attractive, comfortable and safe building for the enjoyment of the people of Napanee. The building is of fireproof construction, with the side-walls nicely panelled, with rows of bright colored lights on each side and large white lights on the ceiling. The floor, of cardwood, is an inclined plane from the main entrance to the rear of the house, which contains the aluminum screen. On each side of the stage is a side exit, which with the wide main entrance, makes it possible to empty the theatre in a very short space of time. The seating capacity of the house is 130 more than that of the old theatre.

The house is well ventilated by the high speed air cooling system, so that the air can be renewed every eight minutes.

The operating room is thoroughly fire-proof, and the most modern machines are used.

The most modern heating system is used, namely, the Oil-o-Matic furnace, installed by the Napanee Iron Works, in conjunction with fan heater heating system put in by Madole Hardware Co. The Oil-o-Matic is controlled by the thermostat, at the temperature desired, and it is automatically impossible for the heat limit to be exceeded. Therefore there is no danger of fire from this furnace.

The electric work throughout the building was under the direction of Percy Vine, Market Square, which is an assurance of efficiency.

Since opening night Mr. Tustin has given us the best of service by securing the latest and best films he could procure, and The Beaver feels confident in predicting that he will continue the same good policy in the future.

To-night and to-morrow, don't miss "We're in the Navy Now".

OBITUARY

Mrs. Jas. A. Jayne.

On Wednesday morning, August 24th, 1927, Mrs. Jas. A. Jayne passed peacefully away at her home, Sharp's Corners, in her eighty-fourth year.

Mrs. Jayne was a daughter of the late Mr. Alexander Thompson, and spent her girlhood days a short distance north of Napanee. Later in life after her marriage to Mr. Jas. A. Jayne, she and her husband resided in Richmond, North Fredericksburgh, and twenty-three years in Adolphustown. Then in need of care during her declining years, they moved to Sharp's Corners, where they resided with their two daughters.

The deceased was widely known and had a great many friends. The friendships formed years ago remained with her throughout all the time. She was very thoughtful towards the poor. Years ago, when there were a great many people in needy help throughout the county, she always met them with a kind word, and, with the co-operation of her husband, did all she could to comfort and provide them with the necessities of life. She will be greatly missed in the home. Her memory shall ever be cherished by her loved ones, as a patient wife and a kind mother.

During her illness of several years' duration, she was given the best medical attention and care. For several years she had been little change in her frail constitution, but last Spring it became evident to the family that her condition was becoming more serious, and she could not be with them much longer.

The late Mrs. Jayne had been a member of the Methodist (United) Church for quite a number of years, and reserved disposition, she will be remembered as a Christian lady, not as much by her profession, as from her daily walk through life. During the last weeks of her illness she was drawn closer to her Saviour. Her husband and family will never forget her last words to them, "I'm going Home" as she roused in her dying hour. Very soon she left all sickness and care behind, and went "Home" to join the loved ones who have passed on before.

"Home! Home!
Safe, safe at Home!
There's no friend like Jesus,
He leads us gently Home".

Besides an aged and sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, five daughters and two sons, Mrs. C. Kellar, Deseronto Road; Mr. Alex. Jayne, Richmond; Mrs. W. B. Nolan, Hay Bay; Mr. John Jayne, Camden East; Mrs. Wm. McConnell and Misses Electa and Etta Jayne, Sharp's Corners.

The impressive funeral service held at the Methodist United Church, Selby, conducted by her Pastor, Rev. J. Batstone, assisted by Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, was attended by several friends from a distance. The pallbearers were relatives of the deceased, and her body was laid to rest in Riverview cemetery, beneath the beautiful flowers that covered her grave, to await the coming of her Saviour on the Resurrection Morn.

ODESSA

The annual School Fair proved to be one of the best ever held here. Monday afternoon was a perfect day, and it seemed as if the whole country took advantage of it by attending. Both attendance and exhibits far surpassed any of the former years. The usual sports were enthusiastically indulged in, and the vegetables, fruits, flowers, fancy work and cooking reflected great credit for the public school pupils of Ernestown.—The fancy dress drills were wonderful considering the short time the teachers had for training.

Miss Helen Card left Thursday to attend Canadian College, Illinois.

The many friends of Miss Sara Gregory will be interested to know that she is teaching at this College.

Miss Myrtle Card has joined the teachers' staff at Moscow; Miss Helen Sproule, Tamworth, and Miss Bernice Henderson has charge of Albert school.

STRATHCONA

Strathcona is the busiest hamlet along the line of railroad. The paper mill is running as busy as ever, while a large number of extra hands have been employed in building operations. —The holiday season is past, and again the usual number of children are so facinated with school life that they go to school before 8 a.m., and often linger until nearly 5 o'clock in the evening. This gives them plenty of time for study, and also the various changes in friendships with each other. In the meantime they also have an opportunity to study the various characters on the curriculum. We were proud of the results of last year's exams.—Mrs. Bradford, of Smith's Falls, has been visiting her brother and sister.—Mrs. Hook has been shut in for the last month. Although suffering considerably, yet she is very bright and cheery. —Mrs. Johnston (nee Mabel Finlay) is at present in the hospital at Kingston, but is recovering very favorably.—Mrs. Tompkins returned to her old home on Monday morning, after an extended visit with her daughter and friends in the U. S. A. She reports a happy holiday. — Mr. Harold Hoare returned to Kingston last week to complete his exams, which he passed successfully. — A good number of our citizens visited the C. N. E. at Toronto this year. All reports indicate great crowds, when a total of 1,700,000 tickets were collected at the gates. Although the crowds were great, yet everybody found time to see all the exhibits kept them busy. They all returned and are busily engaged at the ordinary routine of every day labor.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Lowry and family, of Toronto, are the various visitors at Mr. C. Baker's.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Sweet, of Point Anne, at Mr. A. Johnston's.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Soles and Mr. Pringle were visitors at Messrs. McCarvey's on Sunday.—Mr. R. McCarvey has moved into the house formerly occupied by C. McDiarmid, and Mr. McRory has moved into the upper part of the boarding house.—On Tuesday evening our pastor conducted a very instructive and helpful Bible study on "The Life of Jesus." There were a good number present. Still many more would have found the prayer meeting inspiring and helpful.—Let everybody come to the public worship next Sunday at 10 a.m., and the Sunday School at 11.15 a.m. We are going to see God, expecting great things from Him, and go forth into the world to do great things for our fellow men.

The W. M. Auxiliary of the United Church in Newburgh held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Wagner, on Thursday, the 8th inst., at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. (Rev.) Anderson, President, took charge of the meeting, and after the routine business, she spoke of the coming of Miss Virgo and Mrs. Dinn to the sectional meeting to be held in Centreville on the morning and afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 4th. It was decided to ask these two missionaries to attend and speak at an open meeting of the W. M. S. in Newburgh on the evening of the same date, so that all might have an opportunity of hearing these workers. Miss Virgo has been in West China for two terms and on coming home for furlough, was accompanied by Mrs. Dinn, a Chinese Bible woman, who was so anxious to visit Canada and see the country from which the missionaries came, bringing the gospel of salvation. She saved money to pay her own way over here. Everything in Canada is very interesting to her and she herself is a very interesting person. Everyone who can come to hear Miss Virgo and Mrs. Dinn at either Centreville or Newburgh will be well repaid. After appointing delegates to Centreville the meeting entered into a very instructive and lively discussion on the different peoples,—from the Indian to the Immigrants of to-day—that make up our Canadian population with the many characteristics which they contribute to the building up of our great country.

Hunter, of Dexter, is visiting at Hanlan Carroll's.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Shelan, of Cole Lake, were spent Sunday at J. E. Peters'.—Quite a number from here attended the funeral of Mr. Albert Clark, held at Wilton, on Thursday last. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved friends and relatives.

Cross Section of a Firestone Tire "Built for Service"

Cross Section of an Ordinary Tire "Made to Sell"

Enjoy the Comfort, Safety and Economy of Gum-Dipped Tires

The sections of tires reproduced above show part of the Firestone Dealer program. Study these two sections and you, too, will understand what Firestone means by "built for service" as applied to tires made to sell.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloon, with its scientifically designed tread permits free flexing, extra cushioning, extra comfort and safety, while the gum-dipping gives extra protection against the wearing properties that give thousands of extra miles.

The ordinary balloon tire with heavy tread design is obliged to be stiffer and rides harder. The thick cord required for approximate strength at the edges of the tread, is not required in the center and produces heavy friction action causing ply separation and shoulder breaks.

Your local Firestone Dealer will gladly explain the gum-dipping process and other advantages that only Firestone Gum-Dipped tires can give. See him today.

They bridge the gap between town and country

Improved highways make for a better understanding on both sides

Hard, smooth roads, stretching in all directions over Ontario, have helped rural and town people to appreciate one another's problems. Mutual understanding is taking the place of misunderstanding.

Easy communication has brought communities closer together. It has widened personal and business acquaintance. It has opened up new markets, has saved time and effort. Rural Ontario does not need to be isolated.

No one wants to return to the days when it was impossible to drive to town because of bad roads, or when town people could not visit the country.

Use the highways. But use them sanely. Avoid excessive speeds and careless driving. With the faster moving traffic under the new speed laws, drivers must exercise every precaution. Watch the road warning signs. Take no chances at intersections, railway crossings and curves, near schools, or when passing pedestrians.

Keep to your brakes. Your life or the lives of others may depend upon your control of your car.

Watch your headlights. They must not glare. A glaring headlight is a positive menace on the highways. Simple instructions, sent free by this Department, show how headlights should be adjusted.

Obey the rules of the road. Be patient. BE COURTEOUS. Do not enforce your rights in traffic if others are inconvenienced or placed in danger.

Always have your Motor Vehicle Operator's License with you

A common courtesy on Ontario's highways will help to bring country and town still closer together for the well-being and prosperity of both.

Do as Mr. Gard

Mr. Anson A. Gard, the well-known Littleraterson of Ottawa, called on Wandering Yanker, says in an unsolicited testimonial for ZUTOO Tablets:

"Zutoo Tablets stop my headaches so completely that I do not mind having them any more."

No need for any one to suffer from headache if they follow Mr. Gard does and take Zutoo

Sandy entered the village Co-op. and asked what the price would be of a ham shank.

"Well," replied the genial assistant, "it's such a small one that I'll make you a present of it."

"Na, na," said Sandy, "parrel it up and name the price. Ye'll no diddle me oot o' ma dividend."

It's the delays that cost

Automobilists and farmers now expect to have new parts ordered for them by Long Distance, so they can get prompt delivery.

They have learned that it is the delays that cost, not the trifling charge for telephoning. Long Distance service was never so quick.

Interurban Service to towns within say 25 miles are very low—so low that no one has an excuse for not telephoning instead of writing or traveling. Especially calling up old friends by Long Distance is the finest kind of way to ensure a continuance of their patronage.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and can truthfully say it is the best medicine for a woman at the Change of Life and when I was all run-down and had no appetite, I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly stand. I got very sad at times, and thought I had not a friend on earth, and did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them."—Mrs. Edna Wilson, 21 Wilcox Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

A DOCTOR'S PRAISE

A Noted Doctor Strongly Endorses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The test of any remedy lies in its acceptance and employment by the qualified medical practitioner. No less an authority than Dr. Andrea Amici, physician to the Papal household, writing on the subject of anaemia, impoverishment of the nervous system and disorders attributable thereto, strongly endirses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, recommending them as superior to other tonics.

Dr. Amici's testimony reads as follows:—"For several years I have made use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my work and I have always found them efficacious in the treatment of disorders due to impoverishment of the nervous system, anaemia and neurasthenia, stomach weakness, retarded development in young women, and irregularities. There is no lack of tonic remedies, but in my experience no one of them manifests a superior efficacy to that of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

No more conclusive evidence of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills could be asked for or given, than is found in the above endorsement of this noted European physician. Besides this, however, this medicine has enjoyed a world-wide public confidence for more than a third of a century and has brought relief to thousands and thousands of weak and suffering people.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and stomach trouble. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"You look sad?"

"Yes; the doctor has ordered my wife to go into the country. If I look pleased she won't go."

"Do you believe in sleeping out of doors?"

"Not while I can pay the rent."

As a vermifuge an effective preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

"My dear," remarked the young husband, "did you ask the milkman why there is never any cream on our milk?"

"Yes, darling, and he explained quite satisfactorily. I think that it's a great credit to him."

"What did he say?"

"That he always fills the jug so full there is no room for cream."

"I don't know," was the answer. "What was the name of the other eye?"

Asthma Cannot Last when the greatest of all asthma specifics is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has to its credit thousands of cases which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

"What were you punishing your boy for this morning?"

"For lying. He said he saw a fish in the pond as big as the one I've been telling about that got away from me there last week."

"But maybe he did see it."

"Nonsense! There isn't a fish that big in the pond.

An Oil Without Alcohol—Some oils and many medicines have alcohol as a prominent ingredient. A judicious mingling of six essential oils compose Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the irate farmer of the boy he has surprised in his chestnut tree.

"Nuttin', sir," replied the frank little chap as he strove to hide the nut bag behind his back.

How quickly our vacations pass! how swiftly flies each minute; it almost seems that old Time's glass must then have quicksand in it.

The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it will remedy every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. Lord Hawke tells a capital story of a village cricket match in the West Riding. An umpire and a batsman disagreed as to a decision. The umpire, who lost his temper, asked the batsman: "What do you know about cricket?"

"More than you, anyhow," was the reply, "for I ave shook hands with Lord Hawke, and that's more than you ever did." This so impressed the umpire that he allowed the batsman to continue.

WEDDING BELLS

Asselstine—Wilson.

An interesting and exceedingly pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Asselstine, of Moscow, on September 1st, when their elder daughter, Doris Elizabeth, became the bride of Mr. Wilfred Wilson, of Strathcona. Rev. G. T. McKenzie officiated. The ceremony was performed under a beautiful arch of evergreens, decorated with asters and with a white bell hanging from the centre. The home was a bower of beauty with quantities of flowers everywhere. The wedding march was played by Miss Muriel Wilson, of Toronto.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was very lovely in a gown of white crepe-de-chene, and her bulle veil was embroidered in lovers' knots and was arranged on the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, lily of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bride was attended by Miss Kay Wilson, B.M., Toronto, sister of the groom, while Percy Asselstine, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman.

Following the ceremony Mr. E. E. Day, of Harrowsmith, sang "O Promise Me", in his charming manner.

The families of the young couple, with the bridal party and the minister, sat at one large table which was tastefully decorated and centred by the wedding cake, while thirty other guests sat down at quartette tables, and a dainty luncheon was served by Misses Anita Nichols, Marion Walker, Lottie Asselstine and Marjorie Grant.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful fur stole, to the bridesmaid a ring, to the pianist an umbrella, to the groomsman a Parker Duofold pencil, and to Mr. Day a pair of gold cuff links.

The young couple received many presents, amongst them several handsome cheques. A community gift to the bride which is worthy of note was a solid walnut bedroom chest of drawers, lined, as well as a very handsome tray.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for a motor to Toronto and Buffalo, travelling in a coupe of the Dupagne crepe with blue coat trimmed with fur and a rosewood felt hat to their return they will reside at Moscow.

"You look sad?"

"Yes; the doctor has ordered my wife to go into the country. If I look pleased she won't go."

"Do you believe in sleeping out of doors?"

"Not while I can pay the rent."

A man once approached another man, who was standing at an office door, and asked if there was a gentleman with one eye named Walker in the building.

"I don't know," was the answer. "What was the name of the other eye?"

"What were you punishing your boy for this morning?"

"For lying. He said he saw a fish in the pond as big as the one I've been telling about that got away from me there last week."

"But maybe he did see it."

"Nonsense! There isn't a fish that big in the pond."

Madge—Have you had many proposals?

Marie—Yes, but not one from a man worth suing for breach of promise.

LINKS WITH THE PAST

St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Has Museum of Curiosities.

In the roof of the nave of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is a museum of curiosities, dealing with relics of the sacred edifice, says a Tit-Bits writer who had the privilege of browsing among those relics of bygone days.

On one of the yellowed pages of the "Book of Cathedrals" is the following entry.—

"I will give one Thousand pounds a year." That is signed by King Charles II., and dated March 10, 1674.

Then there is this: "I will give two hundred pounds a year from midsomer day last past." James II. signed that on July, 1678.

Neither paid a penny. Small wonder that Sir Christopher Wren was worried financially.

That he kept a careful account of the expenditure in building the new cathedral is evident from the Books of Account. One item reads "Sum total of these three months is 2,621 06 9½." His signature is appended.

Near by is the silk brocade waistcoat he wore, and the "measuring stick" he used during the building of his masterpiece.

That ecclesiastics of the old days had to be kept up to their duties is proved by a big tome with huge dangling seals, called "The Book of Penalties for Non-performance of Services"—a fearsome document. It must have made the laziest of monks bestir himself.

As you may know, certain orders of monks were tonsured, but the operation of shaving the hair from the top of the head was not done just anyhow. In the museum there are preserved "tonsure plates," so that the mediæval barber should know how far to go.

Interesting, too, is an ancient "quern" — a stone, hand-mill for grinding corn. It was dug up in Paternoster Row. Near it is a very rare Danish monumental stone with a Runic inscription which states that "Konal and Tuki caused this stone to be laid." Bits of Roman pottery, pipes discovered when the foundations of the cathedral were being excavated, and the carved face of some pagan deity worshipped by the ancient Britons are other of the curios.

There is also a fine simile of the pathetic but unavailing "vow" made by Charles I. in his attempt to save his life.

Of manuscripts and books, as valuable as curious, there are many. There is a royal grant from William Rufus to the St. Paul's of his time; two specimens of "chained" Books of Homilies; a fourteenth-century Book of Medicine—apparently out of place in a cathedral museum; a massive Lutheran Bible; a Book of Common Prayer translated into Hawaiian by King Kamehameha the Second that was made for the cross that surmounts the dome; a model, weighing an ounce, of Wellington's carriage; a collection of old-time seals in silver boxes; a quaint little book called "North-Ward Hoe," being "Sundry Tunes acted by the Children of Paules, 1607"—and much else of interest.

All the foregoing, and the library with its many rare and skin-bound volumes, are housed in the national cathedral—and practically unknown.

Sandy entered the village Co-op. and asked what the price would be of a ham shank.

"Fifty," replied the genial assistant, "it's such a small one that I'll make you a present of it."

"Na, na," said Sandy, "parcel it up and name the price. Ye'll no diddle me oot o' ma dividend."

"My dear," remarked the young husband, "did you ask the milkman why there is never any cream on our milk?"

"Why, did he say?"

"That he always fills the jug so full there is no room for cream."

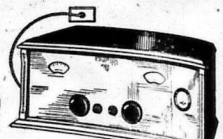
(MADE IN CANADA)

RADIO

No Batteries No Chemicals



Model 250

A 5-tube Rogers-Batteryless Receiver, with completely shielded audio amplification unit. Walnut finish cabinet. $215.00 complete, except speaker.

In 1925, while skeptics and critics were loudly declaring that the direct operation of a radio set from A/C current (eliminating all batteries, chemicals, chargers, etc.) could not be done, young "Ted" Rogers, of Toronto, DID IT—and this, Canada's contribution to the development and progress of radio, was the greatest forward step since the invention of the vacuum tube.

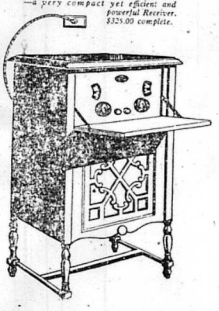
Now, in its third year, the Rogers stands supreme as the pioneer of "Electric" Radios. Today radio sets operating direct from any light socket, without batteries, chemicals or chargers, are not merely an accepted success but are the standard, and will, within another year, completely supersede battery sets where electric current is available.

With five years of research and experiment behind it; with three years of proven performance; with the record of having, alone and unaided, developed the batteryless principle for others to emulate, the Rogers is the logical, the sensible choice of every purchaser who desires a batteryless set that has successfully passed the period of experiment and test, with its accompanying grief.

The Canadian public have already spent about two millions of dollars for Rogers Batteryless Radios, and from Halifax to Vancouver they have proved their worth by the one true test—continuous performance, with uniform, everlasting power.

Cameo Console

A 5-tube Rogers-Batteryless Receiver, combined with Junior Symphony Horn —a very compact yet efficient and powerful Receiver. $325.00 complete.



Three Years of Proven Performance

With such a record behind it, every one who intends to buy a radio this Fall should see and hear the Rogers now. There will be a hundred special event broadcasts this season that you won't want to miss. If used only for these major events a Rogers will more than repay you. Then there will be the myriad of daily programs to afford you pleasure and entertainment by the touch of a button and turn of a dial—today and tomorrow—for years to come.

Let Us Demonstrate in Your Home

The place to test a radio is where it is going to be used—in your home. We will place a Rogers in your home for test and demonstration and if it does not perform to YOUR satisfaction you may return it FREE of all cost. Rogers sets cost you no more than any other first-grade radio—$215 to $395 for the standard models—payable on terms to suit you. It takes only a few minutes to instal a Rogers and less than 5c a week to operate it.

Symphony Console 200A

Same Radio Receiver at Model 220, with Rogers Symphony Speaker in beautiful walnut Console Cabinet. $395.00.

If you drive a car we ought to be friends

I AM the British American dealer. My specialty is providing car owners with the kind of fuel and lubricating oil that will permit them to get more satisfaction out of driving.

I know automobiles — inside and out. I know gasolene and oil.

I have changed the oil in thousands of crank cases and I know good oil when I see it and FEEL it.

When I tell you to use British American products I'm giving you the benefit of years of experience in the oil business.

The world is my market. I can take my choice of gasolenes, and oils and greases.

I offer you British American products because I know they will make you a permanent customer for me---to our mutual satisfaction.

Let's be friends.

Marysville Man Dies Suddenly

While milking cows in the barn on his farm, located on the Second Concession of Tyendinaga, George McGurn, aged 73 years, died about six o'clock Monday evening. The late Mr. McGurn was unmarried and resided with his brother, Thomas McGurn, and sisters, Misses Jane and Mary, on the homestead. The deceased had not been enjoying the best of health for some time.

NAPANEE MAN INJURED

Reuben Wood, employed as a street sweeper here, was seriously injured at 10.30 Wednesday morning, when he was struck by a car driven by J. F. French, of Relfrew.

Wood was working at his job when the car struck him or his shovel and threw him violently to the pavement. He sustained injuries to the head and it is not known whether the skull is fractured or not, but he was removed to his home. Dr. Stratton rendered medical assistance. The car was travelling at a moderate rate of speed when the mishap occurred.

Mr. French is being held by the Napanee police for the time being. Mr. Wood has a wife and four grown-up children.

OBITUARY

Wm. S. Whittington.

On Wednesday morning, Aug. 31st, 1927, death claimed one of the oldest and respected life-long residents, Mr. Wm. S. Whittington, of Empey Hill, Tyendinaga, the place of his birth 83 years ago. He was a Methodist and a trustee of the church up until a year ago, when failing health kept him from his usual place of worship. Although of a quiet disposition, he will be greatly missed in the community in which he lived. He leaves a loving wife and daughter to mourn the loss of a loved one, who will be sorely missed in the old home he loved so well. The funeral service was held at Empey Hill Church at 2 p.m. on Friday afternoon. In the absence of his beloved Pastor, Rev. Mr. Batstone, Rev. Mr. Parnsworth, one of his old Pastors, preached the funeral sermon, assisted by one of Empey Hill boys, Rev. Earl Sexsmith, both speaking very kindly of the deceased. He was carried to his last resting place in Napanee Riverside cemetery, by six of his neighbours, Mr. Will Denison, Mr. Herb Kimmerly, Mr. Will Penny, Mr. M. Husband, Mr. Ralph Abbott and Mr. Elias Stafford.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

On Friday afternoon, Sept. 9th, the W. M. S. of St. Andrew's Church held a most interesting and helpful meeting. For the prayer service a paper on "Prayer" was read by Mrs. Laughland, the President, and was interspersed with prayers for missionary workers, for deaconesses, and for foreigners and home mission work. The meeting proper opened by all repeating a missionary creed, and Miss Gardier reading the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Denison kindly favored the audience with a missionary solo, which was greatly enjoyed and appreciated. The new study book, "New Paths for Old Purposes", by Margaret Burton, was most ably and interestingly introduced by Mrs. Gilbride. She told how the world has grown smaller as a result of railroads, newspapers, motor cars, radios and movies, thus the people of heathen lands know what is happening here and how we live. Increasing travel and commerce also enable them to see us as we really are. They judge Christianity not by what we say, but by what we do and how we live; thus, if we are going to win the East for Christianity we in the West, must live Christianity, which is no trifling challenge. A story on Christian Stewardship was interestingly read by Mrs. Valkman. The tea hostesses were Mrs. Howitt and Mrs. McMurrin. The October meeting is the regular Thanksoffering—an open meeting to which all members of the congregation and others are cordially invited.

"Orange Smile"
It's worth while. It's the best Orange drink. 37a

ATTENTION! CHURCH COMMITTEES!

The decorating of a church interior is quite a serious problem. It costs the congregation from five hundred to fifteen hundred dollars as a rule, not to mention the trouble and confusion the congregation is put to. If the work can be depended on, to last at least a generation, it is well worth it, for a church interior in a poor and shabby condition is a disgrace to a community. I have seen dozens of church interiors in a most dilapidated condition, walls and ceilings scaling, but through no fault of the committee or board who had charge of the decorating, though only recently done. They overlooked one great thing however, they neglected to make sure that only A 1 material was being used. Few decorators care to give a written guarantee, and if not backed by some reliable firm it is often useless. There are ways, however, to secure a genuine guarantee, either backed by a reliable firm or by other simple means, and it is the only protection committees have, for unfortunately they are the ones who get the blame when the work proves to be a failure. Now, in dealing with me, you are indirectly dealing with one of the most powerful and reliable firms in Canada, the Alabastine Co. of Paris, Ont., and if the work is done with their product, a written guarantee is given by them as to the durability of the work. But suppose a committee desires the work to be done in oil paint, and a great many committees prefer oil paint to water color paint, I will show you a way by which you can be absolutely sure that only the best quality of lead and fresco oil tints will be used and equal to any guarantee. Also remember, our winter prices start October 1st till May, 1928.

If your church needs decorating drop me a line and let me advise you. You are not under the slightest obligation. There is no reason why church interiors in small places should present an inferior appearance. Our prices are within reach of all. Important Construction Work And Development in Toronto's Transportation Area

Visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto have seen wonderful transformation and activity in the vicinity of the new Union Station recently opened to the public. Directly across from the station is the new 26-story C. P. R. Hotel, occupying almost an entire block, the construction of which will start early this month. This hotel will have 1000 rooms and baths. Visitors by boat will find the new $1,000,000 terminal facilities of the Canada Steamship Co. at the foot of Bay Street the last word in comfort and convenience. Work on the new Federal building, to be used as the Customs House, will commence shortly on the south east corner of Bay and Front, and it will be one of Toronto's most imposing structures.

On the north east corner and directly opposite the main entrance to the Fleet Street Boulevard will be the New Commerce and Transportation Building, a 10-storey fireproof office and store building, with a modern garage in the rear having storage capacity for 426 cars. Owing to the advantageous location in the heart of the Transportation district of Toronto this building will be used as a terminal for the principal automobile bus lines entering Toronto. This splendid structure will be located on one of the busiest and most valuable corners in Canada, and already over ⅔ of the available space has been contracted for, for the most part by nationally known firms.

The Commerce and Transportation Building is being erected and financed by the well known bond house of G. A. Stimson & Co., who have been established since 1883. For 44 years, no bond sold by this house has failed to pay principal, and interest when due.

MORVEN

Rev. Mr. Merrick gave a splendid interpretation of the "Remodeling of the Clay", from Jeremiah, on Sunday evening. The friends who bring cut flowers are ever faithful, and rarely are we without beautiful, seasonable flowers at the evening service.—An- other of our girls, Miss Gladys Stone, has taken a partner for life. We wish them every happiness. — Mrs. Alva Sagert, Violet, visited her mother, Mrs. Burley, recently.—On Sunday after- noon the Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. Thomas' Church, with a goodly number of people in attend- ance. The neat, up-to-date appear- ance of the recently-decorated church is truly a credit to its members.—The Young People's Society are planning to hold a corn roast at Mr. A. Van- Slyck's, to-night. All are welcome.— Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wright, Clare's Landing, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hen- wood during the week.

WEDDING BELLS.

Casement—Ballard

At St. Paul's Cathedral, Kingston, on Monday, Sept. 19th, 1927, at noon, a very pretty wedding was solemnized, when Norma Gillis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bal- lard, of Napanee, became the bride of Cecil Clare Casement, eldest son of the late George Casement and Mrs. Casement, Matron of the Clare- mont Hospital, Belleville. Rev. J. Coleman, Rector of St. Paul's Cathe- dral, officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a pretty French gown of powder blue Georgette, trimmed with silver lace and rhinestone buckles, with tight fitting bodice and full skirt edge scalloped and trimmed with sil- ver lace. She wore a corsage bouquet of lily of the valley, silver slippers and hat of silver grey. Her only ornament worn was a necklace of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a beautiful ivory bound prayer book with long satin streamers. They were trimmed with dainty rose buds. This was a gift from the mother of the groom. Miss Dorothy Scott, of Napanee, one of the bride's favorites, looked very sweet in a costume of shell pink geor- gette and rose chiffon velvet of deeper shade forming the skirt. The skirt and bodice joined together with a scarf of velvet caught with a beautiful Mother of Pearl buckle. She wore a hat of the same shade, and shoes and stockings. Her corsage bou- quet was of orchids. The groomsman, Wilbur Sherry, an old schoolmate of the groom, acted as his assistant.

After the very impressive ceremony of the Anglican Church, the wedding party motored back to Napanee to the home of the bride's parents, where a very dainty luncheon was prepared, tables and buffet being tastefully de- corated with flowers and ribbons. The happy couple left by train to Ottawa and other eastern points. Upon their return they will reside in Toronto. Rev. Mr. Coleman, who has been an old friend of the groom's family, had the pleasure of baptising the groom twen- ty-two years ago, at which time he gave him his name.

The bride is one of Napanee's most esteemed young ladies, loved by old and young, and there are many regrets expressed at her leaving, at her departure, and all who know the groom will certainly say he is a jolly good fellow. We all join in wishing them prosperity and happiness.

Younge—French.

One of the most interesting events of the season took place on Tuesday, September 6th, 1927, at St. Thomas' Church, Morven, when Elsie Eileen, younger daughter of Mrs. A. and the late C. E. Young, Morven, was united in marriage to Erle Franklin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler French, Deserontio, the Rev. W. Swayne of- ficiating. The church was beautifully decorated by friends of the bride with ferns and cut flowers. Miss Irene French, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Robert Snyder supported the groom, while Mrs. W. G. Swayne presided at the organ. The bride, wearing a sport of white crepe satin, and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas, looked charming. The veil was be- fastened with Ogden Eden". The bridesmaid wore a dress of rosalin crepe Rochaine, with hat and shoes to match, and a cor- sage bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid a white gold vanity case, and to the groomsman a gold watch chain.

After the ceremony the guests, to the number of forty, repaired to the home of the bride's brother, where a dainty luncheon was served. Later the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for a motor trip to Chaumont, Cape Vincent and Manchester, Conn., the bride travel- ling in an ensemble dress of black and gold flat crepe with hat, shoes, bag and gloves to match, and a red fox fur.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Myrtle Younge, of Toronto; Miss Dinah Turkington, of New York; Misses Mae Turkington and Martha Klenki and Messrs. Wm. and Winston Turkington and Jas. Klenki, all of Wood Warnock, of South Manchester, Conn.

On Tuesday evening, September 13th, about forty relatives and neigh- bors of the bride gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erle French to ex- tend to them a "welcome home". An exceptionally pleasant evening was spent in cards and dancing. The guests departed in the wee small hours, wish- ing the youthful couple many years of success and happiness.

Two men were talking at the club. "I am beginning to believe in fortune- telling" said one of them. "Why?" said the other "something come true?" "Yes," answered the first "yester- day a fortune-teller told me I would have money left me, and to-day I have fourpence left after paying my wife's dressmaker's bill."

He was rushed to the hospital at Saratoga, but life was ex- tinct. His brother, Senator Tom Brown, of Schenectady, was notified, and came at once and arranged to have the body removed to Schenectady, where the funeral was held on Thurs- day morning. OBITUARY.

Mrs. Bert Taylor.

That death is no respector of age is plainly seen in the way he entered the home of Wm. Saul, 90 Millwood Road, Toronto, and claimed for its victim his second eldest daughter, Leah Rebecca, beloved wife of Bert Taylor, the sunshine of his home. By the death of Mrs. Taylor not only her husband is greatly bereaved, but her other relatives and innumerable friends. She was not only a loving and devoted wife, but a true Christian woman, abounding in all good works and a most of what a woman should be in her care for the sick and needy. After a few weeks' illness, in spite of all medical aid and loving hands could do, Deep Sleep crept peacefully upon her and she passed to the loving arms of her Saviour. It seems hard to see a sweet young life like Leah's cut off in the prime of life, but let us say in our deep sorrow, "Thy will be done". Rev. Mr. Noles, of Yonge St. Methodist Church, preached a very sympathetic sermon from the 14th chapter of St. John. We sorrow not for her, but for those who have been left behind, for her broken hearted husband, her father and mother, and four sisters, Mrs. Bob Huckvale, Toronto; Mrs. Lyle Gritzmacher, Niagara, N.Y.; Georgie and Ella, at home. We must think as Dickens when he says, "It is not on earth that Heaven's justice ends. Think what earth is compared to the world to which her young spirit has winged its early flight, and say if one deliberate wish expressed in solemn tones above her bed could call her back to life which of us would utter it?" The floral tributes from relatives and friends were many and beautiful, harp with one broken chord, from the Home and School Club, Oshawa, of which the deceased was a member.

George R. Sexsmith

George R. Sexsmith, aged 43, well known builder and carpenter, died on Tuesday morning, August 30th, 1927, at his home in Syracuse, N.Y. His death was the result of a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Sexsmith had suffered two slight shocks before, but was in good health until Sunday morning.

Mr. Sexsmith lived in Watertown many years, going to Syracuse in January, 1926. He was a contractor and builder and built a number of houses in East Avenue. In addition to his building he had done considerable painting and minor carpenter work. He was engaged in the same line of work in Syracuse at the time of his death.

He was born at Selby, Ont., February 15th, 1884, a son of William R. and Esther Ballance Sexsmith. He passed most of the early part of his life in Canada, visiting Watertown for short periods. When he was 18 years of age he came here to live permanently.

He married Miss Blanche Simmons, of Watertown, in 1911, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Peck, then Pastor of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Blanche Simmons Sexsmith and a daughter, Miss Alice Sexsmith, both of Syracuse, and one sister, Mrs. Leopold Carscallen, of Selby, Ont. James Sexsmith, formerly of this city, and now of Oshawa, is an uncle. Both parents are dead.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 from the Newman & Fox parlors. Interment will be made in the family plot in North Watertown cemetery. — Watertown Times.

Use of Radio in Survey Operations in Canada

Excellent results in longitude determination are now being obtained by radio-telegraphy in the survey work of the Department of the Interior, Canada.

The longitude of any desired point may be derived from the known longitude of some other point by the simple process of adding to or subtracting from the known longitude the difference in sidereal (astronomic) time, expressed in terms of arc, which is found to exist between the two points. Simple though this operation is in theory, in practice it involves the necessity of being able to compare the times in two distant places at the same instant. Such an instantaneous comparison of times could only be made in the past by telegraphic methods and relatively few places where the surveyor operates are connected by telegraph line. Radio telegraphy has provided a solution to the problem, and has greatly enlarged the scope of astronomical work generally.

"Fruit-a-tives" Corrected Bladder and Bowel Trouble

But since taking "Fruit-a-tives", I have worked steady for four years without a sick day. I have never felt better than I do now."

WEDDING BELLS

Davison—McTear

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Maud (Bessie) McTear, daughter of Reverend and Mrs. A. L. McTear, Trenton, to Mr. Charles Fraser Davison, B.Sc., son of Mrs. Davison, and the late Mr. C. E. Davison, of Halfway River, Nova Scotia, took place on Saturday, September 10th, at St. George's Church, Trenton. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of autumn flowers. The white robed choir preceded the bridal party with Mr. Harry Hirst presiding at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. E. W. McTear, of Toronto, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and looked charming in a gown of ivory duchesse satin in period style with long overskirt and deep bertha of ivory silk lace. The tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and fell gracefully over her long court train which was lined with shell pink georgette and caught at the shoulders with rhinestone buckles. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden-hair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Hilda McTear, sister of the bride, wore a French gown of orchid georgette trimmed with silver lace insertion and becoming picture hat of fuschia panne velvet faced with orchid georgette. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of orchids and roses. Mr. T. W. Kenredy, of Walkerville, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Arthur Blakely, of Trenton, and Mr. Harold Northmore, of Bath, Ont. During the signing of the register the choir sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden".

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their friends. The bride's mother, who also received, was attired in Navy georgette with hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of roses.

After a buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Davison left on the afternoon train for Halifax, N.S., the bride travelling in an imported French gown of navy beige georgette, fur-trimmed coat and hat to match.

The groom is a recent graduate of Queen's University, Kingston. He served overseas during the Great War and for a time was a prisoner in Germany.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Davison will reside at the London Apartments, 1520 London Street, Windsor, Ont.

Dickinson—Lightfoot.

A wedding was solemnized in St. Clement's Church, North Toronto, on Monday, the 12th of September, when Florence Maude, younger daughter of the Reverend Alfred Sidney Dickinson and Mrs. Dickinson, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Lightfoot, son of Mr. James E. Lightfoot and the late Mrs. Lightfoot, Cookstown, Ontario. The father of the bride officiated. Mr. Herman Pouweis, cousin of the bride, presided at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, Mr. W. P. Plant, of Hastings, Ontario, looked charming in a frock of delicate pink crepe romaine, with hat to match, and carried a shower of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern, and a white prayer book, a gift from her father. Miss Dorothy Sonady was bridesmaid, and wore a pretty French frock of Canton blue georgette trimmed with velvet ribbon, and a black hat. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and maiden hair fern. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Archie R. Munro, of Toronto. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a bracelet watch set with diamonds and sapphires; to the bridesmaid a link bracelet of topaz; to the best man a set of gold cuff links. After the reception and buffet luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, Manor Road west, the bride donned a fur trimmed coat with hat to match, her dress, and the happy couple left on a motor trip. On their return, about the first of October, Mr. and Mrs. Lightfoot will live in Bracknell, Ontario.—Toronto Mail and Empire, Sept. 13th, 1927.

MOSCOW

The fine fall weather has been most favorable for the enterprises of the community. — Mr. Earl VanLuven, of Colton, Cal., and Mr. Amos Huffman spent a happy day among their young ducks recently. Both parties returned smiling at the success of their day's adventure.—A reunion of relatives of Mr. Earl VanLuven, of Colton, Cal., was held to do him honor at the home of Mr. E. VanLuven, on Tuesday, Sept. 18th. The guests present were Mrs. Jessora VanLuven and Miss Annie VanLuven, Collins Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Wray VanLuven and family, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Harry VanLuven and family, of Napanee.—Mr. W. W. Assaltine visited friends in Napanee over the week-end. Mr. Assaltine is wonderfully active for being 85 years "young".—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wilson, of Strathcona, retufned from their trip around Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. Tiger visited Toronto Exhibition and witnessed the wonderful illumination at Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson attended Moscow United Church, their first appearance since their wedding on September 1st. The many gifts of the community, distant friends and relatives were viewed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Asseltine.—The Strathcona ladies have already taken charge of Moscow's most prized maidens, and it's time an exchange was made, that Moscow may not be further depleted. While our loss is their gain, at present this matter should be given careful consideration by their gentlemen in matrimonially inclined.— Miss Mary Leveque, nurse-in-training at Ogdensburg, N.Y., spent a few days at home.—Miss Verna Clark spent Sunday at her home in Bell Rock. — Mr. James Hicks, an aged and much respected resident, passed away on Monday evening. A son, Charles, and family, with whom he lived, and a daughter, Ruth, who resides in New York State, besides an aged widow, survive to mourn his loss.—Miss R. E. Lampkin, Toronto, who has been holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lampkin, for a few days, returned to Toronto on Thursday.

ERNESTTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The September meeting of the Ernesttown Woman's Institute was held at the Institute rooms. The roll-call was answered by "pickling hints", elected delegate to the Ottawa Convention in the latter part of October, with Mrs. J. B. Sharp as alternative, and Mrs. Gordon Young to Kingston on Nov. 1st and 2nd, and Mrs. Fred Lawrence her alternative.

Mrs. Hamm read the proposed program of the Kingston Convention, which sounded extremely interesting, and it is hoped that having a convention right at our very door, will be an incentive to every member to attend, at least, one of the sessions.

A two weeks' course in dressmaking was decided upon, and the Secretary authorized to make arrangements for same, to be held the first two weeks in October.

Our District President, Mrs. J. B. Miller, of Napanee, then gave us a beautiful paper on "Motherhood", telling us that the Woman's Institute, above all, associates good food with magic word "mother", and explained how the good institute members made better mothers, and good mothers made better Institute members.

Mrs. Fred Smith's demonstration of pair weaving was a surprise to us all. We had no idea there was any one in our own neighborhood who could so easily and cleverly manufacture so splendid a hair switch. She talked along so easily, explaining it all while she wound the intricate threads in and out, and made it so interesting that many of us decided we should like to try it, and Mrs. Smith in her kindly way, offered to help any one who undertook the task.

Mrs. Ernest Wright's paper "Surgical Emergencies" was both clever and interesting. First she spoke of the value of the home nursing course, a two weeks' course which we may have for the asking, and then gave us some practical knowledge on the following subjects: hemorrhage, burns and scalds; convulsions, epileptic fits, fainting, sun stroke, heat exhaustion, drowning, artificial respiration for baby, fractures, dislocations, sprains and poisons. In fact, the paper was so wonderfully useful, that we asked if it were not wise, to make some copies for our members, and Mrs. Wright in her usual gracious manner, handed us hers.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered both Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Wright, for their very excellent papers, and our own Mrs. Smith for her demonstration.

Afternoon tea was served.

At the October meeting the roll call will be "labor saving devices", and we are looking forward to hearing our District Secretary, Mrs. A. P. Young, and Dr. Mabee, and seeing Mrs. T. C. Creighton demonstrate the "Making of Cocoanut Macaroons."

In a West Kent village an elderly dressmaker named Smith is displaying a Scot upon a perennial topic. "Aye, here," said the dressmaker to the wife of one of the villagers, "is a piece of Scotland to remind me of my native land." "Something else to remind you of Scotland," replied the latter, pointing to the Scot with a knowing smirk.

Gum-Dipping

A Firestone Contribution to Economical Travel

The greatest enemy to tire life is not the chopped-up road, the broken pavement or the harsh grind of rough city streets—but heat, which is created by internal friction. Heat not only weakens the fabric, but also softens the the rubber and causes blowouts and tire failures.

Firestone tubists and engineers knew that if they could find a way to eliminate this destructive heat and internal friction, the many-give qualities of tires would be greatly increased. Such a method was discovered—called "Gum-Dipping."

The Gum-Dipping process is one of Firestone's contributions to economical travel—in invisible but important ways every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing internal friction and at the same time binding the cords together by a stronger union of rubber, thus giving greater strength and flexibility to the tire.

Firestone dealers everywhere—familiar with Gum-Dipping and its advantages —will gladly explain how thousands of extra miles are built into Firestone tires by this exclusive method. Take advantage of the Gum-Dipping process to lower your tire costs this year.

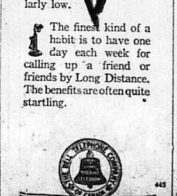
What is your biggest asset?

The young people have the right idea about the importance of keeping up one's friends. Their modern point of view is that your friends are your biggest asset.

Keeping them up becomes a very simple matter when you can so easily call them by Long Distance. The service was never so quick, and to interurban towns (within a radius of say 25 miles) the rates particularly low.

The finest kind of a habit is to have one day each week for calling up a friend or friends by Long Distance. The benefits are often quite startling.



No need to suffer with corns, or to run the risk of paring them. Remove them surely and painlessly with Holloway's Corn Remover.

SAFEGUARDING OUR FOOD SUPPLY

IMPORTANT WORK OF DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH IN PREVENTING SALE OF UNWHOLESOME FOODS

All matters pertaining to Canada's food supply are of such vital importance that Parliament has enacted legislation to prevent misrepresentation of foods as well as fraudulent or dangerous adulteration. The legislation is centered in the Food and Drugs Act which is administered by the Department of Health as one of its many functions in the public service.

The following resume of one year's activities gives a glimpse of what is being done to prevent undesirable complications and to maintain quality and honest marketing of our food supplies, apart from agricultural inspection at production centres. Twenty-six inspectors of food and drugs were on duty throughout Canada and laboratories were operated at Ottawa, Halifax, Montreal, Winnipeg, and Vancouver. In all over 10,000 samples of food and drugs were examined. Many of these were from import shipments, others were purchased in retail stores, and still others taken direct from factories.

A wide range of foods is covered by these investigations and a close watch is kept on the various brands marketed. This may be seen from the following list of foods receiving special attention and the number of samples taken in each case: apples, 21; baking powder, 64; bread, 7; butter, 370; candies, 78; canned vegetables, 71; cheese, 175; celery, 60; barley, graham flour, 53; coffee, 260; cocoa, 73; diabetic and invalid foods, 34; dried fruits, 493; food colours, 630; gelatin and jelly powders, 100; honey, 49; ice cream, 171; jams and jellies, 70; milk (evaporated, condensed, powdered), 69; nuts, 249; olive oil, 135; oranges, 590; pickles, 45; raisins, 97; soft drinks, 457; sausages and Hamburg steak, 214; spices, 905; sugar, 72; syrups and molasses, 420; and mineral waters, 61.

It was found that Canadian apples were not dangerously contaminated with arsenical residues from orchard sprays. Butter adulteration by the addition of cocoanut oil (not uncommon in other years) has been checked. Canned samples in a large collection were for the first time in several years found free from paraffin wax. One stock of canned corn on the cob was found to be sour and was excluded from market. An import shipment of so-called "canned pineapple" consisting of macerated pineapple cores was held until properly labelled. Undeclared colouring matter was detected in one brand of tomato catsup.

Dairy products such as cheese and milk (powdered, evaporated, or condensed) were all found to be of good quality. Of 171 samples of ice cream examined only five were found to contain less than 9 per cent of milk fat (legal minimum 10 per cent). Imported citrus fruits, while showing some damage from frost were an the whole as good as could be expected.

Special attention was paid to inspection of import shipments at ports of entry. The Canadian market, which must never become a dumping ground for the refuse of other markets, was protected from inferior consignments of the most varied nature, including food dyes, package spices, wormy and mouldy nutmegs, nuts, tainted or putrefied beans, and frosted oranges.

Four large shipments of dried fruits were refused entry into Canada because they contained excessive amounts of sulphur dioxide, indicative of careless processing with a possibility of imperfect drying and recovery after having been dangerously near to spoilage at some time during preparation. The regulations prohibit the use of preservatives such as sulphites in sausage and Hamburg steak. Saccharin the well-known artificial sweetener without food value is properly a drug and may be injurious to the health of any person taking 4½ grains or more per day. Its indiscriminate use in the manufacture of beverages and foods is therefore prohibited. Diabetics who cannot take sugar may use saccharin as part of their treatment, but should not regard it as having nutritive value.

Corrections were made in deceptive advertising in connection with certain brands of bread, biscuits, honey, and evaporated milk. Inspection of labels is also a very important feature of this work. Every year there is an increase in the number of packaged foods offered for sale, and an effort is being made to protect the rights of the purchasing public by insisting on a full measure of truthful statements appearing on the labels. A label may be deceptive, not only because of statements made, but also by inference from what is omitted. The statement of net content on packages is important; and action was required to secure accurate declaration in many instances, such as olive oil, spices, and pickles.

Food is not destroyed unless satisfactory utilization is impossible. Destruction was found necessary for the disposal of certain seizures of deteriorated baking powder (17 years old); nuts (mouldy and wormy); oranges (frosted and spoiled); dried apples (mouldy and wormy).

Thirty-nine prosecutions arising from adulteration of meats (including Hamburg steak and sausages), maple syrup, maple butter, molasses, candy, and jams, were instituted only after the objectionable practices were found to be wilful and persistent. In many cases breaches of the law are committed through lack of knowledge, but the damage done is not extensive although it can be easily seen that matters would ultimately assume a serious aspect if it were not for the preventive action of this Service.

Zam-Buk

ITS ROMANTIC STORY

A World Search for Rare Medicinal Herbs.

It is not commonly known that countries so far apart as China and Spain, Japan and England, and Tasmania and France have to be searched for the species of herbs used in the manufacture of that world-famed healing balm ZAM-BUK. These herbs are, many of them, rare and costly. They need to be gathered just at the right season when their juices and medicinal contents are at their very best.

Gathering medicinal herbs in Tasmania

Zam-buk is the true successor of the herbal healing balms of Ancient time; with this important advantage—Zam-buk, in addition to its rare herbal compounds, has twentieth century medical knowledge and manufacturing skill to bring it to a pitch of perfection, probably never equalled in the annals of healing.

The different medicinal qualities in Zam-buk are beautifully balanced. The healing side with the antiseptic, the soothing with the germicidal, it is penetrative yet non-irritating, and has just the right blend for removing superficial swellings, pains and pains.

Thus Zam-buk is powerful, reliable, and highly-concentrated, medicinal dressing always ready to instantly soothe pain, swiftly allay swelling and inflammation, expel deep-seated disease, and grow new healthy skin. Moreover, users of Zam-buk have perfect confidence which alone comes from the knowledge that it is a refined herbal preparation—not an artificial ointment composed of poor-clogging fats and crude drugs.

Zam-buk is invaluable in all itching, inflamed, and diseased conditions of the skin, whilst its swift antiseptic healing makes it the ideal first-aid dressing for burns, scalds, cuts, etc. It is also the soothing remedy for piles. WEDDING BELLS

Denison—Lasher

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Roblin, by Rev. A. E. Oliver, on Wednesday, September 14th, 1927, when Jennie Beatrice Denison, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Denison, West Plain, became the bride of Herkimer Walter Lasher, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lasher, Ormerville. The bride made a pretty picture in her simple dress of pale blue Swiss crepe-de-chene, with dainty trimming of white silk French lace and blonde hat, with shoes and hose to match. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lasher, brother of the groom, the latter wearing a chic suit of navy blue with hat to match. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Immediately after signing the register, the happy couple motored to Belleville, where they will spend a few days with the groom's sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Hay, thence to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in sand canton crepe dress with rose trimmings, sand coat and hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, near Ormerville. Their many friends all join in wishing them bon voyage through life.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store, and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue day and till the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and thoroughly cured by an appointed with its use can have their money refunded.

Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

An Oil of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the healing qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will give conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

An old carter in a Scottish village had a rare fund of eloquence. One day Jamie was driving a cart loaded with sand up a steep hill, when some mischievous boys, seeing their opportunity, knocked the tail-board out of the cart, and then, taking a short cut, reached the top of the hill to hear what Jamie would say when he arrived there.

When the cart got to the top, Jamie drew rein, filled his pipe, and then sauntered round to see that everything was in order. When he got to the back, and saw what had taken place, his eyes passed from the empty cart to the expectant children.

"Run awa' hame, laddies," he said. "Run awa' hame. I'm no equal to the occasion."

"You know, in the millennium the lion and the lamb will lie down together peacefully."

"Be modern! Say the mosquito and the camper."

Attend Fall Fairs you never saw before

Go about and see how people in other Counties manage their affairs

Use the good roads to see communities outside your own immediate neighborhood. Get acquainted.

Take in Fall Fairs you never saw before. Inspect the best that different localities produce. Or attend a district ploughing match. Ontario has plenty of interesting events every autumn.

Improved highways take you almost everywhere you want to go. You are contributing towards the cost and upkeep. Use them—but use them in a common sense manner. The Department asks the co-operation of every motor car driver in keeping the highways safe.

Avoid excessive speed. Even when within the present speed limit, slow down at curves and intersections with highways or other highways, near schools and at all points of possible danger.

Watch your brakes. Your life or the lives of others may depend upon the efficiency of your brakes.

See that your headlights do not glare. Glaring headlights are illegal. They are a positive menace. Have your headlights tested or send for simple instructions which the Department supplies free.

BE COURTEOUS to others on the road. Though you may be within your legal rights, do not insist if others are inconvenienced or endangered.

Be sure you always have your Motor Vehicle Operator's License with you.

If you drive moderately, and well within the law, your autumn trips through Ontario will be never-forgotten enjoyments.

A Soldier's Wedding

He Was Called to the Colors and to Matrimony With Equal Suddenness.

By F. A. MITCHEL

Being ordered to join the colors for the great world's war I donned my uniform and took a train for the rendezvous. On alighting at the terminal station I was passing between two lines of persons who had come to meet expected wayfarers, when suddenly I saw a pretty girl among them looking radiant with happiness, which it was plain, arose from seeing me. Since she was a stranger to me, thinking it was a case of mistaken identity, I advanced toward her to bring about an explanation. As soon as I reached her she put up her mouth to be kissed.

Soldiers are not noted for throwing kisses over their shoulders. I kissed the ruby lips, and they acted like wine to steal away my discretion. I permitted the young lady to continue in her mistake.

"I have the car outside," she said. And as we walked along she commented on the change in my appearance since she had seen me last, noting especially that my mustache made a great difference in my appearance and was an improvement. When we reached the car I hesitated. Dare I meet the young ladies' relatives, who might easily detect the difference between me and the man for whom I had been mistaken? The girl got in and took the wheel.

"Well?" she said, looking at me in surprise that I did not follow her.

"I suppose I should report at the rendezvous at once," I said.

"I thought you had arranged to be excused till after the"—

She hesitated and failed to go on.

"Oh, yes; I forgot!" I said.

I took the seat beside her, and we started on. Where we were going I did not know. On the way it came out that the young lady had not seen me—or the man I was mistaken for—for three years, but that a love affair between them had lain dormant during the period and had been warmed into life by the war. The most important point did not come out. If it had I should have made an immediate and inglorious retreat.

During the ride I had excellent practice in defensive skirmishing. I was constantly on the ragged edge of exposure, for it would have been an exposure of my taking advantage of the young lady's mistake. If when the day of fighting came I should act on the defensive with as much keen perception of dangers and as much ingenuity in meeting them I would come out of the fray with a medal of honor. I had an advantage in the years she and her lover had been separated, and I made the most of it. My memory proved very defective.

I formed a plan. Sooner or later the fact that there had been a mistake must come out. Then I would pretend that I had made it as well as the girl. That would let me out.

We drove several miles into the suburbs and entered grounds in the center of which stood a handsome house, from the roof of which floated the Stars and Stripes. Supposing I should soon meet persons who would detect the difference between me and the man I had been mistaken for, I prepared to act my part. When we brought up under a porte-cochere a number of persons, young and old, came out to meet us. Not one of them looked at me with any surprise, though a middle aged lady—she turned out to be the girl's mother—when she kissed me remarked that had she met me casually she would not have known me.

Evidently the time had not come for a denouement. I regretted this, for I felt that I was getting deeper in the mire every minute. We all went into the house, and I was shown to a room where I might get the dust off my clothes. I was long about it, for I was trying to think up a new plan for extricating myself, the one I had laid having failed. I could think of no other and resolved to be guided by circumstances. To adddenly come out and acknowledge that I had permitted the young lady to continue in a mistake which I knew from the first was a mistake would put me in a position I did not like.

After spending half an hour in my room I went downstairs. Every eye in the room was directed toward me. The girl's mother led me to a man in clerical garb and introduced me. Why was he there, and why was I especially presented to him? My valet began to desert me. I was on the verge of panic.

The girl entered the room, and, wonderful to say, she was in bridal costume! Everybody looked at me, and I must have presented a startling appearance, for they all regarded me intently.

Then for the first time it occurred to me that this was one of those quiet soldier weddings, the man being suddenly called to the colors. The groom had not put in an appearance and I had been mistaken for him.

There are two kinds of persons in the world. The one on meeting an enemy is seized with an irrepressible impulse to take to his heels; the other is seized with an equally irrepressible impulse to dash forward. This does not pertain alone to physical encounters; it is equally true in necessarily quick, important decisions. Judging from my action in this dilemma, I fancy I belong to the latter class.

I felt like a soldier on the battlefield, who must either run from the enemy or dash forward for safety. I did not seize a standard and cry, "Forward!" But I did what amounted to the same thing. I advanced toward the bride and led her to the parson, who was standing at one end of the room with a book in his hand.

There was but one halt in the wedding ceremony. When asked for the ring I had no ring. I muttered something about hurrying to join the colors and stupid forgetfulness. The bride's mother took a ring from her finger and handed it to me. I put it on the bride's finger and in a few minutes was married man. As soon as I could escape congratulations I announced that if I did not join my regiment at once I would be pronounced a poltroon and a coward, and, leaving my regretful bride, I dashed out, got into the car in which I had come and, leaving an astonished throng, turned on the power and sped out of the grounds into the street.

I had not gone a block before I saw a man in uniform and carrying a suit case hurrying in the opposite direction. Turning to the curb, I shouted "Hey, there!"

He looked at me and, not recognizing me, was about to hurry on. He appeared to be about my age, my build and looked not unlike me.

"Going to be married?" I asked.

"Yes; I'm late. Excuse me. I must get on."

"Get in here," I said, opening the car door.

Thinking that I was intending to aid him in making haste, he did as I bade him. Instead of turning and driving back I sped on.

"What are you doing?" he cried. "Let me out. I was to have been married at noon, and it is now a quarter past."

I increased the pace.

"Who are you? And where are you taking me?" he cried.

"Comrade!" said I in an impressive voice.

"Comrade be hanged! Are you going to kidnap me?"

"Have you any bowels of compassion?"

"Let me out of this or I'll"—

"Can you bear to hear some bad news?"

"Yes. Hurry up. Has anything happened to Lillian?"

"She's married."

"Married!"

"Yes, married; married by mistake."

"Married by mistake! Are you demented?"

"Not demented; a crack brained idiot."

He looked at me as though he believed that I had told the truth, then asked:

"Whom has Lillian married?"

"Me," I groaned.

"For heaven's sake, cease to tantalize me and tell me what all this means."

I struck a broad country road at this moment and, slackening my pace, told him the story of what had happened to me during the past two hours. When I had finished the recital I said to him solemnly:

"For Lillian's sake, for heaven's sake, do not reveal this blunder. Let Lillian"—it was fortunate I had learned her name—"remain in ignorance that she has married the wrong man."

I suppose it was my intensity that convinced him of the truth of my story. At any rate he expressed no doubt that the girl he had been to have married had become my wife. Possession is nine points in the law. In addition to the shock he would bring to Lillian by making known her mistake and my rascally taking advantage of it, there must be a divorce. He confessed that he had not seen her for three years; that, being ordered to the colors, he had revived an old attachment and had written her that since he must go to the war he preferred to go leaving behind him a wife who would care for him if he returned maimed and mourn for him if killed.

"A somewhat selfish view to take of the matter." I suggested.

"Yes, and I wonder she accepted the proposal. I suppose it was patriotism. All the women are losing their heads about the war."

"It seems to me," I said after a pause, "that it is two against one and two-thirds between us. You were to have been married with a selfish motive. I permitted a girl to remain in a mistake she had made till, being cornered, I committed a still more rash act. It seems to me that we are both beholden to do what seems to be for her best interest. If you will permit her to remain in her mistake I will do the same till a favorable time arrives for a confession. Then if she will remain my wife I will do my best to make her happy.

"All this is very fine, but where do I come in?"

The remark was discouraging, but I kept on holding before him the trouble he might cause by claiming his rights and the nobility of character he would show by resigning his bride for her own good. I was two hours about the work, but in the end I succeeded, and he consented to let the matter rest as it was.

I bade the man whose place I had taken goodby, with a "God bless you, noble man that you are," and reported to my regiment. I have not since visited my bride, having been at once sent away on a special duty. But I have written her some heartfelt letters and have received equally heartfelt replies from her.

I have not yet made a confession. In the first place, I prefer to make one personally rather than in writing; in the second, I am sorry to put my heart to her with a view to making her the better satisfied with me when she learns that she has married the wrong man.

Famous Kings

King Alfred's time England was ravaged by a number of petty kingdoms. Danish and other invaders had a settlement. Alfred became the first King of United England.

As Exhaustive he defeated the Danes with great slaughter. His terms of peace were more than generous. Guthrum the Dane chief was forced to accept Christian baptism but was allowed to rule that part of England north and east of a line from London to Liverpool.

By the annals of kings, there is no higher figure. He was a scholar, a law giver, a warrior and a ruler in the best sense of the word.

Keep that Confidence!

Ever since the beginning of the world CONFIDENCE has played a tremendous part in the preservation of peace and honor.

Individuals, communities and nations filled with confidence in each other find true contentment and good feeling. Through this confidence they are of mutual benefit to each other. Just as soon as that confidence is destroyed, that which was productive is gone and all concerned suffer.

Confidence is the basis of business to-day. Confidence is responsible for the great credit system in the commercial world.

When you buy merchandise or service from a business man of Napanee, you get credit because of his CONFIDENCE in you. He BELIEVES in you. He knows that you have built up a character and reputation that DESERVES his confidence.

KEEP THAT CONFIDENCE! Keep it for your own sake, as well as for the sake of others. Pay your bills promptly! If circumstances arise that you cannot take care of your obligations at the promised time, be frank with your creditor. Let him know that you are remembering his faith in you.

It is only through all of us keeping faith with each other that the granting of credit is possible. Let's create and maintain a "good pay" reputation for Napanee. Let us BUILD in this community with CONFIDENCE!

We, whose names are signed below, have confidence in the people of Napanee, and ask them to justify this confidence by keeping their credit in good standing.

MAPLE LEAF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Bert Fretts very graciously acted as hostess for the Maple Leaf Institute at their meeting on Sept. 7th. Visitors were the chief feature. The regular opening exercises and business were attended to first. A very satisfactory balance of $43 was reported from the booth at Napanee Fair. As this booth becomes better known its business increases.

Everyone was delighted to see Mrs. Miller, the mother of our Institute, with us again. She gave a splendid address entitled "A Heart to Heart Talk with Busy Mothers and Homemakers". She also told us about the district meeting in Kingston and the formation of a new division centred at Kingston in the future.

Mrs. P. Young was another very welcome visitor. She gave an address, "How We May Improve Our Institute" full of helpful ideas. We hope to have her with us again.

Mrs. J. R. Smith again in her capable manner, supplied the musical portion of the programme. A generous collection was taken, and lunch served to about thirty-five.

OFFER FARM BOYS TRIP TO ROYAL FAIR

WILL BE GUESTS OF ONTARIO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SPECIAL COMPETITION TO DECIDE WHO SHALL GO

Ten fortunate young farmers from this county will spend three days in Toronto at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair this coming November as the guests of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. According to the Government's plan, which has just been announced in its final form, the boys will be provided, free of charge, with railway fare from the home station to Toronto and return, with sleeper, berth and meals on the train for those from a distance of 300 miles or more, and any further transportation involved in the tour of the stock yards, abattoirs, factories, and other commercial concerns and public institutions which has been planned as part of the programme during their visit to the Fair. They will also be free of any expense for lodging accommodation for four nights or for their meals while in Toronto. It is the sort of thing that most boys dream about and seldom realize, and in this case the Department of Agriculture is playing the part of the fairy godmother.

It is felt that a visit to the Royal Winter Fair, which has in its show ring the finest livestock, poultry and horses that the stables and herds of nine Provinces and many States can offer, will be an education in progressive agriculture. The boys will be able to see for themselves what the master breeders of the country have accomplished with their animals and they will have new ideals of live stock perfection to take away with them. They will also be able to make comparisons between fruit, grains, and dairy products from different parts of the Dominion. Normal country boys have a keen interest in all live things, and the foxes, rabbits, pet stock and dogs exhibits will show them the commercial possibilities of these specialties on Canadian farms. They will also have the thrill of seeing the finest amateur horsemen and women on the continent taking the jumps in the Royal Horse Show under the eyes of Lord Willingdon, the Governor-General, and many other visitors prominent in Canadian public life.

The boys are to be selected by means of special "Royal" junior farmer judging competitions to be held during October. Conditions governing these competitions (high mark boys to be selected) are as follows :

Contestants shall judge five rings of live stock and five classes of crop products, such as grain, small seeds, potatoes, roots, fruit and vegetables. Special crops may be included where production is general over the county.

The competition shall be open to all farmers and farmers' sons living on the farm, between the ages of 16 and 20 on October 1st, 1927, (must not have reached twenty-third birthday), and who have not previously represented the county as a member of a stock-judging team at the Royal Winter Fair, or are not graduates of an agricultural college or agricultural school.

Prizes shall be awarded on aggregate scores only, 50 per cent will be allowed for placing, and 50 per cent for oral reasons on each class. When computing aggregate scores, live stock and crop products shall have a ratio of 2 to 1. The possible score therefore, will be live stock, 500; crop products, 250.

This Great Tonic Renews Strength

Simply Because It Enriches and Builds Up the Blood.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia, which means poverty of the blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its appearance in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before its presence is recognized. But taken in time there is a tonic that so enriches and purifies the blood that good health and strength soon comes to the former weak, anaemic sufferer. This tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which for years have been the most successful blood-builder known, and have credit for restoring to good health thousands and thousands of people who have suffered from some of the many ailments that come through weak, watery blood.

The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. As proof of this Miss Margaret A. Smith, Burgoyne, Ont., says :—"After I had a severe attack of jaundice I was left in a very weak and run-down condition. I was pale and my nerves on edge. I could not sleep at night and would toss and turn for hours at a time. I finally decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and soon began to feel better, and after taking a few more boxes of the pills I felt as strong as ever, and could thoroughly enjoy my rest at night. Now, I always recommend these pills to any friends who may be ailing."

Better sleep, steady nerves, improved appetite, increased vigor—all these can be yours by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin them to-day. Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Never hear about the absent-minded professor who fell in while boating and sank twice before he remembered he could swim?

Many mothers can testify to the virtue of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, because they know from experience how useful it is.

Employe (who has been detacted shirking)—"But, sir, you don't think I'm a machine, do you? You don't expect me to go for ever?"

Employer—"Oh, yes, I do. I expect you to go for ever on Saturday."

The vicar of a sporting parish drew considerable small congregation. One day, after service, an old gentleman asked the parson why it should be so. "Ah, well," explained the preacher, "I only expect them to come weather permitting." "Then," said the disappointed parishioner, "take to-day for example; I'm sure it is beautifully fine and clear." "Just so," said the clergyman sadly, "this is the sort of weather that doesn't permit. It's so good for golfing."

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking at the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions one of the best remedies that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered, and they pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

A young lover who had decided to make the great avowal was convinced that a few words would suffice to assure his good fortune. He only lacked a beginning, a beautiful, poetic inspiring beginning. At length he found it. Presenting himself to the desired one, and suddenly showing her a ring, he said, "My love for you is like this ring—it has no end." The young lady examined the golden circlet for a while with close attention, and then returned it to him. "My love for you," she said, "is also like this ring —it has no beginning!"

Strangled With Asthma is the only expression that seems to convey what is endured from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond measure. Where all wasg sufferin there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely cleared. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

"How are you spending your vacation?"

"In an ideal way. I'm pleased nearly all the time."

"Lucky chap! What is your method?"

"I spend two days in the country, then I'm glad to get back to the city. I spend two days in the city, then I'm glad to get back to the country. It's a great scheme. Try it."

Some people find their past an everpresent difficulty.

TO DIRECT GRAND MUSICAL REVUE HERE

DESIRE J. BOURQUE

The U. E. L. Chapter of the I.O.D.E. procured the services of the National Producing Co. of Canada, to produce a Musical Revue with local talent.

Desire J. Bourque, Manager of the Company, will personally direct the show here, and as he has had considerable experience at this work, the talent will receive a valuable training, and the public can look forward to an exceptionally good entertainment.

After the Great War, in which he served with the C. E. F., Mr. Bourque was very active in concert and vaudeville work in U.S.A., until four years ago, when he adopted the producing profession, and until this day has been very successful.

The Company will furnish all the scenery and costumes for the Revue, which will be called "Let's Go". It was produced in Belleville last spring, with great success. Rehearsals will begin Sept. 29th, and "Let's Go" is to be staged on October 12th and 14th. Look for further announcements for "Let's Go".

The I.O.D.E. propose to start a fund for the erection of a Community Hall in Napanee, and this is the first step in that direction. 38a

DESERONTO

Last Sunday was decidedly a Red Letter Day in the annals of the Parish of St. Mark, Deseronto, when during the meeting of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, in the historical City of Kingston. The Bishops and the other distinguished Divines of the Anglican Church, scattered on Sunday, Sept. 18th, to speak in all the Churches of the Diocese of Ontario. A large congregation was present and fifty made their communion. The Bishop spoke with power. The Organist and Choir rendered the musical portions of the service, the Communion Service, Hall in C., and the hymns remarkably well, and were congratulated by the Bishop. The new Choir Boys behaved like veterans.

At Evensong, the Right Reverend Dr. Bishop of Brandon was at St. Mark's, and preached eloquently to an attentive and crowded congregation. The Rev. Herbert Pringle, Rector of Tyendinaga, was present, but too late to robe after driving the Right Reverend Dr. Anderson, Bishop of Moosonee, to Trenton, for the 7 o'clock service. The music again was good, and well known hymns were sung very heartily by all present. The Rev. Rural Dean and Mrs. Radcliffe were host and hostess to the visiting Bishops and Clergy, the Bishop of Brandon staying over till Monday morning, and they all expressed themselves as delighted with their visit to St. Mark's Church and Sunday School, and the hospitality they received at the Rectory.

AWARD TENDERS HAINES' STORES

On Saturday tenders were opened in Toronto at the offices of the Toronto General Trusts Company for the purchase of the boot and shoe stores known as the J. J. Haines Shoe House in Belleville and Napanee. The Belleville store, stock, good will, etc., was awarded to Mr. E. R. McBride, who has been manager of the store for many years, and the Napanee business was secured by Mr. F. W. Robinson, super, who has been identified with the Haines' Napanee store for thirty-four years, having entered the business when a boy, and remained there ever since.

Mr. E. R. McBride has been a member of the Haines organization for many years, having entered the employ of the firm in Kingston over forty years ago, gradually working up until appointed manager of the Belleville store, which was headquarters for the J. J. Haines chain of shoe stores in Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Smiths Falls and Belleville.

The Belleville business will be conducted in the future as in the past under the name of the J. J. Haines Shoe House, with Mr. E. R. McBride as proprietor, and his many years dealing with the public, his genial personality and his policy of giving the best of value and courtesy to customers is a guarantee that the future of the J. J. Haines Shoe House will be as prosperous as the past.

A representative of The Daily Ontarian had an opportunity to-day of glancing over the cheque received by the House of Haines. On the fly leaf is the inscription:

"Belleville, June 30, 1869

"John J. Haines, Jr., commenced business on my own account this day in Belleville."

The first bank deposit was $175 and the next $200, so it would appear that business was good from the beginning. The first monthly notice is in the splendidly kept book, written in Spencerian hand, which is as legible as print. There are one item appears concerning bank discount on silver, in that time the silver currency at par was not worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

The first deposit of J. J. Haines last December made necessary the sale of the stores in settling up the estate.—Belleville Ontario, Belleville, Monday, Sept. 26th, 1927.

EBENEZER W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Ebenezer W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Scott, on Wednesday September 21st, 1927, with a large attendance present. Mrs. Hartwell and Mrs. Jenkins, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with Hymn 81, "The Whole World Was Lost in Sin." Hymn 93 "Sing." Scripture reading, Romans 10-13-15 and Matthew 28 11-21, read by Mrs. E. Anderson. Silent prayer followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Hymn 91 answered by a full verse. Hymn 93, "We Have Heard the Joyful Sound." Minutes of the July meeting read by the Secretary, Mrs. Walter Scott. "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" read Mrs. Alfred Brothers. Business of the meeting taken up. A motion was made and carried, that $10 be sent to Missionary Mrs. B. S. Brown, who was absent, be sent a letter of remembrance and sympathy. A letter from Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. P. Anderson, Newburgh, and one from Mrs. (Rev.) H. Wilson, Napanee, was read by the President. Duet by Miss Maysel Whiteman and Miss Bessie Mastin. A collection of $2.65 was then taken up. "The United Church in Asia Welcomes Our Delegates", read by Mrs. W. G. Jenkins.

After the closing of the meeting a social half hour was spent, during which the hostess served a dainty lunch.

One of the pleasant features of the meeting was one that came as a great surprise to the President, Miss Frankie Asselstine, was a shower of beautiful handkerchiefs from the members, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Miss Asselstine contemplates leaving in the near future to spend the winter months with her sister, Mrs. Shaver, Winnipeg. The hostess is noted for serving very delicious refreshments, and this occasion surpassed all former occasions. An attractive wedding was solemnized at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 24th, at St. Matthias Church, Ottawa, of Agnes Butterworth, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Greenway, to John, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Cooney, Rev. W. A. E. Butler, M.A., officiated. The bride was lovely with gladioli and asters, and the chancel was banked with ferns.

The service was fully choral with the choir in attendance preceding the bridal party down the aisle singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." Later during the signing of the register, a charming solo, "O Perfect Love," was given by Mrs. W. A. Tweedy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marjorie Greenway, as bridesmaid. Mr. James H. Cooney, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride was lovely in her gown of ivory georgette made with a long waisted design and the skirt in three tiers. Her veil was of silk net, prettily embroidered, and was arranged in cap effect with a semi-circlet of orange blossoms across the forehead and falling in clusters at each side. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses, lily-of-the-valley and sprigs of white heather.

The bridesmaid was dainty in green taffeta made with a basque and bouffant skirt. It was trimmed with silver lace and she wore a hat of velvet and felt in matching tones. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Greenway, mother of the bride, wore a gown of navy blue flat crepe, with touches of grey and a grey and blue hat. Mrs. Cooney, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in black crepe back satin with a black hat and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mrs. A. F. Bradley, sister of the bride, was charming in beige crepe Romaine over a rose slip. Mrs. A. Burnett, cousin of the bride, wore a smart sand georgette dress with black velvet hat.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 207 Holland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooney left on a short motor trip, and on their return will take up residence on Geneva avenue. The bride wore navy wool crepe, a fall autumn shade crepe back satin and a coat to match, trimmed with fur, and a felt hat.

Amherst Island Fair

The Sixty-fifth Annual Exhibition of the Agricultural Society Eclipses All Previous Efforts

Splendid Exhibits—Good Horse Races, and a Good Crowd.—Better Connection Between the Island and the Other Parts of the County a Necessity. How a Daily Ferry Service May be Secured, Without Extra Cost to the People of the Island.

There never was a rose without a thorn. And the thorn that afflicted the Amherst Island Fair held on Tuesday, September 27th, 1927, was the fact that a cold night previous to Fair Day and the threatening of rain in the morning, prevented a number of the people from the mainland from participating in the pleasures of the sixty-fifth annual fair of the Amherst Island Agricultural Society. The Islanders turned out in full force, and many were there from Napanee and other parts of the County to swell the numbers into what might be described as a large crowd.

The following officers and directors are to be congratulated on the success of the fair, and the exhibitors for the very numerous entries and the exceedingly high quality of the exhibits. Robert J. Marshall—President.

David H. Filson—Secretary-Treasurer and Manager.

W. A. Scott—1st Vice President.

W. P. Tugwell—2nd Vice President.

Directors—W. Cochrane, J. E. Filson, W. J. Glenn, R. Fleming, Samuel Miller, D. Caughey, J. Willard, S. Reid, A. G. Hitchins, and A. N. Hitchins.

There was a fine showing of fruit, flowers, vegetables, ladies' fancy work, specimens of home bakery and cookery, preserved fruits, butter, cheese, etc.

There was a grand display of fine horses, cattle, pigs, sheep and poultry, which were all greatly admired.

The good Horse Races on the new half-mile track were much enjoyed by all who witnessed them.

The fine young maple trees which have been planted around the new fair grounds of the Society will in after years enhance the natural beauties of the park.

Amherst Fair is one of the oldest in the Province, and it is the one day in the year that is looked forward to with pleasure and friendly rivalry to keep the products of the Island better each year. The people of the Island number about 1,000 inhabitants and they are a thrifty, hospitable, well-to-do, progressive people, as one can learn from the fact that there are over sixty automobiles in use there, and that they have a rich fertile soil that does not require to be stimulated by the use of chemical fertilizers, for they live and do produce from season to season. Another evidence of progress is that they have a good system of telephones which connects many of the homes with and with the mainland.

Amherst Island is a gem on the twin bosoms of our inland seas, laying between the great Lake Ontario and the River St. Lawrence.

Many Americans have discovered the beauty of the Island and spent their summers there year after year, and gain health and enjoyment by doing so. Soon many Canadians will cease to think of Amherst Island as merely a place on the map; will land there and thereafter enjoy Arcadia.

One of the beauty spots of the Island is Stella Point, where reside Mr. Sutherland, Mr. Clute and the Anderson Brothers; and they certainly have improved on nature by the building of lovely homes, surrounded with flowers, plants and trees, and other accessories.

But the one thing lacking to make Amherst Island available for summer homes, and to encourage increase of production is a proper means of daily transportation between the Island and the other parts of the county of Lennox and Addington during the season of navigation.

The cost of procuring a proper ferry-boat would be in the neighborhood of twelve or fifteen thousand dollars, and of course it is out of the question that the Island with so small a population could furnish that sum.

The County Council a year or two ago recognized the need of a ferry, and voted the sum of $6000 to be applied towards the purchase of such ferry—in other words the County proposed to pay half the cost. The Township Council should, without delay, call a meeting of the ratepayers, and put the question to them, "Do you want a ferry?" If the answer is "yes", all that is necessary to do is to forward the matter to the Ministers of Highways for the Province of Ontario, and if the request for the ferry is the powers pleader guilty.

The prisoner, Wilfred, had a previous prison record of five convictions, the latest being for theft, which had two. The above three were sentenced to five years each in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The prisoners, Laporte and Manahan, have also previous court records, and were sentenced to two years each in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The prisoners were taken to the penitentiary on Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Vandervoort, Chief of Police Bell, Constable Cook and Mr. C. J. Loyst.

E. Madden, in the County Judge's Criminal Court, at the Court House, on Friday. All the prisoners pleaded guilty.

OBITUARY.

David Hiram Preston, K.C.

The dean of the legal profession in this county, and one of the oldest citizens of Napanee, died at his residence here, on Saturday, September 24th, 1927.

He was born in the Township of Manvers, Ont., on December 28th, 1840, the fourth son of Lt.-Col. Alexander Preston, a well known pioneer of that Township, and a grandson of Isaac Preston, one of the early settlers of Amherst Island.

After obtaining a first-class teacher's certificate, he began teaching at the age of sixteen, and taught for several years, later completing his education at the University of Toronto, from which he was graduated in 1866, with the degree of LL.B. He was called to the bar at Osgoode Hall in 1867, and shortly afterwards located at Napanee, where he remained in the active practise of his profession up till the time of his death, In 1889 he was honored by being made a Queen's Counsel, and at the time of his death was one of the oldest King's Counsels in Ontario. He was well known as an outstanding character in the life of the school, a sound lawyer, punctilious and painstaking in his profession, and devoted to the interests of his clients, several families of whom he had served through three generations.

He was a public-spirited citizen and served on the Town Council of Napanee, as well as on the School Board of which he was for many years a member, and of which he served as chairman. As chairman of the Building Committee, he was very active in, and largely responsible for the planning and erection of the splendid Collegiate Institute, which, though built nearly forty years ago, stands with few changes as a modern educational institute.

Ever a staunch Conservative in politics and actively espousing his party's cause, he nevertheless numbered among his most steadfast clients the Reform etc., of those who so vigorously opposed as candidates or exponents of the contending party.

He married in December, 1874, to Janet Jarvis Templeton, who predeceased him seven years.

He is survived by his children, J. W. Preston and Miss Janet M. Preston, of Fort St. Nazaire, Mrs. Alfred L. Russell, Bailleboro, Ontario; Miss Ethel A. Preston, Ottawa, Ontario; Mrs. R. R. Hall, Napanee, Mrs. Albert E. Hall, Falls, has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis, and is again on duty and enjoying her work at the hospital.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. W. Adams and Mrs. Pillar took a motor trip to Ottawa and Russell during the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, President of the R. E. C., met with the Richmond Council at Mr. W. J. Winters' home on Monday evening last.

Both services in the United Church were well attended last Sabbath. Large numbers came from Strathcona and Wesley, uniting with Newburgh in the Sunday School Rally in the morning. Miss Keough told a story in relation to the Harvest Festival. Mr. Adams' "Cup" sermon was much enjoyed.

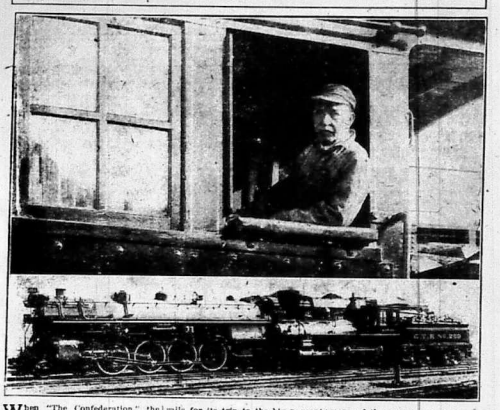
OLD TIME DRIVER AGAIN AT THROTTLE



When "The Confederation," the largest locomotive, not only in Canada, but in the British Empire, left the Canadian National Railways terminal at Toronto, to take part in the "Pageant of the Iron Horse," at Baltimore, Maryland, John Ryburn McIntyre, a pensioned engineer, who commenced his railway career 62 years ago, emerged from his retirement to take the throttle of "The Testitech," the oldest wood burner in the Dominion, which was also brought from honorable retirement for the event. Together the two "pensioners" escorted "The Confederation" out of the yards to take the rails for its trip to the big pageant which is intended to depict the evolution of rail transportation.

"The first locomotives I fired weighed 22½ tons," Mr. McIntyre remarked, as he looked over the old timer and compared it with the modern product, "and when I retired on pension the Grand Trunk system was putting in service locomotives weighing 227½ tons." By comparison, "The Confederation" type weighs 229 tons. Asked, Mr. McIntyre noted that when he commenced his railroad career one of the freight cars had a capacity of eight tons. To-day many of the cars in service have a capacity of 40 tons.

Mr. McIntyre was born in Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1852. The family, like many other Scottish families, was attracted to Canada to share in the railway building of that period, and in December, 1865, at the age of 13 years, Mr. McIntyre began service with the Grand Trunk as a cleaner at Sarnia, continuing, except for a short interval, until he retired at the age of 65 years. Mr. McIntyre became fireman and then driver and saw some service with the militia during the second Fenian Raid.—Canadian National Railways Photograph.

Thin, Watery Blood Always Dangerous

If Not Corrected Serious Results Sure to Follow.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia — thin, watery blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before the trouble is recognized. But taken in time the tonic treatment through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so enriches the blood that good health and strength is speedily regained. The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. Miss Teresa Heafey, Dunraven, Que., is one of the many anaemic sufferers who has found new health through the use of this medicine. She says:—"I cannot express too warmly my thanks for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was suffering from a badly run-down condition. I was very nervous, had little desire for food, and would feel tired out at the least exertion. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before using them very long found my health greatly improving, and under their continued use was completely restored. For this reason I earnestly advise all weak girls to take these pills, feeling sure that they will do for others what they did for me."

Send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will mail you free a useful little book on "Building Up the Blood". The pills can be obtained through any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Those who enjoy reading the best books of the day, can get any of them at a fraction of their cost through our Lending Library. Hundreds of the best sellers always on hand at the trifling cost of three cents per day. Paul's Bookstore. 14tf

A group of farmhands waited on a farmer and their leader said:

"We want a raise, boss."

"Holy smoke," said the farmer. "Didn't I give you a raise only four days ago?"

"Yes," replied the leader, "but we've got used to that now."

One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influence in the digestive organs.

OUR HERO AND HIS TRUCK

Come all you people, and listen to me. About our friend, Mr. Hagerman, the detective to be.

He drove the milk and is a farmer at that.

But at chasing robbers, he is a real bearcat.

Last Monday p.m., so some people say, Some robbers robbed the widow Allen. She called up Anson; he is a big he man.

Said, "Anson please help me as quick as you can".

Anson said, "I will do as you want to. Or I will chase them raiders to the City of Toronto."

He jumped in his truck which runs very fast.

The robbers he soon caught up to and passed;

The milk rack fell off, and dropped on a road.

Anson straightened out twenty-five turns in the road.

He went down Napanee hill with the gas open wide.

Made us think of John Gilpin in his last long ride.

He also said he nearly forgot

That the hole was under the viaduct. But with the help of Bud, the well known Cop,

The robbers were soon behind a lock. So all the farmers, and widows, too. Would rest in peace if they only knew That Anson was around the robbers to shoo.

The people all bow in a mouth of awe The cattle moo.

A [illegible] robbers to catch He was really a real citizen man to go [illegible].

Three cheers for Anson, we all like him, too.

He stands up for the widows and the Red, White and Blue.

Varicose Veins

Reduced Or Money Back

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are sure you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning as directed to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of running sores and ulcers, should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

HELPING THE OYSTER.

Pearl-Culture Industry Started Over Thirty Years Ago.

"With pearl experts giving away all their trade secrets, it will soon be common to hear Mr. Smith says to Mrs. Smith, "Maria, I think we will grow pearls instead of watercress this year."

Mr. Mikimoto started the pearl-culture industry thirty years ago. In 1912 he succeeded in producing a perfect spherical pearl identical with those found in nature, says Tit-Bits.

Is the real (or Occidental) pearl superior to the cultured (or forced) pearl? There are two questions to consider, those of taste and price—whether people prefer to pay $10,000 to $15,000 for a pearl necklace, or $2,500 to $4,000.

The basis of the "real" and the "cultured" pearl is identical, the introduction of a foreign substance to the body of the oyster. This foreign body comes into contact with the "mantle" of the oyster, where the pearl substance is secreted, and becomes in time a pearl.

The first process of pearl culture consisted of removing the mantle of the oyster, caught alive, and after the introduction of, say, a tiny fragment of fresh-water mussel, reinserting the substance in another live oyster. This oyster was then returned to the sea and left to "weave" its own pearl.

Now there are special oyster nurseries in secluded warm-water bays. The oysters are in cases, which are periodically cleaned; and as, throughout nature, the scientific care of the mother is always rewarded, Mr. Mikimoto's oysters produce him strong and healthy pearls.

Specially trained "oyster doctors" perform the operations, and handle the prospective pearl producers at the rate of sixty a day.

CARIBOU OBEY INSTINCT.

Trek Back North Where They Raise Their Young.

In May vast herds of caribou leave the sheltered woodlands south of Churchill river in Northern Canada, in obedience to their wonderful instinct, moving unerringly for their northern feeding grounds.

Every spring the herds trek back north 1,000 miles to the plains, where a steady wind sweeps the high ground around the tundra day in and day out in the summer, warding off black flies and mosquitoes which pester life in the low wooded areas.

To the misty north the caribou find no civilization to interfere with their breeding and the care of their young, and they feed on the thick, velvety moss. Their journey north is a sign of spring.

Then when frost threatens the thick moss the caribou turn south again, wandering in a leisurely way to the valleys where they can browse throughout the winter.

Soon Canadian railroads will creep upon the area of the wide caribou pastures, threatening the herds with extinction. Already the caribou are fewer by perhaps a million than thirty years ago. Like the buffalo, they are doomed when man conquers the extensive tundra of the Far Northwest unless protection is given them.

If their feeding grounds were preserved so that caribou might live naturally and propagate the animals would provide a valuable supply of meat, it is said, and this would be the most profitable use to which the millions of acres of moss-covered tundra could be put.

GAMBLING IN 6,000 B.C.

Recent Discoveries Have Brought to Light a Gamblers' Game

What is believed to be the earliest game of chance was played at least 6,000 years ago at Ur of the Chaldees, 140 miles southeast of Babylon.

Recent discoveries in this district have brought to light a gamblers' game consisting of a double-sided board for different kinds of play, and various playing pieces. Although it is impossible to reconstruct the game as played by the ancients, it seems from the boards that they staked on even chances in a form of play similar to rouge et noir on the modern roulette table.

The "chances" were alternate and interlitting triangles, with mother-of-pearl and a pure red made from a paste as the colors to be backed.

The other face of the board was used for an intricate form of presentday Halma. Forward and backward movements were regulated by the throw of variously marked counters or dice, and the players apparently betted their luck on being able to thread a way through complicated diagrams to the finishing point.

Counters found in the graves of the gamblers show that five and seven were the lucky numbers of the day.

Lindbergh Park.

Lindbergh Park is the name to be given a five-acre tract on Tinicum Island, near Philadelphia, site of the first settlement of the Swedes in America. The park will be kept in perpetuity as a memorial to Col. Lindbergh. This was announced by the Swedish Colonial Society, which has accepted the tract as a gift from Charles Lonzstrehl, of Coronado, Cal. The society also announced that Mr. Lonzstrehl and Col. Lindbergh had been elected honorary members of the organization.

The Reason Why.

Claims are being made that a new star is the very shortest story on record. It was told by Sir Harry Lauder.

"We Scots," he said, "are very fond of telling stories against ourselves, and I expect you sometimes wonder why we have such a great sense of humor.

"Well, I'll tell ye. It's a gift!"

THE WAPITI.

Formerly Abundant In Open Country of North America.

The wapiti, or "elk", a name properly belonging to the European variety of the animal that we call moose, and which it would be better to speak of by its Indian name, wapiti) is the largest of North American deer, and the one originally most widely distributed. In a recent study of its former range, Dr. George Bird Grinnell learns that when the continent was first explored this fine deer was found from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from latitude 59 in western Canada south into Arizona and New Mexico. From the St. Lawrence river and Quebec on the north east it extended south at least as far as North Carolina in Georgia.

From the accounts to be read in the Jesuit Relations it appears that wapiti were then abundant in open country along the St. Lawrence down below Montreal, and were not finally destroyed along the Saratoga until about 1823. They occurred, wherever the forest was not too dense, in northern New England and New York, and La Hontan describes them being killed by the Indians near Lake Champlain in 1687, by being driven into an enclosure and there slaughtered. Until after the Civil War they persisted in the mountains of Pennsylvania, where the last one was shot in the wild country of Clearfield county in 1867. They were found by the early settlers throughout the southern Alleghany Mountains and thence westward all across the Plains, in Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado, to and throughout the Rocky Mountains. West of the Rockies they pastured in suitable places, especially in winter, as far south as the desert-region.

Curiously, these deer never passed over the low Tehachipi divide into the Walleys south of it, nor down to the seaside. They were a part of the game-fauna of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, but how far north was the limit of their range is doubtful.

YARKER SOUTH.

Fine weather prevails, but we are all looking for a big rain and heavy frosts. — Mrs. Gertie McWilliams spent a few days last week with Mrs. Myrtle McWilliams, at Camden East.—Miss Ruby Davey spent the week-end at her home here. — Charlie Curle spent a day recently at Odessa. — Several from here attended Camden East School Fair on Friday, and report a great success. Much credit is due both teachers and pupils of the various schools that competed there. Some people say that School Fairs are no good. Any person thinking that way should attend at least one School Fair and see then if they think the time and pains taken are in vain. We believe in boosting the boys and gisls. — Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Davey and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Huff and family, Mrs. M. Love and Mrs. R. G. McWilliams spent Sunday with Mrs. Jos. Dillon, Enterprise. —Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Curle spent Tuesday at Mr. Gowdy's, Petworth. —Arch Card was through here last week with his threshing outfit and called on some of our neighbors. Also Kenneth Martin was through here with his corn binder this week. — Mrs. Jane Davey entertained to dinner and tea on Tuesday several of the old neighbors of thirty years ago. Those present were Mrs. James Etta Boyce, from New Ontario; Mrs. Gertie McWilliams, of Cowansville; Mrs. Nellie O'Mara, of Enterprise; Mrs. Elizabeth Love and Mrs. Martha Love, of this neighborhood. — Mrs. John Love and Mrs. Cassen Davey attended the Ladies' Aid convention held at Enterprise on Tuesday. — Mrs. Nellie O'Mara, of Chippewa, spent a few days this week at Harold Huff's.

DORLAND

A sudden death occurred here on Sunday evening when Mr. George White passed away while seated at the supper table. Mr. White had been unable to follow his occupation of blacksmith for some months, but on Saturday was feeling better than for some time. In the absence of the rector, Rev. A. Strother, Rev. H. Pringle conducted the funeral services on Tuesday, at 10 a.m. Mr. White's wife, who was Miss Margaret McConkey, predeceased him some years. The following children survive: Arthur, Mrs. Wm. Reynolds and Mrs. F. Wilson, Dorland; James, Manitoba; Mrs. Shaw, Kingston, and Arch, Napanee.—Mrs. T. N. Davis entertained the Ladies' Aid on Wednesday. — The Quarterly Official Board and General Ladies' Aid met in Conway Church on Monday evening. Owing to the indisposition of the General Steward, the chair was occupied by Mrs. G. Phippen. Mrs. Davis' many friends hope for her speedy recovery. — Mrs. Ed. SANDHURST

On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21st, Mrs. John A. Young was the hostess of a very pleasant social gathering. Progressive euchre was played for a couple of hours, followed by a half hour of music. Luncheon was served from prettily decorated tables, after which the ladies dispersed. The prizes were won by Mrs. A. D. Wright, Mrs. A. P. Young, Mrs. W. H. Phippen. —The congregation of St. Paul's Church held their annual Harvest Home service on Sept. 18th. The church was beautifully decorated. Rev. R. A group of farmhands waited on a farmer and their leader said:

"Yes," replied the leader, "but we've got used to that now."

A Real Asthma Relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has never been advertised by extravagant statements. Its claims are conservative indeed, when judged by the benefits which it performs. Expect real relief and permanent benefits when you buy this remedy and you will not have cause for disappointment. It gives permanent relief in many cases where other so called remedies have utterly failed.

THE GRAND PROMOTER

His Pays a Debt in the Usual Way

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1926, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

There was a man walking up and down the corridor on the floor on which the grand promoter had his office.

Back and forth—to and fro.

Three times—five times—ten times.

There were anxiety and desperation in his attitude.

A man does not jump off the Brooklyn bridge until he has given the matter a little thought.

He does not beard the tiger in his lair without making figures on his chances.

At last the walker resolved. He was the chiropodist of room No. 8, and cutting out corns had not made a coward of him. He walked boldly to Major Crofoot's door and opened it. He had no gun on him, but he knew that his cause was just.

"Come in, Mr. Sykes—come in!" called the major in a bland and cheery voice. "Come right in. By George, but what a coincidence—what a coincidence! Not a minute ago I sat down to write you a note asking you to step down here. There is surely such a thing as mental telepathy!"

"You have owed me $1 for the last four months," stiffly replied the chiropodist, as he lugged out a bill.

"Just so—exactly—just so," smiled the major.

"And you said you'd pay me next day."

"I presume I did. Yes, I know I did, and I humbly apologize that it slipped my mind. My dear man, permit me to pay you $2—$3—$4—$5. I have a check here for $250. You may hand me $245 balance, and I shall be perfectly satisfied."

"I haven't got no $245," replied the man, "and I only want what is due me. I'll go to the bank with you."

"Don't! Don't do it! I'd never forgive myself for putting you to that trouble. Yes; I was about to write you a note. It was surely a curious thing your coming down as you did. Doctor, do you know where I stood financially four months ago?"

"Mighty hard up, I guess," was the sullen reply.

"You've hit it. Yes, sir; I was so hard up that I didn't own the shoes to my feet. It was the hardest kind of work for me to raise a dollar. The cruel, cruel world offered me one cent called me a deadbeat, but there were a few exceptions. You were one. In my darkest hour you had confidence in me. When I wanted words of encouragement you spoke them.

"You told me not to despair.

"You said that the darkest hour was the first before the dawn."

"I never said any such thing," replied Mr. Sykes. "I was suspicious of you from the start."

"Mr. Sykes, the time has come when I can reward you a thousand fold."

"That's all guff."

"I have just organized the great American Veal Tablet company; capital, $3,000,000. The stock will go to 200 above par. Dividends will be 50 per cent the first year. Greatest thing ever known in the history of the world. Will you take the secretaryship at a salary of $50,000 a year?"

"Not by a durn sight. You might as well give up trying to work a cold deck in on me. I want that dollar."

"And it was my genius and my financiering which brought it about," said the major as he rubbed his hands and patted the chiropodist on the shoulder. "The thought came to me while I was eating a veal cutlet at my boarding house."

"Look here, now," exclaimed the chiropodist as he pounded on the desk, "I've come for my dollar. Don't try to stuff me, but come down with the cash."

"I said $50,000 a year, but if that is not enough, if you feel that you ought to have $60,000, speak right up. I want you to be perfectly satisfied, you know. Will $60,000 a year be enough?"

"What about my dollar?"

"The tablets will be a go. They can't help but be. Let us walk out in the hall while I tell you that the public can't get enough of veal cutlets in their present form. They are always eager for more. They want the taste of cutlets in their mouths as they go about their daily routine. Fifteen cents a box in order to compete with potash lozenges, but a profit of 10 cents on every box. Take the sales at 10,000,000 boxes a year and what do you get? You want stock. You want at least"—

"Not a blamed cent's worth! I want my dollar!"

"At least $20,000 worth of stock. You shall have it. You have paid me $1 to secure it, and don't worry. It will be made out in your name, and later on— Excuse me."

The major stepped into his inner office and shut the door.

"Look here, you old deadbeat! I want my dollar!" was shouted.

The major sat down at his desk and lighted the stub end of a cigar.

"You come out of there and pay your bill or I'll bust the door down!" shouted the creditor.

The major calmly puffed away and gazed out of the window, and the look on his face would have reminded a beholder of puckwheat cakes and molasses.

"Then I'll wait for you out here and punch your head. Do you hear me?"

The major did not hear. He was perfecting the organization of the Veal Cutlet Tablet company and wondering whether the Canadian general agency should be placed in Toronto or Quebec.

A LIFE OF SELF-SACRIFICE

Wilfrid T. Grenfell Has Spent Nearly Forty Years Among Deep Sea Fishermen.

The news that his Majesty King George has conferred the honor of knighthood upon Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell will be received with interest and, no doubt, with approval by many people who live, not in great cities, but in isolated places and who gain their livelihood by labor on the high seas. The King has made Dr. Grenfell a Knight of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, on the occasion of the formal opening of a new hospital at St. Anthony, which has been erected largely through the efforts of the Grenfell Association. His Majesty has intended, probably, by so doing to make public recognition of the value of the work accomplished by Dr. Grenfell during the past thirty-eight years.

Dr. Grenfell, or rather Sir Wilfrid Grenfell, who is now sixty-two years of age, was born in England and was educated at Oxford and at London Hospital, where for a time he was house surgeon under Sir Frederick Treves. Though he is a physician, he has performed a wide variety of duties during his unique career, remarks the Toronto Mail and Empire. He is a medical missionary, he is a master mariner and he is a justice of the peace in Newfoundland and on the Labrador coast. Dr. Grenfell entered the service of the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen of Great Britain in 1889. He fitted out the first hospital ship for the British fishermen who ply their trade in the North Sea. On that ship he cruised with the fishing fleet, it is related, from the Bay of Biscay to Iceland. He was also one of the leaders of a movement that resulted in the establishment of homes for fishermen on land and in the provision of mission ships to minister to them at sea. In 1892 Dr. Grenfell turned his attention to the needs of the fishermen and settlers on the coasts of Labrador and in the remoter parts of Newfoundland, and began a work that has occupied him until the present time. He established his headquarters and the headquarters of his missionary and medical activities at St. Anthony, Nfld., and has been responsible for the founding on the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador of four or five hospitals, an orphanage and a school. He has taken a leading part in the opening of a series of co-operative stores to supply the wants of the fishermen and others, and has started a number of small industrial schemes for their benefit. In a hospital ship he has cruised up and down the coast of Labrador summer after summer ministering to the inhabitants of the small scattered villages. At other seasons he has been busy writing and lecturing to raise funds with which to carry on his work.

Dr. Grenfell has been honored by a variety of organizations for the humanitarian labors he has carried on. He has received honorary degrees from a number of universities, among them the University of Toronto, which made him one of its Doctors of Medicine in 1911, and awards from a number of learned societies in Great Britain and in the United States. He was made Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in 1906, and how has been elevated the rank of a knight of that order. Canada, as a result of the action of their Parliament, are not now themselves recipients of knightly titles from the Sovereign, but many of them will feel that a knighthood conferred on such a man as Dr. Grenfell is a fitting recognition of meritorious services.

ARTIFICIAL SILK INDUSTRY IN CANADA

The Dominion's Vast Supplies of Pulpwood Offer Great Possibilities for Development

When we gaze on a great forest tree it is not easy to visualize it in terms of rich cloth and silken raiment. And yet man, not content with silk, cotton, wool, linen, and a number of other fabric materials, now employs wood for the manufacture of the latest of textiles—artificial silk, or rayon, as it is called by the trade. The basis of all artificial silk is cellulose, and cellulose is the principal constituent of wood.

As long ago as 1889 Count Hilaire de Chardonnet produced artificial silk, but it has taken many years of incessant labour to bring the various processes to that stage of perfection which is essential to commercial success. That the industry has now become a great undertaking is shown by the fact that the world's production has risen from 7,500 tons in 1909 to an estimated 100,000 tons for last year.

The general principle underlying the manufacturing methods is the treatment of the cellulose with chemical reagents to give a gelatinous solution which can be forced through a number of minute nozzles into a bath of another solution (or in one process into air). This latter solution causes the coagulation of the liquid emerging from the nozzles and thus creates the actual filaments of artificial silk, though the material has to pass through several other stages, varying with the process, before it finally emerges as that glistening transparent gossamer to which we are now so accustomed, but which would have amazed people fifty years ago.

The possibilities for rayon manufacture in Canada, with her vast pulpwood areas, are enormous. The country which were first to develop the industry, however, were not those which possessed much raw material, but those which already had the organization, the equipment and the markets for a big textile industry. Thus, shortly before the war, France already predominant in the manufacture of natural silk, took the lead, followed by Switzerland. Now the big producers and exporters are the United States, Great Britain and the countries of central Europe that are prominent in the natural silk trade.

For a good many years Canada has supplied much of the sulphite pulp used in the manufacture of artificial silk in these countries. An artificial silk plant was established by British interests in Eastern Ontario in 1924. This appears to be but the preliminary of many others. There are several projects on foot for the development of the industry in Canada by companies organized for this purpose and by pulp and paper companies; operators of some of the important mills have been carrying on chemical research for some time in the utilization of hemlock for the production of cellulose. Certain conclusions have been reached which are favourable to the development of this side of the industry. The artificial silk field on this continent is a large and profitable one, and Canadian resources, both in wood reserves and natural power supplies, are factors which particularly favour Canada in competition with other countries.

An Indian Stratagem

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

To older persons it seems but a short time since Indian fighting was a constant part of the duties of our regular army. The last events which attracted unusual attention throughout the country were the Custer massacre and the Modoc war, during which General Canby was subjected to the traditional treachery of the Indians and murdered while in council with them. Today all that has passed; the white man has swept over the continent from Missouri to the Pacific as he had swept from the Atlantic to the Missouri.

In one of those Indian wars of later days a little Indian boy was captured, and since there was no practicable way to return him to his people, he was taken to the headquarters of the command in Fort R. There he was treated so kindly that he grew to love the white people.

Tommy, as the boy was called, however, inherited the nature of his red forefathers. He loved to hunt, to ride, to live out in the open air, and a time came when he employed that talent for strategem, for which the Indian has always been distinguished.

This time about two-thirds the force at the fort, including the women and children, were in peril of their lives. The Indians, who had been showing signs of restlessness, suddenly broke away from all restraint, and settlers came running into the fort, saying that they were burning and massacring the whites. It was soon learned that they were advancing to attack the fort. Everything was got in readiness to receive them, but when they came it was in such numbers that it was evident they could not long be resisted.

Fort R. was a two company post, and at this time the enlisted men numbered little more than a hundred men. The post was besieged by some 2,000 Indians, and if overpowered it was certain that every one in it would be massacred. The commander, Major MacHae, was chiefly concerned for the women and children. It was terrible to think of the men being murdered, but they were soldiers, whose business it was to die, while the women and children were noncombatants and must be cut down without defense.

Major MacHae knew that some thirty miles to the south of him were four companies of cavalry, with light cannon suitable for Indian warfare. The communication of this fact, if secured, could be carried to him, would come at once to the relief of Fort R., and the savages would not likely be able to stand against the combined cavalry and infantry and especially the artillery. But the Indians had formed a circle about the fort, and no messenger could get through their lines. There was a despairing sternness on the face of Major MacHae when Tommy approached him and, saluting, as he had learned to do from the soldiers, said to him:

"I'll take a message through to the cavalry."

The major turned, looked at the boy and said: "You can't get through. No one could get through." Then, thinking Tommy meant that he would go as an Indian, he added, "They would torture you for a renegade."

"I won't go as an Indian. Give me the swiftest horse in the command."

"There's not a horse swift enough to escape your bullets."

"They won't shoot the horse. I'll show you what I will do."

The major promised the horse, and Tommy directed that he be bound to the horse's belly with his head protruding between the forelegs. A revolver was thrust in the boy's belt, and the bridle reins he held in his hands. The major wrote a few lines on a paper, and Tommy put it inside his shirt.

The major added to Tommy's advice by sending out the garrison to make a brief assault on the Indians. Tommy and his horse being placed in the center. During a fusillade the boy was let go, and a riderless horse was seen by the red men to gallop away. Those Indians who were bearing the brunt of the attack had enough to do to defend themselves, but others, seeing a horse galloping away, gave chase. Some of them could easily have shot the animal, but no one thought of doing so, desiring to get possession of him for use.

The horse was so swift that but few of the Indians succeeded in getting near him. One redskin stood directly in his way and threw up his arms to stop him, but Tommy, who were spurring the horse with the brute's belly and came near running the man down, and later sorts. By selecting varieties carefully bloom from the 1st of May to well on in June may be secured from tulips alone. As the flowers for next year's blooming are already formed inside the bulb now, it is advisable to get the largest bulbs procurable. Unless well rooted in the fall, results will not be satisfactory. Hence it is necessary to plant early. Tulips, Narcissus, and Hyacinths should be planted from four to six inches deep, and about the same distance apart, while the smaller bulbs should be planted three inches apart and about two to three inches deep. The tall late Tulips will stand more erect if planted from eight to ten inches deep.

Best Varieties.

Some of the most satisfactory varieties are —Narcissus, Emperor, Sir Watkin, Madame De Graaff, Madame Plemp and Poeticus, Hyacinth, Lagrandesse, Grand Lilas, King of the Blues, Gigantea, and Bol de Belges. The Tulips are too numerous to list separately. It is advisable to get a catalogue and select the colours and type desired. For outside planting any of them can be recommended, but for planting indoors the early types are best, and care should be used to select those especially suitable for forcing.

Planting Bulbs Indoors.

One can easily have flowers all winter by planting a few bulbs in pots at this time. Narcissus, Hyacinths, and Chinese Lillies can be grown in soil, water or fiber. The latter substance, which is now on sale at all seed stores, is the cleanest to handle and will probably give the best results. Tulips should be planted in pots, placing the bulbs about half an inch below the soil. The Narcissus will come into bloom in from six to eight weeks, and should be planted every week or two up until Christmas for a succession of bloom. Hyacinths and Tulips will take about two to three months, and Daffodils about the same. Where soil is used, a light potting variety containing plenty of sand is advisable and drainage must be provided. With fiber or water drainage is not necessary. After planting place in a dark cellar where the temperature is kept around 40 degrees, if possible. When the root growth has developed well—turn out pots in hand and examine—and the sprouts are up about an inch and one half long put into fair light and a temperature of about 50 degrees. Unless these plants get the cold, dark start referred to, they will develop too soon, and small, sickly flowers are the result. After they come out, they must be kept fairly cool, about 65 degrees, if the bloom is to last as long as possible.

Planting Fall Bulbs

It is a simple matter to procure a display of bloom within a few weeks after the snow disappears. To get this, secure bulbs now, and plant outside. Snowdrops as soon as the snow is gone, are followed in rapid succession by the Scillas, Crocuses, Grape and Dutch Hyacinth, Narcissus, Cottage, Darwin and Breeder Tulips. There is also a single early tulip which will come first of all, but it does not compare in beauty with the Darwin

To Drivers of Motor Vehicles

LAST WARNING!

If you have not yet secured your Motor Vehicle Operator's License apply for it without delay

It is against the law and punishable by fine to operate a motor vehicle registered in Ontario without first securing a Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

Highway Traffic officers have been instructed and municipalities have been requested to demand the production of Motor Vehicle Operator's Licenses, and any driver unable to produce his or her license at any time is subject to a fine of not less than $10.00. In case of accident or infraction of The Highway Traffic Act, the Operator's License is sure to be called for. Drivers who have not the Operator's License cannot be considered experienced and competent.

Application forms for a Motor Vehicle Operator's License can be secured at any garage. Licenses will be granted forthwith to anyone who has driven over 500 miles and for six months continuously and who is not physically disabled. Examinations will be afforded to all others by Highway Department examiners.

If you have omitted to secure your Operator's License, this is your last warning to secure it. Don't drive a car without it, either on city streets or country highways.

Lights on Horse Drawn Vehicles

After October 1, 1927, every horse drawn vehicle on the public highways in Ontario must carry after dusk and before dawn a light projecting visible on the left hand side showing white to the front and red to the rear. The attention of horse owners is particularly directed. Drivers of automobiles should be more certain than ever that their tail-lights are always in working order.

YARKER - COLEBROOK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular meeting of the Yarker-Colebrook Women's Institute was held on Sept. 21st, at the home of Mrs. Charlie Amey, at Yarker, with the President, Mrs. Norman Boyce, in the chair. Fifteen members were in attendance, and the District President, Mrs. A. E. Huffman, of Moscow, was present, besides other visitors.

The meeting opened in the usual manner, with the singing of the Ode, while economy hints served as an answer to the roll call. A committee was appointed to improve the cemetery, and it was decided that the members make a quilt to have on hand if needed. The prizes for the best button holes made at the meeting were awarded to Mrs. S. Freeman and Mrs. R. Jackson.

Community singing was followed by a reading by Mrs. Amey, after which a splendid paper on Current Events was given by Mrs. Earl Boyce, who received many expressions of appreciation. Her paper showed a careful study and wide reading on the questions of the day. Mrs. Boyce kindly consented to look after this branch of the program for the year. Lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

The next meeting will be held on October 19th, at the home of Mrs. S. Winter, the lunch committee being Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. Cowdy and Mrs. A. Clarke.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King".

A well-known physician was examining a class of nurses. He described the condition of a patient, and asked one nurse how much morphine, in her opinion, should be administered to the sufferer.

"Eight grains," promptly replied the nurse.

The doctor made no comment and the girl passed on. When her turn came again she appeared greatly confused, and said to the examiner: "Doctor, I wish to correct the answer I made last time. I meant to say that one-eighth of a grain should be given to the patient."

"Too late," remarked the physician, without looking up from his question paper. "The man's dead."

Mrs. Dayman Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the Credit

Colborne, Ontario.—"When I was a first married I was very thin and weak. The doctor said I was run down and would never be able to have a child, but I did, and for the time I felt very much improved all the time and doctored and took medicine. Life became a burden, and doctors said an operation would help me, but my husband was opposed to that. I then took Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and thought I would try it, that I might get some relief. I had not taken one bottle when I could feel it helping me. I took five bottles and had better health. Now I have three girls and a boy and have done my work up to confinement. I am now at the Change of Life and owe my good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I take a bottle when I think I need it." — Mrs. Susan Dayman, R. R. No. 5, Colborne, Ontario.

Birthday Anniversary.

On Saturday, Sept. 24th, Mrs. Robt. English, of Empey Hill, received a pleasant surprise, when the anniversary of her birthday was honored by a gathering which consisted of her daughters, Mrs. Geo. Dupree, Mrs. Fred Kimmerly, Mrs. Roy McMath, and their families, with a number of other immediate relatives. The company was given a hearty welcome by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kimmerly. A beautifully decorated birthday cake centred the well laden dinner table, to which all did ample justice. Owing to Mr. English being in weak and failing condition of health, the afternoon was enjoyed very quietly, and after singing a few favorite hymns, the company dispersed, carrying with them memories of a very pleasant re-union, and leaving with Mrs. English some tokens of deepest respect and hearty good wishes.

Mr. C. A. Wiseman, of the Chevrolet Garage, has recently installed a novel and handy apparatus for putting air in automobile tires. No tire tester is needed when using this machine. This air service machine is very compact and occupies but little space on the edge of the walk.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S. SUNDAY

Those who attended St. Andrew's Church Sunday morning, Sept. 25th, enjoyed the privilege of hearing Miss Clara Preston, returned missionary from N. Honan, China. She described the different ways of entering the Province of N. Honan, situated north of the Yellow River." It has a population of from seven to eight millions for which the United Church has assumed responsibility. The language is that of the Mandarin, altogether different from that of S. China. After studying the language for a time in Pekin, Miss Preston became Superintendent of the new hospital in Changte. She described the difficulty of learning the language and preparing for examinations on ten different subjects. Besides attending to the Hospital work, Miss Preston assisted Mrs. Menzies to organize Sunday Schools and day schools for the children, knitting and study classes for the teen age girls, clubs for the boys, and Bible study classes for the women, also for the men. We grieve with her that the work of our missionaries in China has been disrupted for the present, but our prayer is that the native workers may carry on in their absence, and that in a short time the missionaries will be permitted to return to their work. The hearty thanks of the members of the W. M. Society is due Miss Preston for her most interesting and instructive address.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thorough-ness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable, and children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Friday night, the concert given by Toronto artists, was very fine and the large hall was filled to capacity. The social dance that followed was so largely attended that scores of people were unable to enter, scarcely standing room. The music was furnished by the Odessa orchestra. COUNTY CONVENTION OF LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The fifth annual Convention County Ladies' Aid Societies was held in Enterprise United Church, on Wednesday, Sept. 28th, 1927.

At 9 a.m., the delegates and visitors registered, numbering about 125. Soon after Mrs. M. Buck, of Bath, the President, took her chair, and presided over the meeting. The meeting was opened by singing, "O Worship the King", after which Rev. Mr. Bunt read the scripture lesson from St. John's Gospel, chapter 15, and prayer was offered. Mrs. E. Perry, of Wilton, gave the Secretary's report after which Mrs. A. Woods, of Napanee, read the Treasurer's report, and there was a balance of $232.35 on hand. Mrs. H. Freeman was elected Press Reporter.

The following Committees were appointed:—

Nominating Committee—Rev. Mr. Merriam, Mrs. Card, Mrs. E. Purcell, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Altenbrack, and Mrs. Perry.

Memorial Committee—Rev. Mr. Bunt, Mrs. Merriam, Mrs. Bunt, Mrs. Wagar and Miss Alma Thompson.

Then Mrs. R. C. Covert, of Enterprise, rendered a solo which was greatly appreciated by all.

Mrs. Beckstead gave a very interesting talk on "It Is More Blessed to Give Than Receive". He said that our real service to God is not accomplished inside the church, but is accomplished outside the church on behalf of the social and moral betterment of the people among whom we dwell. Some people are afraid of tearing out by service, but probably they will wear out. We can form an idea of the people of the community by the appearance and condition of the property of the church. They reverence God by keeping their church properly clean, tidy and respectable. So the Ladies' Aid Societies are doing God's work by helping maintain and help up the up-keep of the church. The men should help also as the ladies are just an aid and should not have to take the sole responsibility of maintaining the church.

The Ladies' Aid is only one branch of the church. There should be co-operation and sympathy in all the branches of the church. The big business is to bring people into fellowship with God and all our work should centre on Christ. The Ladies' Aid should be linked up with all the other organizations, with the Missionary Society and Sunday School. They shouldn't disregard other branches, but should assist them heartily and prayerfully. All enjoyed this address very much. One verse was sung of "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name".

Then came the reports of the different Ladies' Aids. There were twenty Aids reported.

Mrs. O. B. Jackson, of Enterprise, read the address of welcome, in which she as a representative of Enterprise Ladies' Aid, very warmly welcomed the other Aids, and expressed it an honor to entertain the convention. Mrs. Merriam very ably responded to the address of welcome.

After singing "What a Fellowship, What a Joy Divine", a very sumptuous dinner was served by the Department of the church by the Enterprise ladies.

The afternoon session was opened by devotion singing, after which Rev. Mr. Pawson, Napanee, conducted the devotional exercises. He spoke of love. Happiness is a great love and much service. Love without service is imaginary, and service without love is a dreary thing. Christian discipleship is love inspired by service. If we have love our service will flow freely.

Next came the Round Table, conducted by Mrs. Waggar and Mrs. Beckstead. Some of the questions were:—

1. Can a Ladies' Aid raise as much money by free will offerings as by entertainments? It is the situation that has to be considered; what applies to one community, doesn't apply to another.

2. How often is it advisable to change officers? Offices should be taken in turn so as not to impose too much work on a few.

3. Should a minister's wife be President of a Ladies' Aid? No.

4. Who should decide how the money of a Ladies' Aid should be spent? Members.

After the Round Table discussion, Miss Ethel Babcock and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, of Wilton, rendered a duet, "Who Should it be but Jesus", which was enjoyed by all.

The minutes of the morning session were read by the Secretary, and the offering taken.

Then Mrs. Woodger, Napanee, gave a paper on "The Ladies' Aid from a minister's wife's point of view". She said that our Aid should be a society of women and a sisterhood. When members stoop to gossip at an Aid meeting they disgrace the Aid. She told several rule the minister's wife greatly appreciates the Ladies' Aid, and is a co-worker among them.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:—

Hon. Pres.—Rev. Mr. Bunt.

President—Mrs. A. Carscallen, Enterprise.

1st Vice President—Mrs. E. Alkenbrack, Odessa.

2nd Vice President—Mrs. Gilbride, Napanee.

Secretary—Mrs. Perry, Wilton.

Assistant Secretary—Mrs. N. Boyce, Colebrook.

Treasurer—Mrs. A. Woods, Napanee.

These officers, with Mrs. G. Wagar, Mrs. W. Roblin, Mrs. H. Freeman, and Mrs. Merrick constitute the Executive.

"Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was then sung, and Rev. Mr. Merrick dismissed the meeting.

N. C. I. FIELD AND TRACK MEET

This year at the Collegiate the field meet was very closely contested, although the number of entries was small.

Ted Breeze, Form V., walked off with the Boys' Championship Cup, with 25 points. Harry Robinson, in good condition, gently relieved Jack Grange of the Intermediate Champion trophy, and Bert Harrington captured the Junior Championship, with 20 points. He tied Helen Grange for the highest number of points of the meet, thereby also winning the Collegiate Shield.

In the girls' events, Helen Grange, as usual, took all the Senior events, scoring 35 points, and winning the Senior Girls' Championship trophy. Marjorie Daly's 28 points took the Intermediate Championship, while Betty Gibbard, long legs and all, helped herself to the Junior Championship, scoring 23 points.

Out of all these champions, Helen Grange was the only one who did not have to work for every point gained, and her ability distinguished her critically all entries in her class.

In the Boys' Interform Relay Race, Form V. 4th man, Gibbard, broke the tape thirty yards ahead of the second Form, but last year, Form V. gaining a little. The team was Breeze, Merrit, MacFadden and Gibbard. Second Form couldn't desert their number and came in second, while First Form finished third. These were the only teams in the race.

Form V. girls also won the Girls' Relay Race. Some girls were handicapped by the large number running, all eight Form competing. The winning team was M. Graham, E. Harrison, K. Dickson and H. Grange.

The Athenians scored the largest number of points, the score being 213 to 191. The leading scorers for the Spartans were: B. Herrington 35, R. Vick 11, J. Grange 26, and H. Grange 35; while those who helped the Athenians were: R. Wilson 28, H. Breeze 29, T. Breeze 26, L. Merritt 15, E. Way 12, M. Daly 28, and B. Gibbard 23.

After the first day of sports the Spartan boys and girls were beaten in a game of basketball, though neither boys' teams were the regular players.

On Friday night a most enjoyable dance was held, the music being furnished by Wagar's Orchestra.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL ORGANIZED

This year it was decided to put all the events and activities at the N. C. I. under one body, known at the Students' Council. This Council is composed of the Spartan and Athenian Societies, the Presidents of the Boys' and Girls' Athletic Associations, and the Presidents and Vice Presidents of the Girls' Basketball, though neither of these last two societies put up a boy and a girl candidate in each room for the presidency. Each Aids' room has taken the highest candidate was president and the next vice president. The result of the elections were the Spartans gaining eleven seats and the Athenians five, that is the Council has Spartans hold 13 seats and the Athenians 7.

Mr. Beattie then called on Ernest Gibbard, the Spartan President, to take the chair. The following is the way he and the Athenian President organized the Council :—

Hon. President—L. Beattie, 3A.

"Dat's all—then I gits hung."

Requisite on the Farm.—Every farmer and stock raiser should keep a supply of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil on hand, not only as a ready remedy for ills in the family, but because it is a horse and cattle medicine of great potency. As a substitute for sweet oil for horses and cattle affected by colic it far surpasses anything that can be administered.

He had just been appointed judge, and it was his first day on the bench. His first case was a bootlegger. A little uncertain as to what penalty to inflict, he excused himself a minute and went outside, and called an old judge aside.

"O, judge," he said, "I've got a bootlegger out there and I don't know what to give him."

The old man replied—"Don't give him over $4. I never do!"

An Oil That Is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

THE SUNBURN SHIELD.

A Moderate Amount of Sunburn Will Resist Sun's Heat.

It seems contradictory, but if you wish to be preserved from too much of the sun's heat, the best and natural preservative is a moderate amount of sunburn.

The puzzle is best explained by considering the skin of a negro, which never blisters or scorches when exposed to the hottest tropical sun. That is because its color—black—absorbs the rays' heat and passes it below the surface of the skin before it can scorch the outside.

White skins cannot absorb heat, so it therefore rests on the surface and scorches it.

The color of a negro's skin was formerly reddish-brown. But countless generations of sunburn have made it black. Nature, in that way, has given the negroes a shield against the sun.

When you get tanned, your skin gets the same shield-builder degree. If you like to make a test, cover one of your hands with black cloth and the other with white. Then expose them to the sun. The black-covered hand will feel hotter, but will not tan. The white-covered hand will brown very rapidly.

—Sweet Revenge.

A prominent official of the telephone company was rudely aroused from his slumbers by the ringing of the telephone. After bruising his knee on a chair he reached the phone.

"Hello!" he growled.

"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked the voice.

"Yes. What can I do for you?"

"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at two o'clock to answer a wrong number."

A Future Financier.

Maloney, the farm-hand, driving his employer's donkey-cart, was stopped at a certain toll-gate.

A long argument ensued, but in the end Maloney paid the three-pence demanded.

Later in the afternoon he returned, but this time the donkey by comfortably in the bottom of the cart and Maloney himself was in the shafts.

He paid not the slightest heed to the gatekeeper, and would have passed through had not the latter closed the gate in time.

"Whirrah!" cried Maloney angrily. "It's not a bit av use talkin' to me. Spake to the driver."

Insuring Against Love.

Did you know that you can insure yourself against falling in love?

Pola Negri, the film star, who once insured against this "risk." Her services were secured by a film company, and the contract stipulated that should she fall in love, become engaged, and marry during a period of three months, she was to be released from obligation to continue work. The expenses of the production for which she was engaged were estimated at £250,000, and to indemnify the company against loss this sum was insured.

Raising Polo Ponies.

A thriving new industry in Southern Alberta, which is making progress and is full of promise, is that of the raising of polo ponies. There ranches are engaged exclusively in this industry and ranchers and farmers are coming increasingly to engage in it as a side line. About five carloads or one hundred polo ponies leave Southern Alberta annually for the United States.

Wool From Pine Needles.

Chemically treated pine needles are being made to yield a useful substitute for wool in Germany. In the process the resin is chemically removed from the needles, leaving "pine wool," a strong fibre resembling hemp. This wool is woven into heavy fabrics.

Increased Bank Service.

The increasing service given by the banks of Canada to the business community may be measured by the increase in the number of branches. At the time of Confederation there were 122 branch banks in Canada, as against 3,770 at present.

Less Public Horses.

Public houses in England and Wales have decreased by nearly 20,000 in the last twenty-two years; there are now about 97,178 "licenses" in the country.

"Holy Men" of India.

"Holy men" in India choose strange methods of demonstrating their holiness. The most usual being beds of nails, with the points upwards, on which they sit all the time.

Ontario's Highways beckon in the Autumn

See the Province in its Panorama of Color

Nature is kind to Ontario in the autumn. She splashes reds and yellows and browns and greens over the landscape in a truly extravagant manner. Mile after mile, on hill and in valley, the spectacle is a constant delight.

Get out into the Province this fall. Use the good roads to go where Nature exhibits her most artistic handiwork.

But when you go out on the road, whether on business or pleasure, remember you owe it to yourself and to others to exercise courtesy and common sense in driving.

Avoid excessive speed. There is no excuse for reckless driving. Slow down at curves, at intersections of railways or other highways, near schools and when passing pedestrians.

Be sure of your brakes. See that they are always in good condition. Your life or the lives of others may depend upon your brakes.

Watch your headlights. See that they do not glare. There is more night driving in the fall, and glaring lights are a positive menace.

BE COURTEOUS. Obey the rules of the road. When the exercise of your full rights means danger or inconvenience to others, insist. Be patient.

Be sure you have your Motor Vehicle Operator's License with you. It may be asked for any time by Traffic Patrolmen or police officers.

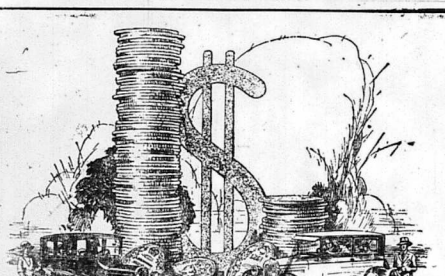
Making the Canadian Dollar Go Farther than Ever Before



IN the purchase of the common commodities of life, the Canadian dollar has decreased in value during the past decade.

But, in the purchase of an automobile, the dollar is now worth one hundred to two hundred per cent more than it was seven to ten years ago—is worth more, in fact, than ever before in history.

While constantly raising the quality standard of its products, General Motors of Canada has increased the purchasing power of the Canadian car-buyer's dollar. . . .

. . . by the economies of volume purchasing and production,

. . . by the close co-ordination of resources and facilities,

. . . by improved labor- and time-saving methods of manufacture,

. . . by sharing with Canada the savings effected by increased production.

In quality and in value, the Canadian dollar now goes farther than ever before in the purchase of a General Motors car.

No Better Medicine For Little Ones

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets

A medicine for the baby or growing child — one that the mother can feel assured is absolutely safe as well as efficient—is found in Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are prized by thousands of mothers throughout the country. These mothers have found by actual experience that there is no other medicine for little ones to equal them. Once a mother has used them for her children she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Charles Hutt, Tancook Island, N.S., writes: "I have ten children, the baby being just six months old. I have used Baby's Own Tablets for them for the past 20 years and can truthfully say that I know of no better medicine for little ones. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all other mothers to do so."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be mailed upon receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Develop Empire Settlement.

The British Empire League, according to advices from London, has issued a brochure appealing to mayors throughout Great Britain to co-operate with the mayors of their namesakes and other towns in the Dominions in order to develop Empire settlement.

Lt.-Col. L. C. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, in a foreword, declares that the problem of distributing the population of the British Isles in other parts of the Empire is one of first importance. "We must know and have sympathy with the views and aspirations of the Dominions and they with ours," he says.

The "Brus Stane."

The "Brus Stane," which dates from 1204, has been placed in the Town Hall, Annan, Scotland. The stone belonged originally to the fortified house of the Bruce Lords at Annan. The Bruce referred to in the inscription is either the 5th Robert de Brus, who died in 1304, or his son Robert, the illustrious King of Scotland. The stone was discovered recently in the possession of a woman of North Devon, who gifted it to the Town Council at Annan.

Fur Farming Industry In B.C.

British Columbia is rapidly organizing a fur farming industry of considerable importance, and some ambitious schemes for the ranching of muskrats are being put into effect. The province has already an annual revenue of $2,000,000 from its fur, but with innumerable valleys suitable for fur-farming enterprises and an ideal climate, the possibilities are bright.

He had just been appointed judge, and it was his first day on the bench. His first case was a pedlegger. A little uncertain as to what penalty to inflict, he excused himself a minute went outside, and called an old judge aside.

"O, judge," he said, "I've got a bootlegger out there and I don't know what to fine him."

The old man replied—"Don't fine him over $4. I never do!"

OBITUARY.

Late Mr. Jas. A. Jayne.

On Thursday morning, Sept. 15th, 1927, Mr. Jas. A. Jayne, a highly respected resident of Sharp's Corners, passed peacefully away, after only a few days' illness, in his eighty-fourth year.

Mr. Jayne was the only son of the late Mr. John Jayne, and was born on the old homestead, Deseronto Road, where his son-in-law, Mr. C. Kellar, now resides. Later in life, after his marriage, he and his companion resided for a few years in North Fredericksburgh, ten years near Selby, twenty-three years in Adolphustown, and finally, during their declining years, with their two daughters at Sharp's Corners.

The deceased was very active, ambitious, and of wonderful courage. Whenever confronted with a difficulty, he never stepped to one side, but put forth greater effort, and nearly always met with success in any task. He took a great interest in agriculture, and was a very successful farmer in his younger days. He will be remembered as raising large crops of wheat while residing in Adolphustown, and anywhere the deceased resided he took just the same interest in agriculture, and his farms were always very productive.

The late Mr. Jayne was well informed, and read his daily newspaper until a few days before his death. His friends always enjoyed conversing with him upon the important events of the day.

The deceased was also very fond of music. It was the joy of his heart. He understood it thoroughly. He could read any difficult selection very readily, by note. On several occasions he responded to an invitation to sing tenor in a quartette, or to assist another choir, at the last moment without practice. He had the privilege, years ago, of attending the (old time) singing school. Then a little later he received an invitation to become a member of the Choral Union, which was held at Napanee, under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Bogart. This training proved not only helpful to Mr. Jayne, but to others residing in town, for some of the best Psalmists on the Continent took part from time to time, in the fine musical cantatas, the most frequently referred to by the deceased being Professor Wish, of Hamilton. Not long after, while yet quite a young man, he responded to an invitation to become a member of the C. M. church choir. Mr. Jayne was very regular in his attendance at church services, and remained in the choir at least for seven years. Moving farther away from town, he accepted the position as choir leader, which he held for twenty-four years, leading the choir of the Methodist (United Church) Selby, for ten years, and the choir of the Methodist (United Church) at Hay Bay, fourteen years.

As choirleader, he was very devoted and painstaking, often remaining until nearly midnight in training the choir so that the selections could be well rendered on the Sabbath. He never gave up singing until a few days before his death. Some of his favorite selections were: "The Ninety and Nine", "Throw Out the Life-Line", "The Unseen City", and that beautiful anthem, "Who Are These in Bright Array?" Surely to-day he is singing and praising God with the loved ones who have passed on before. What a joy to meet his beloved companion, who predeceased him only about three weeks, after living together over sixty-two years! He had often expressed the wish, during the past year, to her, "I hope you will live as long as I do". The "call" came so soon, and the aged couple, both eighty-three, were re-united to part no more, and to enjoy the blessings and privileges of the "home" beyond the tomb.

There are left to mourn the loss of a faithful father, two sons and five daughters, Mr. Alex. Jayne, Richmond; Mr. John Jayne, Camden East; Mrs. C. Kellar, Deseronto Road; Mrs. W. B. Nolan, Hay Bay; Mrs. Wm. McConnell, and Misses Electa and Etta Jayne, Sharp's Corners.

The impressive funeral service, attended by several friends from a distance, was held at the Methodist (United Church), Selby, and was conducted by his Pastor, Rev. J. Balstone, assisted by Rev. T. H. P. Anderson. The service was very similar to the same as that of the late Mrs. Jayne, and he was laid to rest by his relatives, in Riverview cemetery, beneath the beautiful floral tributes, by her side, to the final gathering "home" on the Resurrection Day.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

ROBLIN

We are enjoying fine autumn weather at time of writing.—Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Paul spent last Saturday in Toronto with their daughter Joan, who is attending Normal School there.—Several from here attended the Anniversary Services in Forest Mills Church on Sunday. Also the entertainment there on Monday evening.—The many friends of Mrs. Dan Richmond are glad to see her out again after her recent illness.—Mr. J. Easterbrook's family have vacated the section house and have moved into Mr. Harvey Bradshaw's house in Robindale.—A young son has come to brighten the home of Rev. and Mrs. Blanchard.—Mrs. Annie Kimmett spent last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Earl Whiteman, Melrose.—Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Waddell visited at Mr. S. S. White's, Tamworth, on Sunday last.—A goodly number of our W.M.S. and Mission Circle Workers attended the W.M.S. Convention in Centreville on Tuesday, and report a very interesting and profitable time. Mrs. Dzen, a native Bible woman, of China, also Miss Virgo, a returned missionary from China, addressed the meeting in the afternoon.—Supper will be given in the Orange Hall here on Friday evening of this week, with Mr. Joe Gow, of Latta, as entertainer. Come and enjoy an evening of fun.

BRITISH PUBLISHERS SURPRISED.

During August 95 publishers from Great Britain and the Colonies visited Canada. They were naturally interested in Canadian publications. While in Montreal many of them paid a visit to that big weekly, The Family Herald and Weekly Star, and received the surprise of their Canadian visit when they learned that Canada had a weekly publication with a million of readers each week. Many of them knew The Family Herald in the Old Country, and were extremely interested to learn how such a wonderful paper, 72 pages each week, could be issued at one dollar a year. Yet it is done, and Canadians get the benefit. Newspaper, Family Magazine and Agricultural Journal, each the best of its kind and all in one, for such a small sum was certainly a surprise to the Visitors.

Aerolane Smoothness!
Effortless Power!
Rugged Endurance!

THERE has never been a truck like this before. There has never been a truck that sailed so sweetly over the roughest kind of roads. That pulled so quietly under the heaviest of loads! That had so much power to spare, and never labored. That stood up so sturdily in spite of rough usage! That was so well-suited for its business of being a truck—

As this new General Motors Truck, with its superstrength, real truck chassis and its powerful, six-cylinder engine (vibrationless beyond belief) built by Buick.

Only General Motors could build such a truck—and only General Motors could achieve such amazingly low prices.

A Family Medicine

A Welland Lady Tells of the Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Her Home

"I have many reasons for praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. George L. Swick, R.R. No. 2, Welland, Ont. "My first experience with this medicine was in my girlhood, when, following an attack of scarlet fever, I was left in a badly run down condition, and the pills restored me to good health. Later in my married life I had a severe attack of rheumatism. The pain in my right arm and shoulder was so bad that I could not dress myself without help. Again I resorted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and again they proved a blessing to me, as soon the rheumatic pains and stiffness disappeared and there has been no return of the trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also been of great benefit to my children. One of my boys was threatened with St. Vitus dance. His limbs and face would twitch and jerk. I gave him the pills, and again they did not fail, as under the treatment the trouble ceased. I have also given the pills to my little girl, who was anaemic, and in this case also with the greatest benefit. Naturally when I hear anyone complaining of not feeling well I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I know of no other medicine to equal them in building up the blood and restoring health."

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia and other nervous troubles. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition, and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DRAGGING-DOWN PAINS RELIEVED

Woman Suffered Nearly a Year. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Her Health

Moose Jaw, Sask.—"I am going to try to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very badly with dragging-down pains and inflammation, also pains in my right side over my hip and down my whole side into my leg. I had it nearly a year when I went to a doctor and he said I would have to have an operation. But my mother said to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it saved her life years before. I took two bottles and I found I was better, so I kept on taking it and also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have had two more children since then and am perfectly well. I used to have to lie down two or three times a day, and now I do all my housework without trouble. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house as I find a dose now and then helps me. I am willing for you to use this letter any way you see fit, and I will answer letters. If I can help any other woman I'd be glad to do so to try."—Mrs. ESTHER HOUGHTON, 614 Morse Square, Moose Jaw, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women.

Famous Kings

Henry VIII.

"BLUFF KING HAL" in the earlier years of his reign proved those qualities which appealed particularly to the English. He loved the sea and all manly sports, and in addition was a fine musician.

His love of strength was also his weakness, for he himself will relate an instance. Even when only a boy of 17 he could not resist the temptation to wrestle with one of his lusty subjects, Henry had a fall, and the doctors declared that he had injured the tendons of his leg. He had the humiliation of hearing that which he did by the pride and bravery of the nation.

THE "EMPEROR" Console differs upon you powers undreamed of by any king of old and not surpassed by any reigning monarch. You, too, can command the services of the best and rarest entertainment that would delight a royal audience.

The "Emperor" is a six tube stabilized radio frequency receiver with two stage tuned radio frequency, detector, and two stages of a newly developed type of audio frequency.

It is especially adapted for use with the Battery eliminator but will work equally well with dry "B" Batteries. Each transformer coil is completely shielded in copper which eliminates all interference and ensures knife edged selectivity.

The "Emperor" Console is the last word in cabinet design and is a remarkably handsome piece of furniture. It has separate compartments for all accessories including loud speaker.

A demonstration will entail you under the banner of the King!

Serious Accident.
Jim Moffat, son of J. H. Moffat, Superintendent at Gibbard's, met with a painful accident on Saturday last, which almost proved fatal. With another boy, he was down on the river shooting, when in some unexplained manner the shot gun which he carried, went off, discharging the shot under the right arm and tearing a gash of considerable proportions in his side just under the arm. He was hurried to the hospital where the latest reports have it that he is recovering nicely. It will be a week or two before he is strong enough to be operated on and have the broken piece of rib removed and the side permanently fixed.

Rotarians Entertain Boys.
Sixteen farm boys, members of the Potato Club, were the guests of Napanee Rotary Club at luncheon, on Tuesday. Principal W. J. Bell, of Kemptville Agricultural School, delivered an eloquent address, tracing the changes that have taken place in agriculture, and pointing out the importance of education to fit young people for the business of farming. An attractive display of fifteen half-bushel lots of potatoes brought in by the boys were judged and prizes awarded. Donald Hawley won 1st, Will Box 2nd, J. P. Creighton 3rd, Harold Allison 4th, and Harold Young 5th.

The New General Motors Truck

HERE is a NEW Truck—a NEW IDEA in motor truck construction—a real, rugged, super-strength truck chassis, built to stand the gaff of gruelling, day-by-day service yet powered with a flexible, six-cylinder engine built by Buick, master engine-builders for twenty-three years.

Here is all the husky strength for which General Motors Trucks have always been famed, coupled with the most powerful, the smoothest and most flexible six-cylinder motor that Buick engineers know how to make—a motor that has no vibration periods, that incorporates such long-life features as the oil-filter, air-cleaner, crankcase ventilation system, counter-balanced crankshaft with torsion balancer. Add to all this the advantage of improved steering, shorter turning radius and positive internal braking throughout and you will realize that there has never been a truck like it before.

1 ton $1365 2 ton $2435 2½ ton $2560

Also 3 to 5 ton Models

A Scottish Minister in a funeral address once said:—"The Departed is now happier than he has ever been." The widow rose in the kirk and dissented, claiming that she was in communication with her late husband.

"Wummun!" said the minister severely, "I hae delivered ten thousand funeral orations, and this is the first time I hae had any backchat from the body."

WEDDING BELLS.

Down—Yeo.

On Tuesday, October 4th, 1927, in St. Andrew's United Church, Grafton, by Rev. C. W. DeMille, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, assisted by Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, son-in-law of the groom, Mrs. Ada Yeo, of Exeter, to Rev. John Wesley Down, of Centreton.

After the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of thirty guests, relatives and close friends, a delightful reception was held at the Manse, Mrs. McLaughlin, daughter of the groom, was a most dignified and kindly hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Down left for a motor trip in the East, and will later reside at Exeter.

Mr. Down is well known in this community, having served a number of charges in this Presbytery, Bay Circuit, Yarker and Selby, on all of which he held in high esteem, and where many will now follow him and his bride with good wishes.

A small boy was having his hair cut for the first time.

"How shall I cut it?" asked the barber.

"With a hole in the top like my daddy's, please," was the prompt reply.

Useful in Camp. — Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Miss Marjorie—"And how is your son James getting on, Mr. Giles?"

Giles (whose son has gone to London "in service")—"Well, to tell ye the truth, Miss Marji, O'im very troubled about 'im. Oi 'ad a latter last week, an' 'e says that 'e's livin' in a buildin' with 'undreds of people in it, an' it's three or four 'undred one on top o' t'other. 'E's says there's a railway carriage without an engine that goes up the middle o' th' buildin an' th' lights is all in bottles an' you turns 'em on with a tap without usin' a loocifer, an'——"

Miss Marjorie—"But why are you troubled about James?"

Giles—"Aye, Oi fear 'e must 'a took to drink, miss !"

Nation-wide Fame — There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Although the nights are frosty, we have seen no damage done yet.—Everyone is busy digging their potatoes and roots.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Storey and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Storey spent Sunday at Mr. Thos. Storey's, Morven. — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray, Selby, were Sunday visitors at Mr. James Hawley's. — Mrs. Meader has returned to her home, after a very pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Peter Storey, after an absence of thirty some years. Mrs. Curran is some better.—Mr. and Mrs. Amos Storey called on Mr. H. Lasher, of Roblin, who is very low at time of writing. — We are sorry to hear that Mr. C. Wilson has sold his farm, as we will miss a good neighbor. Mr. L. Baird has bought the farm.—Mr. James Currat expects to have a sale soon. — The threshing is nearly completed, only a few odd jobs of buckwheat. All report a fair crop.—Hunting season will soon be on, and every hunter is busy getting ready.—The pie social in the White Church, Morven, on Oct. 12th, was a success, and a nice sum was realized.— Our neighborhood was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mr. James McFarland's daughter, after only a few days' illness. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents.

Women Know Best

"Fruit-a-tives" Make and Keep You Well

MRS. O. MONACH

Thousands and thousands of women have tried "Fruit-a-tives" during the past quarter of a century. Many of these, like Mrs. Opal Monach, took "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort after having failed to get relief from any other remedy. And their experience has invariably the same—"Fruit-a-tives" cured them from constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, backache and other related troubles when they had almost given up hope of ever being well again.

Writing from Fruitvale, Sask., Mrs. Monach says, "I have taken many kinds of medicine, but none prove so good as "Fruit-a-tives" for me. It is the only medicine I take—I use it regularly and do not feel right if I do not."

Let "Fruit-a-tives" be your medicine and help you to get well and keep well. Buy a box today. 25c and 50c—everywhere.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed in its use can have their money refunded.

Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Debility Due To Indigestion

Perfect Digestion Comes Through Rich, Red Blood.

There can be no perfect digestion unless you have rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. It is also true that there is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. The whisky, then, to tone up the stomach is to tone up the blood.

The many so-called stomach remedies merely try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating predigested food. Tone up your stomach and your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

If your digestion is weak and your blood thin you need the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to enrich the blood and restore strength. In addition use care in the selection of your food and your stomach trouble will soon pass away. Mr. Gordon Dundas, Peterboro', Ont., tells as follows what this medicine did for him. He says: "Something over a year ago I was a gasoline salesman when I was taken sick. I felt very miserable and lost twelve pounds in weight. I did not sleep well and could not eat as I could scarcely retain anything in my stomach. I went to a local doctor who told me the fumes of the gas had got into my system. He gave me some medicine and told me I had better go to the country for a change of air. I did so, but I still felt lestless and groggy, and had no ambition. On the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not been taking the pills long before I was beginning to rest better, and to eat fairly well. I kept on taking the pills until at the end of the seventh box I knew I did not need any more, as I had gained the weight I had lost, slept well and could eat anything. I have since had splendid health and cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Gnags—"Before we were married you used to say that you could listen to my sweet voice all night."

Mr. Gnags—"Well, at that time I had no idea I'd ever have to do it."

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets

You remember of course — not so long ago she was a regular scare-crow —skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about — all she did was to take on weight — filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Ask Wallace's Drug Store, or any good druggist.

The unwritten law has got many a man out of trouble, and the unwritten love letter has kept many a one from getting into it.

Two Women Owe Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Adolphe, Manitoba.—"I was very weak and had great pains during periods so that I could not get off the floor. The pains were in the right side and extended to the left and then backwards. It seemed as if the baby was heavy and pressed down. I went to three doctors but they did not help me. I saw about it in a paper and one woman recommended me to take it. It has helped me. Every day the pains are less, and I feel more appetite. It is a pleasure to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to other women."—Mrs. J. L. Courchaine, St. Adolphe, Manitoba.

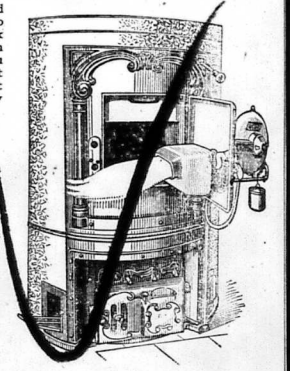
Found Great Relief

Toronto, Ont.—"I am at the Change of Life with hot flashes, dizziness, weakness and nervousness. I have head noises and was short of breath. I was this way about six months when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers. I have taken eight bottles so far and found great relief."—Mrs. R. J. Salmon, 112 Lawler Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Here is Dependable Automatic Heat—at Low Cost!

Homes equipped with the Kitchener Just-Rite Automatic Oil Burners are homes in which the heating plant has changed from a nuisance into a convenience. There are no fires to build, no coal bins to be kept filled, no banking the fires every night, no getting up in the early morning in a cold house to go down and get the furnace started, no ashes to be shovelled and hauled, no unhealthy variations in temperature.

Instead—your home is automatically heated without having to pay the slightest attention to your heating plant. Just-Rite does all the work for you. With it you light your furnace once in the Fall and it is lighted for all Winter—you need never visit the cellar again. A thermostat upstairs holds the temperature where you want it. Yet, you can change the temperature by touching the thermostat with just one finger.



In addition the Just-Rite is—

as a softly spinning top. There is no motor hum, no hissing, roaring sounds because neither air nor oil is under pressure—practically nothing to tell you the Just-Rite is operating.

Safe

The Just-Rite is absolutely fool-proof. There is nothing to get out of order, nothing to explode. Safety devices have made the Just-Rite as safe as electric light.

Clean

In the Just-Rite, every particle of oil is so completely burned that there is no soot or dirt. Every bit of oil is transformed directly into heat and of course with such perfect combustion, there is no odor.

Easy to Install

The Just-Rite burner is adaptable to any furnace—you do not have to adapt the furnace to the burner. No baffling, no bricking up inside. Note that the Just-Rite is installed in the door—your furnace is not changed in any way and is always ready to burn runbish or for any emergency. The in-the-door feature is exclusive to the Just-Rite.

The following Just-Rite Dealers in your locality will gladly demonstrate the Just-Rite Burner and explain the many advantages that make it better.

a call for Safety on the Highways

The Highway Safety Committee has been organized in an effort to secure more careful automobile driving and hence a decrease in the number of accidents on the road.

The more car traffic in Ontario has increased enormously. To date this year 360,000 motor vehicle licenses have been issued. This is more than twice as many as in the year 1921. There has been a similar increase in the number of foreign cars which visit Ontario. At times during the past summer, as many foreign cars were on our highways as those of provincial registration.

Everyone who uses the highways, whether as motorist or pedestrian must become conscious of the new condition which prevails. Each individual must act in accordance with the general principles of safety and always use the exercise of care, common sense, and courtesy to others.

The Executive Committee is composed largely of men representing Province-wide organizations. In addition, invitations have been sent to all Provincial Heads of Municipal Governments, Chiefs of Police, and Presidents of Boards of Trade, Automobile Clubs and Service Clubs in the Province to act upon the Advisory Committee and to co-operate through suggestion and carrying on in their respective communities localized campaigns for greater safety.

To the Board of Inspectors, School Teachers, and School Boards of the Province a special appeal is made. A sad feature of the record is the number of children whose lives have been snuffed out or who have been injured because of thoughtlessness on the part of themselves or the driver of a car.

The effort in which all citizens of the Province can and should do, both in a public and private way. As a badge of support of this movement this windshield sticker has been provided by the Executive Committee. It will be available at all filling stations and garages in the Province. The Committee confidently expects it will immediately appear on every car operating on the roads of Ontario. It reads as follows:

I'm for Care and Courtesy Are YOU?

If you are for safety on the highways wear this sticker on your car. The Committee will be glad to receive suggestions from all who are interested in this movement. Address Highway Safety Committee, Department of Highways, Toronto.

Our Program in Part

Pledges of generous support already have been received from a large number of individuals and organizations in a position to assist in this campaign.

The support of the Press has been pledged almost unanimously.

Offers of Stations to broadcast talks on Safety are also acknowledged with thanks.

The organization of meetings at which Safety will be discussed indicates a direct interest on the part of Boards of Trade, Rotary Clubs, Service Clubs and other Public Bodies.

The co-operation of the Ontario Motor League with its membership of 70,000 shows that this large membership heartily and energetically supports the safety movement.

On highways and on city streets there will be even a more strict enforcement of The Highway Traffic Act and municipal by-laws through cooperation of the highway traffic patrol and the entire police forces of the Province.

The call for more safety on the highways has been sounded throughout Ontario. Will you respond?

The honored guests of the Rally were Mrs. Dzen (in native costume), a Bible woman of Tsetinling, China; Miss Virgo, returned missionary from China, and Miss Paul, engaged in Home Mission Work.

A most interesting address on "Systematic Giving", was contributed by Mrs. Geo. Finlay, Pres. Secty. of Christian Stewardship, Strathcona Auxiliary. Among other splendid thoughts embodied in her address, were the facts that the ancients and the early church realized the importance of giving systematically, but gradually the Christian Church has been departing from this splendid system. Our giving is being done in a haphazard way, and many methods of raising money have been adopted, that are not pleasing to GodGod. Lately our churches, members of the W. M. S. and other church organizations, have been awaking to a new consciousness of their duty as Christian Stewards. The greatest obstacle in the evangelization of the world to-day is "indifference". The Budget this year, ending Dec. 31st, is $712,500, our allocation being $18,000. Our only plan for raising this money is systematic giving. To sum up Christian Stewardship, she said, we must recognize and acknowledge God's ownership and our partnership with Him, and put God first, in all things. Give as you would, if angels waited at your door.

Give as you would if you knew That to-morrow, would find you Where, all giving is o'er. Give, as you would to the Master, If you felt His searching look; Give, as you would of your substance If His hand your offering took.

We next listened, to an instructive paper on Supply Work, given by Mrs. E. J. Corkill, of Napanee, Supply Secretary for the Presbyterial.

Her department, she told us, in the hand maiden of all other departments. Our hospitals look to us for supplies to carry on their work of mercy among the afflicted poor, to the new born children, for whom no loving provision has been made. Our Indian work asks of us, warm clothing for the children, and the aged Indians that they may attend Divine service. Our school homes require sympathetic help for boys and girls in the form of quilts, blankets and clothing for children all ages; and at Christmas time, how many hearts of boys and girls and old people are gladdened by our Xmas toys and other serviceable gifts. Surely God's blessing rests in this department of our W. M. S. work.

A very impressive "Quiet Half Hour" was led by Mrs. S. S. White, of Tamworth. Bible lessons were read from Matt. 25th chap., 35 to 46, and 28th chap., 16 to 20, followed by many prayers, offered for our Home and Foreign Mission Work. Mrs. White urged us to consecrate our lives anew, by prayer and giving. The morning session closed by singing the hymn, "Take time to be Holy", followed by prayer led by Mrs. J. W. Wagar.

The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises led by Mrs. John Pattinson, Moscow, and Mrs. R. J. Wilson, Reidville.

Minutes of the morning session were read and adopted.

The roll was called, every Auxiliary, Mission Circle and Mission Band, responding, excepting one.

After the singing of Hymn 140, the President introduced to the meeting Mrs. Dzen, a native Bible woman of China. She addressed the meeting in the Chinese language. Miss Virgo, returned missionary, acting as interpretor. She told us that she was thirty years of age before she was sent to school. She told us of many of the cruel customs that the oppressed women of China had to endure—among others the custom of binding children's feet. She demonstrated, with the use of a feather toy, the method resorted to by children with bound feet, to help them forget their suffering.

She thanked the members of the W. M. S. for what they had done, and were doing for the women of China, and expressed her deep appreciation of Miss Virgo's kindness in bringing her to Canada. On her return she said, she would have a very glad story to tell to her friends. A look at Miss Dzen would assure you that she had found the Christ; her very presence was a benediction to the meeting. Surely, no one present will ever forget her or her message.

A vocal duett was beautifully rendered by Mrs. G. McGill and Mrs. T. McGill.

Miss Virgo, of Toronto, who has been laboring in West China for nineteen years, spoke on present day conditions in China. She said "furlough" to some missionaries meant visits to the dentist's or to the operating room in some hospital to have a troublesome appendix removed, but to many it meant "labour". It meant so much to be home, in a civilized land, with all its comforts and privileges, to be away from a country with no government or law or order.

She and others had known for some time that they would have to hand over their work, and Dr. Allen had been making preparation for it by endeavouring to have a staff, Christian native evangelistic students and teachers. Among these were Mrs. Dzen's daughters. Mrs. Dzen had obtained her certificate the same time her daughters did. They had to thank the W. M. S. of the United Church of Canada for all they had been in giving them the schools, etc. Lack of Christian teachers in China had caused strife-war and illiteracy.

People are awakening to this fact, and people who do not attend church are advocating love and service. Miss Virgo said the Chinese want them back, and the secretary has written them urging their return. Among other interesting things she gave us a splendid description of her sea voyage home.

Centreville Mission Band gave an exercise entitled "Mother Goose's Mission Band Family". Judging from the way each child did his part, the part, Centreville will never lack for leaders.

The Workers' Conference was conducted by Mrs. J. W. Wagar, Presbyterial Associated Helpers Secretary. Many questions were asked and satisfactorily answered by the leader.

An interesting item on the programme was an address on the work of Mission Circles, given by Miss Keough, of Newburgh. Youth certainly never had so much freedom, so much privilege, so great an opportunity for leadership in national or world affairs as they have in this age. What is most needed is that the noble powers of youth may be consecrated to Jesus Christ, and our aim should be to teach them what loyalty to Christ means. The beautiful thought of the 'Circle' as a stand, a link between, was brought out. It is linked closely with the Auxiliary and needs her sympathetic care to nourish and prepare it for its future work.

Our duty to our Circles and Bands was splendidly emphasized by a fable told by Mrs. Bruce Finlay, of Strathcona. The position of an Auxiliary to its Band is the same as the mother to her daughter. The selfish mother who would take all the good things of life regardless of her daughter's welfare, is symbolic of the W. M. S. with its splendid store of knowledge, literature, etc., and who refuses to "mother" her Mission Band or Circle. She urged every Auxiliary who had not a Band to "get busy".

The next department of our work, viz., Associate Helpers, was brought before us by our Secretary, Mrs. J. D. Wagar. This department gave the shut-in, the aged, and women who are prevented from becoming members in full standing, the privileges of helping and sharing in this great work for the Master. Many of them contribute systematically through the duplex envelope system or the mite box. By giving these people literature, by visiting them when they are ill, an Auxiliary can render valuable help to its minister.

An invitation was given by the Yarker Auxiliary to hold the next rally there. This was gratefully accepted.

On behalf of the Courtesy Committee, Mrs. Yeomans thanked the Centreville Auxiliary and all who helped to make the meeting a success.

The singing of a hymn and prayer led by Miss Paul, brought to a close a most helpful and instructive rally of the Tamworth Sectional Division of the Belleville Presbyterial of United Church of Canada.

DEANERY WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETING

The Deanery Woman's Auxiliary meeting was held under good weather conditions at Stella, in the Parish of Amherst Island, on Tuesday, October 4th, 1927. Seventy-six took the steamer Brockville at Bath at 8 a.m., and arriving at Amherst Island were greeted by the Rector and officers of the W. A.

The Holy Communion was celebrated in St. Alban's Church, at 10.30 a.m., at which Rural Dean Radcliffe was assisted by Revds. T. Leech, Herbert Pringle, Arthur Strother and Rev. J. A. Poston, who preached a powerful and instructive sermon appropriate to the important occasion. The Organist and a full Choir rendered the musical portions of the service. About ninety received the Sacrament. After church a delightful dinner was served by the Anglican ladies of the Island, who are famous for their hospitality.

At 2 o'clock the business meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. C. Abbott, 1st Vice President of the Diocesan Board, Kingston, who presided, assisted by Miss E. Hentig, Miss VanStraubenzie, Mrs. Sibbett, Miss Winnifred Burns, and Mrs. Radcliffe, the Deanery Secretary. The Member's Prayer was said at the opening of the meeting. Then the Agenda Paper was taken up and carried through with clock-work precision. Mrs. Leech, the Rector's wife, extended a warm welcome to the visiting delegates, to which Mrs. Strother, of Adolphustown, replied. Mrs. Radcliffe was re-elected Deanery Secretary. Interesting reports were read from the several Branches of the Deanery. Miss Burns, Diocesan Treasurer, Kingston, gave an address on the financial part of the work, and Miss VanStraubenzie an excellent talk on the tremendous need of missionary work in every known part of the world. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. J. A. Poston, of Tamworth, the special preacher; the Rector, Rev. T. Leech, and the Island ladies, for hospitality received. The Sandhurst Branch cordially invited the Deanery W. A. to meet there next Fall. The Benediction by the Rector closed a most enjoyable and interesting meeting.

ERNESTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Hamm, the Ernestown Women's Institute held its regular October meeting on Thursday afternoon, October 13th, at the Institute rooms, with 41 in attendance. The devotional program opened the meeting. Then the roll-call, and the reading of the minutes occupied the next few moments. Much correspondence came in to be read, and due discussion was given to all matters arising therefrom. Plans and duties to make the Convention of Institutes at Kingston, on Nov. 1st and 2nd, a success, were considered, and the demonstration sewing lesson was also discussed. An instructress was also asked to come and us if possible on Nov. 5th, the course to start on that date, and to run continuously for two weeks, except Saturday.

Mrs. Hamm welcomed and introduced the visitors and speakers of the day—Mrs. A. R. Young, Bath, District Secretary, and Dr. A. E. Mabee, Napanee.

Mrs. Young gave a very creditable paper on "Home Management", opening her topic by stating she felt like a little boy who stood and received his fourth piece of pie, and found it almost more than he could manage; but all will agree she managed to do it.

Dr. Mabee's advice was very welcome and instructive. His topic was on the various common perils of mankind, with their symptoms, care, remedy, effects, etc., clearly put before us. Dr. Mabee treated an authrax, infantile paralysis, appendicitis, goitre, diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, typhoid, lucemia, and anaemia. The usual humour in conclusion was enjoyed also.

The last item on the programme consisted of a practical demonstration on "Coconut Macaroons", given by Mrs. T. B. Creighton. Mrs. Creighton was so thorough in her task, and speaking for all, the results "tasted like home".

Then followed a very enjoyable social time over the tea-cup, and the meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, and a hearty vote of thanks being tendered to Mrs. Young, Mrs. Creighton, and Dr. Mabee.

The November meeting to be held on the 10th, promises to be of interest, consisting of a "Salad Recipe" for roll call, a humorous selection by Mrs. Shelley Denyes, Odessa, a cookie contest by the members, and an address on "The Need of the Practical Nurse" by Dr. Northmore, Bath.

NEWBURGH

The Anniversary services held in the United Church on Sunday last were exceptionally successful. The morning service, under the direction of the Pastor, was a communion service, very deeply spiritual and so many participating that the elements had to be consecrated a second time. The anthem rendered by the Rev. Mr. Hoar. The music by the Choir was very much appreciated, and the solo by Mrs. Harry Vanderveort, of Toronton, was an inspiration and delighted the congregation.

In the evening an even larger congregation than in the morning was present for worship. The Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth, fo Sydenham, preached a very practical and timely sermon, which will be remembered for a long time, and the people will be glad to welcome Mr. Hollingsworth again any time he visits Newburgh.

The music by the Choir again at night in the service of Praise inspired the people, and the solo by Mrs. Bruce Finlay was a delight to the audience.

On Monday evening the Ladies' Aid gave a supper, which for variety and satisfaction, could hardly be excelled. Everybody had a will to help so in the matter of service to the crowd that came. There was nothing left out that the people came early and in goodly number. After supper a varied program was given which pleased everybody. The solos given by Mrs. Evans, of Kingston, were very highly appreciated. Mrs. Evans is no stranger at Newburgh, and will be always welcome. Master Freddie Forester, of Belleville, captured the gathering by his humorous recitations and his posing. Miss Leila Ramsay sang beautifully "O a Rosebud" and "The Falling Leaf." As home Miss Ramsay is not without honour. Miss Mabel McNeely rendered two selections, especially "The Isle of the Scots" was greatly appreciated. The piano duets by Mrs. W. G. Reid and Miss Ramsay, were delightful. The short remarks by the Rev. Aylesworth were very appropriate. But everybody gave great praise to the presiding chairman. Bring Your Home Up-to-date
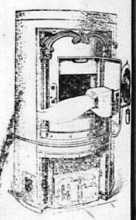
Install a
Just-Rite Oil Burner



No home can be modern where the occupants shovel coal, lug ashes, and endure coal dust and soot, when these nuisances are so easily ended.

A Kitchener Just-Rite Automatic Oil Burner installed in your heating plant will give you automatic heat and end all basement work and dirt. With it, you light your fire once in the Fall and it is lighted for the Winter—you need never visit the cellar again. A thermostat upstairs holds the temperature within one or two degrees of what you set it. Still you can change the temperature by touching the thermostat dial, but one finger does it.

Note that the Just-Rite is installed in the door—the furnace is not changed in any way. No other oil burner has this door feature.

In addition to the great conveniences the Just-Rite is absolutely fool-proof. There are no exposed moving parts, nothing to get out of order or explode. It is noiseless, clean, odorless.

Only in Just-Rite will you find all the features that this burner offers you—It is the highest achievement in modern heating at a moderate price that will surprise you.

The Kitchener Just-Rite Dealers in your locality will gladly demonstrate the Just-Rite Burner and explain the many advantages that make it better.

Glaring Headlights

Night Time Terror of the Highways

How to Test your Headlights

The motor car with glaring headlights is a danger to its own driver and a terror to others on the highway. Drivers moving in the opposite direction are deprived of sight to guide their cars.

A good garage mechanic can focus headlights so that they do not glare. Drivers can do it themselves by following printed instructions. The Department of Highways will mail you without charge complete instructions. Test your headlights often to be assured they do not glare. You are responsible. Lamps are designed for the roadway and not the other driver's eyes or the tree tops. Night driving must be made safe. Never drive with only one headlamp lighted or tail light out.

Brakes and steering gear should be kept in perfect condition at all times. Your car must obey if you wish it to be safe for you and not a menace to others.

The concentrated effort in behalf of safety on the highways is meeting with a widespread and active support. Co-operation from every motorist is asked so that the example set during this period may take a permanent hold of the consciousness of all who use the highways. It is the duty of everybody to learn how accidents may be prevented.

To show that you support this movement put the sticker on your car, "I'm for Care and Courtesy. Are You?" You can get one at any garage or filling station.

LENNOX TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

The Lennox Teachers held their annual Convention in the Convocation Hall, N.C.I., on October 13th and 14th, 1927.

In the absence of the President and of the First Vice President, Miss Laura Rockwell, the Second Vice President, took the chair.

Miss Rockwell called upon Rev. R. J. Dumbrille, Vicar, St. Mary Magdalene Church, Napanee, to conduct the Opening exercises. Rev. Mr. Dumbrille read a passage of Scripture, and offered prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted.

A communication from Mr. Chas. G. Fraser, asked that teachers make an effort to secure more members for the O. E. A., that the customary grant of $5.00 be forwarded, also the names of the officers elected for 1927-28, and that a copy of all resolutions of a Provincial nature be sent to him.

A communication from "The School" was read by Mr. Trenouth, who moved that members of this Institute get "The School" for seventy-five cents, and the Association pay the balance. Seconded by Miss Hawley. Carried.

The Treasurer's report was read, and Misses Anderson and Hawley were appointed Auditors.

The following committees were appointed:—

Committee on Resolutions—Misses Dennee, Hall, and Parke.

Nomination Committee — Messrs. Corkill, Baldwin, Young, and Misses McGuire, Leatherland and Prisken.

The delegates to the O. E. A. then gave their reports, both giving interesting summaries of several of the most important addresses, such as: "Idealism in the Teacher", "The Library and the Public School", "The Cadet Movement", and "The World Confederation of the Educational Association".

Miss Rockwell urged an increased attendance at the O. E. A., and gave such a glowing account of the proceedings as to entice almost everyone to attend. She described folk-dances and health-plays to show how truths might be impressed upon the child's mind through the medium of games.

Mr. Trenouth considers the Superannuation Act unsatisfactory for two reasons,—it does not allow teachers to make provision for dependents, and the time required is too long. He drew a very unfavourable comparison between the provisions made for the superannuation of Civil Service servants. Mr. Trenouth believes every teacher should have a hobby.

The instrumental solo by Miss K. Henderson, and the saxophone solo by Master Billie Templeton, made a very pleasing introduction to the afternoon's session, which began at 1.30 o'clock.

In his Address of Welcome, Mr. A. Woods, Chairman of the Board of Education, Napanee, welcomed the teachers, expressed his pleasure at meeting them, and hoped their sessions would be both pleasant and profitable. He was struck by the preponderance of lady teachers and by the benefit of thought and study upon the human countenance.

Mr. Woods says people to-day are demanding education, and are willing to pay for it. They want ideal schools, three factors of which are: Formation of character, development of body, and training of the mind. Next to mother, teachers have a heavy responsibility in forming character. For development of the body, children are provided with games and physical exercises, also a M. H. O. and a School Nurse. The curriculum takes care of the training of the mind. If, as is expected, the next generation has healthy bodies and active minds, the Public School will have been justified.

Miss Edith Osborne, Bath, then gave a beautiful vocal solo, after which Mr. J. Laughland, of the Agricultural Office, gave a short but interesting talk on School Fairs, which are growing fast in importance, numbers and attendance, so deserve the support of the people. He strongly urged the teachers to be sure that the work was done by the pupils themselves without outside assistance, otherwise no prizes will be given. Many desirable little prizes, including the T. Eaton Cup, are to be given for various kinds of work even public speaking. Mr. Laughland will be glad to meet any of the teachers in his office, and answer any questions about School Fairs.

In his pleasing and instructive address, Mr. Corkill, B.A., I.P.S., gave many hints, very helpful especially to the teacher who is just beginning her work. The Department is very anxious to help the teacher, and has prepared many helpful bulletins. Mr. Corkill cautioned teachers about the Spelling, as more pupils fail in it than in any other subject at the Entrance. In a kindly, patient way, he called attention to the failure on the part of many teachers to make out their Annual Reports fully, thus causing him a vast amount of unnecessary work for others. It would mean only ten minutes' work for each teacher to add up the columns and balance her reports, 1 and 2, in the back of the register. These reports should not be handed to the Secretary to be forwarded to the Inspector, but should be forwarded before the end of the year to the Inspector by the teacher herself. It is to be hoped each teacher will remember this, and act accordingly.

Mr. Corkill spoke on Grants for Libraries, Supplementary Readers, Confederation Medals, O. E. A. and Confederation of Teachers' Associations.

Mr. Corkill spoke about the way in which any visiting official should be received in a school. The school is the pupil's home, and, as a wholesome training for the child, he should be trained in the proper method of welcoming visitors.

Mr. George R. Smith, B.A., Normal School, Ottawa, spoke on "Some Written Solutions in Arithmetic". Mr. Smith gave several forms of solutions, pointing out, with reasons, why some were incorrect, some undesirable though correct, and others to be preferred. Miss Rockwell was greatly pleased with the beauty and simplicity of the last correct method.

Mrs. (Dr.) Baker, Bellesville, spoke on "Scientific Temperance". As the greatest asset of Canada to-day is the manhood and womanhood of our country, the teachers should see the desirability of youth refraining from the use of alcoholic drinks and tobacco. The Educational Department recognizes the need of clearness of mind and strength of body, so devotes some chapters of our "Health Book" to the baneful effects of alcohol and tobacco on the human system. The W. C. T. U. wishes to aid in the good work, so offers prizes for posters and essays on Health subjects. This need not add to the teacher's work, but can be used as an incentive, and may add to the interest of the Health work in Public Schools.

The local W. C. T. U. will supply information and leaflets re the prizes which it is offering. Mrs. Baker hoped their plan would be helpful.

Mrs. Hardman, Trenton, representative of W. T. Federation, showed how the Federation has helped the teacher by raising her financial, professional, and social status. She made a strong appeal for members.

The evening entertainment took the form of a banquet in the Campbell House at 6.30. Black-tie dress was in attendance, the menu was all that could be desired, but the main feature of the programme was the illustrative lecture given by Rev. A. J. Wilson, B.A., B.D., on "Austria's Contribution to Modern Education". Mr. Corkill moved a hearty vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Wilson, for his very interesting address. The motion was ably seconded by Rev. R. J. Dumbrille, and carried. "God Save the King" brought to a close what was unanimously conceded to be the most enjoyable evening entertainment ever provided for the teachers in Napanee.

Friday morning's session at 9 o'clock, began with an instrumental solo by Miss L. Black, and a mandolin solo by Master Gordon MacGregor.

"Requirements of First Form in High School" was dealt with by Mr. Jenkins, Newburgh High School, who claimed that the important work of the school is training the pupil, not loading his mind with facts. Training lasts long after facts are forgotten, so pupils should be trained up to a certain point before entering High School. They should then have alertness of mind and liking for intellectual work. The High Schools are not professional schools; they are intended to train children to become leaders in a community; exams. are only secondary. Mr. Jenkins then cited requirements in certain Public School subjects, and summed it all up by saying that pupils upon entrance into High School should have three requirements,—1. A definite knowledge of certain facts; 2. an accurate habit of work; and 3. an alertness of mind and liking for intellectual work.

Mr. L. S. Beattie, B.A., N.C.I., extended a welcome to the teachers, and hoped their deliberations would be very beneficial. His subject should have been "Technical Education", but he made it "Practical" also. Many good suggestions were offered as to making each subject on the Public School curriculum practical. But our school work does not provide enough finger work. The Twentieth century is marked by great industrial growth. This leads to the need of a Technical education and the question arises, "Have we a right to add technical education to our school curriculum?" At least, the teacher should watch the trend of things in the national aptness for certain kinds of work, and help the pupil to choose his vocation. The speaker then explained the object of the Night Schools, and gave examples of advantages being taken of them in Napanee and community.

The duty of Public School teachers, as of all other teachers, is to help the pupil to have life, and "to have it more abundantly".

Mr. Smith, B.A., Ottawa, then gave his second lecture, "Some Recent Advances in Health Measures". Mr. Smith showed the wonderful advancement made of late years in the control of disease and the different agencies at work throughout the world. More has been done to control disease in the Twentieth century than in all ages past. The League of Nations has a central committee to receive reports on epidemics, with centres at Geneva and Singapore. Specialists are sent to study diseases where the plague is found out. Information is broadcast on methods of teaching health matters. The Junior Red Cross is doing its bit even in far Saskatchewan, while the Senior Red Cross is bending every effort to make health practical. Even insurance companies are sending out pamphlets and circulars on the subject. The Dominion Department of Health publishes such pamphlets as "How to Build Sound Teeth", "Smallpox and Vaccination", "Tuberculosis", and "Ventilation", any of which may be had for the asking.

The Provincial Governments are helping in the study of epidemics and how to make people immune.

The teacher may add her bit in helping on the good work, one attractive way being to arrange health-plays, such as "The Trial of Jimmie Germ".

The President moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his interesting and instructive address.

Miss V. McLaughlin, N.C.I., gave a demonstration in Physical Culture, which showed that games may be not only pleasing but beneficial.

The Auditors reported that the Secretary's book was correct. Miss Hawley asked that the report be adopted. Carried.

The Committee of Resolutions brought in the following:—

1. Resolved that a new illustrated Primer for standard use be authorized by the Department of Education, as the present one is unsuitable for beginners' use.

2. Resolved that the course in Geography be made more definite.

3. Resolved that the minimum term of service re superannuation fund be reduced to thirty years.

4. Resolved that a Canadian History be authorized by the Department of Education, as the present one is unsuitable for pupils' use.

Moved by Miss Leunee, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to O. E. A., seconded by Miss Hall. Carried.

Moved by Miss Parke, seconded by Miss Hall, that the expenses of this Convention be paid; that a grant of $5.00 be made to O. E. A.; also that the Secretary's salary be raised to $50.00. Carried.

The following officers were elected for 1927-28:—

Hon. President—Mr. L. St. Beattie, B.A., N.C.I.

Pres. Zent—Miss L. Rockwell, Napanee.

1st Vice President—Ernest Young, Bath.

2nd Vice President—Miss Sheridan, Napanee.

Executive—Mr. W. J. Trenouth; Mr. Harold Moore, Napanee No. 1; Miss Mabel McNeely, Newburgh; Miss Effie Leatherland, Odessa; Miss B. Stiller, Bath; Miss McBride, Yarker; Miss J. Dennee, Bath; and Miss C. Prisken, Napanee No. 3.

Secretary Treasurer—Miss Etta Harrison.

Musical Committee—Messrs. Trenouth and Young, and Misses Hawley, Anderson, Hall, Sheridan, and Dennee.

Auditors—Misses Hawley and Anderson.

Moved by Miss Sheridan, seconded by Miss Hawley, that the speaker, Mr. George R. Smith, B.A., Normal School, Ottawa, be made an Honorary Member of this Association. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Trenouth, that a vote of thanks be tendered to the Board of Education for the use of the Convocation Hall, N.C.I.; also to all who kindly assisted in any way at our Convention. Seconded by Mr. Casey. Carried.

Mr. Trenouth urged teachers in future to answer circular letters promptly and moved that two tickets sold to teachers but not used be refunded. Seconded, and carried.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought this very enjoyable Convention to a close.

ETTA HARRISON,
Secretary Treasurer.

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate cells of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

While no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and healing commences.

THE duke and chiefs of arms of many a noble line of Europe have been the wearers of Richard the Lion-Hearted's crown, the proud bearing shield of state in the hands of his successors and symbolizing the right of royal descent to the Holy Land. For that reason the name was chosen for the set which is the pride of the duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and Japan, Richard was a warrior and a statesman and won his place in history by his reputation for great personal courage and military skill.

(For last week)

The country at large had a severe shock last Thursday night, when the death of Mr. Willet Pringle became known. The shock seemed to be increased ten fold on account of him going his usual trip on the mail route on Thursday morning. Mr. Pringle was around all day up until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when he took a bad spell with his heart, which had been troubling him quite severely for a year. The Dr. was called and aid was given at once, but in spite of all that could be done, God called him away in a few hours. Mr. Pringle was widely known, and was always of a kind, quiet disposition, and was highly respected by his neighbours and friends. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, at the United Church, Tamworth, and Rev. Mr. I. N. Beckstead preached a very impressive sermon to a large crowd, after which the remains were placed in Tamworth United cemetery. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his devoted widow, one sister, Mrs. David Barragar, Croydon; and eight children, Mrs. Stephen Yates, Marlbank; John C. Pringle, Fort Coldorne; Alva Pringle, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Wm. G. Richmond, Tamworth; Mrs. George McTaggart, Port Colborne; Mrs. Wesley McTaggart, Marysville; Mrs. Delbert Meeks, Tamworth, and Berniece Pringle, at home.

There will be no service here next Sunday, owing to the Hayburn anniversary services, which will be conducted by Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, whose many friends on the circuit welcome the opportunity of hearing him speak once more. — Several members of the W. M. S. attended a special meeting of Sillsville W.M.S. on Thur-day afternoon. They are looking forward to a pretty next Wednesday evening, when Mrs. F. L. Hooper, of Napanee, will give a travel talk in the schoolroom of the church. IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our little Donald Herbert, infant twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCabe, Consecon, who died on October 21st, 1926.
No stain was on his little soul,
Sin had not entered there;
And innocence slept sweetly on,
That pale white brow so fair.
He was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay;
So God's holy Angels bore
Our darling Donald away.
Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Brother and little Sisters.

Louise Florence McFarland, only daughter of James and Mabel McFarland, after one week's illness, passed away at the General Hospital, Kingston, on Monday, October 10th, 1927. Louise was born nineteen years ago in Ernestown, where she has since lived, but during her short life she had made that progress which has given much satisfaction to her friends in memories of a good and beautiful and useful life. In school she was a favourite, a diligent student who had secured her Normal Entrance standing and was at home this fall giving attention to music. She was interested in the best things and was a member of the Odessa United Church, the Sunday School and the Mission Circle, where she showed considerable activity and much zeal. She had the love and respect of the whole community and a wide circle of friends many of whom visited her during her illness, and at the funeral were present in great numbers. The floral contributions were very numerous, tokens with a dread disease, she was taken to the hospital, where she was given all possible attention, where after a week, through which she was very cheerful, she quietly slipped away. The funeral service was held at her home on the York Road, Ernestown, on October 12th, and she was laid to rest in the Napanee cemetery. There survive her, her parents and one brother, Robert.

Mrs. Florence Casey Ostrom

Widow of the late Thhomas Marshall Ostrom, of Belleville and Toronto, daughter of the late Gilbert S. Casey and Esther Casey, of Adolphustown, passed away suddenly at her home, Piety Hill, Napanee, on October 10th last.

Mrs. Ostrom spent her girlhood days in the Township of Adolphustown, and latterly in school. She was well known in those days by a large circle of friends in Napanee and Adolphustown and the country around. After her marriage she woved to Toronto, where she spent most of her life. It was her unfortunate experience to lose three of her children. She left her surviving only one son, Mr. D. M. Ostrom, of Toronto, who has visited his mother here on different occasions and who was suddenly called to Napanee after his mother had passed away.

The late Mrs. Ostrom was most attentive to her mother during her mother's last years, which were unfortunately years of feebleness and illness.

Mrs. Ostrom was in very indifferent health during these years, and she suffered a physical breakdown, and spent considerable time in the Hospital in Toronto during the last winter, but she felt sufficiently recovered in health to open her home in Napanee this Spring, and endeavored to attend to her usual duties, and engaged in her work as a member of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, and of the I. C. D. E.

To those who knew her intimately she appeared brightly alert to all the activities, both local and general, and her companionship was an inspiration for her friends, among whom she will be sadly missed.

The funeral took place in St. Mary Magdalene's Church on Thursday of last week, and was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bumbrille.

The sympathy of the community is extended to her son and his family, and relatives, in the bereavement they have sustained.

"I'll tell you why I'm going to buy a Westinghouse"

"Looking back over the past 15 years, I found less than 20% of all automobile manufacturers have stood the test of time and are in business today.

The radio industry is undergoing an identical process of elimination and I'm going to buy my radio from a manufacturer with many years' experience, unlimited resources and assured permanence in the business.

Westinghouse built the electrical apparatus that provides the profits for our business by keeping our machinery working year in and year out. They are pioneers in the business and have a wonderful reputation to maintain. They take no chances. Our company doesn't either—and neither will I—so you'll hear the latest Westinghouse model the next time you come up to the house."

We will gladly demonstrate the 1928 Westinghouse models and explain the many improvements that make them better.

HIGHWAY SAFETY CAMPAIGN

A large number of urban centres in Ontario have already entered into enthusiastic co-operation with the Highway Safety Committee in the campaign to prevent accidents. Reports have been made to W. G. Robertson, of the Ontario Motor League, and a member of the executive of the Safety Committee. Among others the wife of the St. Catharines and Lincoln County Motor Club may be given as an example. This club announced that at certain service stations members could have their headlights and brakes tested free of charge, and that a nominal charge would be made for adjustment. Within a few days more than 1,000 car owners took advantage of this offer. It was found that at least 90 per cent. of the lights tested required adjustment, that is, 90 per cent. of the motor cars examined had glaring headlights. In a great many instances the lamps were found to be tilted correctly, but the bulbs were badly out of focus. It was pointed out to these motorists that tilting the lamps to the proper angle will not always prevent a glaring light. The bulbs also have to be attended to. Of the brakes tested the great majority were found to be in "pretty fair shape".

Some other clubs doing similar work are Ottawa, Essex County, London, Hamilton, Cobourg, Picton and Guelph. On Thursday of this week the secretaries of all the motor clubs in the Province are to meet Hon. Geo. S. Henry, Minister of Highways, to go into the accident prevention question more thoroughly and link up more closely with the Highway Safety Committee. It is pointed out that one of the fundamental principles of these clubs is to advocate a reasonable regard for the rights of others on the Highways, which is embodied in the word "courtesy" in the Highway Safety Committee's Campaign.

Last week all the big oil and gasoline companies obtained thousands of stickers with the words, "I'm for care and courtesy. Are you?" and sent them to filling stations with instructions to paste these stickers on the lower right hand corner of windshields. Within a few hours after the first bundles of stickers went out cars bearing them appeared in many city streets.

Mr. J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motor Vehicles in the Department of Highways, and a member of the Highway Safety Committee executive, emphasized the fact that it was not the committee's thought to put forward the idea of accident prevention for a couple of weeks and then forget all about it.

"We are going about this campaign deliberately," stated Mr. Bickell. "Nothing is being rushed without care and planning beforehand. We want the public to get accident prevention conscientiously and to retain it. All ready reports have come to us telling of great improvement in the matter of headlights. We are also getting reports about reckless driving and cutting in. These both are being investigated. During September 122 drivers' licenses were suspended for varying periods for infractions of the Motor Vehicles Act and of these 68 were for reckless driving. We want everybody to help in this commendable work. More and more automobiles will be on our highways as time goes on. We hope that the number of accidents greatly diminish, we must recognize that the problem of accident prevention is likely to increase rather than decrease."

Nervous Patient.—Will the anaesthetic make me sing?

Doctor—No, I think not.

"How long will it be before I know anything?"

"Aren't you expecting too much of an anaesthetic?"

A young man entered an inn with a dog, and attracted a good deal of friendly interest from an Irishman, who inquired what kind of a dog it was.

The owner looked the questioner insolently up and down, and then replied with a drawl, "It is a cross between an Irishman and an ape."

"Faith, thin, we're both related to it," was the ready retort.

SAWDUST AS A BEDDING MATERIAL

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Dry sawdust and fine shavings make a clean and satisfactory bedding material for all kinds of animals.

When the supply of straw—the bedding material almost universally used in the farm—is short it may be supplemented with sawdust, or the latter may be used alone. Dry sawdust will absorb from two to three times as much liquid as ordinary straw, but it does not possess the excellent material to soak up liquid excreta, the most valuable part of the manure.

In stables with cow stables and cowbarns in which sawdust has been used as a litter has been found to be of good quality and suitable for application to most soils, more particularly for heavy loams. The impression that this type of manure is injurious to the land is apparently without foundation since inquiries made from the United States have failed to reveal any instances in which such injury has resulted. However, if an excessive amount of sawdust has been employed the resulting manure might be of poor quality and possibly unsuitable for application to light sandy loams, under very unusual conditions.

Horse manure from stables using sawdust beats very rapidly when left in the pile and the excessive fermentation that takes place will result in a loss of nitrogen—a valuable plant food. It is therefore advisable either to mix such manure with that from the cowbarn keeping the pile moist and compact, or to spread and incorporate it at once in the soil.

RUN-DOWN AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Ottawa Woman Made Strong by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottawa, Ontario.—"I was terribly run-down after the birth of my third baby. I had awful bearing-down pains, was afraid I had serious trouble and was tired all the time and had no appetite. My sister-in-law is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly and asked me to try it. I had only taken three bottles when I felt like a new woman. I also took a thorough course of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. From me what to take."—Mrs. RENE FAQUIN, 23 Cumberland Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Terrible Backache

Hamilton, Ont.—"At one time my baby was born I had terrible backache and headaches, could not do my work and felt tired all the time. Any minute I got up. But when I was in bed there was no pain in my sides and I improved about. I was afraid to sit or lie down for fear of miscarrying. I could keep my house in order, but many things had to go undone at the time, because of my ailments. I was told by a neighbor to take Lydia E. MRS. T. B. LOWE DIED IN THE WEST

A telegram received yesterday afternoon from Calgary, Alta., by Mrs. F. H. Henry, Charles St., conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of her cousin, Mrs. T. B. Lowe, consequent upon a few months' illness. Besides the sorrowing husband, the deceased leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mrs. Robert Anderson, one brother surviving in the person of Frank, a sister, Mrs. Howard J. Sharpe, of Riverside, California, and another sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Wm. Reed, engaged in South African missionary work, all of whom as former residents of this city are well remembered.

Mrs. Lowe, who was Miss Aggie Anderson, was born near Deseronto, Ont., and completed her schooling at the High School there, and spent some time on the audit staff of the Bailey-Dunn Co. About twenty-five years ago she married Mr. Thomas Lowe, of Deseronto, and later went to Calgary in charge of the Viava Co. She took an active part in music, also as soprano soloist in one of the leading churches in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lake, of Deseronto, share in the condolences of many friends in the demise of a highly talented niece.—The Daily Ontario, Belleville, Oct. 6th, 1927.

A Simple Treatment For Children's Colds

Cold in the head is very common at this time of year especially in the very young. Neglect of a cold is prone to lead to serious consequence. To relieve all congestion of the system is the first step in treating a cold, whether in infants or adults. For the very young, Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal means of doing this. Containing no narcotics or other harmful drugs they soothe the child's fretfulness, relieve its sufferings and ensure convalescence.

Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for relieving indigestion, constipation and colic. They check diarrhoea; break up colds and simple fevers; promote health-giving sleep and make the dreaded teething period easy. The Tablets are the one medicine that a mother can give her little ones with perfect safety as they are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STORAGE OF APPLES

(Experimental Farms Note.)

It is difficult for many people to realize that an apple is a living thing in which certain natural changes continue after harvest. If the fruit has reached what is commonly called "normal maturity" on the tree, these processes can be slowed up by storing the fruit at low temperatures.

The maturity of fruit has a considerable bearing on both quality and storage life. As an example of this last statement two pickings of Gravensteins were made in 1926. Trees in fairly uniform condition were selected. The fruit from one lot of trees was picked and a representative sample stored. Ten days later the fruit from the other trees was picked and a representative sample stored along with the first picking.

The early picked fruit was not so highly coloured as the second lot and the ground colour was still a pronounced greenish yellow. The second lot was highly coloured with a good yellow ground and the fruit averaged three pounds harder than the first picked fruit. After two months' storage the early picked fruit was still marketable but lacked the desert quality, colour and hardness of the fruit from the second picking. After three months' storage the first lot was past its prime and practically unmarketable, whereas the late picked fruit was in splendid condition and retained good desert qualities. The market value of the late picked fruit was approximately $1.50 per barrel higher than the first lot.

Apples showing considerable scab or blemish from disease should not be kept in storage any longer than necessary as such fruit will invariably rot and will quicker than sound specimens.

Good ventilation that will drop the temperature of the storage room as quickly as possible in the autumn is essential for the storing of the autumn varieties. Warm temperatures hasten the changes that ripen and will apples whereas low temperatures prolong the storage life by slowing up the natural ripening processes.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains the active principle of creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and cause expectoration, while the creosote goes to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SKIM-MILK VS. BEEF-SCRAP FOR WINTER EGG PRODUCTION

(Experimental Farms Note.)

It is generally acknowledged by poultry-keepers that skim-milk is quite a certain amount of their protein supplied from animal sources. Vegetable protein cannot entirely replace animal protein for egg production. The two most common sources are beef-scrap and skim-milk; the former being a by-product of the abattoir sold on the market and the latter a by-product of whole milk found on most dairy farms.

With the object of comparing the results obtained in winter egg production from the use of skim-milk and beef-scrap as a source of animal protein, an experiment has been conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Kapuskasing, Ontario, for the last three years. The average figures over a three-year period show that there is no significant difference in the number of eggs laid, or in the cost per dozen between the two pens. The fact would seem to indicate that farmers who have a supply of skim-milk would not benefit by purchasing other animal feed for their poultry, while other poultry-keepers who may not have a supply of skim-milk may use the beef-scrap to good advantage.

This test has covered a period of six months each year from November 1st to April 30th. One hundred pullets were used. These were divided equally as to size and general development into two pens of 50 birds each. The ration given to each pen was the same, with the exception of the skim-milk and beef-scrap. The grain ration consisted of two parts each of whole wheat and cracked corn, and one part each of whole oats and barley. The dry mash consisted of equal parts of bran, middlings, corn meal, ground oats and barley. The beef-scrap was fed from a hopper and the skim-milk from a drinking-vessel. A supply of each was available to the respective pens at all times. Mineral matter and green feed were also supplied to each lot.

Varicose Veins

Reduced Or Money Back

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bruises you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Stone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning as directed to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of running sores and ulcers, should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels, they correct such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness, and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them, and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

The annual Thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held on Wednesday evening, October 12th. On account of rainy weather, there was not as large an audience as was expected, but all present greatly enjoyed the program. Mrs. Vallentine read the Scripture lesson, after which a missionary creed was read in unison. After the offering was taken, Miss Rook gave a prayer on national Thanksgiving. Mrs. Valkman and Mr. Caldwell favoured us with a beautiful duet. Rev. A. J. Wilson gave an excellent address on "Women and the Changing Social Order", which was greatly appreciated.

Trinity Church Dinner and Concert, Friday Ev'g, October 21st. Miss Jessie B. Tuite, Elocutionist, of Albert College, Belleville, assisted by local musical talent. Dinner served 6 to 8 o'clock. Tickets, 50c. 41b

"LET'S GO"

On Thursday and Friday evenings of last week the Armouries was filled to capacity with audiences who always enjoy watching Napanee's talented young men and women, who were playing for the first time under the direction of Mr. Desire J. Bourque. The Revue was snappy and up-to-date, the music catchy, and fresh young voices sang each song with splendid enthusiasm and without once faltering. This is remarkable in that their training was confined to ten days.

The performance opened with a prologue by the manager and a smiling group of chorus girls and young men, which was followed rapidly by a solo by Mr. Charlie Walters, assisted by Miss Murial Walmsley, Mr. Gerald Gleeson and the chorus. Mr. Walters also sang well the solo part in another musical number, entitled "Morning". Perhaps the most scenically perfect act of the evening was the "Indian Love Song". Miss Ruth Graham opened the number with a sweet rendition of "Seminola", the curtain ascending during the final chorus to disclose a charming picture of an Indian maiden, kneeling at a camp fire. Miss Mary McGrath then gave the "Indian Love Call", answered by Mr. Jack Caldwell, whose well-known tenor voice blended beautifully with Miss McGrath's lovely soprano. The lighting was good, the little Indian maids around the fire most effective, and the entire scene an unqualified success. Several splendid solos were afterwards rendered by Miss Olive McMillan, Mr. Joe Marshall and Mr. Caldwell, some of the best voices in Napanee.

Without a doubt the stars of the evening were the two comedians, Mr. Grant Paul and Mr. Joe Marshall. Mr. Paul as Huckleberry Finn, and Mr. Marshall as Erastus, were the cause of wave after wave of laughter, and their numbers were displayed throughout the programme much to the delight of the audience. They also assisted as pupils in "School Days", a funny little playlet, with Mr. Bourque as school master, Mr. Ward Huffman as "dear little Willie", Mr. Wm. Gault as "Rudolph", Miss Dorothy Scott as "Mary", Miss Barbara Hyland as Jackie Coogan, and Mr. Byrom as the "Visitor". "Rudolph and Mary" also delighted their audience with a duet, Miss Scott later assisted Huckleberry Finn in a little "skit" between a rural lad and a city girl, which was particularly good.

The second half of the evening's entertainment was opened by a one-act play entitled "Converting Bruce", with Mr. James Naphin as Bruce, Mr. Bourque as his college pal, and two pretty co-eds, Miss Helen Grange and Miss Mary McGrath. The parts were well taken by our local talent, Mr. Bourque giving the professional finish.

A pretty tableau-song was sung by Miss Grace Oliver, the tableaux being posed by Miss Vivian Oliver, who made a beautiful picture with her long silky hair and white flowing robe. Another "short-turn" was well done by Mr. Bourque and Mr. Gault, ending in a chorus number by the Orchid girls, and a duet by Miss Muriel Garrison and Mr. Bourque.

It was not only the music which proved enjoyable on Thursday and Friday evenings, for the dancing was as perfect as amateur dancing could be. It was remarkable with what ease the choruses went through their gestures, even to the tiny little bride's maids, and particularly noticeable in the ensemble, where everybody moved without a flaw. Miss Mary Rogers was the solo-dancuse in a number called "Mandy", and was encored heartily. Miss Katherine Gleeson and Mr. Bourque gave a beautiful exhibition of grace and artistry in the Black and White number, which was greatly admired by the enthusiastic audience.

Mr. Bourque is to be congratulated on his ability to produce such a performance in so short a time. The gratitude of the I. O. D. E. was expressed to Mrs. Reid, the pianist, who was tireless in her efforts to make the entertainment a success. A complimentary dance was tendered the boys and girls after Friday evening's performance in return for all their hard work. The proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

BASKETBALL

In their second game of the Bay of Quinte League, both N. C. I. girls' teams won decisive victories, on Saturday. The two Picton Collegiate sets were the victims, being defeated by 56-22 and 42-8.

The N.C.I. Seniors all played well. Katherine Gleeson accounted for 34 points, and "Nookie" Daly followed her with 14. Agnes Cavanaugh's defense did not allow her to get started, so she only tallied 8 points. Both the defense and centre players had their opponents literally "served up".

The P.C.I. players played well; although they were out-classed they put up a good fight.

The following was the line-up:—
P.C.I. Sr.—Forwards, K. Gleeson, A. Cavanaugh; Centres, M. Grass, M. Daly; Defense, G. Boyes, E. Harrison.
P.C.I. Sr.—Forwards, B. Herrington, R. Grimmon; Centres, R. Clapp, M. Hudgin; Defense, L. Palmatier, B. Walsh; subs, G. Rubbs, D. Leavens, M. Currie.

The N.C.I. Juniors made their second straight win by 42-8. Marion Douglas scored 11 baskets, while Mona Graham scored 16 points. Dorothy Wilson played a fine game at side-centre, scoring 4 points. The rest of the team played excellent ball.

The P.C.I. team was again outclassed, their play being used in vain. The winners played the better game, but nevertheless Picton made it interesting.

The line-up was:—
N.C.I. Jr.—Forwards, M. Graham, Marion Douglas; Centres, D. Wilson, E. Aylesworth; Defense, Margaret Douglas, M. Embury.
P.C.I. Jr.—Forwards, G. Minaker, G. Crawford; Centres, M. King, M. Thompson; Defense, R. Shackelton, G. Cahoon; subs., A. Seely, F. Williams, M. Fraser.

Miss Roy, of Queen's, refereed in an excellently impartial manner, and after the game all enjoyed a lunch.

On Friday Belleville High School will try their luck in Napanee. A win for the Seniors (N.C.I.) will put them in the running, while a victory for the Juniors will hand them the cup. These will be two fast games, and lovers of the cage-game should not miss it. At the N.C.I. Gym., at 8 p.m., on Friday, October 21st. Admission 15c.

SOFTBALL AT HAWLEY

On Tuesday afternoon, October 18th, Hamburg and Hawley played off in a friendly game of softball. Although the score is somewhat cool and a threatening rain seemed inevitable, the game commenced at 3.15. Somehow the rumble from the No. 6 put it over their antagonists, the final score being 39-34.

The Hamburg aggression seemed inclined to pile up a large score during the first few innings, but at this stage that the game appeared to be all one-sided. But the Hawley ballplayers were not to be beaten as easily as that. By sheer hard work and steady playing the Hawley school closed the gap and put the score on a more equal basis. They were out, however, to win, not even to be daunted by the rain itself.

Hawley had the last innings with nine runs to get to tie the score. They got four runs, and it was not until the third man was out, did the pupils from S. S. No. 6 feel safe in saying that the game was theirs. Mr. Wesley Rutan handled the game to the satisfaction of both sides.

We wish to thank Hawley for playing a game with us. Although they lost, they certainly showed themselves to be very good sports. There is a saying, "It is nice to be the victors, but it is better to be a good loser". They certainly were good losers.

The teams lined up as follows :—

Hamburg — Hilford Creighton c., Clarence Park p., Norman Day 1b., Ralph Letts 2b., Ralph Schell 3b., Sidney Forrest s.s., Harold Creighton lf., Ruth Schell rf., Ivan Park c.f.

Hawley—Arthur Murphy c., Leonard Morrow 1b., Marjorie Thompson 2b., Frances McDonald 2b., Leslie Boston 3b., Mildred Seeley s.s., Gordon Sweet lf., Olive Clement r.f., John McDonald c.f.

RUGBY

D. H. S. 17, N. C. I. 6.

Last Thursday proved to be one of the off-days for the new N.C.I. twelve. In fact the score shows that it was one of their "offset" days. The players are practically all new to the game, and the fact that Desoronto had three players who do not belong to the school, and that these players are the best the school has ever produced, did its share to spell defeat.

The N.C.I. could not gain on any of its excellent plays, and this took the heart out of the players. D. H. S. lined all their plays on Whitton. Mc-Vicker or Detlor, the three illegal players, and these three made all the gains. Whitton made two touches and Detlor made one, but the head-linesman said afterwards that he ran into touch to make it so that it should not really count. Once Whitton was forced to the deadline for a point, making a total of seventeen.

The game was clean and free from fouls, and Desoronto deserved their win. However, in the return game next Wednesday, only High School men will play, and N.C.I., who have been practising earnestly, hope to be on the other end of the score. This year no less than twelve of last year's seniors have left, and Mr. Murray has had to fashion a team from almost all new men.

Daverin is turning in a good game at quarterback, and with a little experience at choosing his plays, he will bring his team out on top. Don is also captain and the quarter of the team. When a play is muddled and Don is caught with the ball, his speed and trickiness enables him to take care of it.

The following was the N.C.I. line-up: Snap, Webster; insides, Gibbard and Dean; middles, Way and McGuire; outsides, Exley and Conway; quarter, Daverin; flying-wing, Boyes; halfbacks, Vandusen, McFadden, Gilbride; subs. Asselstine, Gibson, Stalker, Kinkley, VanLuyen.

BASKETBALL

N.C.I. Juniors Win Championship.

On Friday last, in the N.C.I. Gym., the Napanee Junior Girls' Basketball team won the Junior Bay of Quinte League Cup by defeating Belleville High School Juniors by 25-18. It was the best game seen here in some time. During the first two periods each team scored in turn and the outcome was undecided, but with a lead of one point in the beginning of the last period, the local girls expelled all doubt. Both teams were tired, but this did not stop N.C.I., though B.H.S. slowed considerably. The visitors were watched closely to score, as Webb was getting but nine points. The defense was good, but the cover their men well enough, and the centres were out of territory several times.

The entire team played fine ball; their grim fight at the last was the feature of the game. The combination of the forwards seemed to be stopped by the visitors. The defense played a fine game, M Embury constantly breaking up the visitors' "com".

This is the first time in many years that N.C.I. has had a championship team, and we may well be proud of it.

The line-ups were :

B.H.S., Jr.—Forwards, J. Croft, J. Fairburn; centres, D. Curgi, M. Taylor; defense, A. Wilkes, J. Webster.

N.C.I., Jr.—Forwards, Marion Doughas, M. Graham; centres, D. Wilson, E. Aylsworth; defense, Margaret Douglas, M. Embury.

B.H.S. vs. N.C.I.

N.C.I. Sr. 34, B.H.S. Sr. 6.

Belleville got the surprise of their lives, when they finally admitted defeat to the Napanee Seniors, for the first time in four years. They expected trouble from the famed Juniors, but took a victory from the Seniors as a matter of fact. But as the score indicates N.C.I. had complete command of the game from start to finish, and though they received plenty of opposition, the defense allowed the visitors only about ten shots, and the forwards' combination was impregnable.

Belleville's aggression seemed in their positions well, and it was the best team as a whole that came to N.C.I. Gleeson registered nineteen points, but his height made her a constant bother to the opponents' combination, and she turned in a fine game.

The line-ups were :—

B.H.S. Sr.—Forwards, L. Haines, M. Blakely; centres, E. Wheeler, M. Adams; defense, J. Ramsay, M. Fairburn.

N.C.I. Sr.—Forwards, K. Gleeson, A. Cornish; centres, M. Gray, M. Daly; defense, A. Harrison, G. Boyes.

Miss Roy, of Queen's, refereed in her usual excellent manner, and after the games a dance was enjoyed by all.

The Seniors may be in the running for the Senior Championship, but B.H.S. win from Trenton this week. They will bother any team if they play like they did on Friday, and have a little confidence.

DESERONTO

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving supper held on October 22nd, in the School Rooms of St. Mark's Church, Deseronto, was one of the most successful in the history of the Parish, reflecting great credit on the Woman's Auxiliary and Mrs. Ernest Robinson, the President. The tables were nicely laid and decorated with Autumn flowers, and the supper was a bountiful one and of good quality. During the supper the High School Orchestra played a bright and cheerful selections, and also assisted with the programme. Others taking part in the programme were the Rev. Herbert Pringle and the Rev. W. G. Harrison (United Church), who gave speeches; the Rev. Mr. Wilson (Presbyterian Church), also was present. Readings were given by Mrs. Herbert Pringle and Mr. Lyman. Instrumental selections by Professor Eppes, the Church Organist, and two of his pupils, Margaret Field and Lee Boone. Mrs. Boone, a former choir member, gave two vocal solos, as did Mr. Bert Bowen, Captain V. G. Pearce, R.C.A., Belleville, accompanied by Mrs. Pearce on the piano, was very much in demand with his amusing songs. We were glad to see our member and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hill. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. James Toppings, and carried with applause, was tendered by the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Pringle, to the Women's Guild for their successful efforts; to all who so liberally to the supper, and to these who contributed the pleasing numbers to the programme. Mr. Pringle also took occasion to make a happy and enjoyable announcement of the Rev. Mr. Pringle's silver wedding.

The Right Rev. Ingram the Bishop of Ontario, Dr. Seager, paid a visit to St. Mark's Church, Deseronto, Sunday evening, October 23rd, and was accompanied by the Rev. Herbert Pringle, of Tyendinaga, who acted as his Chaplain and read the lessons, and the Rev. A. J. Arthur, B.D., of Toronto, who read the evening service. At the conclusion of the Processional Hymn, Mr. James Toppings, People's Warden, accompanied by the Rector, the Rev. Rural Dean Radcliffe, read an address of welcome in the name of the Parishioners of St. Mark's, to the Bishop. The Bishop explained briefly that it was through no fault of anyone that he had not visited the Parish before. The Bishop presided a powerful sermon, shook hands cordially with all of the congregation at the West door of the church at the close of the service, and expressed himself as very much with the beautiful service in which he had had the privilege of taking part.

The Bishop and his father and two sisters Georgemen and their wives were guests at the Rectory of St. Marks, Deseronto, after the evening service last Sunday.

WEDDING BELLS.

Allison—Parks.

A pretty wedding, which united two of the oldest United Empire Loyalist families of Eastern Ontario, took place on Saturday evening, October 22nd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. Parks, Bay Bay, when their daughter, Evelyn Mercedes, was united in marriage to Mr. Vernon Ross Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Allison, of Adolphstown. The Reverend Harry Pringle, of Trinity Church, Napanee, conducted the ceremony. Yellow chrysanthemums and asparagus fern made pleasing decorations. The wedding music was played by Miss Edith Allison, of Ottawa, sister of the groom. The bride wore a becoming gown of Bermuda pink georgette, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lily of the valley. Miss Marjorie Parks, sister of the bride, in orchid georgette was her only attendant. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Hugh Allison. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful white gold and diamond-set pin; to the bridesmaid a gold bar pin, and to the best man gold cuff links. A dainty lunch was served by the Misses Kathleen Robin, Geneva Robin, Madeline Allison, Hazel McCabe, Jean Robertson and Miss Ethel Pringle, personal friends of the bride. BELLEVILLE PRESBYTERIAL EXECUTIVE MEETS

The Executive of Belleville Presbyterial of the W.M.S. met in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, on October 19th, at 2 p.m., with Mrs. M. E. Wilson presiding, and fifteen members present. The meeting opened with a hymn, Scripture reading and prayer. The Secretaries of the different departments are alert and active, and had their reports ready and helpfully discussed. One new Mission Band was organized and several others re-organized. The system of selecting delegates to the Conference Branch was given out, and a resolution prepared for presentation at Conference, whereby there may be uniform representation from the five sections.

Upon the President's report of the financial statement handed down from the Dominion Board, it is prayerfully hoped that allocations will not only be reached but exceeded in every organization as requested. Hospital aids and adequate buildings, etc., cannot be given in the amounts desired, if the dollars cannot be stretched further.

A committee composed of the President, the Belleville and nearby members of the Executive, and President of the Stirling Auxiliary was appointed to arrange for the Presbyterial to be held in Picton in January. They are also to prepare a program for the four sessions.

The meeting closed with prayer.

VIOLET WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The concert and lecture given in the Brick school house on October 20th was a decided success. The evening programme was opened by the singing of the Ode, after which the President, Mrs. E. A. Wright, introduced the chairman, Rev. Mr. Spencer, of Carscallen East, who gave a short address, commending the Institute and the good work they are doing for the community.

Mrs. D. Munro, M.D., C.M., Odessa, was then called, and gave a very interesting lecture of over one hour on Bolshevism as seen during her trip through Russia, while serving in the Red Cross. The chairman complimented him on giving an excellent opera.

The chairman then called on Mr. Laughland, the Agricultural Representative of Napanee, who gave some very fine motion pictures, which were enjoyed very much by all present.

The dainty lunch was served by the members of the Institute, and the evening brought to a close by singing "God Save the King", and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the Rev. Mr. Spencer, Dr. Munro, and Mr. Laughland.

The November meeting is to be held on the 2nd, at Mrs. Wm. Closie's, Violet. All are looking forward with interest to this meeting, as the Address Institute orders will furnish the program. Everyone welcome.

ARE YOU GETTING VALUE?

To some homes a newspaper is a newspaper, and no thought is given to the quality. That rule does not apply when buying a home magazine. The best is then wanted, even it it costs one dollar a year. Seventy-five cents is then paid for what could be had at the same price or less than half that amount.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is the acknowledged best value in all Canada. It is a splendid combination of newspaper and family magazine and a farm journal without an equal on the continent. It costs you no more than an ordinary country weekly—one dollar a year. Seventy-two pages every week of the choicest reading for every member of the family at a cost of less than two cents a week should interest every home in Canada. No wonder The Family Herald and Weekly Star is read by a million Canadians each week. It is well worth a trial.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION COUNCIL CONVENTION

The County Religious Education Council met in Convention at Trinity United Church, on Wednesday, October 19th, with afternoon and evening sessions.

In the afternoon session Rev. W. P. Woodger conducted brief devotional exercises, which were followed by a few words of welcome from C. L. Graham, and remarks from the President, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson.

The main business of the afternoon was to hear reports from the various department heads concerning the work of the year for the County. For the most part the reports were of a very encouraging nature, but in some cases a lack of interest on the part of a few township secretaries was deplored. The county heads of departments are dependent on the township officers for their reports, and unless active cooperation is met with, a full report could not be presented.

Following the reports given by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, heads of the adult and girls' departments, respectively, the resignations of these two worthy officers were tendered. Both have been long connected with the county organization, and their retirement from office was deeply regretted.

Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, of St. Andrew's Church, Napanee, gave a helpful address on the value of pictures and dramatization in the Sunday School work. Her address was full of practical suggestions along these lines, and in the part of her time she emphasized the fact that a child records the thing it sees much faster than the thing it hears. The speaker suggested books and pictures which the Sunday School worker could use to good advantage in this work.

The evening session opened with a song service, and devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Harry Pawson, following which were the reports of the Nominating Committee and the Resolution Committee.

Rev. J. A. Plant, of Adolphstown, dealt very ably with the subject, "Success in the Home Department". The speaker emphasized the fact that the strength of a nation depends on the character of its homes and urged the systematic study of the Word of God and the re-building of the family altar as a means toward building better homes and nation.

Rev. A. J. Wilson, recently returned from an extensive tour of Europe, dealt in a very fine way with the subject "Religious Education and the Youth Movement". In the course of his address the speaker said, that we are living through a time of change, beset with many difficulties, which has caused a decided rift to appear between the church and the youth of modern days. The reasons for this cleavage were given as :—

1st. The materialism of the age, which has been accituated by the wonderful modern day advantages we enjoy through the great inventions of the past few years.

2nd. The tendency to standardization, both in secular and church life, which has almost destroyed personality and individuality.

To overcome this condition the church must meet the young people and must cultivate a deeper spiritual life.

Mr. Wilson told something of the youth movement of European countries which is decidedly away from the church, through the fact that the church has failed to meet the needs of its young people. Canada is asserted, was moving in the right direction and was endeavoring to supply the needs of youth according to present day requirements.

Mrs. R. Vaulkman and Mrs. Bruce Findlay rendered very appropriate vocal solos in the afternoon and evening respectively.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows :—

President—Rev. T. H. P. Anderson.
1st Vice President—Mr. E. F. Purcell.
2nd Vice President—Mr. T. V. Melloy.
Secty. Treas.—Mrs. Bruce Findlay.
Supt. Child's Division—Mrs. R. J. Smith.
Supt. Boys' Work—Rev. R. J. Merriam.
Supt. Young People—Mr. M. Jackson
Supt. Adults' Division—Mr. Wm. Mills.
Supt. Home Department—Mrs. Amos Huffman.
Supt. Teacher Training—Mrs. T. H. P. Anderson.
Supt. Mission Training—Mr. Elgin Vannest.
Assist. Temperance Department—Mr. J. C. Hudgins.

The convention in 1928 will be held in Newburgh.

TRINITY ANNUAL SUPPER AND CONCERT

A most successful annual supper and concert were held in Trinity Church last Friday night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The ladies' committee had made preparations with admirable efficiency, and the supper was attractively served, and most thoroughly enjoyed by the four hundred people present.

The concert programme presented in the church auditorium was cordially received by the audience.

Prof. and Miss Kathleen Baird rendered an organ and pianoforte duet, and the Professor several organ selections in their usual masterly manner.

An octet, comprising Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brand Mills, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Pawson, Messrs. C. Black, F. LaSalle, C. Vandervoort, and H. Pawson, sang excellently in two numbers.

Mrs. Valkman and Mr. Caldwell sang with fine interpretive ability, and were most spontaneously received; while Mrs. Smith as soprano soloist, and Miss Hawley and Miss Baughen, in a cleverly executed pianoforte duet, received the well merited appreciation of the audience.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Margaret Breeze

There passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. W. Gilbert, on Friday, October 7th, 1927, a highly esteemed and much loved lady in the person of Mrs. Margaret Breeze. The deceased was born in Kingston Township, July 20th, 1846, and was a daughter of Henry and Letitia (Perry) Armstrong, natives of County Tyrone, Ireland. She was twice married, her first marriage to Lewis N. Mastin, of Richmond, by whom she had a family of four children, her husband dying in December, 1882. Six years later she married William Breeze, of Napanee, who predeceased her twenty-five years ago. The greater part of her life was spent in the vicinity of Napanee, the last few years having made her home with her daughters in Bracebridge. By her quiet, unassuming manner and sweet Christian spirit, she made many friends who loved her. Although in failing health for some time, the end came unexpectedly, taking a stroke, from which she never fully regained consciousness. She was living in daily expectation for the call of her Saviour, and the end came calmly and peacefully. She has gone to be with Christ and her loved ones which is far better. She was a life long Methodist and her Pastor, Dr. Smith, of the United Church, conducted the service on Saturday, at 3 p.m., at the Gilbert home. The remains were taken to Napanee for burial in the family plot in Riverview cemetery, the funeral being held from Masters & Tierney's Parlors, on Monday, at 10.30 a.m., Rev. W. D. Harrison, of Deseronto, conducting the service. A large gathering of old friends and relatives were in attendance to pay their last respects to one who had lived among them for so many years.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a devoted mother, one son, Ferman Perry, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Geo. W. Gilbert and Mrs. Simpson Rusk, of Bracebridge, and Mrs. A. M. Price, of Tujimga, California; one brother, John Perry Armstrong, of Deseronto, and sister, Mrs. Frances Perry, Carman, Man.

YARKER-COLEBROOK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular meeting of the Yarker-Colebrook Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. S. Winter, on October 19th, with the President, Mrs. Norman Boyce, in the chair, with about twenty-five members present and several visitors, among whom were Mrs. Mabee, President of Sydenham Institute, and also Mrs. John Storms, of Sydenham.

The meeting opened in the usual manner, and minutes by the Secretary read and approved. A note of thanks for flowers sent her was read from Mrs. Wm. Jackson, who has recently undergone an operation in a Toronto hospital. The committee in charge of cleaning the cemetery reported that they purpose holding a bee. After some discussion it was decided to have this in November, as it would be easier for the men to come then when they are not so busy.

A splendid paper on "The Life of the new Leader of the Opposition, the Hon. R. B. Bennett, was then read by Mrs. Earl Boyce. This was very much appreciated by all.

Many ways were discussed of raising money, and it was decided to give a play later in the season.

Miss Wartman, Secretary of Sydenham W. I., gave some splendid suggestions for raising money. These were much appreciated.

It was decided to send flowers to people who were ill in the community, also to send the dollar asked for by the Convention Executive to defray expenses.

A letter was read from the Department, regretting that they could not furnish us with a teacher for the course in food values in October, so it was decided to ask for one for January.

A splendid Current Events paper was given by Mrs. A. Hoffman. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Cowdy, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Ashley, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Walker, on Nov. 16th. The roll call will be "Hints for Christmas Gifts". A paper will be given by Mrs. Frank Martin, on "Storing Vegetables for Winter". Current Events by Mrs. E. Boyce, and the usual business. The lunch committee, besides the hostess, will be Mrs. S. Freeman, Mrs. C. Edgar, Mrs. H. Freeman, and Mrs. G. Hawley.

The American Bishop was visiting the weeller and more Western portion of his diocese and on his arrival at his destination was met by a prominent church official who in his business capacity was the principal bootlegger of the district.

After an exchange of greetings the Bishop remarked: "Is there any special subject you can suggest, Mr. Bangs, that I could base my address on?"

"Wal, Bishop," replied the worthy Bangs, "you must remember that this is a tough town, and if you want a quiet religious meeting to-morrow don't say too much about the ten Commandments."

Good Fortune Follows Chance Meeting

Advice to Take "Fruit-a-tives" Results in Perfect Health

MR. E. [illegible] MAY

How often chance meetings mark turning points in our lives! Mr. Emery Le May of Montreal owes his health to just such a meeting. He says:

"I was always constipated, billious and weary until one day I met a traveller who recommended "Fruit-a-tives". I procured some. You would not know me for the same person. I am in perfect health, always energetic. I am happy to congratulate you on your medicine. I recommend it on every possible occasion."

Happiness and success are impossible when constipation keeps drugging you down. Don't suffer. Overcome this serious trouble in the natural, common-sense way with "Fruit-a-tives". They contain only nature's oldest remedy—fresh fruit juices —combined with tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" strengthen and revitalize weakened bowels, liver and kidneys. 25c and 50c a box at all druggists. Start on the way back to health to-day. Try "Fruit-a-tives".

CAMDEN VIII. W.M.S.

The October meeting of Camden VIII. United W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Lochhead, on Thursday, October 13th, 1927.

Mrs. Lochhead was hostess to about twenty-five visitors and members of the Society, and served a most bountiful dinner, after which the President took charge of the gathering and conducted the regular missionary study.

After the devotional period and the business discussion, Mrs. White, of Tamworth, gave us a brief, yet comprehensive, outline of the programme of the Branch meeting held in Pembroke, at which Mrs. White was a delegate. Mrs. Bert Lochhead also presented a full report of the District Rally held in Centreville, on October 4th, and although a goodly number of our members were present at the rally, yet all enjoyed a review of that most interesting meeting, which all pronounced one of the most helpful and inspiring rallies ever held in this district. Both ladies were thanked for their reports.

Our November meeting will be held on the first Thursday of the month, at the home of Mrs. Stanley Dougall. All members are urged to be present as the new study book for the year will be introduced.

On Sunday, October 30th, we are holding our Thanksoffering Service in Camden VIII. Church, at 3 p.m. The meeting will be addressed by Mrs. Anderson, of Newburgh, our District President, and all are asked for a liberal thankoffering, that our Society may be able to reach its allocation for this year.

MAPLE LEAF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular meeting of the Maple Leaf Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Sperry Fraser and Mrs. James Fraser, on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 13th, at 2 p.m.

The President was in the chair, and the meeting opened by community singing of "O Canada" and "Coming Through the Rye". This was followed by the Ode and the Lord's Prayer.

The roll call was responed to by "Suggestions for Hallowe'en parties" There were twenty-one present.

The business part of the programme required much time and discussion as many projects for winter entertainments, etc., were brought before the members.

Mrs. Sperry Fraser was appointed delegate to the Kingston Convention, with Mrs. Milling as alternative.

It was decided to meet at 1 p.m. for the regular meetings during the winter months, as the afternoons are getting shorter.

The Institute decided to take charge of the booth on the grounds at the plowing match in Mr. Hunter's field, and serve pie, sandwiches, hot dogs and coffee.

Mrs. Wesley Cummings gave a very helpful paper on "Storing Winter Vegetables". She outlined the general conditions of temperature and humidity, and described in detail how to keep many of the vegetables.

Mrs. J. R. Smith rendered some piano music in her usual capable manner. Mrs. Bert Fretts gave a complete and concise review of the world news in her paper on Current Events.

Lunch was served and a generous collection taken. The meeting closed with "God Save the King".

A rather deaf woman found herself sitting beside a well-known surgeon at a social dinner. He was not a talkative man, and try as she might, the old lady could not think of any conversation.

At last she had an idea.

"Should I call you Dr. Dobbs or Mr. Dobbs?" she asked, with a charming smile.

"Call me anything you like," replied the doctor, and added genially: "Some of my friends call me an old fool!"

"Ah," she rejoined, not hearing correctly, but anxious to be pleasant, "those are the people who know you intimately, of course!"

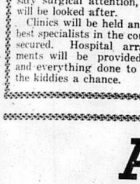
Wise Home Managers Make No Dates With the Furnace



"I'm awfully sorry dear, but I can't be at your bridge today—can't you get someone to fill in?—There's no one home to 'tend the furnace—I really must stay or the fire will be going out."

That's the trouble with old-fashioned methods of furnace heating—one must be ever alert to feed shovel after shovel of coal to the always hungry furnace—to say nothing of removing dirty ashes.

Wise home managers have eliminated these great inconveniences. They have installed

"MIRACLE" WHEAT AGAIN

(Experimental Farms Note.)

There has appeared recently in a number of leading agricultural papers an article entitled "King Tut's Wheat Grown in the West". The article refers to certain results obtained by a Soldier Settler living near Edmonton, Alta., and gives the impression that the wheat in question was discovered in 1922 in the tomb of King Tut-ankh-amen. As a matter of fact the records show that this wheat was known as far back as 1840 when one enterprising gentleman offered heads at $5 each.

The above variety belongs to the Poulard subspecies of wheat being somewhat intermediate between the common and durum wheats. It has numerous aliases, the most common of which are Egyptian, Eldorado, Many Headed, Miracle, Mummy, Seven Headed and Alaska. It has always been easy to interest people in this wheat owing to its branched head. If an unbranched head will yield so much surely a branched head will yield much more ! While head for head this may be true, yet experiments have not shown that it holds good acre for acre. This wheat was probably introduced into North America from Europe or Egypt in Colonial days. It was received by the Philadelphia Society for promoting Agriculture in 1807, since which time it has appeared periodically under one name or another.

In 1908 the United States Department of Agriculture began an extensive investigation of this wheat, which investigation continued for several years. In the meantime it has been tried by farmers all over the United States, but it is not now grown anywhere as a commercial crop. The fact that it has never become established in spite of the remarkable advertising it has received is a good indication of its inferiority. Promoters however resurrect it periodically, and, owing to its striking and unusual appearance, manage to sell it to the unsuspecting farmer at exorbitant prices.

The essential facts concerning Alaska wheat have been summed up very nicely in a bulletin published by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bulletin No. 357, 1916, P. 27, at the conclusion of extensive tests conducted at many points in the United States, as follows :—

1. That it has been used in this country very often as a means of deceiving people and very seldom as a farm crop;

2. That it has failed to produce even fair yields when tried in many parts of the country, and has never been known to produce extraordinary yields;

3. That it is not a good milling wheat;

4. That the branched head is not a sign of superior yielding power.

HAYBURN

The farmers have a great deal of their fall ploughing done.—Mr. Geo. Dickson, who is in the Kingston General Hospital, is progressing very favourably from his recent operation. — The Anniversary services were held in the Hayburn Church on Sunday. Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, of Shannonville, a former Pastor, delivered two very eloquent sermons, and Miss Ruth Graham, who was the week end guest of Miss Doris Rikley, sang very sweetly at the evening service, and Miss Smith, of Milford, also assisted the Choir. — Mr. Lewis Magee left on Friday for Toronto.—Miss Eleanor Sills and Miss Kathleen Dickson spent the week end with their parents.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Wallace's Drug Store

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

NOVEMBER ROD AND GUN.

Dealing with many aspects of outdoor life and hunting and fishing, the November issue of Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News which has just been published, contains a most interesting collection of stories and articles. Among them is a very good yarn on surveying the mouth of the Nelson River in Hudson's Bay, by Robert James, stories from the Tabusintac River in New Brunswick by the well known writer, Bonnycastle Dale, a stirring fiction story of the old days of the "fur lords" in the north by Samuel A. White and a good trapping article by Raymond Thompson.

The regular special departments dealing with fishing, shooting, trapping, outdoors and kennel also contain very interesting material while the Silver Fox News section contains the latest news of the industry, together with interesting and helpful articles on the care and management of foxes.

Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

A youngster on being taken to a music hall for the first time was much more interested in the orchestra than in any of the "turns". Nudging his father, he indicated the trombone player and asked anxiously, "Isn't there a catch about that, dad? He's not really swallowing it, is he?"

In a graveyard sweetly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In a lone and silent grave.

Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
But they never know the heartache,
That the smile does hide the while.

Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To your grave not far away;
Where we laid you, dearest mother,
Just two years ago to-day.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but ever loving memory of our darling Dorothy Jean Amey, who fell asleep in Jesus, on November 2nd, 1926.

She is not dead—the child of our affection—
But gone unto that school
Where she no longer needs our poor protection,
And Christ himself doth rule.

Day after day we think what she is doing
In those bright realms of air;
Year after year, her tender steps pursuing,
Behold she has grown more fair.

So sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and little Brother. 43ap

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Roy Outwater, who passed away October 28th, 1918.

In the treasure House of Heaven,
Where the purest gems are in;
Safe from harm to live forever,
God has found a place for him.

But when days to come, we too
Shall reach the unseen land,
Where bitter partings are no more,
Perhaps we'll understand.

Inserted by his loving Father, Mother, and Sisters. 43ap

ODESSA

Last Friday noon the people of Odessa were terribly alarmed when the home of A. Smeathers, baker, was completely destroyed by fire, also his barn near his home. The fire started from the kitchen and supposition is that a defective chimney was the cause. The neighbors moved the household goods, part of which were saved, to the Noble Bond house, on the same street. Ferguson Ave. The property was owned by Kelly Hagerman, Rochester. — The many friends of Mrs. Isaac Fraser were sorry to hear that she passed away at an early hour last Friday morning, after a long and serious illness. All that loving hands could do did not stay the inevitable. The deceased had lived in the village for a number of years, and her gentle manner and charitable deeds will long be remembered. She was in her eighty-fifth year. To mourn her loss besides her aged husband are three daughters, Mrs. G. W. Loucks and Mrs. Allen, Odessa, and Mrs. Fred Scott, Montreal; also two sons, William and Almond, Calgary; four grandchildren and one great grand daughter. The funeral was held from her late home on Monday afternoon, Rev. Mr. McQuade officiating, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Interment took place at Violet cemetery. The pallbearers were Wesley Sharpe, H. J. Smith, W. S. Holmes, B. L. King, Thomas Sharpe and James Boyce. There were many beautiful floral pieces, that told of the esteem in which the deceased was held. — Miss McGrath, Miss Cox, Mr. McQuade and Charles Hamm, of Toronto, spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hamm and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hamm. They came for the ball game and attended the banquet at night.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Storms and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Storms, of Toronto, spent the week-end as guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Mabee, and also attended the Queen's-Varsity game.—Nelson Booth has returned to his New York home, accompanied by Pearl Frink.—Mrs. Ashton Amey has returned from visiting her sister, Mrs. Reid, Kingston. — Wm. Vrooman, of Kingston, is visiting his son, Herman Vrooman.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sara Ann Martin.

On September 28th, 1927, at the home of her son, Albert Martin, Camden, there passed away Sara Ann Martin, widow of the late Harvey Martin, who predeceased her in April, 1906. Her maiden name was Sara Ann Glenn.

All her married life was spent in the vicinity, three miles east of Selby. She was a member of the United Church, Selby, at which place she proceed to attend Sunday School and worship at the services. She was an active member of the Church organizations and gave her earnest support to further their interests. In the neighbourhood where she lived she will be greatly missed for her kindly services were freely given. An exemplary wife, a devoted mother, a charitable neighbour, the leaves behind the memories of a life well spent, for the Master whom she loved to serve.

Of late years she spent the winters with her daughter, Mrs. George Fenwick, Enterprise, and the summers at the old home, with her son. About three years ago she was stricken with heart trouble, to which after periods of convalescence she finally succumbed.

The funeral services were held at the house, on Friday morning, 28th inst., and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Johnstone, of Selby, taking for his text Phil. 1 : 21, "For to me to live is Christ and to die is gain". The remains were interred in the family plot in Newburgh cemetery.

Besides a host of friends who will mourn her passing, she leaves an only son, Albert Martin; a grandson, Harvey Martin; a daughter, Mrs. George Fenwick, Enterprise, and a brother, Joseph Glenn, Winnipeg. A cousin, Miss May Reid, R.N. of New York City, was with her during the last few days of her illness.

Mrs. Fanny Cronk.

On Thursday, October 20th, 1927, death called away Mrs. Fanny Cronk, at the home of her son, Samuel Cronk, 4611 Hamilton Ave., Detroit, Mich., formerly of Napanee. Deceased was 102 years, 1 month and 12 days.

Mrs. Cronk came to live with her son, Samuel, twelve years ago, at that time living in Toronto, later moving to Detroit, Mich. For the past three years she has been a great care, being totally blind. Four weeks ago she was taken seriously ill, which resulted in her death.

The funeral took place from her son's residence, at 2 o'clock on Saturday, and thence to Evergreen cemetery. Much sympathy was extended through friends to Samuel, he being the only child present at the funeral.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons and one daughter, Samuel, of Detroit, Mich.; Amos, of Napanee; Mrs. George Traynor, of Watertown, N.Y., and William, not known where.

SECTIONAL MEETING NAPANEE DIVISION OF THE W. M. S.

The second annual sectional meeting of the Napanee Division of the W.M.S. was held in Grace Church, Napanee, on Wednesday, October 5th.

The morning session met at 9.30 o'clock, with a good attendance. The devotional service was conducted by the Rev. W. P. Woodger, after which Mrs. Earl Perry took the chair. Greetings from Grace United Church were tendered to the delegates and visitors. Every Auxiliary in the division answered with, encouraging reports of their activities, and a decided increase in membership. A grand total of $523.00 had been raised during the year.

The Circles, Bands and Little Light Bearers brought in their encouraging and inspiring reports, as did also the Superintendants.

At this point Rev. Mr. Anderson introduced the speakers of the rally, Miss Virgo, a returned missionary from China, and our native Bible woman, Mrs. Dzin. In a few words he gave us a glimpse of Mrs. Dzin's ambition and sincerity, and made us feel more keenly the honour of having Miss Virgo and Mrs. Dzin with us for the day.

"Echoes from a Mission Band" was given by Mrs. Laura Parks, in which she pointed out that our Mission Bands are echoes of ourselves; as we show love and service so shall our Bands echo the same ideals. Our children, the units of the Bands, are echoes of us. Let us see to it that they echo love and service. On teachers, leaders, friends, as well as mothers, devolves this responsibility. A beautifully brought out the child's importance, and our responsibility by saying :—"When God has special work to do, he brings a wee babe into the world to do it, and we are training these wee babes". She closed her address by reminding the Auxiliaries, that when we have a full Band we need not fear for our Auxiliaries.

Mrs. Harold Denison sang very expressively "Christian, Forth !" which seemed to bring the audience into the spirit for the quiet half hour conducted by our loved missionary, Miss Paul, who took for her lesson talk "Love". She spoke impressively of the qualities of love, as found in 1 Corinthians, 13, viz., endurance, kindness, contentment, humility, modesty, unselfishness, sweetness of disposition, and purity of thought; and from this lesson, in her own quiet, sincere way, she led us to a feeling of the importance of cultivating "love" through service. The service of the roll call of the Auxiliaries, and the In Memoriam service, were ably conducted by the Deaconnn ladies; followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Wilson, "Oh Love Divine". The minutes of the morning session being read and adopted, Mrs. S. Pringle graciously responded to the greeting, and proved that time spent in greetings between individuals or organizations, in time well spent, in that it brings a feeling of understanding and unity, which cannot be had in any other way.

Miss Virgo then gave us her inspiring address, claiming it one of her pleasures to tell of foreign work, in which she had spent ninteen years of happiness. In reviewing her work she referred to the difficulties of travel then and now. When she went to China, it meant one thousand miles by steamer, and one thousand miles by canal boat, drawn by thirty men, taking ten weeks to accomplish this journey; but it was a profitable journey, nevertheless, she declares. Now the journey is taken sixteen hundred by steamer, and four hundred by chair, to the unwalled City of Kingchowfu, which is composed of numerous small villages.—The object of the workers is "a day school in every village". We have a new large hospital, one wing for the Woman's Missionary Society; a boys' boarding school, and a girls' boarding school, from which one hundred and thirty students graduate yearly, as nurses, teachers, and evangelistic workers.

Nine day schools, which are valuable centres for evangelistic work, and in which the pupils stay for two or three years, prepare the way for the boarding schools. Miss Virgo is head of the Woman's School, in which the standard has been raised from Higher Primary to Entrance. Women students are proving faithful and efficient workers for the Master.

Miss Virgo and her co-workers were given only one week in which to prepare for leaving China, but in that time plans were made for the work to be carried on in full by the earnest, sincere, native Christians. Miss Virgo says present conditions in China should not discourage us, as Chinese workers are carrying on, and looking for the return of the foreigner.

The word of two of the missionaries going up the river from Shanghai with the cable to Toronto, asking for the return of two men at once, is a good omen.

Before Mrs. Dzin began her address, members from the Wilton Auxiliary gave an applicable little exercise, carrying to each of us a lesson in the justice and beauty of giving.

Mrs. Dzin's address, interpreted by Miss Virgo, carried all through it such a thread of gratitude and faith and zeal, that we felt surely the W. M. S. was truly honoured in claiming her as one of our sisters and workers. Three years she had prayed to come to Canada to thank the Church of Canada for the work it has done in the uplifting of Chinese womanhood. She told us quaintly and feelingly of the work in the last twenty years; when Dr. Endicott went to China, it was in Mrs. Dzin's home he held services until property was bought for the erection of a mission. She told us of the burning of paper money before the graves of the departed, to help them on their way to the other world, and to make them rich in the hereafter,—the only way of happiness in the next world for the Chinese.

But now they are learning the way of true happiness, and the money which Canada has given, has been used to benefit China, and it is bearing fruit. She claims the present trouble is due, mainly, to illiteracy, and as Jesus said, "Forgive them for they know not what they do", so must we get the spirit of Christ toward China. Mrs. Dzin says the hope for China lies in the children yet to be born, to the boys and girls of to-day, who are in the schools learning Jesus' way; and for this hope for China she thanks the Church of Canada.

Mrs. G. I. Perry feelingly called attention to the proof of Mrs. Dzin's worthiness of the gratuities given. After music by Grace Church Mission Band a question drawer was conducted by Mrs. O. A. Perry. A very many pertinent questions were discussed.

Mrs. Hooper then brought in a resolution that the delegates to the Branch meeting be instructed at a sectional rally. The resolution was then closed by Rev. Mr. Harper.

The evening session was opened by Rev. W. P. Woodger, with reading and prayer. After the reading and adoption of the minutes, Grace Church Choir sang "God Is My Strength".

Miss Virgo again gave an interesting and instructive talk concerning the work in China; the advancement in their work to the Chinese Christians and a short description of their journey down the Yang-tse-Kiang to Shanghai. She also spoke in terms of highest praise, of Mrs. Dzin, for her years a Bible woman, and helper in the mission; and expressed the love our she felt in having Mrs. Dzin as her co-helper in her fatigues.

Mrs. Dzin's address was again translated to with deep interest and attention by the large audience. Once more she expressed her gratitude to God for answered prayer, and extended her thanks to the Church of Canada for all they had done for China. She observed some of the customs and rites which are fast disappearing, owing to the spreading of the gospel, and spoke of her own conversion and her entry into the school at thirty years of age, of her happiness in her work, and of her belief in a future for China as a Christian station. She beautifully closed her address by expressing her sorrow in not being able to speak to us in our own language, "but", she said, "in Heaven we shall all speak the language of the Kingdom."

The meeting was closed by Rev. R. Merriam.

I'll tell you why I'm going to buy Westinghouse—

"We've had a terrible time deciding which radio set to buy—every maker claims to have the best.

"Yesterday morning Jack said, "Well what about our electric appliances? They're made by us and they are certainly alright. Give a moment's worry.

"So we saw a Westinghouse when we went up town last night and as soon as I heard it I knew Jack was right.

"The Westinghouse dealer gave us a perfectly wonderful demonstration—we ordered it there and then and it's to be installed tomorrow."

We will gladly demonstrate the 1928 Westinghouse models and explain the many improvements that make them better.

The train had finally emerged from the blackness of a long tunnel. The conductor noticed a young couple both of whom were apparently quite flustered, and the young woman was nervously re-arranging her disheveled hair.

Thinking to put them at ease the conductor remarked pleasantly:

"Did you know that the tunnel we just came through cost $12,000,000?"

"Did it?" inquired the girl. Then she added after a pause, "Well, it was worth it."

Miller's Worm Powders are the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. Twelve pleasant-sounding chimes came from the ornamental clock in the London hotel lounge, and the manager, a Swiss, yawned and murmured:

"Noon. Noon all over the world."

"No, sir, that is incorrect," protested a testy old gentleman from his armchair. "It's two o'clock just now in Constantinople, half-past one in the morning in Honolulu, five o'clock in the afternoon in India, half-past ten in——"

But the manager interrupted his guest with another friendly yawn.

"Well, he said complacently, "thank Heaven I live in a town where noon is noon and nothing else!"

The Castle Clock

By JOHN Y. LARNED

When Count Kercheff died leaving no children his fortune passed to a distant connection who had never seen him or his abode. The young man who succeeded to the title and the property, Adolf Herzog, on receipt of notification of his relative's death and his own ascension to the estate, went to the schloss and took up his abode there. He found Hans Schlotter, an old servitor, in charge of the place, who showed him his domicile and gave him a minute account of everything in it, for Schlotter had been there ever since he was born and for many years had been the major domo.

"That clock," he said, referring to a timepiece some six feet in height and in breadth and thickness the size of a coffin for an adult, "has stood there ever since the schloss was built, now nearly 200 years ago. It has foretold the death of every count since the first, who was ennobled on account of his services in battle."

"What?" exclaimed the young man, with a shudder. "Foretold death! How did it do that?"

"I cannot tell you," replied the old man. "All I know is that two counts have died while I have lived here. One of them told my father that he was going to die, the clock having warned him of his approaching end. The other, he who died a few weeks ago, told me the same thing with regard to himself. But there is nothing remarkable about this, for there is a tradition that the clock will foretell the death of the incumbent count till the schloss is a ruin."

Count Adolf said nothing in reply to this information, but it affected him very sensibly. Soon after becoming domesticated in his new home he found himself constantly looking for some sign from the clock that could be interpreted as an indication that his end was near. It would seem rather that the clock should be looking for signs of its own decay, because it was very old while the count was young and healthy.

Count Adolf was betrothed when he succeeded to the property to Bertha von Holwig, whom he married soon after his accession and took her there to live. Not wishing that she should be aware of his uncomfortable feelings occasioned by the tradition he said nothing to her about it. But it was not long before the young countess saw that something unpleasant was affecting her husband, and in time she surmised that it was the clock. For she noticed that her husband was often wakeful, and whenever that occurred he told her he wished it would not tick so loud.

One night when Count Adolf was not feeling well, after he had gone to sleep his wife arose, slipped downstairs and stopped the pendulum. Then she went back to bed. The reason she did this was that she feared if her husband awoke and heard the ticking he would be annoyed by it. In the middle of the night the count awoke, feverish and in pain.

Immediately he noticed that the clock was silent. Had he been in a normal condition he would doubtless have thought it had run down, though it had never been known to run down, for Hans Schlotter attended to its winding and had done so for half a century. He boasted that in all these years he had never permitted it to run down but once, though he admitted that this had occurred shortly before Count Kercheff's death.

Unfortunately the old man had told this to his young master. Therefore when Count Adolf awoke feeling ill and did not hear the ticking of the clock he at once inferred that its ceasing presaged his death. Having always connected what troubled him from his wife, fearing that she would conceive a contempt for him on account of it, he did not now reveal it to her. But he awoke her and told her that he feared he was going to die.

The countess at once rang the servants and sent for a doctor, who found the count in a state of collapse. He could not tell what was the matter with his patient, for all the organs seemed to be in fairly good working order. The count's nerves were evidently affected, so, not knowing what else to do, the doctor gave him a sedative, which put him to sleep.

A daughter of Hans Schlotter, going downstairs after having carried up a kettle of hot water for the invalid, noticed that the old clock had stopped. Supposing that her father had let it run down, she started the pendulum going; but, noticing that the weights still hung high, she refrained from winding it. When the count awoke Hans was standing by his bed. The invalid, hearing the clock ticking, asked Hans if he was aware that the clock had stopped during the night. Hans said he was not.

"It stopped to give me warning," replied the count, "and it has gone on again." Thereupon the poor man went off again into a nervous chill.

The countess coming in at this moment, Hans told her that her husband was about to die, for the clock in the hall always stopped when the count incumbent was approaching his end.

"Fool!" cried the countess. "I stopped it myself."

The count heard her and, sitting up in bed, said, "I am the fool."

The next morning the count was quite well again. It was the clock that was dead. The countess had chopped it into junk and kindling wood.

PET WAS TROUBLESOME

Cheetah Gave Inmates of African Station a Lively Time.

Some years ago a certain Governor of Uganda came to stay with me at Eseria, writes Capt. J. F. J. Fitzpatrick in the London Evening News. Mine was a small bungalow and self and servants and gear just about filled it, so that his coming rather crowded us.

However, we were used to roughing it in Nigeria, and my guest and I managed quiet well—except for one thing.

That was his pet leopard, or cheetah, I forget which it was. There isn't much difference anyway; the cheetah is longer in the leg, but it has spots and the same friendly tractable character as the leopard. "A dear beast," its owner called it.

For the first few days I saw little of the thing; it had a groom to look after it, and lived somewhere out at the back of the compound. Then one evening when I returned in which to bath and dress and get away to dinner I was met at the top of the steps by the "dear beast."

My guest was out, so was the man who looked after his pet. My own varlets were sitting about in the offing, and I couldn't get indoors because the cheetah wouldn't let me, nor had I at hand any means of coercing him.

It took an hour to find the groom person, and I got no dinner. But my staff notified me through the steward that they wished to resign.

The cheetah, they said, "make too much plenty trubble for we, Sah." And they showed scratches and little holes on themselves, done, they said, by the cheetah. I asked if nobody had spoken before, and the answer was: "We no t'ink dat White Man go stop long for his place." They put up with the cheetah for a day or two, but indefinitely, no.

Next day my guest and I had some conversation about his pet. He said it was incredible, the story of its damages to my staff; a most gentle, loving, lovable creature it was, he said, less ferox than a rabbit. Added that if only I'd walked up my steps the night before and brushed the beast aside it would have purred, and licked my hand.

Our talk was interrupted by a sudden furious flying flurry of cheetah and all the dogs in the station and all the domestic servants also, three last armed with clubs, hoes, spears, rolling pins, any and everything, and all yelling gaily. The dogs were yapping and barking, and the cheetah was making his noise. Right in front of my door stood a tree, and up it shot the cheetah, to lie out along a branch and growl and snarl and make horrid faces at the gathering below.

They're pickin' up the pieces,
With a dustpan and a rake,
Because he used his horn
When he oughta used his brake.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was run down and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by a friend to try your Vegetable Compound. I did, and by the time I had two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all and now I am all right again and do my own work. I have six grown-up children to work for, so I have plenty to do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more."—Mrs. NELLIE JAMESON, 805 East Cannon Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition.

FIRST PAPER MONEY.

Issued By the Intendant Jacques de Meulles In 1685.

What seems to have been the first paper money in Canada, was that issued in 1685 by the Intendant Jacques de Meulles. As there was neither printing-presses nor paper mills in the colony, he used the only suitable paper available, which was playing cards, stamping each with his own seal. This card money came to be issued in such large quantities as to be a nuisance. It was suppressed in 1717, but the need of currency compelled its restoration in 1729. It was henceforth royal money, made from playing cardboard, and bearing the arms of France. The amount of the issue was finally raised to 1,000,000 livres, more than ample for the business of the country. But the Intendant Bigot saw in paper money another opportunity for peculation. It had become the practice to make payment by giving orders on the Treasury at Quebec. This was the form now adopted, and from 1750 to 1760 he issued over 80,000,000 livres of such unauthorized currency. The order or "ordonnance" was printed in blank form on ordinary paper in France, and filled in by the Intendant in Canada.

New South Wales' Wool.

There has been a considerable increase in the wool production of New South Wales during the last three seasons. The total amount produced for the season 1924-25 was 369,118,000 pounds, and for 1925-26, 402,490,000 pounds. It is estimated that for the season 1926-27 the total will be 451,600,000 pounds. This total does not include dead wool, fellmongered wool, and wool exported on the skin, figures for which are not yet available. Last season the total of these three items was 475,750,000 pounds; this season these figures will certainly be exceeded.

QUEER "MAD" HONEY.

Poisonous, Although Made by Bees, Is Very Disagreeable.

In the northern parts of Asia Minor, says a writer in the Manchester Guardian, a kind of honey is to be found which, although made by bees like ordinary honey, is very disagreeable, and when eaten causes dizziness and sickness. It is called "poisonous," "mad," or "Pontic honey." The reason for its harmful qualities has long been a mystery.

Last spring and summer the German entomologists Krause and Bischoff travelled over Asia Minor, and, in the Naturwissenschaften, Krause publishes some of his notes on the nature of "poisonous honey."

He believes that the bees obtain it from the yellow Alpine rose (Rhododendron flavum) and the violet-colored Rhododendron ponticum. Both flowers form part of the undergrowth in the Anatolian forests from the coasts of the Black Sea up to the mountain tops. When in bloom they give out a very strong perfume which —as Krause himself experienced—has a stupefying effect like some narcotic. The flowers are avoided by cattle all the year round, for even the green parts are not free from the sickening perfume.

Their distribution corresponds with the distribution of "poisonous honey." The yellow flower, which is the stronger smelling of the two, is even found on the European side of the Bosphorus.

"Poisonous honey" is often mentioned in classical literature. Pliny even wrote that it came from a plant called rhododendron, thus anticipating Krause's conjecture. In classical times the rhododendron was often confused with the oleander, thus giving rise to the belief that bees obtain "poisonous honey" from the oleander.

The Turks call this honey "deli bal," which means "mad honey," no doubt referring to the state of intoxication and dizziness which it often produces. This state can lead to complete unconsciousness, the awakening being accompanied by sickness and headache.

In the "Anabasis" Zenophon mentions the discomfort felt by the Greek troops after eating "Pontic honey." But the most interesting reference occurs in Strabo, who was born in the year 63 B.C. in Northern Anatolia. In a description of his own home he wrote (ch. III., 18):

"The Heptakometes once slew three of Pompey's armies that crossed the mountains by putting dishes of poisonous honey along the route."

A very early reference to the use of poison gas in warfare.

Trials of Indigestion

Errors About This Trouble Into Which People Fall.

Many people so far misunderstand the digestive system as to treat it like a machine; neglecting it until it works sluggishly, then irritating it into work again by the use of purgatives. The stomach needs help at all times; but a study of the process of digestion will show that purgatives, as commonly taken, are seldom necessary and often harmful.

To understand your digestion the diet must be controlled. Over-eating is always harmful, but one must assimilate enough food to supply the needs of the blood. Remember, the blood has to carry nourishment to all parts of the body and find fuel for its energy. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises. Therefore the sure remedy for indigestion is to build up the blood. If you suffer from any form of indigestion choose your diet carefully and take wholesome nourishment. Above all, start building up your blood by taking a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then under the influence of the new blood supply, your digestive system will respond naturally, your appetite improve and your food will do you good. So begin to improve your digestion by starting to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now.

You can get these pills from your druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

Confirmation at Tyendinaga.
The Mohawk Parish Church was the scene of a happy event on Sunday, October 23rd, it being the occasion of the first visit of the Right Reverend Dr. Seager, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, for Confirmation. One hundred and five candidates were presented by the Rector, Reverend Herbert Pringle. The service was most impressive and inspiring, and will long be remembered by the large congregation that thronged the sacred edifice. Over two hundred received the Holy Communion, the Bishop being assisted by the Rector, and the Reverend A. J. Arthur, M.A., B.D., Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Toronto. During the service the hymn "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing My Great Redeemer's Praise", was sung in the Mohawk language. A feature of the occasion was the use of the famous Queen Anne Communion Service, which is used at services of special importance. This Service is hand made, and of solid silver, and was given by Queen Anne to the Mohawks in 1711. On Saturday evening a dinner and reception was tendered the Bishop at the Council House, after which addresses were given by the Bishop, the Reverend Rural Dean Radcliffe, the Reverend A. J. Arthur, and the Rector. Music was supplied by the Orchestra.

WEDDING BELLS

Hoare—Huffman.
An extremely pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Huffman, Moscow, on Wednesday, October 12th, when their youngest daughter, Georgie Helen, was united in matrimony to Harold Arthur, only son of Rev. A. H. Hoare, Strathcona. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens, autumn leaves, and flowers, by the father of the groom.
Promptly at the eleventh hour, the bride, who was unattended, entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by her sister, Mrs. E. Evans. She looked a picture of girlish loveliness in a gown of white silk georgette, with chantilly lace flounce, and wore a veil of silk tulle with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly roses, lily-of-the-valley and fern. After receiving congratulations, and signing the register, Mr. L. M. Loney, Kingston, sang "Until". At high noon a buffet luncheon was served to seventy guests, in the dining room, which was lovely with Autumn flowers, by eight of the bride's girl friends. The bride's table in pink and white was centered by the wedding cake. After lunch toasts were proposed by Rev. G. McKenzie and Rev. A. Huffman, Toronto, the groom ably responding. The groom's gift to the bride was a guttapercha suitcase, to the pianist a fountain pen, to Mr. Loney a Duofold pencil.
The happy couple left shortly after, amid showers of confetti and good wishes, to points West. The bride travelling in a dress of navy charmeline, with sand hat of felt and velvet, and wore a malaga nebelette coat with seal trimmings. The presents were costly and numerous, among them many cheques.

Scrimshaw—Young.
The home of Mrs. and the late Mr. C. E. Young, of Ernesttown Township, was the scene of a quiet yet pretty wedding, on Wednesday, October 19th, when their daughter, Margaret Myrtle Young, was united in marriage to Leo Alfred Scrimshaw, of Napanee, Rev. W. R. Merrick officiating. The bride, who was unattended, looked very charming in a very beautiful gown, and wore a lovely bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley. The ceremony took place under an arch gaily decorated in pink and white, in the presence of the immediate relatives only. After the usual congratulations and sumptuous wedding breakfast, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for a two weeks' trip to various points.

NAPANEE TALENT AT MOIRA
It is a long, long time since the people of Moira were so delightfully entertained as there were on Monday night last, which was the occasion of the Anniversary Supper, when a troupe of young people from Napanee came and gave the entire program.
The entertainers were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills, Miss Helen Milling, Miss Nina McKim and Miss Grace Hall.
The dialogue rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Mills jollied the crowd from start to finish. The vocal numbers by the Misses McKim and Hall, were both inspirational and humourous, and were well received and applauded. The readings of both Miss Milling and Miss McKim gave the audience a combination of shivers and ecstasy, and the applause greeting them was simply thundering. The real tit bit of the evening, however, was a little play, entitled the "Gathering of the Nuts", and it was some time before the audience could recover from the humourous effect that seized them from this number.
The unanimous verdict of a packed house declared this to be the best program ever put on in this community.
This entertainment brought to a close the best and most successful Anniversary ever held at this church. The finances far outstripped any previous record.
After a very generous vote of appreciation by the Pastor and Stewards to all who worked to bring about such a great event, the National Anthem was sung, and the crowd went home with melody in their hearts.

I. O. D. E.

On Tuesday afternoon, at the home of the Regent, Mrs. W. P. Proctor, the Executive Committee of the U. E. L. Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held a meeting, the purpose of which was to make plans for the November tea. For many years has acted as Treasurer of the Society, a Life Member. In her usual charming manner, Mrs. Deroche read an address, which expressed the gratitude of the Chapter, for the faithful service of their Treasurer, and presented Miss Richardson with a certificate, while Mrs. U. M. Wilson fastened the Life Membership Brooch to the recipient's dress.

During the afternoon two very interesting readings were given by Mrs. Katherine Powell, in a most artistic manner. Tea was served by Mrs. Symington, Vice Regent, assisted by Miss Asselstine, Mrs. Reddick, Miss Light, and Mrs. Fred Laughlin. Mrs. Corkill made a very clever auctioneer at the close of the afternoon, and a few more dollars were realized for the fund which the I.O.D.E. have been attempting to complete this year.

WEDDING BELLS

The bride was attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, of Theresa.

The bride was attired in a dress of Queen blue crepe-de-chine, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore a dress of Fuller crepe-de-chene, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

The couple left on an extended trip to New York City immediately after the wedding breakfast served at the home of the bridesmaid, the bride wearing a blue suit trimmed with grey squirrel, and a matching hat.

After the middle of November the couple will be at home to their many friends at Watertown, N.Y.

CAMDEN EAST WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

On Tuesday evening, October 25th, the W. I. members and some of their friends—about sixty in number—enjoyed a Hallowe'en social at Mr. A. Salsbury's home. About twenty persons were masked and in costume, thus adding greatly to the enjoyment of those not in costume. Whether a person was numbered, and the others were asked to join in a contest—naming the masked. A prize was given to the one having the most correctly named numbers. First and second prizes were also given for fancy and comic costumes.

There was much delightful music on piano and violin. This was very ably provided by a visitor, Mr. Vallandingham, and several other members. Those who enjoy dancing certainly made good use of the music.

About eleven-thirty o'clock the ladies served a lunch, after which more dancing and games were enjoyed by all until time to depart for home.

The following Thursday afternoon the W. I. monthly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. D. B. Amey. A fair number of members and three visitors were present. One new member joined.

Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Amey, of Moscow Branch, were present and gave some valuable help.

After the usual opening of the meeting, a motion was put that our Institute help a very needy family in the vicinity of Camden East. This was carried and plans made for going about the work.

A small sum of money was donated to the street lighting fund of the village.

A guessing contest was taken part in by all present. Mrs. D. B. Amey proving her ability as best guesser.

A paper was then read by Mrs. Smedley, and the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. After the close of the meeting a lunch and social half-hour was enjoyed.

The next regular meeting is to take place on the last Thursday in November, at the home of Mrs. W. Stewart. This meeting is to be in the evening, and we are to invite our husbands and family to be present at a social gathering immediately after the business meeting. Roll call is to be answered by "say, sing, or say".

The death occurred at Mrs. Anne Hunt very unexpectedly, at her home near Erinsville, on Saturday, October 22nd, 1927. Deceased had been in failing health for some time, but her death came as a great shock to the surrounding community.

Deceased was born in East Hungerford, in 1852, where she had lived until her marriage to the late John Hunt forty-three years ago.

RUGBY

P.C.I. 6, N.C.I. 5.

On Wednesday last, Oct. 27th, the N.C.I. rugby team journeyed to Picton to play their annual game with P.C.I. In the interscholastic O.R.F.A. schedule, the P.C.I. are trailing last, and the N.C.I. players thought that it would be an easy victory for them.

In the beginning of the game the N.C.I. line-up looked as nice as it has in former years, but the first half they gained yards repeatedly, and soon Davern crossed the line for a touch. P.C.I. began to tighten up, and before the first half was over Picton scored a touchdown and converted, making the score. In the last half, McPadden was forced to touch, and thus Picton won by a hard fought battle by a score of 6-5.

N.C.I. had the best of the play in the first half. The two outsides, Conway and Exley, were down on the kicks every time, and did some wonderful tackling. The backfield was also very effective, but hard luck brought Napanee defeat.

Every player is practising hard for their return game with Picton, and it is to be hoped that N.C.I. may come out victorious in their next game.

N.C.I. line-up:—Snap, Shorey; inwsides, Deane, MacGregor, Smith, Sinclair, Wilkinson, Kinkley; middles, Way, McGuire, Howitt; outsides, Exley, Conway, Asselstine; quarter, Davern, Gibson; flying wing, Boyes; half-backs, McFadden, Vandusen, Gilbride, Templeton.

D.H.S. 5, N.C.I. 0.

At 3.30 on Wednesday afternoon, N.C.I. again admitted defeat to Deseronto on a wet field. It was raining part of the time, and the wet, slippery ball accounted for the fumbles. Both teams played good football, Deseronto only edging out by a small margin. Several times the latter were within three yards of Napanee's goal line, but they couldn't carry it all over. Courage, kick to the dead line, and a field-goal constituted their scoring.

The local line was the same as in the previous game except that Asselstine replaced Deane, and Deane replaced Asselstine. Both were in their usual form. Every kick and "nailed" their men mercilessly. Eddie May did the kicking like a veteran, considering the condition of the field. Only once was he blocked and Deseronto got possession.

Webster, McVicker and Detlor stood out on the offensive for the visitors, while Shorey missed the ground-gaining bucks of other games, and made a few end runs (that were well-played) which made them their yards when-ever they slipped the opposing tackle. Webster is an exceptionally clever broken-field runner, getting out of sight.

We were unable to get the D.H.S. line-up because the team left town immediately after the game, but the Napanee team was:—N.C.I.:—Centre, Boyes; halves, Gilbride, Vandusen, McFadden, Snap, Webster; wings, Davern (Capt.); ends, Deane, MacGregor; outsides, Exley, Asselstine; middles, Way, Higgins, Templeton, Gibbard, VanLuven, Kinkley, Miller, Gibson, Kinkley.

Referee, Mr. Shoemaker; Umpire, Mr. Campbell (D.H.S.); Headlinesman, L. G. Beattie (N.C.I.).

HAWLEY

Hallowe'en, the opening night of the winter social season, that brings parties and entertainments into the limelight of young people's activities, is always an enjoyable Hallowe'en with a big "P. S." of Hawley variety, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Parks, on Friday evening. The house was decorated with pumpkins and candles as lights; orange and black paper were the additional colors. People gathered together to broadcast jollity and good humor, the chief characteristics being the comic, whose costumes were well chose and nicely suited to the character, undate, and ridiculous side of life together, making a very pretty spectacle. Mr. and Mrs. Parks very ably filled the position as chairman. After the opening chorus, singing of costumes took place. Mrs. Perry Parks won first, as Dutch Lady; Mr. Ernest Woods won the gentleman's prize. The judges were Mrs. M. Dupree and Mrs. W. Hill. They had much difficulty in deciding. The programme continued. After which refreshments were served: All went home, reporting a good time. — Mr. and Mrs. Morley Creighton, Mr. George Creighton's. — A number from here very ably filled the pulpit in union. Scripture reading, John 6: 22-69, by Mrs. Alfred Masten. Roll call answered by a Bible verse. Hymn 223. A report of the convention held at Cressy, which was given by Mrs. S. W. Smith. Minutes of the last meeting by the Secretary. Business of the meeting. Collection $2.35. A paper on "Home Missions" was read by the President. The meeting was then addressed by the District President, Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. P. Anderson, Newburgh. Hymn 263. Scottish Pipers Furnished Charming and Stirring Music Rotarians Know How to Pay the Piper

From the days of antiquity the evening preceding All Saints Day has been essentially a children's date of observance. Hallowe'en is associated in the popular imagination with the prevalence of supernatural influences, and in Scotland is frequently celebrated by the meetings of young people with the performance of various mystical ceremonies. To quote just a few lines from the poet Burns—

"Some merry, friendly, country-folks
Together did convene,
To burn their nits (1) an pou (2) their stocks,
And haud their Hallowe'en
Fu' blithe that night".

(1) nuts; (2) pull.

The Napanee Rotary Club is evidently composed of men of perspicacity as well as of good heart when they chose such a suitable date in the calendar and Hallowe'en to inaugurate the Frolic so successfully consumated on Monday night for the benefit of the crippled children in the Town of Napanee and the County of Lennox and Addington. That the object of the Rotarians to bring aid to sick and suffering crippled children commended itself to the public as well as to the children of the town there is no doubt. As proof of this many thousands of people from far and near, who thronged the Armouries during the evening, generously contributed money drawn from their wealth or poverty to give help to the little ones in distress.

Before the Frolic opened, as a result of the good work done by every member of the Rotary Club, there was $1800.09 in the treasury for the fund, obtained from the sale of tickets for draw-ings on the following articles donated by Rotarians, and won by those whose names are given:—

Unlimited Walrus Bedroom Suite, Harold Carter; Frigidaire, Dr. Dunn; Hall, Kaiser Coal and Wood Range, Blake Sills; Silkville Moffatt Electric Stove, B. M. Blake; Cowell Chair, Miss Jones; Belleville Ten on Hard Coal, Mac Jack Adams, Napanee; Fleury Plough, Victor Landon, Lyndhurst.

Miss Jones, who won the Cowell Chair, generously donated the same to it to the management, and it was auctioned off. The highest bidder paid $29.00 for it, thus adding that amount to the fund.

Mrs. Jack Adams generously donated the ton of coal won by her, for the use of some needy family during the winter.

Goodness! Gracious! Well we have been talking of the goodness of the Rotary Club efforts—its success, and the good works that will follow in its train. Well, now to take up the gracious portion of our theme one should begin to say that words are inadequate to describe the gracious, graceful and kindly manner with which they received their friends who came to play with them in the Frolic. Another gracious and graceful part of their work was the arrangement of the booths and the lighting and decoration of the Armouries. The yellow trimmings with silhouettes of black cats and witches made a very artistic and suitable, as was the great array of pumpkin lanterns.

The booths were well stocked with many varieties of merchandise and were the means of adding forth quarters to add to the fund, whether you won or lost when the wheel stopped. There was nothing more to be desired than the attractiveness of the fancies and salesmen—some local men and others, about thirty of them from the neighbouring village of Kingston—they were one and all good-looking but most of them were picturesque.

The school children assembled on the Market Square about 7 p.m., arrayed, some in pretty and others in weird costumes suitable to the grand occasion, and then to the inspiring strains of the Highland bag-pipes, played by the Pipers from Kingston, they marched to the Armouries, received gifts from the Rotary Club, were inspected, judged, and the winners presented with prizes.

Many of the older children were also in costume, but there were no prizes; there was satisfaction and the admiring glances of their friends. These last mentioned children would range in ages from 35 to 70 years—waist measurements being from twenty inches to fifty inches.

At last report the amount from all sources will be about $3500.00, but due to there be some who would like to make an extra four or five thousand —the books are not closed—nut sed.

The Frolic closed with a most enjoyable dance, music being furnished by Cooper's Orchestra from Picton.

It was a Flag Day in Aberdeen—the day on which Aberdonians are said to stay in their homes [—and a holiday-maker asked of a pretty girl to buy a flag.

"Flag-day," said the visitor, "you did not have Flag Days in Aberdeen."

"Is that why you came here for your holidays?"

The visitor quickly bought a flag and disappeared.

THE LAYING HOUSE

(Experimental Farms Note.)

It has been the custom to allow four square feet of floorspace per bird in the laying house and houses 20'x20' or 16'x32' are recommended for 100 hens. In actual practice slightly less space is often allowed, especially where birds of the lighter breeds are kept. The space required per bird diminishes in proportion as the amount of floor space in the house increases, an area of only three square feet per bird being not uncommon in large houses.

Poultry houses are with very few exceptions of frame construction. As a measure of permanence and cleanliness concrete floors are recommended and if properly built on a foundation of loose stone or cinders to facilitate drainage are most economical in the long run. Where temperatures range below zero a straw loft is advisable since moisture from the birds tends to condense upon the cold roof over their heads and severe colds may result. The straw loft is supported by 1"x3" boards, one inch apart nailed to the under side of the joists and hinged in several sections to allow for easy cleaning and renewal of the straw. A depth of from six to eight inches of straw is sufficient under ordinary circumstances for an efficient loft. As large an area as possible is left open in front to give the maximum amount of ventilation during warm weather. An opening at least four feet in height, and running the entire length of the house is recommended, the bottom half closed in by windows and the top wired and supplied with cotton screens hinged to permit of opening when required. During the hot weather both windows and screens may be removed. The building is single boarded with the exception of back and ends which are single boarded on each side of the studding with building paper between, thus forming a wind proof air space. If the straw loft does not extend over the roosts it is advised that the ceiling be boarded from the back to a point level with the outside of the dropping boards.

Blue prints of a house for 100 hens 16'x32', for a colony house 10'x12' and also a bulletin dealing with all phases of poultry house construction may be obtained free upon request from the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ontario.

TIMELY TOPICS

CONVENTIONS.

Of the making of Conventions there is apparently no end. Conventions of this, and Conventions of that. Conventions for men, women, (and we almost said children), but certainly those of and for young people. Every city of any size at all has them, more or less often, and our great centres have them so constantly that they are almost a steady diet, and unless of unusual numbers or distinction, create no comment. But in the smaller places a Convention means something to the business people. They rejoice! The heads of the local branch of the affair get busy and busier, till a feverishness consumes them. The President is deluged with papers, the Secretary tries to answer at least seventeen questions at once; the Treasurer's desk looks like a major Bank inspection, and various active people are running several ways simultaneously. Then the trains and autos discharge countless strange persons with suitcases (suitcases were invented for Conventioners), and at mealtimes and noon hours the restaurants and stores are clutter-ed up with visitors to the vast inconvenience of the residents. That is one view. But there are other aspects. Also a query. "What Does It All Amount to in the End?"

It was the writer's good fortune to be present at two Conventions lately and, be it noted, for the first time. Both were very different Conventions. The one so saddening in the contemplation of the basic cause of the work to be done, and the other so encouraging and vivifying in its youthful enthusiasm that the contrast was sharp indeed.

The Convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion (Canadian Branch) met in Toronto. Nothing spectacular; no stars in the firmament; just a collection of hard-working women, mostly past their first youth; not wealthy, not distinguished, with lines of thought and care on their faces, and many with the tell-tale Silver Cross of sacrifice; met together from all parts of the Province to discuss the problem of how best to help and safeguard the needy ex-service men and his belongings. And, as one listened to the tales briefly set forth in Branch reports, of poverty and distress of suffering and hardship, and the want of many children—of cases where governmental regulations needed amending to better the conditions of this or that class of persons who must be aided—of the struggles of the blind, and the halt, and the lame, of the mentally afflicted, and the tuberculous, of the temporarily incapacitated from overstrained nerves, and various other things all calling for relief—and so many displaying such magnificent strength of courage and decent pride; that the recital wrung one's heart. And the line of defence strung out to meet these attacks was just these plain, commonsense women, with their homely common sense ideas and aid for the cases to hand, all over the Province, day by day, that make up such an example of need and help. And one looked at them, these women of the men who fought and died for freedom and the Empire, for that is an essential of membership, and felt that practical, tender, wise charity was in very safe hands. And how they enjoyed meeting each other! and the luncheons provided by their kindly hosts; and the music; and the speeches of the various heads of affairs; and how they would return, encouraged and enlightened, to do that work to which they had set their hands.

And then, after a bit, came the other Convention.

The Anglican Young People's Association met in Peterboro', and great was the gathering. From all over they came, these bright-faced lads and girls, with a sprinkling of older heads and clergy as supervisors. But they arranged and ran their own Convention in the orthodox manner and with all due decorum. They discussed this and that problem and we like earnestly and thoroughly. They elected their officers for the coming year with Parliamentary precision, and the speeches and addresses of their young leaders were beyond all praise. At the final Banquet, they chattered, and sang, and laughed like the light-hearted young things they were, yet one could see an earnestness of purpose in their bright faces that augured well for the future. Sir George Foster gave an enlightening speech on the League of Nations and its work, and they listened attentively. But that is to too great an extent, a scheme of older heads, to appeal very vitally to youth. Youth prefers to sing "Fight the good fight with all its might" and when occasion demands, go to it! And this is well. For over-much deliberation in youth is apt to make cowards and compromisers in age, and a regulated militancy calms down into wise firmness. But, when one contemplated their enthusiasm, their courageous faith in life, their whole-souled devotion to the cause they had at heart, one felt that the world was safer, and cleaner, and better for these and similar bands of clear-eyed, practical, thoroughly wholesome young people.

The Conventioners are very worth while after all!

RAINBOW TROUT IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Introduction of Spring-Spawning Trout Will Considerably Extend Angling Season

Angling for speckled trout during the early spring and summer has been for years one of the principal tourist attractions of Prince Edward Island. However the fact that the speckled trout spawns in the fall has kept the trout waters of the province closed to anglers during one of the most favoured angling seasons of the year. Realizing what a valuable asset it would be to Prince Edward Island to have its trout angling season extended for several weeks, an experimental planting of the fry of rainbow trout, a spring-spawning species, was made in Pisquid or Keefe lake in 1925 and another in 1926, with the result that angling for this gamiest of game fish has been introduced into Prince Edward Island.

The plantings were made by the Department of Marine and Fisheries and the fry were hatched in the hatchery at Kelly Pond near Southport, Prince Edward Island. Reports received from departmental officers indicate that the experiment has been highly successful, that the fish have attained a remarkable growth during the two years since the first distribution, and that they have retained all the food and game qualities for which the species is noted. The Inspector of Fisheries for the province reports that up to the end of July this season approximately 100 rainbow trout have been caught in Pisquid lake aggregating a total weight of upwards of 200 pounds. He states they are equal in quality to the best sea trout of the Maritime Provinces and are much harder to land than the native speckled trout of either the freshwater or sea-run strains. The new denizens of Pisquid lake rise freely and are wonderful fighters. One angler had 45 rise to the fly and hooked 11 in an afternoon's fishing. The largest trout caught was a four-pounder, and the biggest catch was 11 in two hours fishing. Six of the latter averaged over three pounds in weight.

Since rainbow trout is indigenous to the western slopes of the Rocky mountains and Coast ranges, as well as to some waters in northern Alberta, the introduction of this fish into the waters of Prince Edward Island has been watched with the greatest interest. The advisability of introducing rainbow trout into other prescribed areas in the province that are more or less well contained and not connected with any extensive system of speckled trout waters is receiving consideration. Certain lakes and ponds in which speckled trout angling has declined or which have become depleted are being examined as locations for future introductions. Depleted areas are preferred as the presence of spring and fall spawning fish in the same waters is undesirable. The results that are expected in Pisquid or Keefe lake have been attained by distributing fish in the fry stage.

Run Down in Health

Why Many Men and Women Are Badly Handicapped

When you are so run down in health that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy your leisure hours, or about right, it is time you looked to the cause. If you do not, a serious breakdown is almost sure to result. In nearly all cases this condition, which doctors usually term as general debility, is due to poor blood—blood that is deficient in red corpuscles. When the blood is thin and weak your whole system suffers. You lose appetite, have no energy, your nerves trouble you and you feel restless.

What you need is help to build up your blood and you should begin at once to make your blood rich and red by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will soon notice the difference in your health by a better appetite and increased vigor. The reason is that the new blood created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stimulates all the organs of the body to healthy activity and so the system gains nourishment and strength. If you are weak or out of sorts, begin gaining new strength to-day by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was in a badly run down condition," says Mrs. J. Potter, of Winnifred, Alta., "when I began using Williams' Pink Pills and they fully restored my health. I strongly recommend this medicine to all weak people."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Very many men," she said, "will be miserable when I marry."

"That depends on how often you marry," he replied, with easy gallantry.

Better the Man with His Eye to the Sky than the Man with His Ear to the Ground

ALL through its long, successful history, General Motors of Canada has had its eye to the horizon . . . listening for what followed, but looking always toward the thing ahead.

And General Motors has seen many of its visions realized. . . .

It has seen a great industry grow up in Canada to supply the Canadian family with a means of transportation to fit its needs and resources, to answer the desire for style, dependability, luxury.

It has seen, in the Canadian Fisher Body plants, the perpetuation of Canadian ideals of craftsmanship.

It has seen, in the General Motors Research laboratories, the development of countless advances and refinements which much of modern motoring comfort depends.

It has seen, in the General Motors Proving Grounds, the proof of principles which are now accepted factors of automobile design and construction.

It has seen the triumph of co-operative purchasing and manufacturing methods with their resultant economies to be shared with the buyers of General Motors cars.

And the eyes of General Motors are still to the horizon . . . still seeking new ways to improve General Motors cars and to place the cars within reach of ever-widening circles of Canadian buyers.

A REAL CANADIAN BREED

PATIENT WORK OF TRAPPIST MONK.

"The Chantecler" Possesses Qualities and Characteristics Most Suited to This Country—No Combs to Freeze —Exhibited First in 1919.

One sunny August morning about twenty years ago a young monk of the Trappist Order was walking through the poultry yards belonging to the monastery situated at Oka, Quebec, writes Beatrice M. Shaw in the Montreal Family Herald and Weekly Star. He was in charge of this section of the monks' farm, and more than a dozen different varieties of the domesticated birds flourished under his care. As he moved amongst them he observed for the first time that in every case the birds of the various breeds came from varying quarters of the globe, and that each one was of a distinct type, had certain distinguishing characteristics peculiar to itself and the country in which it originated. Then the thought flashed through his mind:

"There is no Canadian breed of domestic poultry — none that possesses exactly the qualities and characteristics most suited to this country—why not produce one?"

From that moment the idea took possession of him, and he pondered over it throughout the hours which were devoted to his work amongst the poultry, devoting every spare moment to the study of the rules governing scientific breeding, and deciding on the exact type of bird which should be essentially Canadian in its build, color, habits and character—which should be equally food for table purposes and for egg production.

Experience had taught him that the birds, especially the males, suffered intensely during the Canadian winter through the freezing of their combs. Brother Wilfrid, therefore, made up his mind first of all to eliminate the comb, or to produce a very small, closely set one, with proportionate wattles. Since his own choice as to color lay in the direction of white, he also determined that his new breed should be of that hue. A combless, pure white bird, therefore, of strong, compact build, which should be substantial enough for food and, at the same time, a prolific winter layer, hardy and energetic, able to withstand the rigors of winter and the heat of summer with equal serenity was the ideal he set before himself. The results of his effort were to be seen at Ottawa during the International Poultry Congress, where 100 of the best specimens of the "Chantecler" breed of Canadian poultry were on exhibition.

The Mendelian theory of heredity and reproduction being now universally accepted, Brother Wilfrid worked on those lines in the selection and crossing of his birds. It was in the spring of 1908 that he first put his scheme into operation, mating a dark Cornish rooster with a White Leghorn hen, and a Rhode Island Red Rooster with a White Wyandotte hen, it having been proved that the progeny usually take their shape from the father and their color from the mother. The result of these first matings was that all the hen birds hatched were white, though of rather a dingy shade; only one male bird from the first crossing was used for extending the experiment which, when mated with selected white pullets from the second crossing, produced an ash-colored progeny.

For two years Brother Wilfrid continued on these lines and then introduced a third breed, mating a White Plymouth Rock with those of the pullets he had produced which most nearly approached the ideal he was aiming at. During the succeeding years he continued in the same way, eliminating with great care all poor layers and under-sized specimens. After five years' labor he realized that he was nearing success. The pure white color had become fixed; there was a great increase in egg production, in many of the birds of both sexes comb and wattles were considerably reduced in size; there was more regularity in shape and the breed was improving in vigor and hardiness.

From then until the present day the work has gone steadily forward, and the tiny plant in which the patient monk carried out his initial experiments has developed into a magnificent poultry farm covering twenty-one acres, wherein thousands of "Chantecler" birds are bred and housed annually.

The name "Chantecler" was chosen, as suitable for the breed, from Rostand's play, wherein the famous rooster "turned out the sun" every morning by his resonant crowing. It is composed of two French words meaning "clear singing," and also occurs in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales attached to a renowned bird.

The "Chanteclers" Breeders Association was formed in Montreal on March 1, 1918, and is a flourishing and expanding organization. The birds were first exhibited in 1919; since then they have appeared at shows in Canada and the United States, always being received with admiration and invariably adding new honors to the list already won. The breed was "hall-marked" at the Exhibition held at Ottawa in January, 1923, in connection with the Winter Fair, after which it was honored by admission to the standard of perfection of the American Poultry Breeders' Association.

British Bananas.

One or two attempts have been made to grow bananas in Britain, and at least one of these has been successful.

There is a banana tree in a hothouse at Warwick Castle which yields about a dozen bananas a year. Not a lot, perhaps; but they are of exquisite flavor.

"Do you know," remarked young Simpson, "a fellow mistook me for a waiter to-night. Of course he apologized."

"Did the waiter accept it?" said his friend.

eases added in death to a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious disease,—of communication—of typhoid. They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a bruise, a wire-prick —and where the wound, being thought of sufficient enough for care, careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"Reggie isn't going to marry Dolly after all."

"But I thought he fell in love at first sight."

"Yes, but he took a second look."

Tripper—"I haven't got a watch. How shall I know when my hour is up?"

Boatman—"You're all right, guv'nor. She don't keep afloat much over an hour—she's got a bit of a leak!"

The Oil for the Athlete. — In rubbing down, the athlete will find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil an excellent article. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years, have been using it it can testify to its value as a liniment.

Grocer—"My son—the one that used to help me in the shop here—has gone in for boxing. Won a championship, too."

Customer—"Aye, I remember him. I suppose he'll have won the light-weight championship?"

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

Spare the children from suffering from worms by using Miller's Worm Powders, a most effective vermifuge with which to combat these insidious foes of the young and helpless. It is an excellent worm destroyer, and when its qualities become known in a household no other will be used. The medicine acts by itself, requiring no purgative to assist it, and so thoroughly that nothing more is desired.

Gordon, seven years old, was playing bandit, and for some time had been staggering around as if badly wounded, without actually toppling over as a victim of the imaginary bullets of his playmates.

A neighbour watching the game called to him: "Gordon, why don't you fall down?"

"I can't," answered the boy crossly; "I'm not allowed to. If I had on my old pants I'd have been dead long ago."

Always Ready and Reliable.—Practically all pains arising from inflammation can be removed with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Simply rub it on the sore spot and it is quickly absorbed by the skin. Its healing power is conveyed to the inflamed tissue which is quickly soothed. This fine old remedy is also a specific for all manner of cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. Keep a bottle handy always.

Juliet (home from holiday)—"You know, Romeo, I used to miss all the cows and sheep and pigs and things."

Ernest—"Yes, but you still have me, darling."

Attacked by Asthma. The first fearful sensation is of suffocation, which hour by hour becomes more desperate and hopeless. To such a case the relief afforded by Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems nothing less than miraculous. To help is quickly apparent and soon the dreadful attack is mastered. The asthmatic who has found out the dependability of this sterling remedy will never be without it. It is sold everywhere.

OBITUARY

Mr. Robert English.

There passed away at his home, on the 5th Concession of Richmond, on October 18th, an old and highly respected resident, in the person of Robert English, in his 84th year, after an illness of a year's duration.

The late Mr. English had lived his entire life on the farm where he died. Very early in life he became closely associated with his Master, and lived and died faithful to his convictions.

On the year 1872 he was married to Emily Richmond, daughter of the late John and Eliza Richmond, who with their family of three daughters, survive him. The daughters are Mrs. George Dupree, Mrs. Fred Kimmerly, Mrs. Roy McMath, all of Napanee. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from his late residence on Saturday last, to Napanee Rural United Church, where an impressive service was conducted by his Pastor, Rev. Mr. Batstone, his text being taken from Philippians 1: 21, "For to me to live is Christ and to die is gain." The bearers were George Dupree, Fred Kimmerly, Roy McMath, Earl Kimmerly, Robert Tucker and William Ritchie. The remains were laid to rest in Riverview cemetery.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion combines, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on through the blood, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ENTERPRISE

The regular meeting of the Enterprise Women's Institute was held on Oct. 28th, at the home of Mrs. Irvine Cronk, with the president, Mrs. Olliver, in the chair. There was a large attendance of members, while we had with us the district president, Mrs. A. C. Huffman, of Moscow, also the president of the Croydon Branch, Mrs. Tesker.

A paper on "Making Pin Money on the Farm" was given by Mrs. F. Jackson. Also an excellent reading. A duet was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Mellow and Mrs. B. Covert. Arrangements were made to send again for a large number of poppies.

A vote was taken and it was decided to purchase a clock to be presented to the new Community Hall.

Lunch was served by the hostesses for the day, and the meeting closed in the usual manner.

Sleep and Grow Fat.

One of the quickest ways of getting thin is to go without sleep for two nights in succession. This method is not popular, and most people would rather fast for two weeks. Enforced sleeplessness, however, causes flesh to disappear more than twice as rapidly as ridge-starvation, even though the non-sleeper is on full diet.

A doctor who was treating a man for obesity by the usual diet and exercise method was recently surprised by an amazing discovery. The course of the treatment was unavoidably held up by the patient breaking his leg, and it was feared that the enforced rest would seriously retard the loss of weight, even though the strict diet was kept up.

When, at last, the man, who had had little sleep, was able to get to the scales again, it was found that the rate at which he had lost weight was almost exactly double the rate at which he had lost it while taking active exercise.

Punished the Wrong Lad.

Noticing one of her small boys nibbling at some luncheon in school one day, the teacher called the culprit to the desk. "You know," she began sternly, "that you must not eat during lesson hours." Now, at this moment, you must stand here in front of the class and sit on the bit of it." The small boy did as he was bid, a curious grin overspreading his face. The teacher misunderstood that grin until the last scrap had disappeared, when, from the class, a small boy wailed in tearful accents: "Please, teacher, that wasn't his lunch he was eating; it was mine."

Why Sir Isaac Never Married.

The recent celebration of the bicentenary of Sir Isaac Newton brought to light an amusing story.

Whilst courting, Newton sat, smoking and abstracted, holding the girl's hand in his. Mechanically he used her finger to press down the burning tobacco in the bowl of his pipe.

This was more than the meekest of maidens could endure, so she discarded him then and there. If this is true, it explains why Newton remained a lifelong bachelor.

A Lagar.

"Lagar" is a term that was first applied by the Boers in South Africa to a defensive camp improvised out of ox-wagons. The wagons are arranged in a circle close together, with the baggage piled up between the wheels so as to form a continuous rampart.

To Aid the Red Cross.

Sold for the benefit of the Red Cross and for one day only, a special series of Spanish stamps was recently issued to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Alfonso's accession to the throne.

It is an excellent worm destroyer, and when its qualities become known in a household no other will be used. MARVELLOUS VALUE

It is really marvellous the wealth of good, wholesome, instructive reading matter in each issue of The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. It is a wonderful combination of three great papers: a weekly newspaper covering the news of the world, with the greatest news gathering organization in existence; a family magazine of interest to every member of the family old and young; and an agricultural journal that is worth, alone, many times the price of the paper. Just imagine a combination containing all the above features in a big 72 page paper, and all for the price of the average country weekly—one dollar a year. The Family Herald and Weekly Star is a credit to the newspaper business of Canada, and well deserves the support of all Canadians. It is said to have over a million readers each week.

A word to the wise is sufficient but it is eminently easier to find the word than the wise.

Smartness enables a man to catch on, but wisdom tells him when to let go.

Mr. Bump—"Do you believe in phrenology?"

Mr. Bore—"No. As an experiment I once went and had my head read, and I found there was nothing in it."

MOSCOW

The Moscow Women's Institute held a Masquerade Party at the home of Mrs. Morley Huffman, on Friday evening, October 28th.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Nearly all appeared in costume. Moscow Orchestra played for the promenade, and kept the house ringing with music throughout the evening. A vocal duet was rendered by Mrs. W. Reid and Mrs. W. Shantz.

The prizes were awarded to Miss Jean Curran, Colebrook; Mr. Bowman, Yarker, and Mrs. Wagar and Mr. J. Bell, of Moscow. Community singing was lead by our President, Mrs. J. A. Amey. A dainty lunch was served by the members. Dancing was then indulged in. The Charleston was danced by Mr. Cody, of Toronto, and Mr. Bowman, of Yarker, and was certainly enjoyed by all.

The President on behalf of this Institute, thanked Mr. and Mrs. Huffman for the use of their home, and the good time enjoyed by all. Collection amounted to over $16.00.

Presentation and Address.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 12th, the friends and neighbours of Wesley met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Allen, and presented them with the following address —

Dear Fraser and Ruby,—We have gathered here to-night to express our sorrow at your departure, and to wish you much success wherever you may be.

This, no doubt, is the last time we shall meet in your home, but we will always remember the pleasant times we have spent here in the past.

We regret your leaving us now and hope you will remember pleasantly your associations in this neighborhood. In your new home may you find many true friends and much happiness, and have fewer neighbours when anyone would highly appreciate. While we are losing you, someone else will be gaining good neighbours.

To express our kindly feelings we ask you to accept this purse of money as a token of remembrance from the Wesley friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen thanked the friends for their kindly remembrance, and expressed the wish that they would visit them in their new home. Refreshments were served, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

QUAINT MORRIS DANCES

IS ONE OF THE HOBBIES OF AN ENGLISH VILLAGE.

Tradition Handed Down From "Time Whereof the Memory of Man Runneth Not to the Contrary"—Relics of Paganism.

The perpetuation of traditional Morris dances is one of the hobbies of Brampton-in-the-Bush, Oxfordshire, England. A writer in the Bristol Times describes a visit to the annual fair, held under the auspices of the English Folk Dance Society. As we entered the village after our drive from London, we saw a gathering of people at the end of the street and heard the thin notes of a single fiddle. In the midst of the gathering were the dancers, a "side" of six men, dressed in white, with black shoes and black bowler hats, the latter bound round with parti-colored ribbons the ends of which fell down behind, and decked with a nodding posy of flowers in front.

They were attended by the Fool, a tall fellow, looling the taller for the conical cap, and dressed in white jacket and trousers, on which numerous black or red patches were sewn. His cheeks were thickly daubed with red paint. He carried a bladder on the end of a string, which he brandished about and occasionally brought down with a resounding thud on the back of one of the dancers, and a little red moneybag.

A second attendant, the Cake-bearer, moved about among the crowd. He came up to us as soon we joined the onlookers, and, for one of my friends had been there thrice before, gave us a ready welcome. He was a pleasant-faced man in an ordinary coat and cap and white trousers, with a collecting box slung across one shoulder.

He carried, by its cloth-bound blade, a sword, which impaled a cake in a round tin resting on the hilt, the point being draped with long, colored ribbons and crowned by a knot of flowers. It has been conjectured that this cake is the relic of a sacramental meal partaken of by members of an agricultural community in pre-Christian times to render themselves at one with the forces of nature, and to secure fertility for their crops and fecundity for their beasts. Be that as it may, while we talked with the bearer we dropped each a coin into his box, and had a morsel of the cake.

"It's bound to be lucky," our friend said; and it was evidently no ordinary cake but one possessed of peculiar properties.

When the Cake-bearer moved off we began to watch the six men who, with a bell sun shining down from an unclouded sky, were dancing stolidly and purposefully. Be it said that their general style was rough and ready, without the many niceties of detail and accuracies of time which are observed by dancers are taught and are expected to preserve clear and definite.

They danced as a team, with solidity, rhythm, and elasticity of step, springing well from the ankle, and their knees pattered merrily on the road. Not many dancers, would, perhaps, dance so well if they had been at it continuously since breakfast time, and were to continue during the afternoon and into the evening.

These men, too, were dancing not because it was a jolly thing to do, and good exercise, nor in order to entertain the onlookers, but because to do so was a tradition handed down from "time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," a ceremonial dancing of half-forgotten significance, but of evident solemnity. Remembering this, all their short-comings from the strict canon of the society may be disregarded.

After going through four or five dances in one spot, with one or two Jigs and "Green Garters" for their Morris off, the Morris men and their attendants the Fool, Cake-bearer, and Fiddler, the crowd trailing after them and re-forming, moved off to another spot.

In the afternoon, having broken off for refreshment, the dancers went round the various gardens whither the crowd followed them and were allowed entrance on this privileged occasion. They went through three or six dances, and two or three jigs, and were rewarded with drinks and contributions to their box.

A Bottomless Well.

One of the most curious and most interesting natural wonders to be found in Arizona is Montezuma Well.

This strange lake is located about the centre of the state in an isolated community. The well itself is some two yards across, and, as far as it has been possible to determine, is bottomless.

The water in the well is absolutely clear and pure. It maintains a certain level all the time, which is unaffected by the dryness or wetness of the season. The walls that rise precipitously above these clear waters and reflect themselves as they do, are at one time the homes of a populous community. For this is the very centre of what was once the cliff dwellers' stronghold in Arizona, a primitive people in the midst of civilization.

A Wandering Pool.

The Phantom Pool of Kenfig, the largest fresh-water lake in South Wales, has nearly half a mile towards Kenfig Hill in forty years. At this rate it will take less than forty years for it to reach the nearest village.

BUFFALO RUGS AS SOUVENIRS OF CANADA

Their Royal Highnesses and Premier Baldwin Carried Home Interesting Mementoes

Among the most interesting souvenirs of Canada carried back to England by the Prince of Wales, Prince George and Premier Baldwin were three magnificent buffalo robes from the National Buffalo Park at Wainwright, Alberta. The robes, which were mounted as floor rugs, were actually superb specimens of their kind and were presented to the distinguished visitors during their visit to Calgary by the Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, whose department is charged with the administration of the national herds in Alberta and the Far North. As an expression of the spirit of the Canadian West probably no more appropriate or interesting gifts could have been chosen. In the early days of exploration and pioneer settlement of the prairies the buffalo played an indispensable part. The romance of its tragic disappearance, and of its rescue when on the verge of extinction, through the efforts of the Government, form a story probably unequalled in the history of any other of the great quadrupeds. It is not the least gratifying feature of the success attending the development of the national herds that the buffalo robe, which is unsurpassed among pelts for combined size, durability and beauty, is once more becoming available in limited numbers.

A man who was continually losing his collar-stud while dressing complained to his wife about it. With an ingenuity born of the use of hairpins, she told him that if he would hold his stud in his mouth he would not lose it. This worked for several days, when one morning she was startled by an unusual commotion going on upstairs.

"What's the matter?" asked the wife anxiously.

"I've swallowed my collar-stud!" gasped the husband.

"Well," responded the wife, "you know where it is, anyway!"

THE MAIL AND EMPIRE

Offers this tremendous Fortune to any Man, Woman or Child.
Find the Words Hidden in the Letters of the Word
"CONSTANTINOPLE"

IT'S EASY There is nothing hard to do. And there is Two Thousand Dollars to win. All you need is paper and pencil. It is easy to understand and play this game. Just sit down and see how many words you can make from the letters in the word Constantinople. You will find all sorts of words that can be made out of these letters. For example, cat is one, pie is one, pant is another, and ant, etc, etc. It is as easy as that. It is a game for the whole family. No expert knowledge is needed. All you have to do to win a fortune is to play the game according to the rules announced to-day. IT COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

FIFTY Prizes will be given for the 50 best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of words made out of the letters in the word Constantinople will be awarded first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Observe These Easy Rules

(1) Any man, woman or child who lives in Canada and is not a resident of the City of Toronto and who is not in the employ of The Mail and Empire may submit an answer.

(2) Make as many words as possible from the letters in the word Constantinople. You may use the letters over and over again in different words, but each word must contain a letter more times than it appears in the word Constantinople. For example, you may use the letter "a" just once in each word; the letter "e" twice in each word and the letter "t" twice in each word.

(3) Write your words plainly on one side of the paper and in alphabetical order, numbering them 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address on each page in the upper right-hand corner. If you desire to write anything else use a separate sheet.

(4) Do not use proper nouns, proper adjectives, prefixes, suffixes, abbreviations, contractions, foreign words, obsolete words, combined forms, Scot or dialectic words. Words spelled alike but with different meanings are counted as one word. Words spelled differently but with the same meaning will be counted as separate words. Both the singular and the plural may be used, and both will be counted, provided both forms are listed in the dictionary.

(5) The judges will use Webster's New International Dictionary, the latest edition, as authority, and the largest correct list of words made from the letters in Constantinople will be awarded first prize.

(6) One correct word will be deducted for each misspelled or incorrect word.

(7) In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be awarded to each tied participant.

(8) Only one prize will be awarded to any one household or group of persons. Every list must represent your own effort, and must be prepared by the person submitting it. Lists submitted which cause the judges to believe that they have been compiled by one and the same person will be rejected.

(9) The largest correct list of words prepared according to these rules will win first prize. The next largest correct list will win second prize, and so on until 50 prizes have been awarded (subject to rule 6).

(10) A cash prize of $50.00 will be awarded the first prize winner if no satisfactory entries to The Mail and Empire are sent in. However, the first prize winner will receive $1,000.00 instead of $50.00, provided one new or renewal yearly subscription to The Mail and Empire is sent in. Either city, if not a subscription to The Mail and Empire (either one new and one renewal, or both new, at $5.00 each, paid by mail, or $5.00 per year delivered by carrier in Hamilton or London) are sent in by the first prize winner he or she will be awarded $2,000.00 instead of $50.00.

(11) Renewal subscriptions will not be accepted that extend any subscription beyond January 1st, 1921.

(12) All answers submitted become the property of this paper, regardless of whether or not a subscription to The Mail and Empire is sent in.

(13) Three prominent Toronto citizens, having no connection with The Mail and Empire, will be selected to act as judges to decide the winners and participants, by sending in their answers. The decision of these citizens as judges as final and conclusive.

(14) Prize winners and their correct lists of words submitted to The Mail and Empire who have won $200.00 or more are not eligible to participate in this contest.

(15) Lists of words must be mailed and postmarked on or before midnight of Saturday, December 3rd, 1927.

"The" Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Stanley Sproule last Wednesday afternoon, with the usual large attendance. A very fine programme had been prepared for the occasion, and the reports of the delegates, Mrs. Elgin Parrott and Mrs. Stanley Sproule, from the district convention, Napanee, were very interesting. The pleasant social hour brought the meeting to a close. — A farewell party was given at the home of Mrs. Courtland Snider for Harold Metzler and Miss Margaret Metzler, last Friday night, previous to their departure for their new home in Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Metzler and family will be greatly missed by a large number of relatives and friends. The annual fowl supper held in the United Church dining hall last Wednesday night, was a wonderful success financially and otherwise. The tables were beautifully decorated and laden with delicious eatables, with an abundant supply of chicken. The auditorium was well filled, and all were delightfully entertained by Mr. Cook. Miss Nesbitt favored the audience with two vocal selections, creditably rendered and appreciated by everyone. The door receipts amounted to one hundred and thirty dollars.—Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hamm spent the week end the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Gibson, Lyn.—Mrs. George Watts left Saturday to spend the winter months with her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Ettinger, Kingston. Her many friends will look forward to her returning home in the early spring. — Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Frink and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Robertson spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Joyce, Gretna.—LaGee Mayhew, Exeter, and Archibald Babcock, Muncick, recently visited their sister, Mrs. John Maneur, General Hospital, and spent a few days with their brother, Orange Babcock.—Dr. Arthur Hamm, Denver, and mother, Mrs. Norman Hamm, Bath, spent Thursday the guests of the former's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hamm.—Mrs. Windsor and little daughter, Mary, Rochester, spent the week end with Daniel McConnell, and Tuesday with her cousin, Mrs. James McConnell, who celebrated her eighty-first birthday anniversary in the Hotel Dieu Hospital.—A baby boy arrived last week to make his home with Rev. G. McQuade and Mrs. McQuade. — Quite a number of Odessa ladies attended the Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. A. C. Sharpe, Thursday afternoon, at the Union.

Famous Kings

HISTORY knows no more heroic a figure than Robert Bruce, who by his dauntless courage and military skill ended forever the pretensions of the English kings to the over-lordship of the Kingdom of Scotland.

The Battle of Bannockburn fought on June 24th, 1314, restored the independence of Scotland and established on an English throne a dynasty that has served loyally so well and for which we submit so proudly.

Her Adventurous Night

It Had an Important Result

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Miss Pauline Chester, art student and would be illustrator, stood at the curb of the busy street awaiting a home bound car. Home! She smiled derisively in the semi-darkness at the meaning of the word. Surely the big, bare room, half studio, half housekeeping apartment, was a poor substitute for home. And it was all she now possessed.

She thought as she stood there aside, quiet in the very midst of things, alone, yet crushing her way through the throng to the car, how typical it all was of her present life. Even in the brightly lighted apartment, as she passed down the corridor that led to her room, not one of those whom she met each day might speak a welcome because she had not been properly introduced.

Polly was not sure she would care to know them if she had. They were all such silly, chattering women, overdressed and indifferent; such rude, staring men—all but one. Polly thought of "him" gratefully. Something perhaps in the grave kindliness of his expression, his deferential yet unobtrusive courtesy, brought back the old days in Brookfield.

Each morning he raised his hat as simultaneously they appeared in the corridor locking their doors for the day's absence. Always Polly smiled and nodded, but the man vouchsafed no word. She was glad, and she was sorry—glad that he was very much the man she wanted him to be, sorry that only so alone as she might not have the comfort of an understanding friend.

In despair Polly had added to the cheerless furnishings of her studio the companionship of a cat. He had followed her, this big yellow cat, from some darkened area the night she had bought the fish. After his coveted meal had become a thing of the past Patsy, as she called him, still deigned to remain her friend.

He had, she discovered, certain embarrassing and stubborn tendencies, one of which was to pry into the affairs of his neighbors, so that twice the nice young man across the way had been obliged to lift Patsy gently and place him outside his door.

Both times Miss Chester apologized; both times the young man bowed silently and pleasantly and withdrew. Polly found herself making little sketches of the grave faced man and the yellow cat during times of intermission at the art school.

"You poor thing," she mocked herself one day as she hastily destroyed her drawings, "filling up your head with a man and a yellow cat just because they've been a little human."

It seemed impossible to make a presentable sketch at home, the boys in the fraternity room overhead were so very noisy, while a player piano banged away below. She wondered as she sat through endless evenings just what it would be like to mingle with the gay throng outside, to be with one who could sympathize and understand.

"He" was lonely too. She was sure of that. Among them all he seemed to live apart. At those times when she had rescued Patsy from before his door she had caught a glimpse within of an open book, a half smoked cigar. So he, too, sat each night alone. His eyes, she fancied, were strangely wistful. Or was it fancy? Polly sighed impatiently.

"Always," she rebuked herself, "your thoughts go back to that man."

It was all very ridiculous, so she fell to drawing in earnest. No better subject at hand, she drew painstakingly the yellow cat lying stretched before the fire.

This accomplished, Polly studied reflectively an opposite vacant chair, then with a sudden dimpling smile she bent again over the drawing board. She was so absorbed she failed to notice the opening of the player piano and a gradual growing silence settling over the building.

Raising at last a flushed face, she regarded with much satisfaction her work. The figure pictured in the chair opposite her own was remarkably true to life. The man's form took lazy upon the table beside him, his half smoked cigar in his hand, Patsy comfortably stretched at his feet.

"Twelve," chimed the little clock in sharp, even strokes. "Mercy!" exclaimed the girl, and jumped to her feet. There was something the matter with the lock as she attempted to fasten her door for the night, so she thrust it wide open, intending thus to close it securely. A mysterious rustling sound, as of some person or persons stealthily moving farther back among the shadows, caused Polly's heart to flutter uncomfortably.

Not long ago there had been a robbery in this very apartment. She wished that she were not alone. No light showed from beneath the opposite door, no evidence of "his" presence. In trepidation she reached for the door handle to close herself in where, apparently from nowhere, a man's figure confronted her. A rather good looking young man he appeared to be, though fantastically dressed. Polly's apprehension grew at sight of his close buttoned red sweater and the bandanna handkerchief knotted about his throat. The man snatched a yellow checked cap from his head and bowed. In spite of her fear Polly's face flushed angrily at his assurance.

"If you please," he said, "I'd like to talk with you. No"—as she ventured to withdraw into the room—"I won't keep you long, and I'll say it here.

"My first subject is art. I wish to give you a little dissertation on art"—

With rapidly beating heart Polly waited. It was impossible to follow the excited rapidity of the outrageous young man's flowing talk. Of one thing she was sure, he was insane.

Insane, and she alone on the deserted floor of an apartment building, at midnight. What should she do?

To call out or startle a maniac, Polly remembered, might bring on a dangerous climax. What should she do?

Again, very cautiously, she moved toward the shelter of her room.

"Wait!" cried the young man sharply. "I have more to say to you than this, much more."

In the momentary silence that followed she feared he would hear her frightened breathing.

"I love you," burst out the young man at last. "I love you. For long days have I watched you stealthily, adoringly. All my future is built on hope of winning you. Your love can raise me to the highest paradise, your refusal sends me to the lowest depths of despair. Weigh well, then, lovely maid, your answer—lest I destroy myself in your presence; take care."

Faintly the girl leaned against the doorway. Surely she had fallen asleep over her sketching, and this was but part of a troubled dream. From down the hall came a low, confused murmur.

"I love you," cried the young man again—"I love you." His voice ended in a wail. "Say yes, or I destroy myself."

With a sudden flash of light the door opposite was thrown open; for an instant "he" stood there, perplexed, uncertain—he, the one wise, kind soul in all this dreadful city. Polly never hesitated. "Oh, please," she murmured, and rushed toward him. The man at the opposite room put her aside gently while he caught the wild youth by the collar. "Now," he asked sharply, "what is the meaning of all this?"

Up from the shadows of the long corridor came slowly and silently in their sneaker shoes a dozen men, young men Polly's startled eyes discerned them to be, and for the most part they were laughing or covering their mouths to smother their laughter. Her tormentor of a moment ago was grinning, too, grinning rather sheepishly, as the old man's stern gaze was bent upon him.

"Explain," commanded her protector, "or shall I call the police?"

"Oh, Mr. Lawrence," said a voice, "let us down easy. Maybe we did overdo it a little tonight, but we got pretty gay. It's the fraternity initiation, you know. Bayes, here, was ordered to do a few stunts, had to travel around town all night in that rig and end up with a proposal to the prettiest girl in the building. We picked Miss—er—Chester out as she came in tonight and stipulated the art talk when we'd learned her profession. He had to do it. Don't blame Bayes."

The spokesman's repentant eyes met those of the enlightened Miss Chester.

"Awfully sorry," he said remorsefully. "Any way in the world we can apologize, jointly or singly, we'll do it." His solemn face changed convulsively. "Gee," he laughed, "but it was funny."

Polly drew a long breath, and her champion, still holding the victim of initiation by his sweater collar, looked back at her.

"What do you say, Miss Chester?" he asked. "Shall we have these disturbers of the peace jailed, as we could, locked up for the common idiots they are, or"—

It was very comforting to have a protector. Also it was because of these very idiots that "he" was now her protector.

"We will let them go free," she said. Humbly abject, the initiation committee shuffled away. Amused understanding sparkled suddenly in the eyes Polly turned upon her companion. "It must have been funny for them," she said. But Mr. Lawrence was regarding her intently. There seemed to be in his gaze more concern than such short acquaintance warranted.

"You should not be living here alone," he said abruptly. "A girl like you ought to be cared for in her own home by her own people." The sparkle left Polly's eyes.

"That," she motioned to the bare studio, "is my only home"—she smiled tremulously—"and Patsy all my family." Patsy, seeing at that moment a chance for a neighborly call, darted across the hall, stalking Polly's canary. It was the man who after a hasty chase brought him back to her fireside, and there, forgotten, face uppermost, in plain view, lay Polly's clever sketch.

For long vibrant moments they looked from the drawing back again into each other's eyes, the girl's pale, startled, his glowing with some new emotion, deep, unreadable. Then impulsively he caught up her pencil and with swift steady strokes drew opposite the chair which was his own a slender girlish figure. Fascinated, Polly watched him, and if his pencil was not as skilled as her own the likeness to herself was too true to be mistaken.

Again he raised his glowing tender eyes to hers, then wrote beneath the sketch one word—"Home!" And when the door of his apartment closed behind him Polly caught up the yellow cat. "Of course, Patsy," she said, "it's all a part of my surest adventurous night. Tomorrow it will not be true."

Patsy narrowed his inscrutable golden eyes and purred contentedly, for the "Home" picture was to come true and Polly would be lonely no more.

OBITUARY.

Robert Herrington.

On Friday evening, October 21st, 1927, at six o'clock, there passed away one of the oldest residents of the vicinity of Arden, in the person of Robert Herrington, in his 78th year. The deceased had been a patient sufferer for over two years and had been confined to his bed for some time. He was born in the Township of Camden, on January 28th, 1850, but has lived for more than thirty years near Arden. Fifty years ago he married Mary Jane Sampson. His funeral, which was largely attended, was held on Sunday afternoon, at one o'clock, in the United Church at Arden. The pall-bearers were his two sons and his four brothers. There are left to mourn his loss, his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Ed. Woodcock, of Elm Tree; two sons, George, of Windsor, Ont., and Robert, at home; also five brothers, Henry, Job, William, Albert and John, all of Napanee; and one sister, Mrs. Jas. Carscallen, of Marlbank.

Guard the Children From Autumn Colds

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds — one day is warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by proprietor dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRANSFER ESKIMOS TO INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

Affairs of Natives of Canadian Arctic Now Under Commissioner of North West Territories.

An important change has been made in regard to the Eskimo inhabitants of Canada, namely, their transfer, from the care of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, under whom they were placed in 1924, to that of the Commissioner of the North West Territories, Department of the Interior. The Commissioner is responsible for the general management of affairs in the Canadian Arctic, where all our Eskimos live. Annual expeditions are sent out to the eastern Archipelago, and many officers are stationed in the North who can handle Eskimo matters in conjunction with their other duties. A number of these officers speak the Eskimo language, and are familiar with conditions of life and travel. The protection of the wild life of the Arctic with which the welfare of the Eskimos is inseparably bound up is a direct responsibility of the Commissioner, and it is with the view of benefiting the natives that an investigation is being made of the possibility of introducing reindeer into northern Canada. The transfer was made by Order in Council on August 31st, and is already in effect.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Parish of Adolphustown and Fredericksburgh.

The Bishop of Ontario visited the Parish of Adolphustown and Fredericksburgh on Wednesday last, October 26th. There was Confirmation Service and Holy Communion in St. Paul's, Sandhurst, at 10.30 a.m. and in the evening at 7.30, at St. Alban's Church, a Memorial Window and a pair of Altar Vases were dedicated by the Bishop. The Rev. Arthur Strother was then instituted and inducted as Rector of the Parish. This was followed by Confirmation. Good congregations were present at both services, and His Lordship delivered an earnest and forcible sermon at each Church. Assisting the Bishop in the services were Revs. Rural Dean C. E. S. Radcliffe, Herbert Pringle, W. G. Swayne, and the Rector. A delightful social hour was held in the Parish Hall, Adolphustown, at the conclusion of the services. Brief addresses were given by the Bishop, and the afore-named Clergy, Dr. Northcote and Mr. Cuppage, both of Bath, also spoke. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation. A happy and profitable day was brought to a close by singing the Doxology and the National Anthem.

Presentation and Address

On Friday night, October 28th, the Y. P. S. met at the White Church, had the usual programme and games, and also presented Chas. Saunders, one of the members, with the following address:—

Dear Charlie,—Like Longfellow we feel that we can give you no song in farewell, for we realize that we are going to miss you very much from our small circle.

We can only say the same old sweet thing that we have appreciated your help in our Sunday School, in our Young People's Society, and in the Choir. Also your pleasant smile and optimistic manner have often helped to brighten our way.

We hope you have a pleasant and profitable sojourn away out in the West, when dreams come true, and that you will join us again in work and in play in the near future.

Accept now this remembrance of our appreciation of yourself, and remember you will always be welcome here.

Signed on behalf of Young People of Morven.

Charlie thanked the friends for their remembrance, and hoped he would be able to help them again some time.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Jas. McCarten.

On Tuesday, November 1st, 1927, at her home on Piety Hill, Napanee, occurred the death of Mrs. James McCarten.

Her death was not unexpected as she had been in failing health for several months, yet it came as a shock to her loved ones. She bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude, and died fortified by the last rites of her holy religion which she loved so well.

Ellen McDonald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, was born in Carlow County, Ireland on October 29th, 1853, and came to this country with her parents in her infancy. On February 14th, 1871, she was married to James McCarten, at Picton, Ontario. To this union were born three children, Dr. J. D. McCarten, of Napanee; Mrs. C. A. Cunningham, of Kingston, Illinois, and Mrs. D. J. McHenry, of Lindsale, Ont., all of whom were present when she passed away.

Mrs. McCarten's life was a very busy one, and with her failing sight unable to be interested in the social life around her.

The many floral and spiritual offerings testified to the high esteem in which she held by her friends and neighbours.

Her funeral was on Thursday, Nov. 4th, and was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. Father O'Connor, at St. Patrick's Church, after which her remains were interred in the family plot in the R. C. cemetery.

Mrs. William B. Hough.

The death occurred very unexpectedly of Mrs. Wm. B. Hough, at the home of her brother, Mr. Felix Mellow, in Kingston, on Saturday, October 29th, 1927. Deceased had been in ill-health for a number of years, but her death came as a great shock to the community. Her husband had taken her to Kingston to consult a specialist, and she had arranged to remain with her brother over the week end. While in conversation with him she passed quietly away.

Mrs. William Hough was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Mellow, and was a life-long resident of Sillsville. She was a faithful church worker, having been organist in both church and Sunday School; a charter member of the Ladies' Aid and the W.M.S.; a member of the Ladies' Aid since its organization, and a strong temperance worker.

Surviving are her husband, one sister, Mrs. H. J. Hough, of Sillsville, and four brothers, Felix, of Kingston; Thomas, of Sandhurst; Arthur, of Sillsville; Dr. Frank, of Uxbridge, the brother, Dr. S. J. Mellow, of Port Perry, predeceased her two years ago.

Her funeral, on Mr. Pratt, conducted the funeral services at the house and church, and preached a comforting sermon from the text, "In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you". Miss Mitchell sang by request, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus". The floral tributes were beautiful. Pallbearers were the four brothers and two nephews, Harold Mellow, of Bath, and Harold Hough, Sillsville. Interment was made in Sillsville cemetery.

F. S. Wilson.

The church and community have sustained a great loss in the passing of the late F. S. Wilson, of Napanee. He was a life long member of the Methodist Church, afterward coming into the Union. He was always active in church work, being a local preacher and a Bible class teacher for years.

He was a son of a Parsonage, born in 1854. His father, Rev. Scotch Wilson, as he was generally known, was one of the early pioneers of Methodism.

He was united in marriage with Miss Effie Jackson, daughter of the late Dorland Jackson, who was of U. E. Loyalist descent, in the year 1882, with whom he lived very happy until the passing of his dear wife, five years ago last June. Since his wife's death he made his home principally with his brother, Rev. W. D. P. Wilson, of Belleville.

The funeral service was conducted in Grace Church, Napanee, where he had been a member for many years, by the Pastor, Rev. W. P. Woodger. The address was given by Rev. E. Farnsworth, of Cannifton, who was a personal friend of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Farnsworth, in the course of his remarks, spoke very kindly of the departed.

He leaves to mourn his departure, Mary, their only daughter, now residing in Toronto, the wife of Donald F. Kellner, M.P.; also two brothers, Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., B.D., and Rev. W. D. P. Wilson, both of Belleville.

He was laid to rest in Riverview cemetery, Napanee. The bearers were his nephews: Donald Wilson, Ottawa; Col. H. R. Wilson, Belleville; Dr. J. M. Wilson, Belleville; Dr. John G. Robinson, Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. J. Cline Browne, Toronto; Mr. Harold Holton, Belleville.

WESTBROOK

On Tuesday, October 25th, the Westbrook Branch of the Women's Institute held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. L. Spencer. The Milton Institute members were, on this occasion, the guests of the Westbrook Branch. There were forty-five ladies in attendance. Our own membership was increased by the addition of the names of Mrs. F. Burnett and Mrs. Roblin. The roll call was answered by "My Pull Name." and the varied appellations of some caused much merriment. Presentation of cups and banners was made to Miss Nellie Day and Mrs. G. Gates as prize winners in the contest conducted by the ladies' meeting. Mrs. Simmons, of Wilton, gave a very bright and concise paper on Current Events.

Funeral designs from Miller & Sons, Canada's largest wholesale and retail florist, procured on short notice. Wallace's, Napanee Agents.

Last Thursday evening, about one hundred and fifty people were present at the Championship Public Speaking Contest, in the Town Hall, Napanee. Four girls and two boys, who had each won first prize at different school fairs throughout the district, competed for the County Championship. Their addresses were of such high order that it was no easy task for the judges to arrive at a decision. E. J. Corkill, Public School Inspector, was chairman, and the judges were : J. V. Henderson, B.A., C. A. Shoemaker, B.S.A., and U. M. Wilson, B.A. Muriel Hunt, of Tamworth, won the Championship; George Lockwood, Enterprise, 2nd, and Nelson Thompson, Collins Bay, 3rd. Other speakers were : Marion Winters, Selby; Wilma Furrs, North; Fredericksburgh, and Norma Craven, Bath.

Dr. Stratton was present to present two beautiful silver cups, which he had donated to Junior Farmers of the county for proficiency in stock judging. Harold Brown, Wm. Ball, and Ford Denyes, of Enterprise, composed the team winning the township trophy. The other cup for best judging by young men from Richmond was won by L. H. McCaul.

George W. Hastings, of the T. Eaton Co., Ltd., was present, and in an appropriate address, expressed the interest his company is taking in the work of rural schools, especially in agriculture. He then called to the platform ten boys and girls who had won the greatest number of points at the various Girls' Clubs in this county, and presented each with a silver cup. Mr. Hastings also presented, on behalf of his company, a beautiful gold medal to Muriel Hunt, winner of the Public Speaking Contest.

WEDDING BELLS

Tyner—Beacom.

A very pretty wedding was held on Thanksgiving Day at the home of the bride's parents, Crescent Road, Barrch, Marlbank, Ontario, when Ina Sophie, junior twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tyner, was united in marriage to Cecil Irwin Beacom, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Beacom, Toronto. The Rev. A. E. Oliver officiated. The rooms were decorated with cedar, balsam and red Intersweet berries, and made a very attractive setting for the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a pencil blue crepe romaine frock, the skirt of which was effectively cut into points and caught at the waist with a chiffon and sapphire buckle. She wore pale gold satin shoes and stockings, and carried a bouquet of white and rose carnations intermingled with maiden-hair fern. She wore the gift of the groom, a long pearl necklace.

Her twin sister, Miss Ina Tyner, was bridesmaid, and wore a belgium blue crepe satin frock, trimmed with silver, with beige shoes and stockings, and carried a boquet of bronze mums. Mr. Herbert Beacom, brother of the groom, was best man. Mrs. C. Davidson, sister of the bride, played the Wedding March.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home, Mrs. Tyner looked smart in a printed velvet frock, and Mrs. Beacom, mother of the groom, wore a becoming model of maize crepe.

After the reception the happy couple left for a motor trip through Eastern Ontario. The bride changed for travelling into a fine all wool crepe dress with navy blue needle point coat trimmed with grey fur, and a wood brown velvet hat with a spring of silver.

They will reside in Toronto.

Dewey—Doyle.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Anthony's Church, Centreville, by the Rev. Father C. J. Mea, on October 24th, 1927, at 9 o'clock, when he united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Emma Mary Doyle, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Doyle, Camden East, and Mr. James Joseph Dewey, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dewey, Moscow.

The charming bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Gladys Hamilton. They were ably assisted by Miss Phoebe Dewey, sister of the groom, and Mr. Peter Doyle, brother of the bride.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of navy blue cut-chenille on flesh coloured silk gauze, with silver shoes and hat to match. The bridesmaid wore rose-coloured canton crepe with hat to match. During the ceremony Mrs. James Hamilton sang very sweetly "Because".

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl ring, and to the organist, a white gold bar pin set with an aquamarine, and to the groomsman, a Waterman's fountain pen.

At the close of the ceremony they proceeded to the bride's home, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to about forty guests.

At 6 o'clock the happy couple left for a motor trip to Ottawa and points east. The bride travelled in a steel grey French crepe with touches of powder blue, fancy tweed coat with fox collar, and hat to match. She carried a beautiful grey alligator handbag, the gift of the groom.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, among them a substantial cheque.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey will reside in Rochester, N.Y.

Zam-Buk

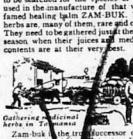
A World Search for Rare Medicinal Herbs.

It is not commonly known that countries so far apart as China and Spain, Japan and England, and Tasmania and France have to be searched for the species of herbs used in the manufacture of that world-famed healing balm ZAM-BUK. These herbs are, many of them, rare and costly. They need to be gathered just at the right season, when their juices and medicinal contents are at their very best.



Gathering medicinal herbs in Tasmania

Zam-buk is the true successor of the herbal healers of Ancient Rome; with this important advantage Zam-buk, in addition to its rare herbal composition, has twentieth-century medical knowledge and manufacturing skill, to bring it to a pitch of perfection probably never equalled in the days of healing.

The different medicinal qualities in Zam-buk are beautifully balanced. Its healing side with the antiseptic, its soothing with the germicidal; it is penetrative yet not too stimulating, and has just the right lubricity for removing superficial swellings, sprains and pains.

Thus Zam-buk is a useful, reliable, and highly-concentrated medicinal dressing always ready to instantly soothe pain, swiftly allay swelling and inflammation, expel deep-seated disease, and grow new healthy skin. Moreover, users of Zam-buk have perfect confidence which alone comes from the knowledge that it is a refined herbal preparation and not an artificial ointment composed of poor-clogging fats and crude drugs.

Zam-buk is invaluable in all skin-ills, inflamed, and diseased conditions of the skin, whilst its swift antiseptic healing makes it the ideal first-aid dressing for burns, scalds, cuts, etc. It is also the soothing remedy for piles. Man of the Family, at Eight

If you were a wee lad, hardly eight, and you hadn't seen your mother or four little brothers and sisters for ever so long, and if you had a pain in your chest all day—well it is doubtful if you would act as bravely and say "How do you do" so cheerily as Bert does—stretched out wanly on his little cot in the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children at Weston.

Bert's daddy has been dead for a long time, and his mother goes out washing—and this wee lad used to help look after the others. He caught a bad cold and might have remained out—as many another little human sendle has been by the chill wind of consumption—but that he was sent just in time to the Queen Mary Hospital for treatment.

Would you not like to help this work to go on, through a contribution to the hospital?

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto 2, Ontario.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost.

Mr. A. O. Norton, the Millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Bonfield, is presently died, was a great "Booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and often he found Zutoo Tablets stopped the headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing :

"My family use Zutoo and never needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

KERSE-SILLS WEDDING EVENT OF SEASON

Popular Couple Married Last Night at Christ Church Cathedral. All Colony Society Present to Witness Event. Reception Held at Home of Bride Largely Attended.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Eyre Kerse, eldest daughter of the late Mr. George W. Kerse and Mrs. Kerse of this city, to Mr. Roy Almon Sills, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sills, Gretna, was solemnized last night at half past eight o'clock in Christ Church Cathedral, the Very Rev. Dean H. Gibson Peacock and Canon William Watson officiating.

The pretty Church was artistically decorated with white flowers, the chancel being covered with palms and calla lillies, while the windows were banked with white carnations. The pews were adorned with clusters of white flowers and smilax tied with chiffon ribbon. The pillars were entwined with garlands of evergreen and vases with lillies were everywhere.

Mr. C. C. James, the organist, played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the party entered and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as they came down the aisle. During the ceremony the choir under the direction of Mrs. B. C. Allison, sang the choral parts of the service. There was an obligato for the harp also, and altogether the wedding was one of the most beautiful we have ever witnessed.

As the couple pealed forth the wedding march, the ushers entered two by two. These were Messrs. Frederick Allison, Gilbert Grant, and James Williams and Harry Paterson.

After them came slowly up the aisle Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, followed by Miss Jean Watson. Then came Miss Stella Carr, and after her Miss Millie Kerse. These were the four bridesmaids, then came the maid of honour, Miss Lottie Kerse.

All eyes were centered upon the bride as she entered, escorted by Mr. Alfred Main, who gave her away.

The bride was regally handsome in a gown designed by Paquin of Paris. It was most unusual, as it was quite long, of a lovely transparent white velvet, which needed no trimming. The long bodice was slightly bouffant and a court train hung from the shoulders. The sleeves too were long and the neck high, only a "V" going cut in front. The tulle veil was fastened to the head with a rose point tiara and was very becoming. A bridal bouquet of white lillies completed this exquisite costume.

The maid of honour looked very pretty in a jade green georgette frock made with demi-train and quite full in the skirt, with bateau neck and no sleeves. A green tulle veil with cream lace tiara and a bouquet of red roses gave a most artistic effect.

The four bridesmaids were very lovely in Alpine green, their costumes exactly like that of the maid of honour.

Even the Dean and the Canon who officiated were splendid bridegroom vestments of gold and crimson for this special occasion.

Contrary to the usual custom of going to the Vestry to sign the register, it was signed before the bridal party left the Altar and the procession which came down the aisle was most impressive and attractive.

Several pews were set apart for the members of the official family who attended. There were noted H. M. Minister Mr. Esmond Ovey, the American Chargé d'Affaires and Mrs. Schoenfeld, the American Consul General and Mrs. Weddell, the British Consul General and Mrs. Brown and many other members of the Diplomatis Corps.

The Church was crowded to the utmost with the numerous friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The home of the bride was made beautiful by her artistic friends, Mrs George Watson, and a number of assistants, making the place a bower of white flowers. In one corner of the drawingroom where the happy pair stood to receive the congratulations of their friends, smilax and white roses, draped back with tulle made a fitting background. The fire place was also banked with smilax and white roses, while the stair way was decorated with garlands of ex-eyed daisies and smilax and the doorways were similarly adorned.

A delicious buffet supper was served in the dining room where of course the chief attraction was the bride's cake which was all in white and silver with wreaths of smilax.

The table was also decorated with a basket of white tulle in which a miniature bride did the honors.

Upstairs there was a "sitting out room", and one room was entirely devoted to the many beautiful gifts which the bride had been showered. There were substantial cheques, silver, cut-glass, a wonderful antique chest, a handsome silver toilet set, pictures and telegrams and cables galore, all of which bore ample testimony of the popularity of both bride and bridegroom. A cable from Mr. and Mrs. Sheffield and their son was received yesterday afternoon.

There was not room for dancing, but an excellent orchestra played during the evening.

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sills will reside in this city.

The Civil Wedding.

The civil marriage of Miss Kerse and Mr. Sills took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hutchison, on Wednesday, the 19th instant, the witnesses being Mrs. George Kerse, Mr. R. D. Hutchison, Mr. A. B. Macpherson (brother of Mr. Jack Macpherson, Napanee), and Mr. E. J. Joint—El Universal, Mexico.

Miller's Worm Powders are complete in themselves. They not only drive worms from the system, but repair the damage that worms cause and tone and vigorate the constitution that it speedily recovers from the disorders of the digestion that are the result of the work of these parasitic intruders. They do their work thoroughly and strength and soundness follow their use.

A prominent musician proposes a novel test for those intending to marry. He would have the bride-to-be handed a $10 bill with instructions to purchase music to that amount for the future home. If she brought back a list of music dealing with love, home, country or mother, well and good. But if she arrived with a lot of "hot jazz," "lullaby" and "blues and sedition rhythms," let her prospective mate "find the nearest exit and keep on going."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical profession as one of the most healing agents for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Have you ever about Pepsi Pepsin, a scientific preparation that up its pastille form, provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain chemical ingredients which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapour, and are breathed down the throat to the lungs. On reaching them, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and thus relieve and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

While no liquid or solid can get to the lungs or air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and healing commences.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"Such rigs aren't worn! Had they been seen,"
Said grandma with a frown,
"Dressed up as now when I was young They'd have got a dressing down."

Sores Heal Quickly.—Have you a persistent sore that refuses to heal? Then, try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the dressing. It will stop sloughing, carry away the proud flesh, draw out the pus and prepare a clean way for the new skin. It is a recognized healer among ills and numbers of people can certify that it healed where properly applied.

Told by Mr. Theodore W. Kock, Illinois, at the annual dinner of the Library Association in Edinburgh.

"How do you like Prohibition?"

"It's worse than the war, by all."

No Relief With Asthma. Asthma usually attacks at night, the one time when relief is needed most. Hence the loss of strength, the nervous debility, the loss of flesh and other evils which must be expected unless relief is secured. Fortunately relief is possible. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has proved its merits through years of service. A trial will surely convince you.

Many a man who knows enough to come in out of the rain allows himself to get soaked in the stock market.

The Vicar—Ah, Mrs. Miggs, I too, have had to pinch all my life to make both ends meet.

Mrs. Miggs—Lor', sir, ain't it lucky you were never caught."

For Sprains and Bruises.—There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain, will cool the inflamed flesh, and draw the pain. It will take the ache out of a bruise by counteracting the inflammation. A trial will convince any who doubt its power.

Parent—So you desire to become my son-in-law, do you?

Suitor—No, sir, I do not; but if I marry your daughter, I don't see how I can get out of it.

A safe and sure medicine for a child troubled with worms is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Made Her Baby Plump and Well

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit conferred upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak enthusiastic terms of them. For instance, Mrs. Zepherin Cote, Three Rivers, Que., writes :—"Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to regulate the baby's stomach and bowels, and make him plump and well. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all mothers to do likewise." Most of the minor ailments of childhood arise in the stomach and bowels, and can be quickly banished by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets relieve constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, allay teething pains and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are safe even for the youngest and most delicate child. Leiv Ericsson, However, Was First to Land In Newfoundland In the Year 1002—Also Visited Nova Scotia—Other Voyages.

The discovery of North America is credited to men who, together with Erik the Red, settled in Greenland. The first man who sighted the shores of America was not Leiv Ericsson, but Bjarni Herjulsson, whose father, Herjulv, had settled in Greenland at a place on the western settlements, which is named after him. But the proper discovery of America belongs to Leiv Ericsson, the son of Erik the Red, and to his brother, Tyrvald Ericsson, and later on to a man of the same family, Torfinn Karlsevne, says Prof. A. W. Brogger, of the University of Oslo.

Bjarni Herjulsson was, according to the saga, a very promising man. He had taken to foreign voyages from his youth. This brought him both wealth and reputation. Bjarni soon had a trading ship of his own. He arrived at Iceland in his ship in the summer of the same year in the spring of which his father had sailed away to Greenland (986). At news of this Bjarni was much perturbed and would not discharge his cargo. When his crew asked him what he meant to do, he replied that he would take his ship on to Greenland.

We are allowed to reconstruct his voyage in the following way:

He sails from Iceland in the year 986 and is met by a strong northerly gale. He struggles against it for some time and, despairing too long the moment for heaving to, is forced to run before the wind. He is driven to the Newfoundland Banks, where he runs into fog.

Lowering sail, he drifts for some time.

The first land he has sighted is somewhere on the Barnstable Peninsula in the neighborhood of Cape Cod. Now Bjarni is entirely taken up with the idea of getting to Greenland. From the attitude of the Pole Star or the midday sun and the difference in the length of the day he is quite sure that he is too far south. Sailing, therefore, on a course slightly to the northeast, he sights in two days another land, the southwestern projection of Nova Scotia. This is not the least like Greenland, and he sail away again on the same course, likewise he sights some part of the the south coast of the Avalon Peninsula of Newfoundland, and at last he reaches Greenland.

When Bjarni came to Norway he told the story of his voyage in which he sighted strange lands, but people thought him lacking in natural curiosity, since he had nothing to report about those countries. But there was much talk of exploration. Leiv Ericson went to Bjarni Herjulsson and purchased a ship from him and engaged a crew of thirty-five men. He went on board with his companions to Greenland.

In the narrative about the expedition of Leiv Ericson we realize that Bjarni had been planned as a task of exploring the countries which his friend Bjarni had seen. At first they found the country which Bjarni had seen but they sailed close to the land, and, having dropped anchor and lowered a boat, they went ashore and made several notes about the land.

Thereupon they sailed away and discovered the second land. It was a low-lying and wooded land, and wherever they went there were wide stretches of white sand, and the slope from the sea was not abrupt. This he named Markland; that is, woodland.

Again they sailed, and after two days saw new land. Here they entered a sound between a cape and an island and went ashore. They stayed here days to make further investigations. Leiv says they gathered vines and grapes and cut wood to make a cargo for his ship. In the spring they made ready and sailed away, and Leiv gave the country a name according to its resources and called it Wineland. After this they put to sea, and the breeze was fair till they sighted Greenland and the mountains under its glaciers.

After the expedition of Leiv Ericsson in 1002, we know of two more voyages of exploration from Greenland to Wineland, both of them with the intention of colonizing the new land. The first was undertaken by Torvald, the brother of Leiv Ericsson, and he stayed in North America for three years, between 1104 and 1007.

Lastly, Torfinn Karlsevne went out, also for three years, about the year 1020. He evidently went as far south as Long Island Sound, which he called Straumsfiord. The most important result of his expedition was the meeting with the aborigines, the Skralings, probably a people of an Indian tribe. The unhappy fate of his expedition may have been the main cause of the abandonment of the task of colonization. It had proved a failure.

Nevertheless, the discovered lands must have been of some importance to the Greenlanders. In the year 1347, that is more than 200 years afterward, we are told in the Annals that there arrived in Iceland from Greenland a ship which struck the coast of Markland, but on the way back to Greenland had been driven by stress of weather to Iceland. Probably no unique enterprise is here chronicled. It was but an accident that occasioned the visit of the ship to Iceland, which preserved this voyage from oblivion. But it is logical to suppose that this ship had been to Markland for timber for the Greenlanders.

How Accurately Can You Guess?

Interesting Contest Planned for November Shoppers

How Many "Stitches" Are There in This Sweater Coat?

How accurately can you guess? Here's a splendid opportunity for you to test your ability. Substantial prizes will be given to the winners.

To make sure of the correct number of stitches in the "Contest Sweater", the manufacturer had one of their most trustworthy employees count the stitches in the most scientific manner possible. He is the only man in the country who knows, and his actual count is enclosed in a sealed envelope attached to the sweater.

Seals on the envelope will be broken by the judges after the contest.

Contest Sweater will be on display in our Display Windows. Read the rules for the contest.

TAMWORTH

County Orangemen held a memorial service on Sunday last at Tamworth in the United Church. Bro. Rev. I. N. Beckstead preached to a large audience on "Canada, the Land of Opportunity," showing the necessity of loyalty to Protestant institutions, with special reference to the Church and the Orange Association. After the service in the church, there was held a further short service at the Soldiers' Monument, when Mrs. John Copeland placed a wreath at the foot of the monument. A hymn was sung and prayer offered.

Miss Helen Beckstead, of Ottawa, was home for Thanksgiving with her parents, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead.

Christ Church Anglicans held their annual fowl supper on Wednesday evening in the Town Hall. The supper was followed by a popular programme of recitations, music, and a short dramatic piece. Both supper and entertainment were largely attended.

Rev. Mr. Poston, of Christ Church parish, is removing from Tamworth to Lyndhurst, after a successful pastorate of several years.

The Jubilee Singers are billed to give a concert in Tamworth on Friday, 18th inst.

"Very many men," she said, "will be miserable when I marry."

"That depends on how often you marry," he replied, with awful gallantry.

Merrick, of Morven, preached a very practical and timely sermon, which will be remembered for a long time, and the people will be glad to welcome Mr. Merrick any time he visits Camden East. The fowl supper on Monday evening was highly successful, realizing the sum of of $100.00.—The W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. J. Yeomans on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, with a good attendance, and a delicious lunch was served at the close. — Mr. George Simkins and sister, of Odessa, spent Sunday last with Mrs. Sarah Amey.—Miss Marion Hawley and Miss Celia Oster, of Kingston, spent Thanksgiving with their parents. — Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, of Rochester, N.Y., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Amey.—Mr. R. VIOLET WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of the Violet Institute was held on November 3rd, at the home of Mrs. William Close. The meeting was opened by singing the Institute Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll call was answered by a suggestion for a useful and inexpensive Christmas gift. The minutes were read and adopted.

The programme was presented by several of the Odessa Institute members, which was enjoyed by all. Miss Helen Sproule favored us with a humorous reading, which was followed by a duet by Mrs. Jas. Dawson and Mrs. Stanley Sproule. A splendid reading was then given by Mrs. Shelley Denyes on the duties of Institute members in the form of commandments. Mrs. Courtland Snider gave a splendid paper on hospitality, and a solo by Mrs. Walter J. Snider was beautifully rendered. A paper was given by Miss Willana Clark on saving steps in the kitchen, and a very funny reading was given by Mrs. Nelson Smith.

We then had a very interesting demonstration of inexpensive Christmas gifts by Mrs. Clarke Bates, which held the interest of all. Our Institute then made a start on a quilt in a way of showing our appreciation of a hearty vote of thanks was made to our Odessa friends for the effort put forth to make our afternoon a success.

A dainty lunch was then served by the Lunch Committee, and everyone enjoyed a social half hour.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Sagar.

DORLAND

Notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather on Wednesday evening of last week a motley collection of spooks, witches and kindred companions found their way to the Ladies' Aid masquerade party. The schoolroom of the church was tastefully decorated with black and yellow streamers, hideous black cats, and grinning jack o' lanterns. A great variety of costumes were present. Cleopatra, resplendent in glittering jewels, rubbed shoulders with a poor old hunchback. The queen of hearts, the queen of the night, a dreadful red imp, a hooded representative of the K.K.K., chilly looking spooks and lively lassies in various bright colors mingled with stout men and ladies dating back to 18—?, while a most awesome witch was ensconced behind some corn stalks in a shady corner. After enjoying a few stunts and listening to a couple of chilling ghost stories, a merry evening was brought to a close with sandwiches, pie and coffee. — There will be no service here next Sunday, owing to the anniversary services to be held at Conway. — We were very sorry to lose Mr. George Arnold and family from our midst last week; they have moved to Hawley. Two more families are leaving in the near future: R. J. Allison is holding a sale on Tuesday and Roy Smith on Thursday. — Mr. and Mrs. J. Magee are visiting their daughter, Mrs. F. Vanest, Enterprise.—Mrs. Wm. McCrudden and children are spending some time in Kingston.—The cheese factory is only working every other day this week.

BETHEL

The recent snow storms and cold change in the weather makes one think that winter is near, but all are looking for milder weather soon. — A number from this neighborhood attended the fowl supper in the United Church Hall at Camden East, on Monday night last, and all report a very successful entertainment, with plenty to eat and a good programme. — Miss Jessie Hamilton, of Oshawa, spent Thanksgiving week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hamilton. — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Simmons, of Bickwell's Corners, spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson.—Miss Dorothy Redden, of Yarker East, is the guest of her friend, Mrs. Francis Dunn.—Mrs. Levi Salisbury is slightly improving, which we are pleased to hear, and hope she may continue.—Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Sutton and daughter, Navpiene, spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freeman and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, at Wm. Jackson's.—Mrs. Percy Galbraith and baby, Marie, have returned to their home, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Jack Adams, of Dunnville.—Mrs. C. McKnight and son spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McKnight. — Mrs. Robt. Galbraith spent Sunday with her brother, Wm. Jackson, and family.—Miss Iva Clark has been laid up for some time, suffering from a sore foot, caused by running a rusty nail into it.

SILLSVILLE

A gloom was cast over our community when it became known that Mrs. Wm. B. Hough had passed away. Mrs. Hough had been in poor health for several years, and at times was a great sufferer, but for the past few weeks she appeared to be improving, and was able to get out a few times. On Saturday afternoon she, with her husband, motored to Kingston on a visit to her twin brother, Mr. Felix Mellow. She had enjoyed the beautiful drive and was chatting merrily with her relatives when she suddenly passed away. She leaves to mourn, besides her sorrowing husband, her only sister, Mrs. Duncan Hough, and four brothers, Thomas, of Sandhurst; Felix, of Kingston; Arthur, of Sillsville, and Dr. Frank E. Mellow, Uxbridge, Ont. An older brother, Dr. S. J. Mellow, predeceased her nearly three years ago. The remains were brought to her home in Sillsville, and the funeral was held in Sillsville United Church, her Pastor, Rev. Mr. Plant, speaking very kindly of her beautiful Christian character. For many years she was organist of Sillsville Church, only giving it up when her health failed. She was also an active Epworth League member, a member of both the W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid.

Another lady, Mrs. Jas. McCarten, a former resident, passed away at her home in Napanee. Mrs. McCarten had many warm friends among her old neighbors in Sillsville, who were very sorry to hear of her passing, and their deepest sympathy goes out to her sorrowing loved ones.

Dr. Frank and Mrs. Mellow, of Uxbridge; Mrs. S. J. Mellow and daughter, Mrs. M. Letcher, of Port Perry, attended the funeral of Mrs. W. B. Hough. Among others from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. Mellow, Deseronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mellow, Enterprise; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mellow and daughter, Mrs. Laura Parks and Mildred; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mellow, Gretna; Mr. Bismark Edgar and Miss M. Hough, Gretna; Mrs. A. Jayne and son, Wm., Mrs. Wagar and daughter, Mrs. Chas. Hambly, Miss Ida Asselstine and Miss Helen Milling, all from Napanee, and Mr. Bailey Ham, Morven.

Mrs. F. Creighton spent a few days with her son, Morley Creighton, recently.

The W. M. S. meeting recently held at the home of Mrs. Sharpe, was well attended.

Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Charters a few days ago, and after spending the afternoon sewing for Ladies' Aid profit, it was decided to hold a pie social in Sillsville Town Hall, on Friday evening, Nov. 11th. A good programme and plenty of pie and other refreshments are promised.

I'll tell you why I'm going to buy a Westinghouse—

"Those new Westinghouse Sets are great! I was over at Bill's last night to hear the radio he's been talking so much about. Oh boy, its some set. There's as much difference between it and an ordinary set as there is between a car and my old bus.

"When you think it over, it's just what you'd expect from Westinghouse. They were the pioneers of both Alternating Current and Radio, so you'd expect them to build the most advanced models operating on the lighting circuit.

"And another thing, Westinghouse have selected the most competent radio merchants known as Westinghouse Dealers."

We will gladly demonstrate the 1928 Westinghouse models and explain the many improvements that make them better.

TELL THE WORLD

YOU'RE PROUD TO LIVE IN

NAPANEE

Surely, you have all the reason in the world to be thankful you live in Napanee. Your commercial interests are here. Your social interests are here. Your prospects here are far more promising than they would be anywhere else. Nary a cloud hovers on the horizon of your future. Could things look any brighter?

Compare Napanee with New York, Chicago, or any of the larger centers of the country. There it is—"Everybody for himself. Get what you can and the best o'luck." It's hustle, hustle every minute with never a thought or a kind deed for a neighbor's welfare.

How different the spirit is here. Your neighbor's interests are your own. He thinks—"What can I do to please others? What can I do to help improve the town, help it grow and make it a better place in which to live? Your thoughts are the same. And through your actions, and his actions, Napanee has become the best place in the world.

Population doesn't make a great community. It's the spirit of those who live in it.

So, do a little "Oral Boosting." Tell the world you're mighty happy to be here.

We, the undersigned professional and business interests, are doing our share by advertising the fact.

Do yours, by "WORD OF MOUTH."

A thermostat operates automatically, keeps the heat at a constant, even temperature. In fact, the Just-Rite looks after itself!

Visit our showrooms for a demonstration. Our salesman will point out the many features that make the Just-Rite a better burner. Compare it with other burners—we welcome comparison. Compare the price! You'll agree that the Just-Rite is a better burner at half the cost.

FEEDING COWS FOR WINTER MILK PRODUCTION

(Experimental Farms Note)

The aim in feeding for winter milk production is to produce the greatest amount of milk and butter at the least possible expense. In order to do this we must imitate, as closely as possible, conditions during the early summer, when there is abundance of palatable, succulent feed.

The ration must be well balanced. That is, there must be sufficient protein to balance the carbohydrates. Legume hay is usually the cheapest source of protein. Therefore, the dry roughage should contain a liberal allowance of concentrates. Concentrates are usually the expensive part of the ration. Therefore, in feeding concentrates, each cow should be fed individually. The amount it will pay to feed will depend partly on the price of concentrates as compared with roughage and partly on the amount and quality of milk each cow is producing.

At the Fredericton Experimental Station the cows are fed all the mixed clover and timothy hay they will eat with from 25-40 pounds of corn silage or up to 50 pounds of roots. Heavy producers are fed 1 pound of grain for each 3½ pounds of milk. Medium producers are fed 1 pound of grain for each 4 pounds of milk that they produce. The grain ration fed is composed for the most part of 1 part bran, 1 part crushed oats, 1 part linseed meal and 2 parts brewers' grain, and 1 per cent of salt is added at mixing.

If should always be borne in mind, that cows will not make the most profitable use of feed consumed unless they are in and watered regularly, given comfortable quarters and allowed to exercise each day.

STORING EQUIPMENT

(Experimental Farms Note)

Preparing the bees for winter and putting them away in cellar or packing case is not the only work that demands the beekeeper's attention in the fall. In addition to the bees there is a lot of valuable equipment that requires careful storage during the winter if losses are to be avoided. The most valuable asset a beekeeper can have, outside of his bees, is a good supply of drawn combs, but if these are not carefully protected when not in use on the hives they may be totally destroyed by rodents or wax moth larvae.

The best method of storing combs is to place them in supers and then stack the supers one above the other in tiers with a queen excluder or inverted hive cover beneath and another cover on top of each pile, this will save the combs from the ravages of rats or mice. To prevent damage from wax moth the supers of combs should be scored in some untreated building for the winter. Wax moth will not develop in low temperatures and 21 degrees of frost will destroy them without harming the combs. Any unused foundation is best wrapped in paper and stored in tight fitting boxes. Foundation should not be exposed to low temperatures as it becomes very brittle when cold and is easily broken. Other equipment to be put away includes supers, floor boards, covers and empty frames should of course be stored under cover where it is convenient to do any work that is necessary to them during the winter. The extractor, honey tanks, capping melter and honey pump should be thoroughly cleaned and kept in a place for winter to prevent rusting, etc. Proper care and storage of equipment when not in use retards deterioration and reduces cost of production.

Tone Up The Blood And Nerves Now

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Have No Equal for This Purpose

Anaemia, or lack of good blood causes not only pale faces and white lips; it is the root of many pains and miseries. It is the cause of shattered nerves, headaches and backaches, and the always tired feeling from which so many women and girls suffer. To regain new health and strength the blood should be enriched through the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine has brought new health and strength to thousands of weak despondent people.

Among those who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. Gregory J. Murphy, East Ship Harbor, N.S., who says:—"I bless the day I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began their use I was in a run-down and very weak condition. The least exertion would leave me breathless and tired out. Housework was a trial, and at times I felt very despondent. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got six boxes. I had not been taking the pills very long until I began to improve in health, and continuing their use they restored me to my former good health. I also gave the pills to my daughter, who was anaemic and run-down, with the same good results. Now I always have the pills in the house, and would not like to be without them."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist, to-day, or send 50 cents to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you post paid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood", which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.

Address and Presentation

On Thursday evening, October 27th friends and neighbours of Switzerville met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Craig, and presented them with the following address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Earle Craig.

We have taken this liberty of coming to your home this evening because we have recently learned that you are about to leave our neighborhood to reside in your new home at Morven. We are always sorry when these changes mean the losing of friends; yet we are glad that you are not going far away. Yet, before you go away we, your neighbours and friends desire to express our appreciation of what you have done and for what you have been while residing in our midst. This desire has led us to review the past years which have passed so quickly by, and in doing so have been led to realize that you have always sought to make a worth while contribution to the welfare of our community by your efficient labour and industry. Not only as citizens, but also as members of our church. You have served as various opportunities have presented themselves to you. In our Sunday School, Young People's Society, and in the congregation, unselfishly and loyally you have served the great and worthy cause of our Church. Therefore, we feel constrained to ask you to accept this lamp as our humble expression of our hearty appreciation of your services, and our very best wishes for your future happiness and success. May its bright light ever assure you of our goodwill through all the coming days.

Signed on behalf of your many friends.

STANLEY WATTERS.

MRS. E. PETERS.
JOHN T. WILSON.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig thanked the friends for their kindly remembrance, and expressed the wish that they would all visit them in their new home. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Morven W.M.S.

The Thankoffering meeting was held on Monday evening, with the President presiding. The meeting opened with the Watchword, followed by Hymn 296, and prayer by Rev. W. R. Merrick. The roll was called, at which many expressed thankfulness. Miss Ila Hart gave an interesting reading, while Rev. and Mrs. Merrick and Mr. F. Gausden sang appropriate selections. The address of the evening was given by Mr. George Kinney, Kingston, a student at Queen's, who, in a very descriptive and entertaining manner, told of his summers work in Southern Saskatchewan. The evening's offering amounted to thirty dollars. Delicious refreshments were served.

WEDDING BELLS.

McAvoy—Clark.

St. Gregory's Church, Detroit, Mich., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday morning, November 5th, 1927, when Miss Kathleen G. Clark, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Clark, Detroit, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. William Basil McAvoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McAvoy, of Napanee, Ont. Reverend Father Polkrefka solemnized the ceremony and read the nuptial mass.

Mr. McAvoy has been an employee of the Highland Park State Bank for the past four years, which has won him a wide circle of friends. The popularity of the young couple has been greatly expressed by the numerous good wishes and valuable gifts received from their friends. — Detroit Free Press.

RUGBY

On Thanksgiving Day the N.C.I. football squad received two more trouncings, both within the same day.

In the morning they were defeated by a so-called N.C.I. second team, which defeated the locals by 32-0. However, there was no N.C.I. supervisor present, and only one-third of the team showed for the game that was arranged on Friday night. Nevertheless a team went on the field in the morning, and the above score is the result. The line, which is Napanee's standby this year was weakened without the services of the regulars and faded before the Limestone City's bucks and plunges. The visitors entirely out-weighed their opponents, but the latter were not discouraged.

In the afternoon there was supposed to be an Old Boys'—undergraduates—game, but again the N.C.I. team was not there, and as a result some of the Old Boys helped them out, namely "Wally" Perry, Jack Stewart and Horace Lucas.

The Old Boys handed them a 32-3 defeat, but there was at times good playing, and it was good to see the former stars in action. Of late years N.C.I. has had good teams, and when the best players of the last two or three years get together, you have a real team.

The following was the Old Boys' line-up :—

Flying Wing, Deline, '26; Halves, R. Cowie, '26, and C. Cowie, '24; Quarter, W. Carr, '25; Snap, Huffman, '24; Inside, J. Carr, '25, and E. Benjamin, '26; Middles, Corkill, '26; Outsides, R. Wilson, '25.

All these men have done their bit for the N.C.I. Jim Carr is playing support on the Upper Canada College Rugger team, and plays this important position well. We hope and predict that Jim has a real football career ahead of him, and expect to hear from him on one of the R.M.C. squads next year.

George "Torch" Daly is another N.C.I. Old Boy, who is in big league rugby. "Torch" is snap on the Varsity "Orphans". Many students can remember when he played at N.C.I., and it is good to have one man in senior rugby who started to play at Napanee Collegiate. These two are the only graduates playing at present, we presume because the others are too busy gaining knowledge to try for the teams.

The present twelve are back at work now in preparation for the game with the winner of the Bay of Quinte, O.R.F.A. Interscholastic League, supposedly Albert College.

HOCKEY

A letter was received from the Trenton Hockey Club, inviting Napanee to join a Bay of Quinte League, and to compete against teams representing Picton, Canadian National Railways, Belleville; Trenton, Frankford and Napanee.

This would make a decidedly good league, and should provide Napanee with plenty of hockey this coming winter.

Nearly all of last season's team is here, and there is no doubt that with the material at hand that Napanee could more than hold their own.

Last year Trenton Juniors played here and were outclassed by Napanee, and The Canadian National Railway boys from Belleville also fell before Napanee's strong team. Trenton will be practically the same team with more strength added to it. Belleville C. N. R. are going to be a hard team to out a good team, while Picton has always had good teams, and can be depended upon to put a strong team on the ice this year. Not much is known about Frankford or their players or past performances. Altogether this looks like the formation of a good league.

Napanee has Bentley, Naphin, Shoemaker, Wilson, Gleeson, Huffman, Johnston and Skitch left from last year's team, and there are several other new men in town that will make the older players hustle to keep their jobs. What we lack in Napanee is a goal-tender of ability. "Wes" Powell, from Kingston, filled the job remarkably well last winter, and could be induced to come back again.

A meeting of the hockey players, fans and anyone interested in hockey in any form will be held in the Town Hall, this (Friday) evening, Nov. 11th, to organize for the coming season. It is hoped that all of last year's players and executive be present at this meeting and be prepared to discuss the hockey situation for the coming season.

Don't forget the night, Friday, Nov. 11th, at the Council Chambers. Everybody welcome.

BASKETBALL

The N.C.I. girls' senior basketball team has another decisive victory to its credit, having defeated Deseronto High School, in an exhibition game, by 42-6. Both teams had excellent "com" but the local forwards were the superior. D. H. S. is handicapped by having no indoor gym. in which to practice.

No person stood out on either team but all played well. The scoring was almost even on both teams.

Since the game was not a league fixture, no accurate score was kept, nor were the line-ups recorded.

NAPANEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A specially interesting programme was arranged for the November meeting held as usual in the classroom of the Department of Agriculture. Mrs. Ralph Ham, who attended the regular meeting of the local Council of Women in Kingston, brought an interesting report, emphasizing the importance of a federation of women's organizations. Mrs. Wagar's excellent paper on Current Events was thorough and full of news and interest. Mrs. Douglas gave a synopsis of the Women's Institute Convention, held in Kingston, Nov. 2nd and 3rd, hearing which many more members wished they could have attended.

Then the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Grange, of the C. I. staff, gave a very fine talk on "Canadian Women of Note". The women of early Canada comprised less than half the population, but they did quite half of the work. Miss Grange dealt chiefly with Madame Hebert, who founded the first home in Quebec, which to Champlain was a flower of hope; Mother Marie, of the Ingarnation, founder of the Ursuline order; Madeleine de Vercheres; and Laura Secord, and intensely interesting were the tales of their pioneer efforts.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

DEAD FROM SHOT OF HIS OWN GUN

COMPANION WALKED SEVERAL MILES THROUGH MARSH FOR DOCTOR.

Harold Groff, aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Groff, Dundas Street, Trenton, was shot and instantly killed shortly after nine o'clock Tuesday morning, at Hay Bay, ten miles from Napanee, while on a duck-hunting expedition. Details received here of the tragedy are meagre, but it is understood that it was purely accidental, and Groff received the contents of his own gun through the back, and passed away within a few minutes.

Groff left Belleville Monday in company with George Gulliver, Jr., a brother-in-law, by motor for Hay Bay where the party expected to remain for some days. After having dinner at the home of Mr. Gulliver, on Charles Street, Belleville, Monday, they left for Hay Bay, and, news of the fatality was telephoned to his home early Tuesday afternoon.

George Gulliver walked through the marsh several miles to inform the Coroner, Dr. Cowan, of Napanee, of the tragedy and the latter despatched Mr. Masters, undertaker, to the scene to transport the body to the morgue. A full investigation will be made and after receiving the facts the Coroner will decide upon an inquest.

Young Groff is a son of the proprietor of Twelve O'Clock Point, and is a recent graduate of Trenton High School where he was regarded as an exceptionally brilliant student.

Mr. Gulliver is a fireman on the Canadian National Railways, and an ardent hunter, the annual duck-shooting trip to Hay Bay being made each year.

Immediately on receipt of the news Miss Margaret Gulliver, a sister of Groff's companion, along with Mr. C. Joseph Fisher, hurried to Napanee.

Groff's parents were informed of their son's tragedy, and Mr. Groff left for Napanee. The body will be taken to Trenton for interment.

N.C.I. STUDENTS' COUNCIL.

The second meeting of the Napanee Collegiate Institute Students' Council was held on Tuesday, 15th, at the call of the President, Hon. President L. S. Beattie was in the chair.

The minutes of the last with fifteen members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Beattie reported that the Board of Education had consented to redecorate the Assembly Hall before Commencement.

The various Committees then reported:—

1. Property Committee reported that efforts were being made to keep the school in better condition, and recommended that the matter of purchasing lights be left until the spring. On motion of President Gibbard, seconded by Gordon Gibson, the Committee was left with the matter to immediately, find out how much land was required, etc., and to report at the next meeting.

2. Library Committee reported that magazines had been purchased as authorized at the last meeting, and that books in the library had been put in better condition, and that the books had been purchased from Grace Church, and had been placed in the library. On recommendation of the Committee, the Council authorized the subscription for two months to the "Science Class". Report adopted.

Gordon Gibson then read the financial report of the Boys' Athletic Society, which was adopted.

The Literary and Dramatic, Musical, Girls' Athletic, Public Speaking, and Social Committees had no report.

The only business before was the Executive Committee, which was called to draft up a constitution for the Council. This committee met on Thursday last in the Principal's office, and the constitution which it drew up was read by him as President. With a few minor changes it was adopted on motion of the President, and seconded by R. Chapman.

The only correspondence was from a Convention to be held in Toronto of the Editors of School publications.

On motion of President Gibbard, seconded by C. Wright, the editor of the "Torch", Munro Beattie, had his expenses paid to Toronto for the convention. Carried.

On motion of D. Anderson, seconded by everybody, the Council adjourned.

I WONDER WHY?

Editor of The Beaver.

Dear Sir,—Will you please tell me if you can why the County Council, Town Councils, Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Club, Service Clubs, Women's Institute, and Chamber of Commerce, Canadian National Services for our gallant dead, entirely in the hands of "B" Company.

Only nine years have passed since the signing of the Armistice, and already we seem to be leaving out a few minutes in the year that is set apart to commemorate the sacrifices of the Great War to the returned men themselves and one military organization. Have we so soon forgotten that the lives so willingly given were given for the whole community and not for a very small group ?

That is to be observed another occasion for memorial purposes will see every municipal and other organization officially represented on committees that make arrangements, as well as at the monument.

—Patriotic.

"My wife had a strange accident the other day. As she was walking along, a brick fell on her and struck on the eye. It cost me five bucks for the doctor's bill."

"That's nothing. My wife was on the street the other day and a hat in a window struck her eye and it cost me fifty dollars."

Grand Jury Report.

To the Honourable Mr. Justice Wright.

We, the Grand Jurors, summoned to attend the Fall Assizes, held at Napanee, this 15th and 16th days of November, A.D. 1927, beg leave to report as follows :—

We congratulate your Lordship upon the expeditious manner in which the business of this Court has been made to, the Court House, by way of new doors and vestibules, and a new heating plant, but we would respectfully recommend that the outer doors of the Court House should swing outward, and the inner vestibule doors should swing both ways to conform to statutory regulations. We, however, recommend that the downstairs corridor floors of the Court House be re-laid or linoleum be laid through the centre of each corridor of a width of at least, six feet and a border of new flooring of each side of the linoleum.

With reference to the Judge's Room off the Court-room, we strongly recommend that the same be re-decorated and re-furnished, that a new carpet and a couch, and the present toilet be replaced by a new sanitary water toilet and basin.

In the Courtroom we would recommend that the lights behind the Judge's bench be controlled by one switch to be placed in the corridor outside the north door leading to the Judge's bench, the same to be done immediately.

We would further strongly recommend that an authorized danger checkerboard, with red glass centre be placed on the Provincial Highway at the intersection of the Hamburg Road with the Provincial Highway on the right hand side of the Provincial Highway leading into the city at the top of Roblin's Hill.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN T. HAM,
Foreman.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE

A fitting tribute to the memory of the brave boys of this town and county who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War was observed on Sunday afternoon, when a large concourse of people gathered at the Memorial Plot to listen to a very noteworthy and appropriate service.

The day, although quite cold, was an ideal one and the gathering was a representative one, many people being present from all points in the district. Promptly at 2.30 the officers and members of "B" Company, Frontenac Regiment, under the command of Captain H. L. Babcock, and led by the Napanee Citizens' Band, left the Armouries and proceeded to the Cenotaph.

Rev. W. P. Woodger, Pastor of Grace Church, officiated as chairman, and in a brief introductory address, explained the purport of the meeting, after which the opening hymn, "Abide With Me", was sung, which was succeeded by a very appropriate prayer by Rev. Father O'Connor. At the conclusion of the second hymn, Rev. Harry Pawson, Pastor of Trinity Church, gave a very timely address.

At the outset he referred to the reasons for holding the Memorial Service, saying that it was a proper and right thing to do in order to pay a tribute to the fallen heroes. These men, he said, were worthwhile men as they had contributed their all to a great and noble cause. The speaker said that People should be the paramount issue of mankind and it was up to the nations of the earth to secure for all time an everlasting peace. Mr. Pawson then referred to the many kinds of patriotism, the truest being that exemplified by the gallant heroes in the World War.

Rev. A. J. Wright then gave a most impressive prayer, after which the concluding hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee", was sung.

The Last Post being sounded, a two-minutes' silence was then observed, after which the wreaths were placed at the base of the Cenotaph by members of "B" Company, Frontenac Regiment. Included in the wreaths were those of Union Lodge No. 9, A. F. & A. M., Argyll Lodge No. 212, I.O.O.F., the Company Frontenac Regiment, and the I.O.D.E. Chapter Daughters of the Empire.

A very solemn and impressive service was then brought to a close with the benediction by Ensign Howe of the Salvation Army.

The death took place at the family residence, Napanee, on Saturday, November 14th, 1927, of Mr. John G. Williams, aged 61 years. The deceased had been ill for a considerable time, having suffered a stroke some years ago. Up until a few months ago he was able to get around and was frequently down town conversing with friends, or where he was found.

The late Mr. Williams was a native of Campbellford, and was well known throughout that part of Quinte district, he being a drover. For many years he and Mrs. Williams had resided in Napanee, where he was much respected.

Besides his sorrowing wife, he leaves to mourn his loss one son, Charles, of Rochester, N.Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Kenny, of Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Kent, of Pranford; one brother, Mr. Jas. Williams, of Stirling, and one sister, Mrs. Hunter, of Brighton.

HELP WANTED

The Beaver needs help. It is already beginning to supply the town and to estimate the needs of the children for Christmas. We find there will be quite a few many children as last year who will miss a visit from Santa Claus unless they are cared for by the generosity of the public. For several years The Beaver has undertaken to collect through its columns money that could be used for this purpose, while the Social Service Council, and other organizations have estimated the needs, and spent the money. This year the same plan will be followed. A survey will be made. Then the women will purchase goods that are useful for the children. Then they are distributed by voluntary help on Christmas eve. So again we appeal to the generosity of the readers of The Beaver. Every cent of the money goes for the purpose intended, no fees or salaries are paid. All the work is done voluntarily. After the fund has been expended a statement of receipts and expenditures, properly audited, will be published. Every cent contributed is acknowledged through the columns of The Beaver.

OBITUARY.

Geo. Nelson Meeks.

The death occurred on Monday morning, at his residence, in Carman, after a very short illness, with pneumonia, of George Nelson Meeks, for many years a well known citizen of this place. Mr. Meeks had been a sufferer with asthma for many years, and when on Friday last he contracted a heavy cold, which developed quickly into pneumonia, his condition rapidly became increasingly grave, and although he had a fairly comfortable night Sunday, he passed away quietly in his sleep shortly before eight o'clock Monday morning.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, with service at the Church of Christ, conducted by Charles Petch, Evangelist, of Winnipeg. The service was largely attended. Burial was made in Carman cemetery.

The late Mr. Meeks had been a resident of this district since March, 1902. Born in Selby, County of Lennox and Addington, Ont., January 6th, 1867, he grew to manhood in Ontario, and in 1888 married Emma L. Martin, at Selby. On coming to Carman, he farmed in Barnsby district for a number of years, but left the farm and came to reside in Carman a few years ago. He is survived by his widow, a son, A. L. Meeks, of Barnsley district, and by two daughters, Mrs. J. F. Russell, of Barnsley, and Mrs. A. W. Jones, living at Lima, Oklahoma; a sister, Mrs. W. Thornton, lives at Fenton, Mich. His parents are both dead, and his only brother died just a few months ago in Ontario. The daughter and sister in the States were unable to attend the funeral.

Mr. Meeks was a quiet citizen who enjoyed the respect of many friends, and the sympathy of these is with his family in their sorrow.

Dave Brandon.

Dave Brandon, of Fort Bragg, passed away at his home in this city, at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Brandon had been in ill health for the past year or more and confined to his home the greater part of that time; yet he remained cheerful and optimistic and took an active interest in matters of public concern. His condition the early part of the week grew more serious than usual, but he apparently rallied, and on Wednesday evening appeared to have improved. Late that night he became worse and sank rapidly until the end came.

Dave Brandon had been identified with this district for many years and was well-known throughout the county having served the county most capably as Supervisor from the Fourth district from 1903 to 1912. As one of that well-known firm of logging contractors of Perkins, Brandon & Bouton, and in later logging and the operations conducted by himself, he earned an enviable reputation among woodsmen as a fair and considerate employer.

Born in the Township of Ernestown, Ontario, Canada, on December 18th, 1855, he had reached his seventy-first year. A brother, James Brandan, of Morven, survives.

As a friend, Dave Brandon, was always staunch and true, and could be counted on in any emergency.

He is survived by his wife and one son, to whom is extended the sympathy of many friends.

Funeral services were held from his home at this place, Sunday afternoon, Rev. N. J. Peterson officiating, and were very largely attended, a great many old-time friends of the deceased coming from all along the coast to pay their last respect to the departed.—Martiny Standard, Danville California.

Mrs. Anna Kendricks,

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Kendricks, who died at her home, in Danville, on Tuesday, were held on Thursday from the Harian Chapel in Walnut Creek.

The deceased was a native of Canada and was 82 years old. For the last few months she had been bedridden and had been an invalid for years. For several months prior to her death she had been in Providence hospital.

The Kendricks had lived in the San Ramon Valley for fifty years. She is survived by a daughter, Jane Kendricks, and a husband, William Kendricks.—Martiny Standard, Danville, California.

Mrs. Kendrick was Anna Mary Kirk, and was born near Tamworth, Ont.

Anyone wishing further particulars, may write to Mrs. S. F. Flournoy, Danville, California, Box 186.

ESSAY CONTEST

The Chilean Minister Committee, through its Canadian delegate, Mr. B. Leslie Emslie, supplied each boy and girl who entered Richmond Township Home and Garden contest with a ten pound bag of Nitrate of Soda, and arranged an essay contest for which prizes were given. The first and second prize essays were as follows :—

ESSAY COMPETITION, 1927.

FIRST PRIZE ESSAY, LENNOX AND ADDINGTON COUNTY

By Garnet C. Brooks.

It is with pleasure that I join in this essay writing contest on the use of Nitrate of Soda.

Last year I forfeited my right of taking part in the School Fair, by attaining my entrance to High School and this year I felt very sad when fair time came around and I could not exhibit. However, my mother comfroned me with that thought that while I had received a great number of prizes and prize money during my Public School Fair Days, not a cent of it was earned dishonestly. Last year Mr. Laughland, when he handed me my prize money, said it was the most he remembered paying to any one pupil up to that time.

The point I wish to convey to my readers is that when Mr. Laughland suggested that I take the seeds given in the Home Garden Contest, and then write an essay on the use of Nitrate of Soda, I thought I would take the seeds and try for the prize on the garden. But I felt I would be up against it on the essay, because my parents could not write an easy praising it up if I had to write untruths to get the prize.

My father gave me a piece of ground to use for my garden, but as the seeds were late in coming I did not get a choice piece of ground. The upper part of it was high and good, but it sloped off low, and the crop was always poorer at that end.

I decided that if Nitrate of Soda was any good never having heard of it before I would use it on the poorer part and watch results.

After the vegetables were growing well I asked my mother to come out and see my garden. I had never mentioned to her where I had put the Nitrate of Soda, but she said to me, "Garnet, it is strange, I never had as good a garden in this low spot, and yours is better here." I laughed, and asked her if she remembered my getting a little bag of powder, and told her this was the spot I had favoured with it.

The difference in growth was very pronounced. My garden was a cultivated spot, not a hand-hoed crop, and it was wonderful to see how much poorer the growth was on the end of the rows where we had always considered the land better. The beets and carrots were a third larger. The corn was thriftier and bore better than that which had received no Nitrate of Soda, and the whole garden showed the same results.

If it were not for making my essay too lengthy, I could go into details and tell how the morning of the school fair my dad and I made comparisons of the nitrated and unnitrated vegetables, and in every case found a marked difference.

I had say he is going to use Nitrate of Soda on his garden next year, and ground next year, and my mother says, "Surely when it is so good for vegetables, we can afford some for my flower garden next year."

On the "nightcrawler" is cheaper. On the telegraph the same,
So why not 'Nitrate' on the land
'Twill for us make a name.

SECOND PRIZE ESSAY, LENNOX AND ADDINGTON COUNTY

By Marion Winter, Selby, Ont.

As this is my first year in the Home Garden Contest, and the first year in the use of Nitrate of Soda, I therefore did not know anything about the use of it.

When the young plants came up, I put the Nitrate on according to directions. I applied it each week.

I left three feet at the end of each row of vegetables without Nitrate. You soon could detect the difference in the plants. Those with Nitrate were stronger, richer in colour, and much superior in size to those without Nitrate.

The Swiss Chard was a richer colour and larger leaves in the part where Nitrate was applied. The lettuce was crisper. The onions were very large, especially the pickling ones, which on the average were eleven and a half inches around. The cabbages were much larger and more solid heads. Those with Nitrate weighed twelve and a half pounds, while those without Nitrate weighed six and a half pounds. The beets were a much nicer colour, and the carrots were much larger. The squash were very good, as one squash vine was thirty-five feet long and had five large squash on it.

I had heard that Nitrate burned the leaves, but in my experience with it, I did not find this to be the case. To people who have never used Nitrate of Soda I highly recommend its use on their gardens.

A Phantom Train?

By WILLIAM CHANDLER

John Phillips, a farmer's boy, was taking one summer afternoon in a punt on the river. He was anchored about a mile below an old railroad bridge that years before had given way under a train, precipitating both engine and cars into the stream. After the accident the bridge had been repaired, but the crossing of the river had been changed to a point further upstream, and the lower bridge had not been since used.

This accident was the one great event in the history of the region in which it occurred. At the time of its occurrence every one had been greatly shocked. Since then whenever persons living near the bridge found conversation lagging they invariably fall back upon the great catastrophe for a topic.

Johnny had heard it reported that a phantom train had at different times been seen to enter upon the bridge and tumble in the water. He had never met any one who had seen one of these ghostly performances, but so many persons believed in them that Johnny had come to believe in them himself.

Johnny was sitting quietly in his punt, waiting for a bite and thinking about the railroad accident, the phantom train and all that, when he heard the choo choo of a starting train some distance back from the river. He was surprised, for since the accident not only the crossing, but that part of the road leading to and from it had been abandoned. The puffs came nearer and nearer together, and presently Johnny realized that a train was nearing the brink of the river.

Then suddenly Johnny's blood ran cold. A locomotive emerged from behind a clump of trees and started across the bridge. The boy knew that the bridge had not been completely repaired and had heard that no train could cross it without breaking it down. The locomotive with two cars reached the center, then to Johnny's horror careened, and with a crash went down into the water, dragging the cars with it.

The sight was a terrible shock to the young fishermen. He expected to hear shrieks and cries for help, but after the noise caused by the fall all was still. John believed that he was near enough to hear cries and he wondered. Then it occurred to him that he had seen the phantom train. And yet so real was it that he could not bring himself to believe in this explanation. He had heard the puffs, had seen the train emerge from behind the trees and had seen and heard the crash. He could not realize anything ghostly about it. And yet, what else could it be than the ghost train of which he had heard?

Johnny as soon as he had recovered something of his equanimity pulled up stream. To do this he was obliged to turn his back to the wreck. He had made about three-quarters of the distance when a board passed him to which a girl clung. She did not seem frightened, but when Johnny pulled up beside her and helped her into his boat she was evidently quite satisfied with the transfer.

"See here!" said John excitedly. "Was that train a real train or a ghost train?"

Instead of replying she looked at Johnny and laughed.

"Great scott!" exclaimed the boy, "here can you laugh at such a terrible thing. Did you go down with that train without getting hurt?"

An idea seemed to strike the girl and knitting her brows and assuming a serious expression she said, affecting a spiritual tone:

"I am the spirit of one who years ago went down with the train that crashed into the river from that bridge."

John dropped his oars and shuddered.

"Take up your oars. Carry me to yonder bank that from there I may go back to my resting place in the cemetery."

If ever there was a puzzled youth it was John Phillips. This girl, who, by the by, was very pretty, was the ghost reversed like flesh and blood he had ever dreamed of. Her clothes were saturated with water, and though the day was not cold, the air on her wet garments chilled her. She began to shiver. Ghosts are not usually affected by earthly conditions, and Johnny wondered. He took off his coat and handed it to her. She wrapped herself about her and gave the donor a smile of thanks.

"See here!" cried Johnny. "Either there's somepin queer about all this or my head's gone wrong. I'm sure I'm not dreaming. Come, tell me what it all means."

The girl burst into a laugh.

"Pull for that shore," she said, pointing. "I wish to get on some dry clothes."

Johnny pulled for the shore, and the girl gave him the desired explanation.

A picture play had been written, the climax of which was a train going down into a river from a broken bridge. A real train had been sent out to the bridge and tumbled into the water. Then boats carried a picture play company to the wreck, and they were photographed struggling in the cars and in the water. The girl Johnny picked up was one of the company whom the current had carried down the river.

Johnny pulled to the shore and, meantime he had a full view of persons who had been photographed in the water. Later, when he saw the picture play, there was the girl he had rescued, first passing out of sight on her board.

WAYS OF A PYTHON.

Can Overpower by Constriction Almost Any Large Mammal.

The mighty python is a native of India and is a most formidable reptile when full grown. Specimens over twenty-four feet long have been captured on various occasions.

The python is not easy to kill. Its strength is prodigious, and it can itself overpower by constriction almost any large animal. The width of the mouth is comparatively small, but this drawback the python overcomes by crushing its victim, if necessary, into the form of a ramage, and gradually through that small cavity goes an amazing quantity of food which will last the python for many days.

It may seem amazing that such huge reptiles should come from such small eggs, but the growth of the python in its youth is very rapid. The python moves, climbs, and swims with equal facility and prefers to make its home in the vicinity of water, to which mammals and birds, their usual prey, resort.

The female python sometimes collects as many as a hundred eggs for hatching, and it is surprising that there are not more pythons in India. She coils herself round the eggs so that her head rests in the centre on the top, and in this position she will remain without food during the whole period of incubation, or rather keeping guard for about two months.

When she is finishing her job is not a happy time to disturb her, for she is ordinarily an ill-tempered reptile, and her temper when she has been fasting is at its worst.

OUR NATIONAL EXHIBITION

Confederation Year Will Eclipse All Previous Records.

Few people, even the citizens of Toronto, realize the magnitude of the Canadian National Exhibition. It is the only exposition that has an annual attendance of over 1,500,000 people, and the only one to attract exhibits from the continents of Europe, Africa and America. Exhibition Park contains 350 acres and extends for one and a quarter miles along the waterfront of Lake Ontario. No other exposition has over 2,000,000 square feet of floor space under cover of 93 permanent buildings. Complete systems of telephone, telegraph, banking, transportation and electric power, as well as administration, fire and police departments are to be found within its confines. Seven miles of paved streets wind through the beautiful park and over 100,000 electric lights illuminate the grounds and buildings at night.

The Canadian National Exhibition is a fairyland of realism. Annually it gathers the greatest treasures, lands of the far East, the West, the North and the South, and exhibits them to the public. It displays the outstanding achievements of the factory, the machine shop, the laboratory and the studio. Here also is exhibited the products of the mines, the forest, the field and the stream. It is the library of Canada, demonstrating the national life of the country. Only at the Canadian National is it possible to see Canada at a glance.

As the year 1927 is the 60th anniversary of the birth of Canada the Canadian National will include greater features than ever before. As a lasting memorial to the achievement of the Fathers of Confederation in uniting the provinces, the people of Canada have erected a magnificent entrance at the Eastern terminus of Exhibition Park at a cost of $160,000. The new gateway is Roman in design, but is entirely a Canadian achievement. It was designed by a Canadian artist, erected by Canadian workmen of domestic materials. On the initial day of this year's Canadian National its portals will swing open in welcome to the visitors.

A second stupendous feature of the 1927 Exhibition is the erection of an eight-acre annex to the Coliseum. This building is another Canadian accomplishment. When completed immediately prior to the opening day of the exposition a new home will be provided for 1,800 head of cattle and 1,500 sheep and swine.

In keeping with the importance of this year's exposition, the world's most mammoth Marathon Swim on August 31st will be the main feature of the athletic program. Leading swimmers of the world have entered in the long contingents. The swim is three laps around a seven-mile triangular course. To the winner will be awarded the title of world's long-distance champion swimmer, with a cash prize of $20,000. An additional $20,000 purse will be divided among the remainder of the contestants.

Motor boating, canoeing, trotting and yatching races as well as a track and field meet, that has attracted the athletic stars of the continent, will be other features of the sports program.

Every exhibit in every building will feature the progress of Canada in the sixty years of her history. More spectacular and enthralling than ever will be the great Exhibition Pageant. A Confederation theme will be portrayed in a colorful setting there will be portrayed in a colorful setting there will be portrayed in a colorful setting the fine days of the Fathers of Confederation and the triumphs of the past years.

The Exhibition opens on August 27th and closes on September 10th.

It All Depends.

O'Halloran was a marvel at figures. Eventually the manager himself heard reports of his employee's ability and decided to put the genius to a test.

"Look here, O'Halloran," he said one day, in front of all the workmen, "how many colored shirts could a man get out of a yard?"

A bright smile illuminated the cheery features of the son of Erin.

"To be sure," he answered, blithely, "and it would depend on how hard the man was in entirely."

Autos of the World.

An automobile census of the world, just made public by the United States Commerce Department, indicated that on Jan. 1, 1927, there were 27,650,267 automobiles, trucks and buses in operations. The census is probe. This was an increase of 3,176,678 over Jan. 1, 1926.

The United States has 80 per cent. of the total, or 22,127,334 machines. Great Britain is second with 1,052,651. France third with 891,000 and Canada fourth with 826,918.

Centenarian Lays Egg.

On her 100th birthday the famous parrot of the Bronx Zoo, Cocky Bill, laid an egg, having apparently benefitted by attendants' experiments with what seemed a mixture of malt and operation. Old Bill was christened before her sex was known. She exhibited surprise at the sudden resumption, after many years, of her oviparous activities, but seemed proud of her feat.

A Jewish Farm School.

The Jewish Farm School at Georgetown, Ont., was opened recently, with more than a thousand guests from Canada and the United States present. The Canadian Government has given the school its share of than 100 orphans brought over from Poland to be trained on the farm, some of whom have already arrived.

Irrigation in Canada.

Irrigation is now being supplied to over a million acres of land in the west, according to the Department of the Interior, and surveys are being made of a number of additional projects which should bring the total up to 1½ million acres.

Fur Burns and Scalds—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will relieve the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. There is no preparation required. Just apply the oil to the burn or scald and the pain will abate and in a short time cease altogether.

TIMELY TOPICS.

IMMIGRATION.

One of the principal subjects for discussion, in and out of Parliament, in fact wherever thoughtful men are assembled, is the problem of immigration. One group cries that what Canada needs is population. Population with its varied needs means production of all sorts, and production means employment, and employment results in wealth, national and individual. Undoubtedly to a certain extent this is true. Yet a large population and increased production and national wealth are not the only, or the most desirable things to strive for in a new country; there are other matters of greater importance even than these. It is not the quantity of population that makes a country great, it is the quality of what population it has. India and Russia, for example, have millions of inhabitants, yet compare them with the limited numbers in the small European countries like Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, to say nothing of Great Britain. What do they amount to in actual value to the country they belong to, or to the world in general? Contrast the teeming population of China with small Japan. The one is a world menace, the other a world force. No! most certainly quantity of population is not the most important thing, even though catering to their needs makes employment. It is quality that counts.

Long ago, in the days of our pioneer forefathers, the bulk of the immigrants came from the British Isles, brought hither by the lack of room or employment at home, or by that love of adventure, that zest for new lands, that so conspicuously marks the British race. In those times there were no restrictions, and the country was open to all who wished to come. And those who came were usually healthy energetic people, who carved out villages, towns, cities, and industries for themselves and their descendants. Canada was not so well known to the Central Europeans. It had the name of a cold and difficult country which did not attract such people. The United States being a republic drew these immigrants from autocratic lands, where labor and capital were so widely severed in sympathy, and where the poor man was in greater or less degree, denied education and prospects of advancement, therefore we escaped much that has made difficulties for the Government of our cousins across the line.

But now things are altered. Knowledge of the lands of the world is more extended; Canada's wealth of forest, farm, and mine has become widely advertised; the upheaval of Europe since the war has forced out many of their people; and the growing disinclination of the United States to adopt an unlimited foreign element, has led to our having more of them clamoring for admission than ever before; and more than we can profitably assimilate. It is all very well to look sentimentally at these unfortunates, pity their struggles and their poverty, and optimistically declare they will be educated into being good Canadians. It can't be done, at least, not in the wholesale fashion we have seen of late years, if you were to consume a week's food at one meal, you would inevitably suffer from serious derangement of the whole system. And what holds good for the individual physical body is exactly true of the national body politic. Indigestion. And in some parts of this country we are beginning to suffer severely from it.

At the Anglican Synod held recently in Kingston more than one of the Bishops present spoke in the strongest terms of this insufficiently restricted immigration, and the menace it was becoming to Canada. They declared that statistics to prove their statements, that large tracts of country in our North Western provinces, notably Saskatchewan and Alberta, were entirely populated by aliens. Not merely aliens in that they had come from other lands than ours, but aliens in thought, and speech, and lives, with no desire to become assimilated with the people of this country; no wish to rise from their low estate and ideas, no ambition but make money so as to possess the land and the power for themselves and still be aliens; or what is worse, make of us the aliens and oust us from our rightful place. Now Bishops, like the working heads of any organization, are chiefly chosen for their fitness, which largely means ripe experience and solid common sense. Therefore, they do not speak at random, especially upon such weighty matters. Consequently there must exist very grave reason for their outspoken statements on so important a subject. To these foreigners the standards of morality, of uprightness in public and private life; of religious faith as we understand it; of loyalty to our country and obedience to its laws; such as dominate the whole life of Canadian and British people at large, do not exist, or at least, only in a very modified degree. If these people were absorbed in small groups, and settled among genuine Canadians, they would doubtless in course of time adopt our standards if given careful teaching, but to let them possess large settlements and tracts of country, unmingled with other and higher types, is to ensure their remaining as they were, and constituting a menace to the peace and the morals of our country. For under such circumstances they will not change.

In Canada we look upon the state of affairs in Chicago with horror and disgust. Yet we are industriously sowing another, though widely disseminated, Chicago all over vast tracts of country in our great North West. We have given over our salmon fisheries and much other profitable industry in British Columbia to the Japanese and Chinese. It is practically all in their hands. Some of our most valuable mines are in possession of Americans and foreigners, who employ almost entirely their own countrymen. All our fur and clothing industries are in the hands of Jews, foreign Jews at that. Outside of the farms where, we would like to ask, does the Canadian and the British-born come in? And even of the farm-lands, look at the territory the Mennonites and the Doukhobors possess. Why should we hand over our goodly land to aliens? We talk and boast of Canada and its wealth. Do the Canadians possess the chief control? They may think they do. But the alien does not think—he knows.

Here a little, and there a little—piece by piece, mile by mile, industry after industry—the alien (who is still steadically alien) reaches out and possesses. It is time to call a halt before our vaunted heritage is eaten away from under our fingers, before our wealth passes to others. If we do not, then the stranger will fall heir to the estate, and the owner will be the servant. In the sale or loss of only the ceaseless vigilance of the secret service that kept our land when our sires had left us. Now that the gates have opened wider to this central European rabble of troublemakers, it will take wise heads, and careful handling, and much restriction, to prevent herding of the people Canada were at war? God help her! Those who sow the wind, reap the whirlwind.

Conditions That Call For a Tonic

Symptoms That the Blood is Thin Should Not Be Neglected

Weak, lacking in strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, poor appetite, digestion disturbed — these are the symptoms of a great majority of people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The great value of this medicine in cases of this kind is proved by the statement of Mr. W. Hendrick, Preston, Ont., who says:—"Following a severe cold I was left in a run-down, nervous condition; I had pains in the back and limbs and could scarcely rest about. I did not sleep well at night and was despondent and discouraged. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can truthfully say that after the use of six boxes, the change in my condition was nothing short of marvellous. The pains vanished, I slept well, had a good appetite, and in every way felt well and strong. I also gave the pills to my daughter, who was in an anaemic condition and feeling quite miserable, and in her case, too, they restored health. I hope my experience may help some other weak person."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which contains many useful health hints, will be sent free on request.

THE HORSE IN CANADA.

In 1926 There Were 3,538,849 Horses of All Kinds.

In rapid time from the foundation of domestic stock Canada has so improved the standard of her horses through high-bred importations that they are in demand in other countries to-day for the improvement of stock. Testimony to this effect is the long succession of rich awards secured at the Canadian National Live Stock Show by the Dominion.

Despite the virtual disappearance of the saddle horse in Western Canada with the introduction of the automobile and the general decline of good roads, and the great use of motor tractors in agricultural activities, the horse population of Canada continues to maintain its figure. Statistics covering the past year indicate an increase over 1925, and show there are substantially more horses in Canada to-day than at any twenty-five years ago. In 1926 there were 3,558,849 horses of all kinds on Canadian farms as compared with 3,554,041 in the previous year, with 3,996,000 in 1916 and 1,746,125 in 1901. In the past year the only provinces recording a decrease in horses were Prince Edward Island, Ontario and Alberta. Increases were particularly impressive in the cases of Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Reviving the Toby Jug.

A favorite product of the eighteenth century potteries, the Toby Jug, has just been revived by the Ashtead Potters in England, the clever ex-Service craftsmen whose work is now so firmly established in popular favor.

The feature of the Toby jug is that it is at once a vessel for holding liquids—temperance or otherwise—and a portrait of caricature. Many celebrities have been among the "subjects" for the old Toby jugs, and the new ones are true to this tradition. Mr. Baldwin being represented with his pipe.

Celebrities were favorite subjects with the eighteenth-century artist-craftsmen. Apart from the Toby Jugs, they produced mugs and even teapots bearing excellent portraits of prominent people. One teapot of Wesley, with a striking likeness of John Wesley, is preserved at the South Kensington Museum.

Cairn of the Bronze Age.

While widening a road near Boulline, Kent, workmen disclosed a circular area, obviously artificial, covered by a setting of round stones. After measurements had been taken it became clear that the remains were the foundation of a round cairn of the Bronze Age, probably some four thousand years old, and long antedating the Roman fort situated a few hundred yards to the south.

Fur Farming Industry In B.C.

British Columbia is rapidly organizing a fur farming industry of considerable importance, and some ambitious schemes for the ranching of muskrats are being put into effect. The province has already an annual revenue of $2,000,000 from raw furs, but with innumerable valleys suitable for fur-farming enterprises and an ideal climate, the possibilities are bright.

Motion Picture Producing Industry.

The city of Victoria, B.C., have been authorized by a vote of 2,127 to 663, to guarantee bonds of a motion picture producing industry there, to the extent of $250,000 after $500,000 has been raised by British motion picture distributors and exhibitors.

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Troubles

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold by Wallace's Drug Store, and All Good Druggists

Make up your mind to-day that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to Wallace's Drug Store or any other good druggist to-day and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once, but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered a new way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue, and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they got a little book about it through the mail, and my husband sent for one and got me a bottle, and when we got more from the store I began feeling fine now and do all the work and am able to go out around more. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well."—Mrs. F. Johnson, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

The Two Family House

The Rent Was Low Because It Was Reported to Be Haunted.

By F. A. MITCHEL

Miss Laura Williamson was an orphan, doomed to make her own living. Being a stenographer and typewriter in a large city, she was obliged to pay for board and lodging nearly all her salary. It occurred to her to take a room in an inexpensive quarter and get her breakfast and dinner herself. One Sunday morning, having leisure for the purpose, she took up a newspaper and scanned the advertisements for lodgings.

There was an advertisement of a two family house, the rental of one suit of four rooms, furnished, on the ground floor, the price of which was no greater than what Miss Williamson had expected to pay for one room. She concluded to go at once and look it over. Half an hour's ride in a trolley took her to its location. She found the neighborhood respectable and the house itself apparently in good repair. The blinds of both stories were drawn, indicating that neither was occupied. Miss Williamson rang the doorbell of a house near by in order to make some inquiries. A woman came to the door and when asked if she knew anything about the condition of the house for rent replied:

"All I know about it is that every one around here believes it is haunted. It's been for rent for a long while, but no one will take either suit, for it is well known that there are ghosts in it. I understand that they've put the rent down to next to nothing, but still no one so far has been induced to live there."

Miss Williamson was not a little surprised to find a house reputed haunted. She saw an opportunity to secure a suit of rooms cheap, and a few days later she took advantage of a holiday to visit the house with a key to the lower flat and was so pleased with it that she closed the bargain at once and the next Saturday afternoon moved her few belongings there.

It was quite to sleep alone in a strange house that was believed to be haunted she could not help giving way to a slight dread lest she might be disturbed in the night by the ghosts. But she banished the thought, and the next morning, Sunday, awakened by the sun shining in at her window, she experienced a comfort in finding herself in possession of four rooms, including a bath. The morning light took away all loneliness. As for the ghosts, she forgot all about them. Not a sound during the night had interrupted her slumber.

Miss Williamson was one of those persons who have resources within themselves and are not always pining for company. She occupied herself during her first day in her flat putting it to rights, and the rest of the time she spent reading. Having to rise early in the morning to go to work and being a good sleeper, she went to bed at 9 o'clock.

About 2 o'clock in the morning she was awakened by a trampling directly over her head. It was tramp, tramp, tramp, tramp in one direction, then tramp, tramp in another. Sometimes there were five or six steps, but usually from two to four. Then there was a brief cessation, after which the steps were subdued, more like a spiritual tread than the others. These finally ceased, and all was still.

Miss Williamson was puzzled. Not for a moment did she refer these sounds to ghosts. But what could cause them? She had supposed the flat above was unoccupied. Even if it was occupied, why should the only sounds come from it before each even?

Before Miss Williamson left the house in the morning she went to the janitor and told him he had been disturbed, and the tenant set about cooking her dinner.

Everything depended upon the tramping being repeated that night. She went to bed hoping that it would not, but dreading that it would. She lay awake an hour longer than usual, though very tired and much troubled at having been removed for the mistaken she had made during the day.

She woke up at midnight. Everything was quiet, and she soon dropped asleep again.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, tramp!
There it was again.
Tramp, tramp!
Miss Williamson remembered that the night before there had been four tramps in one direction, then two in another.
Tramp, tramp, tramp!

She was not quite sure but that the third series of tramps had been three. The steps continued about the same length of time, the last sounds being muffled as before. Whether the listener had got more used to them or because of her disbelief in the supernatural, she did not seem to mind them as much as she had the night before. Perhaps the repetition of the steps in the same order as before may have had something to do with it. At any rate, her heart ceased its wild beating sooner than before, and after the sounds ceased she went to sleep.

The next morning she concluded not to repeat her attempt to find if the flat above was occupied, but went directly to her place of business. Her reception was again distressed by her experience, and today she made a blunder that, had it not been detected, would have cost her employer something like $10,000. Before leaving the office she was handed a check for the salary due her and told that she need not return.

There was nothing to do but to go to her flat, get her dinner and on the morrow commence a hunt for another situation. But the prospect for one who had been discharged for making a serious mistake of getting another place was not bright.

Miss Williamson turned in that night wishing the ghost would come into her room during the night and put her out of her misery. If it did she might lie there till her rent was due without her demise being discovered.

That night she heard a door above shut, a few steps; then all was silent.

This was not a repetition of the sounds heard on the two previous nights.

Miss Williamson, shaking off her fears, got out of bed, put on a dressing gown and slippers and crept shrinkingly upstairs. All was dark and silent in the hall. She stood listening, but heard no sound. Then suddenly there came a groan.

This was too much for the poor girl's pluck, and she ran downstairs so fast that she came near breaking her neck, for she fell at the bottom of the flight, and since it was dark, as Egypt she knew not what was in her way. She picked herself up and stood uncertain what next to do.

There was bravery in Miss Williamson's makeup, and she determined to make another attempt to discover the ghost. Climbing the stairs again, she stood with her face on a level with the top step. It was also on a level with the landing. Under the door of one of the rooms was a line of light.

For a few moments Miss Williamson's mind was balanced between two hypotheses. Either there was a supernatural glow in that room, or it was illuminated by artificial light. Being inclined to a rational view of things, she settled down to the opinion that a gas jet was burning in the room. Ghosts don't require gas jets. Therefore a human being must be in the room. At this moment there was another groan. This time the hearer's imagination was not at work, and the groan sounded human. It struck her that it proceeded from one who was ill. She crept to the door in question and opened it.

On a bed with his clothes on was a young man. He was very pale and evidently in great pain. Miss Williamson approached him and stood over him.

"Shall I call a doctor?" she asked.

"No; I've been this way before. I'll get over it pretty soon. Please look in the top drawer of that bureau. You'll find a small bottle. Give me one of the tablets in it."

Miss Williamson produced the tab let, and it quickly relieved the patient very soon. The paroxysm from which he suffered passed, and he did not have another. Miss Williamson told him that she had thought the flat he was in to be unoccupied and asked how he came to be there and if he had never seen him there in the daytime.

"I am a newspaper reporter," he replied. "I come in between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, when the paper goes to press, and go out about noon. I am permitted by the owner to occupy this flat temporarily."

"You must be a sound sleeper," said the girl. "I have rapped at this door about 8 o'clock the morning and received no response."

"I am a sound sleeper," was the response, "and lately I have been overworked. No maiden tap would awake me."

"If I had known that a man occupied this flat alone," said Miss Williamson, "I would not have taken the lower one."

"I don't occupy it. I am only permitted to use it temporarily. Besides, where's the harm? I come in at 2 a. m. and you go out about 8."

"Nevertheless I shall give up my rooms."

Miss Williamson gave the story as it has been told here—how she had been so upset by the strange sounds above her that she had blundered at her work and been discharged. She was out of a position, and now she must leave the only home she had.

"You shall not leave your home," said the reporter, "for I will cease to come here. As for a position, I think I can get you one with the city editor of my paper, who is in need of a stenographer."

A way was finally found by which the newspaper man remained, and Miss Williamson did not accept the position offered her. They concluded to marry, and the lady moved upstairs.

After the singing of the opening ode and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer, the Secretary's reports were given.

Mrs. Fred Hamm, of Ernesttown W. I., was present, and gave a most interesting address on Japan. Mrs. Hamm handled her subject well, as she had recently spent some time in that country.

Mrs. Miller gave a paper on "Days of Yore and Present Days."

Mrs. Geo. Ham, the delegate to the convention at Kingston, gave a splendid report.

Reports from the different committees, and discussions, followed. Among some of the matters discussed was the immigration question. What Institutes could do to help newcomers, both boys and girls?

The question of sending out Christmas baskets was brought up. Conway Institute has been for some time past remembering the poor in the neighborhood at the Christmas season.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Gurren. The meeting will take place in the evening, instead of the afternoon.

OBITUARY

There passed away on Nov. 3rd, 1927, at his home, two and one-half miles east of Violet, Mr. Rod ney Peters, a well known and respected farmer. Mr. Peters was the eldest son of the late Solomon Peters and Sarah Jane Brown, of Newburgh, who predeceased him some thirty years ago. In his early life he purchased the farm which was owned at one time by the late C. Ketchesen, where he lived and died. He married the eldest daughter of the late Anson Peters, and to them one child was born, Earl. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to himself and mother.

Rodney was the eldest of a family of ten children. He leaves to mourn, besides his wife and son, Albert, of Ohio; Agnes, of Winnipeg (who died two years ago); Eleanor, of Syracuse; Saltern, Lorenzo; Clara (Mrs. W. Willis), Rochester; Richard, Pennsylvania; Stanley, Rochester; Blanche (Mrs. J. F. Deschane), Napanee; Mabel (Mrs. T. Gatz), Rochester.

He was also a member of Odessa A.F. & A.M. and I.O.O.F., who attended in a body and was buried under their service in St. Luke's Cemetery, Camden East, where the funeral was held. Rev. Mr. Spencer conducted the burial service.

ENTERPRISE

We are having lots of rain for the last week, but our little town is busy just the same.—Housecleaning and entertainments are the order of the day. — Some of our boys have returned from the golden west, but enjoy returning to their home town. —The quilting, and Irish stew supper, which was to be held under the auspices of the W. M. S., in the United Church on Wednesday of this week, was postponed to a future date, on account of the funeral of an old and much esteemed resident in the person of Mrs. Jos. Wagar, who passed away on Monday, after an extended illness. Much sympathy goes out to the sorrowing husband and children. — Mrs. Reuben Hartwick is suffering from a fractured limb, but we are glad to hear that she is improving at time of writing.—Mrs. Wm. Loucks, who fell and sprained her ankle four weeks ago, is still suffering from the effects.—A number of our boys have gone on their annual deer hunt, and some have returned with their game.—Mr. R. H. Wagar is putting on a new steel roof on the United Church parsonage verandah. —We would like to draw the attention of the public to our church festivals.—A special feature will be in the Community Hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, when a colored troupe will be present to sing and entertain.. Come one, come all, and enjoy this treat that we cannot secure very often.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 26th, a pie social and entertainment will be given in the United Church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, for the small sum of 10c. Pie, sanwiches and coffee will be served, and entertainment, all for the small sum of 10c. Come all who like pie, and we will treat you well. The bazaar goods will be on display both afternoon and evening of this date at reduced prices. Come and buy your Christmas presents now and help a good cause.—Mr. Geo. Kellar, sr., who has been ill for so long a time, remains about the same.—Miss Irene Reeves spent Sunday the guest of Miss Muriel Loucks.—A large crowd, as usual, was at the balloon dance in the Community Hall last Friday night. —There will be another dance here on Friday night, Nov. 25th, with Stephen's orchestra. — Mr. Ford Wagar, Napanee, spent Sunday at his home here.

DORLAND

The recent showers were quite acceptable, as the wells are low to begin the winter. — The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Magee on Wednesday afternoon. An interesting report was given of the convention held in Kingston on Nov. 1st and 2nd. The December meeting will be held at Mrs. Geo. Smith's. — A number from here attended the anniversary services at Conway last Sunday. — The Ladies' Aid met at the church on Tuesday afternoon for a business meeting. — Mr. Lawrence Magee and sister motored to Courtice last week and visited Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Stainton. They also called at Clairmont, and other points.—The U. E. L. cheese factory will close on Friday, after a successful season. — Mr. Stephen Mack made a business trip to Montreal last week. —The prices at the auction sale of R. J. Allison's stock and implements were very reasonable.—Mrs. Gertrude Love, of Milford, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Magee.—Mr. Keith Magee is spending some time at Milford. — Mrs. T. Chalmers visited in Desoronto last week.

RE-BUILDING LONDON STREETS.

Almost £15,000,000 Has Been Spent on Regent Street.

Dick Whittington came to London on the strength of information to the effect that the streets there were paved with gold. Everyone knows the rest of the story—how disappointed he was to find that the marvellous tale was untrue, says London Answers.

But, if Whittington could come back to London to-day, he would realise that his informants were not the fibbers he thought they were, but merely good prophets. Some of the new streets which have been rebuilt and altered in various parts of London are pretty nearly worth their weight in the most precious of all metals.

Take, for instance, the new Regent Street, which is the latest of London's thoroughfares to be modernised. It is estimated that a sum of net less than £15,000,000 has been spent upon re-building and improving it; individual premises have, in some cases, been responsible for an outlay of £500,000.

Some idea of the value of shops and offices in this street now, as compared with last century, can be gathered from the fact that premises for which the old Crown leases were granted at a rental of £27 per annum have now gone up to £2,000 a year. The sum spent on the construction of the original Regent Street by the Office of Woods and Forests was only just over £1,500,000.

Streets all over the metropolis are in the builders' hands just now, and, even where complete alteration is not being carried out, blocks of elaborate new buildings, occupying some hundreds of feet of frontage, are being erected. Millions of pounds have been spent in Piccadilly, where the new Swan & Edgar building, the Devonshire House flats, and two new hotels have been completed within the last year.

The actual City district is no exception to the general rule; contracts amounting to many millions sterling have been placed by banks, insurance companies, and other wealthy business concerns.

Toes as Fingers.

A little girl, aged twelve, who was born without arms, has, by reason of the care shown to her at the Bethesda Home, Manchester, England, acquired the same dexterity with her feet as a normal person shows with hands, and is able to feed herself and write with her toes.

To Be Completed This Year.

Alberta's trunk highway from Edmonton to the United States border will be completed this year. Then the province will start a program of better connecting links throughout the province.

Gives £100,000.

To establish a college of mining and engineering in a new university in Burma, a gift of £100,000 has been made by the Burma Oil Co.

Sir Joshua Reynolds, looking at a sketch in a dealer's window, inquired the price and was told it was twenty guineas.

"Twenty pence, I suppose you mean," said the great painter.

"No, sir," was the reply, "I would have taken twenty pence for it one hour ago, but if Sir Joshua approves thereof it is worth looking at, all the world will think it worth buying."

Sir Joshua ordered the sketch sent to his house.

Clarence McGuin, of Kingston, has moved to the village.—Mr. and Mrs. Kimmerly, of Toronto, and Mrs. Glass, of Trenton, are visiting with Mrs. Norman Rickey's.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Calver, of Oshawa, have moved into the village.—A large crowd was attracted to the Masonic Hall, on Friday evening, Nov. 4th, when the Eckardt Family of Bellringers, presented an enjoyable programme.—A Australian girl, whose ability to do most things of everyday life without the use of arms—she was born with our arms—has amazed everyone with whom she has come in contact, writes the Australian correspondent.

Twenty years ago, when she was born, her mother prayed that the baby girl might die rather than go through life without arms. And yet the daughter has proved a blessing and a joy to her mother.

When Miss Brockendart was a baby the curious flocked to see her. Many offers were made to her mother by showmen, who wished to teach the helpless girl to write with a pen between her teeth and to introduce her as an attraction in their sideshows. Mother love was too strong, however, and though her purse was none too richly lined Mrs. Brockendart engaged a private tutor to do what he could for her child. At first it was proposed that the girl should be taught to write with her teeth, but Miss Brockendart solved the puzzle by deciding to "educate" her toes.

It was found that, with practice, she could hold a pencil between her big toe and the one next to it on her right foot. Many months of patient endeavor were rewarded when she managed to scrawl huge letters and figures.

Months passed into years, with the toes becoming daily more flexible, and eventually until they rivaled fingers. By this time Lilly had acquired such control that she could, by using crayons, make fairly presentable drawings in colors. Then she tried the slender brushes used by artists and essayed water-color paintings.

Lilly now aspired to become a poet and writer. To add flame to the fuel of her desires, some generous friend presented her with a typewriter. But it is not quite so easy to operate a typewriter with one's toes as it is to hold a pen or pencil between them. At first Lilly was in despair. She would sit by the hour trying to use her toes to spell out words on the typewriter. Ultimately, a bright idea came to her. She had tried to use thimbles on her toes, and out of their use came the solution of her difficulty. She wrote to a rubber manufacturer, giving details of her needs, the measurements of her toes, and instructions regarding the use of hard rubber tips she wished made.

A SEVENTH CONTINENT.

Explorer Believes Land Lies Under the Antarctic Ice Floes.

Existence beneath the vast ice floes of the Antarctic of a seventh continent, an unknown but habitable land twice the size of North America is claimed by Sir Douglas Mawson, noted Australian explorer and scientist. His belief, he says, was established on his last expedition to the Antarctic two years ago, when he discovered King George Land and other islands, and he has since been working for an expedition to search for the continent in 1928 or 1929.

Sir Douglas believed the undiscovered land to be the depositary of fabulous mineral wealth. Prospectors possibly gold, silver, copper, iron and oil, which may some day augment the world's diminishing supplies.

He further believes that human life can be established and maintained on the new continent, although it may be necessary "to live underground and with many artificial helps to existence." The first step, he said, would be in "coast settlements."

Mawson declared that pounding ocean currents and their phenomena had helped him reach his conclusions on the hidden continent. He remained with the belief that within forty years the continent will be populated "and its mines will be working."

DENMARK'S NEW STAMPS.

New Series Outlines Ancient Sailing Vessel.

One of the favorite popular titles of the late Queen Alexandra was that given to her on her arrival in England in 1863 to become the bride of the Prince of Wales, the future King Edward VII. The title was "The Sea-King's daughter over the sea."

There has been nothing about the British stamps since the war to represent the renown Denmark has won on the seas, but a new series of stamps, engraved by A. Delzers, fills the gap. The bold outlines of an ancient sailing vessel are picked out in white against a background of solid color on these new stamps, with a three-masted barque as the result. The stamps are printed on paper with the watermark of multiple crosses as used for Denmark's issues since 1912. Six denominations have appeared, namely, 15 ore carmine, 20 ore grey, 25 ore light blue, 30 ore orange, 35 ore red-brown, and 40 ore green.

Indians' Good Work.

The Indians of the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—during the past year have found figures one million bushels of grain, of which about half, or 488,000 bushels, was wheat, according to a recent Government report. There are about 35,000 Indians in the area in question and the increase in value of their use includes some of the most fertile soil in the Province. They had 97,000 acres under cultivation in 1926. They own about 25,000 head of cattle and 35,000 horses of a good type.

A Mandatory Territory.

Tanganyika is the portion of the former German East Africa, which was entrusted to British administration under a mandate of the League of Nations. The capital is Dar-es-Salaam, the "harbor of peace."

New Series Outlines Ancient Sailing Vessel.

One of the favorite popular titles of the late Queen Alexandra was that given to her on her arrival in England in 1863 to become the bride of the Prince of Wales, the future King Edward VII. The title was "The Sea-King's daughter over the sea."

There has been nothing about the British stamps since the war to represent the renown Denmark has won on the seas, but a new series of stamps, engraved by A. Delzers, fills the gap. The bold outlines of an ancient sailing vessel are picked out in white against a background of solid color on these new stamps, with a three-masted barque as the result. The stamps are printed on paper with the watermark of multiple crosses as used for Denmark's issues since 1912. Six denominations have appeared, namely, 15 ore carmine, 20 ore grey, 25 ore light blue, 30 ore orange, 35 ore red-brown, and 40 ore green.

Indians' Good Work.

The Indians of the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—during the past year have found figures one million bushels of grain, of which about half, or 488,000 bushels, was wheat, according to a recent Government report. There are about 35,000 Indians in the area in question and the increase in value of their use includes some of the most fertile soil in the Province. They had 97,000 acres under cultivation in 1926. They own about 25,000 head of cattle and 35,000 horses of a good type.

A Curious Mental Condition

It Was Experienced by a Tourist.

By ALAN HINSDALE

I was standing on sand and could hear the plash of waves, but could see nothing about me, for I was enveloped in mist. A rocking sensation made me doubt whether I was ashore or on the water. Another singular feature was a faint singing of birds—so faint, indeed, that I doubted whether I heard them or a ringing in my ears. There were occasional voices about me, having a mellow sound, as if spoken on a Mother love was too strong, however, and though her purse was none too richly lined Mrs. Brockendart engaged a private tutor to do what he could for her child. At first it was proposed that the girl should be taught to write with her teeth, but Miss Brockendart solved the puzzle by deciding to "educate" her toes.

It was found that, with practice, she could hold a pencil between her big toe and the one next to it on her right foot. Many months of patient endeavor were rewarded when she managed to scrawl huge letters and figures.

Months passed into years, with the toes becoming daily more flexible, and eventually until they rivaled fingers. By this time Lilly had acquired such control that she could, by using crayons, make fairly presentable drawings in colors. Then she tried the slender brushes used by artists and essayed water-color paintings.

Lilly now aspired to become a poet and writer. To add flame to the fuel of her desires, some generous friend presented her with a typewriter. But it is not quite so easy to operate a typewriter with one's toes as it is to hold a pen or pencil between them. At first Lilly was in despair. She would sit by the hour trying to use her toes to spell out words on the typewriter. Ultimately, a bright idea came to her. She had tried to use thimbles on her toes, and out of their use came the solution of her difficulty. She wrote to a rubber manufacturer, giving details of her needs, the measurements of her toes, and instructions regarding the use of hard rubber tips she wished made.

A SEVENTH CONTINENT.

Explorer Believes Land Lies Under the Antarctic Ice Floes.

Existence beneath the vast ice floes of the Antarctic of a seventh continent, an unknown but habitable land twice the size of North America is claimed by Sir Douglas Mawson, noted Australian explorer and scientist. His belief, he says, was established on his last expedition to the Antarctic two years ago, when he discovered King George Land and other islands, and he has since been working for an expedition to search for the continent in 1928 or 1929.

Sir Douglas believed the undiscovered land to be the depositary of fabulous mineral wealth. Prospectors possibly gold, silver, copper, iron and oil, which may some day augment the world's diminishing supplies.

He further believes that human life can be established and maintained on the new continent, although it may be necessary "to live underground and with many artificial helps to existence." The first step, he said, would be in "coast settlements."

Mawson declared that pounding ocean currents and their phenomena had helped him reach his conclusions on the hidden continent. He remained with the belief that within forty years the continent will be populated "and its mines will be working."

Next I was lying on a lounge looking out of an open window. The air was clear as crystal. Before me rose a range of snow capped mountains. Over them was a white cloud. But was it a cloud? No; it was a peak far above its fellows, with a strip of cloud beneath it that gave it the appearance of a peak. How high it was! It seemed to mingle with the heavens' blue. I arose and went to the window to get a better view of its summit. When I leaned out and looked up at it it seemed higher, higher, all the while higher. My brain began to whirl. I returned to my lounge. I was weak and languid.

While I was recovering from my giddiness a door opened and my lost love came into the room. At first she looked anxious, then smiled.

For a moment I was in doubt if it were really she. It did not appear that she was changed, but I thought I looked at her through different eyes from before. Her figure did not face me, but she was looking at me sidewise. I was troubled. I longed for her, she was with me, but I was not sure she was the same person. While I gazed in perplexity she turned, and I saw the birthmark on her neck. Then she came to me, seemingly wading through water, and took my hand. I drew her down beside me and said reproachfully:

"Why did you leave me?"

"I couldn't help it, I was fate. Everything changes in this world."

It did not occur to me that this was a vague answer. At any rate, I was satisfied with it.

"Are you going away again?" I asked.

"No, not now; some day."

"When will that be?"

"A long, long while from now."

"And will you love me until this separation comes?"

"I will love you always, here and where I go."

"I will go with you. You shall not go without me."

Then hand in hand we were climbing the mountain I had seen from the window. We seemed to be ascending as if buoyed by wings. Eager to reach that cloudlike summit I had seen, we pressed on and on, but whenever I looked up to see if we neared it we were as far below as before. Turning to look back, the houses beneath appeared like ant hills. Then I felt the snow slowly moving beneath me.

"It is an avalanche!" I exclaimed.

We were being carried to the valley and hand in hand slid down the mountain. Though we moved with accelerated pace, we kept our feet. We were like two gulls soaring, then, turning their wings ashant, sailing down an aerial incline. Suddenly the snow before us took up a pile up against the base of a cliff. We lost our balance, and, head downward, I felt tons of snow piling on top of me.

"You bonehead!" I heard a voice say close beside me. "If there's no internal injury he will be all right."

I opened my eyes, and, lying on hard snow, while people stood about me, all looking very anxious. One of them, a girl, stood gazing down upon me with a pair of mild eyes in which there was a world of sympathy. There must have been something in my glance to cause her, for she lowered her eyes, blushed and turned away. As she did so she exposed one side of her neck. It bore a birthmark shaped like a rose leaf.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"Matter! Why, you have fallen twenty feet from the ledge up there."

I remembered passing over a ledge, but I didn't remember anything else.

"How long have I been unconscious?" I asked.

"You fell this very minute. Here; take a little of this."

A party of tourists happened to be passing when I fell and among them a doctor. From where I lay I could see the Alpine peak Jungfrau. I had been looking at it during the period of my unconsciousness, which might have been an infinitesimally small fraction of time. I had seen the girl with a birthmark only during the same space of time.

They wished to assist me to the hotel just below, at Sheldig, but I concluded to try my legs. The doctor gave me his hand, and I got on my feet. One of the tourists who stood about me volunteered to go with me, but I got on fairly well without his assistance.

What I have recorded is the beginning of a love story; but, though I have no objection to telling a dream, I shrink from giving the thoughts and feelings of myself and the lady of my love. I was less interested in discovering whether I had displaced any of my interest in getting on the track of the girl with a birthmark. I missed her at Sheldig, but saw her for a moment on the Lucerne steamboat at Interlaken, sipping a lemonade. I dogged her footsteps for days before I succeeded in corralling her—that is, before I could find her lighted, so to speak, and I could get a mutual acquaintance to introduce me. I finally cornered her on the Rigi near Lucerne, and, as luck would have it, my friend Jim Thompson was there, too, and was acquainted with her.

I expected under the influence of my dream that I should have as easy a time getting her as I had during that of my interest in the birthmark girl period. Instead, I had a real woman to deal with and not a creation of my own fancy.

There was no dream for her. I was to her an ordinary personage with whom neither dreams nor romance had anything to do. I was obliged to lay siege to her heart and advance by regular approaches. I made very slow progress. Nevertheless by persistence I finally conquered, and it was not till then that I told her this story.

"My wife had a strange accident the other day. As she was walking along a man's hat blew off and struck her eye. It cost me five bucks for the doctor's bill."

"That's nothing. My wife was on the street the other day and a hat in a window struck her eye and it cost me fifty dollars."

The Owner's Unexpected Return

Did He See a Ghost?

By PAULINE D. EDWARDS

"The Society For Psychical Research is doing some good work lately," said Gilbert to his friend Slade as they sat beside the open fire. "I believe the time will come when it will show a scientific relation between mortality and immortality."

"I do not believe in ghosts," said John Slade emphatically.

Daniel Gilbert drew his chair nearer to the crackling blaze.

"I never believed in ghosts—until last year," he said quietly.

"What happened last year?" Slade's tone was skeptical.

"I saw a ghost."

"Where had you been dining?" laughed Slade.

"I hadn't dined at all. I came down to the Elms quite unexpectedly. I wanted to look up some papers that I knew to be in the library. The house had been closed all summer, and at this time even the caretaker was away for a few days.

"My plan was to dine at the village inn, go up to the Elms, spend the evening searching for the papers, sleep in my old room, and take the first train to town after breakfast. My train was several hours late, and when we arrived in Elmville the inn was shut up for the night. If you are acquainted with our village boniface you will understand that for neither love nor money nor 'auld lang syne' would he open his doors to a guest after midnight. So it meant a dinnerless tramp up to the house.

"It was nearly 1 o'clock when I entered the avenue, and I was surprised to find the iron gates of the drive wide open. That was against my orders.

"It was a dark night. The stars shone brightly and a young moon threw a thin silver veil of light in the open spaces. As I came in sight of the house I stopped still in my tracks.

"You may not believe me, John, but my house was a blaze of light from basement to cupola, and from behind the lighted windows came the strains of an orchestra, while forms floated to and fro in swaying rhythm to the waltz melody.

"As I stood rooted to the spot the church clock in the village struck once, and as if by magic the music ceased and all motion stopped behind the thin curtains. An instant later every light in the house died out as if extinguished by some mighty breath. I ran up the steps and fitted my key in the great lock. It yielded, and the heavy door swung outward to my touch.

"I threw a ray of light about the great entrance hall and reached for the button to switch on the electric lights. The button clicked without response. Again and again I tried, but in vain.

"A search of the drawing room and library revealed the same condition. The current was shut off and probably had been since the departure of the caretaker.

"I lighted the large oil lamp on the library table. It was an easy matter to dig out the documents I wanted and store them into my leather bag. As I set the bag on the floor I saw lying on the Turkish rug a white rose, fresh and fragrant, as if just plucked.

"This was no earthly blossom I decided as I held it before me on the table. And then I had another shock, for almost under my hand and in the very spot on which I had placed my bag when entering the room was a small lace handkerchief. Across one corner was embroidered in tiny letters a girl's name."

Gilbert blew a cloud of smoke that obscured his face. John Slade leaned forward in his chair.

"And the name—the girl's name?" he asked quickly.

"Viola—just Viola," said Gilbert dreamily.

"That is not all of the story," said Slade impatiently. "Go on, old man."

"No; that is not all. I turned to the mantelpiece and leaned my head against the high shelf, trying to solve the mystery of my house, for to my knowledge no woman save the caretaker/an old black mammy, had darkened—or shall I say brightened?—my doors for several years.

"When I turned back to the table the handkerchief was gone!

"With hardly a thought as to whether I was seeking shadow or substance I thrust the rose in my pocket, and, snapping on my pocket electric, I hastened into the hall. There was a gleam of white in the distance, and I pursued it. It flicked around a corner and disappeared up a small spiral staircase that led to the second floor.

"When I reached the top of the stairs the bit of white became a woman's graceful form, with some ethereal garment of filmy stuff floating behind her. And as I followed I seemed to be walking among violets.

"Down the grand staircase she vanished, this time with little clicking heels on the polished floor. I held her steadily in my ray of light and was after her like a flash. We crossed the drawing room, and then she disappeared through the panelled door that leads into the west gallery—you know that long, glass inclosed gallery that my father used as a winter parlor? She flew down the length, and I hoped to catch her at the end, but at the door, leading into the gardens she turned her face toward me for one instant, and, by Jove, John, she was the loveliest girl I ever laid eyes upon—and you know I don't care for women!

"Just a glimpse of her beauty, and the door opened and closed sharply, leaving me alone in the west gallery. I was tired out by the exciting adventure of the night and too wide awake to sleep, so I went back to the library, got my bag, put out the light and left the house. I spent the night sitting on a bench in the railroad station, and it is needless to say that I took the first train to town."

"And that is all?" asked Slade after a little silence.

"Isn't it enough?"

"You didn't search the house, make any effort to discover whether the intruder was spook or human—didn't you do anything?"

"Nary thing. I went abroad the following week and at times forgot the incident. A few days ago it came back to me, and so I invited you down to spend this night with me at the Elms."

"Why this particular night?" demanded Slade suspiciously.

"Because it's the anniversary of my adventure with Viola," replied Gilbert coolly. "I want a witness to further demonstrations, you know."

John Slade sank back into the shadows of his chair and smoked thoughtfully. Once he burst into a reminiscent chuckle.

"I suspect you have lost your heart to this Viola, as you call her. Was she so lovely?"

"She was perfect," said Gilbert sincerely. "Her hair was that dusky black that frames the face mistily, you know; her eyes were almost golden and her brows fine and black like her hair; but her coloring, her features, her form—oh, I say, Slade, I can't get her face out of my mind!"

Slade lighted a fresh cigar. "I must tell you an incident of the same sort that happened to a friend of mine," he said solemnly, "and it may serve to throw light on your own affair."

"Out with it," said Gilbert briefly. "It's only 10 o'clock now. You have till midnight, John."

"This man owned a grand old place in the country, but he was a bachelor and never looked at it.

"There was a young cousin of the man's, a girl who was a beauty and a toast. Never mind her name. She has married and changed it for another. This girl was up to all sorts of mischief and pranks and carried a lot of scatterbrained young folk with her in many a harmless escapade.

"She conceived the idea of giving a ball in the old mansion of her cousin. Now, I have not the slightest doubt that the man would have gladly consented to turn the house over for such a merrymaking had they asked him. But, no; of course half the fun lay in the clandestine proceedings!

"And so one night when the moon was young and the aged caretaker off on leave several great automobiles rolled quietly up the long avenue, and the mischievous girl and her friends and their reluctant chaperons trooped through a side entrance and made their way to the great ballroom on the second floor.

"The room had been cleaned in some mysterious manner, and when the electric chandeliers were ablaze and the polished floor stretched forth an inviting surface the small orchestra they had brought tuned up, and the fun began. Several servants unpacked refreshments in an anteroom while the young people danced and between dances wandered over the grand old house lighted from top to bottom by Laura's"—

"Laura!" shouted Gilbert, but Slade interrupted:

"Hold on there, Danny! I didn't mean to make a slip! The house was lighted up and the dancing was going on and everything was going along finely when suddenly a messenger appeared among them. The station agent from the depot, who had known of the merrymaking, came to say that the owner had arrived at the station and was on his way to the house. He had jumped on his wheel and sped with the message.

"They worked fast and without judgment. One bright soul cut the electric light wires and plunged the house in total darkness. Before a search could be made for candles and escape made the front door was opened and the intruders heard footsteps below stairs. After awhile the library door opened, and all was silent.

"By aid of matches and the station master's bicycle lamp the party reached the ground floor and by stealth left the house. That was all part of the fun, don't you know. And then, just as they were going to leave, one of the girls discovered she had lost her pet handkerchief and was sure she had left it in the library. She recovered it, although she would not say how, and she was quite breathless when she climbed into the motor. And that is all."

Daniel Gilbert arose to his full height and laid his pipe on the mantel. "And that was Laura, who got up the party and everything. I shall bless your wife all her days, John, if she will introduce me to my ghost girl—Viola—Viola who?"

"Viola Blair. She happens to be visiting Laura now. I hardly think you'll find her in the west gallery tonight, Dan."

Gilbert pulled a time table from his pocket and looked at his watch. "She is quite free?" he asked abruptly.

Slade yawned and stretched his long arms luxuriously. "She was—er—until —we always thought she had met her fate just a year ago tonight. She has Former Napanee Man Meets Death in the West.

Two men met death in a gas filled farmhouse on a farm near Indian Head, Sask., on Saturday night. The victims were A. H. Mayhood, aged 64 years, farmer, formerly of Napanee, and his hired man, John Kovacic. Fumes from the pumping engine killed the men.

St. Andrew's W. M. S.

The November meeting of St. Andrew's W. M. S. was held on Friday last at 3 o'clock, a good attendance being present. Mrs. MacGregor read the scripture reading, after which a missionary creed was read in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and the Treasurer's report given. After the collection was taken, Mrs. Thompson led in the dedicatory prayer. The second chapter of the Study Book, "New Paths for Old Purposes," was read by Mrs. Valkman, after which a short prayer service was held specially for Oriental women and children. Tea was then served by Mrs. Metcalfe and Mrs. MacGregor.

GRACE CHURCH FOWL SUPPER AND CONCERT

The annual fowl supper which, as a rule, follows the anniversary services in Grace Church, took place on Monday night, and was a splendid success in every way. The weather man was very unkind, a drizzling rain setting in during the afternoon and continuing during the supper hour and concert which followed. The several tables in the newly renovated Sunday School rooms were prettily decorated and loaded with the many delicacies which appeal to the inner man, and it required several sittings to accommodate the large crowd, the town and surrounding district being well represented.

At the conclusion of the first sitting the people adjourned to the auditorium of the church, where the Sunday School orchestra rendered a special programme, it continuing until the regular programme was gotten under way, which was about 8.30.

The programme was furnished by Napanee talent, which has appeared on several occasions this fall throughout the Bellville district. Those contributing to the programme were: Mrs. Katherine Powell, Napanee's talented reader; Mrs. B. M. Black, pianist and accompanist; Mrs. B. Seymour, Mrs. C. D. Black, and Messrs. B. M. Black, C. A. Wiseman, C. D. Black, and B. Seymour. Mr. Reg. Wiseman, a Napanee boy, who is studying music at Syracuse, N.Y., and who spent Thanksgiving at his home here, also assisted with two delightful baritone solos. All the numbers were enthusiastically received, practically every number receiving an encore.

As a result of the supper and concert a handsome sum was realized on behalf of the Ladies' Aid under whose auspices it was held.

Church Bazaar and Euchre November 22nd.

The annual Bazaar, given by the ladies of the Church Women's Guild of St. Mary Magdalene, will be held in the Town Hall, on Tuesday, November 22nd, beginning at 11 o'clock a.m. Articles of all description, suitable for Christmas and other gifts, will be on sale; also tables laden with Home-Cooking and Candy. Afternoon Tea will be served by the ladies, and in the evening, at 8 o'clock, a Progressive Euchre will be held, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all, and at which refreshments will be served. A novel feature of the Bazaar will be a Bargain Department, which will be in the Council Chamber, where used clothing and other articles will be on sale. Don't miss it. 46a

WHY NOT THE BEST?

When a very superior article can be had at the same price as an inferior article one has no hesitation in taking the better one. That is human nature. In the Canadian newspaper field there is one "best", and that fact is admitted by all. The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is in a class entirely by itself, and Canada is proud of it. It is a wonderful combination of three publications, a great newspaper, a clean, wholesome family magazine and an agricultural paper without an equal. All three in one big 72 page paper, and all three for the price of one—only a dollar a year. You should have your own local paper without doubt, but your home would be enriched by the weekly visit of The Family Herald and Weekly Star. You will never regret it.

At last! A good School Fountain Pen for $1.00. Good, because it is made by Watermans. Wallace's, Napanee Agents.

"Yes, but I must have a hat to go without."

WEDDING BELLS.

MacLeod—Parks.

An interesting wedding, and one of the prettiest in detail, took place on Saturday evening, November 12th, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Okel B. Parks, Palace Road, Napanee, when their youngest daughter, Hazel Aldeen, was married to Mr. Donald J. MacLeod, M.A., only son of Mrs. John and the late John MacLeod, of Dunvegan, Ont. Rev. Harry Pawsun was the officiating clergyman. At the strains of the wedding march from "Mendelssohn", played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Stanley Sexsmith, who wore rust georgette with lace, and hat to match, the bride entered the drawing room, becomingly gowned in white French chiffon velvet enriched with rhinestone trimming in an openwork design, and wore a veil of embroidered tulle arranged very attractively with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She wore silver slippers, and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. The only ornament worn was a white gold wrist watch set with diamonds, the gift of the groom. Miss Carolyn Campbell, of Toronto, was bridesmaid, wearing a graceful gown of channel blue transparent velvet and Swiss georgette with silver lace and tulle hat to match. With this she wore silver slippers, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. Dr. John MacLeod, of New York City, cousin of the groom, was best man. During the signing of the register, Mr. Harold Collier, of Kingston, cousin of the bride, sang "Until".

Following the ceremony the bride and groom received in a bower of yellow and mauve mums made particularly attractive by a large sheaf of premier roses and lily of the valley, the gift of the Rotary Club, Fredericton, N.B. Mrs. Parks, mother of the bride, was gowned in black silk chiffon velvet with gold lace and wore a corsage bouquet of american beauty roses. Mrs. Samuel Collier, of Picton, wore rose flowered charmeuse with black jets and corsage bouquet of premier roses. The mother of the bride, assisted by Mrs. Collier, received with the bride and groom. A dainty buffet luncheon was served to about seventy guests by Mrs. Cos Card, Miss Florence Parks and Miss Helen Sexsmith. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaid and pianist were bar pins, to the best man gold cuff-links, and to the soloist a gold eversharp pencil.

Later Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod left for a trip to Buffalo and points west, the bride travelling in a smart costume of blue and grey with hat and shoes to match. On their return they will reside at 158 Charlotte St., Fredericton, N.B. Mr. MacLeod has a responsible position as plant pathologist for the Provinces of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Edna Collier, Ottawa; Mrs. Samuel Collier, Picton; Mrs. Harold Collier, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Petry, Miss Percy, Kingston; Mr. Mc-Rae, Queen's University, Kingston; Mrs. McQueen and Miss Margaret MacLeod, Dunvegon, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, Montreal.

The many friends of Mrs. Arthur Davis will be sorry to hear that she passed away recently at her daughter's home, in Memphis, Tennessee. The deceased was formerly Miss Hattie Breden, a sister of Lady Sharpe, London, and Dr. Willana Breden, Los Angeles. Their childhood and school days were spent here, and were granddaughters of the late Robert Breden. Mrs. Davis had lived in Los Angeles for a number of years before visiting her daughter.—Among the Thanksgiving guests were Mrs. Sterling Allan and Mr. Wm. Brant, Barrister and Solicitor, Toronto, with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Graham; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Knapp and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Williams, Bloomfield, with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith; the Misses Arthur, Ross and Percy Clark, accompanied by Mr. Lynch, Oshawa, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Clark; Dr. and Mrs. Ross Parrott and little son, Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Caton, Toronto, with Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fraser; Charley Hamm, Barrister and Solicitor, Toronto, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hamm; Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Aylesworth, Madoc, were also their guests for a few days; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Long and little daughter, Dorothy, with Mrs. Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson.—Judge Deroche and Mrs. Deroche, Belleville, and Mrs. J. G. Etinger, Kingston, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith.—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Swift and little daughter, Catherine, spent Thanksgiving and the week end with Mr. Swift's father in Cobourg.—Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham with relatives in Aultsville.—Mrs. Sidney Sprouls visited friends in Cobourg for a few days.—Mrs. Lewis Snider has returned from spending the past three weeks with relatives in Sydenham.—Stanley Sprouls lost a valuable horse last Wednesday by slipping on the ice.—Mrs. George Benjamin and son, Roy, of Michigan, have taken apartments at Mrs. D. I. Hartman's, for the winter months.—Miss Swift, of Almonte, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Swift.

TAMWORTH W.M.S.

On Thursday, Nov. 10th, the W. M. S. of the United Church, Tamworth, held their Thank-offering meeting in the R. S. building.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, a large number of members and visitors were in attendance. After the usual opening exercises, Miss Marion Redden sang a solo, Mrs. A. B. Carscallen and Mrs. Crich a duett. Mrs. Jerry Donovan then gave a very detailed report of the W. M. S. Convention held at Centreville. Mrs. Lochead then read a solo.

The speaker of the evening was then introduced, i.e., Mrs. Anderson, of Newburgh. She gave a very instructive and heart to heart talk, under the following heads:—1 Christ Christ, 2 Love Christ, 3 Give Christ. She tried to impress upon the W. M. S. members their responsibilities and privileges. Our first privilege was to "Love Christ"; then living Christ and giving Christ would result. Her concluding remarks were to Give Christ by giving the best of our time and talents and means to help spread the glad tidings of His love to those who know Him not.

After a hearty vote of thanks tendered to Mrs. Anderson, the meeting closed with a hymn and prayer.

A very delicious lunch was then served, and a pleasant half hour spent.

Amount in envelopes taken at the meeting was $17.50.

You have read about the wonderful Sheaffer Fountain Pen, that is unconditionally guaranteed for the lifetime of the owner. If point, barrel, cap, or in fact, the whole pen is broken in any way, we have parts or the whole Pen is replaced free. Wallace's are sole agents for Napanee.

ERNESTTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The November Women's Institute meeting taxed our seating capacity, as there were over fifty present, which made our executive rather glad we could have to invest in more chairs.

The meeting opened as usual, with President welcomed the visitors from Odessa, Cheweay, Bath, and Ernestown, those who came to sale partook of those who were just visitors.

The minutes of the October meeting were read and approved. The secretary's residence was read, followed by discussion.

Before the program began Mrs. Hamm spoke of the very instructive and interesting sewing-dressmaking class, conducted most capably, by Miss Owens, and urged all members who could to take advantage of it.

The delegate, Mrs. Gordon Young, gave a graphic account of the King's son convention on Nov. 1st and 2nd, which was instructive to all, and especially to those who could not attend the convention.

Mrs. Shelley Demyes, of Odessa, then gave a most amusing reading from Nellie McClung. Those who have heard Mrs. Demyes know how splendidly she gives that style of reading.

Dr. Northmore, of Bath, gave us an interesting and forceful address on "The Need of the Practical Nurse". He first thanked us for the honor extended to him in being asked to address such a gathering of intelligent women, and remarked that where the Women's Institute was in active existence he could always notice the marked improvement along the line of domestic science and general social uplift. He then lucidly explained the benefit a partially trained girl or woman would be to a physician, in cases where regular trained nurse could not be afforded.

In closing his address he said he would also like to have the matter brought before the National Council of Women, which the President said would be done, as our branch was affiliated with the Kingston Local Council.

Mrs. Thomas Gilpen and Mrs. John Spearing, of Conway, and Mrs. Nelson Smith, of Odessa, were asked to judge the cookies, which they did, awarding the prize, a pretty box bon dish, to Mrs. Harold Kilpatrick.

Mrs. Herbert Laidky moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Northmore, Mrs. Denyes, Mrs. Young, and the three judges, which was seconded by Mrs. Andrew Hyatt, followed by a hearty clap.

While tea was being served, the 1st Vice President brought in a large birthday cake with one candle, as each Branch was one year old in November, which was cut by the President. Mrs. Fred Hamm, and passed by the Secretary, Mrs. Gordon Young.

DEATH OF E. McLAUGHLIN

On Wednesday evening, at his home on John Street, Mr. E. McLaughlin, passed away. Mr. McLaughlin for many years has been a prominent figure in Napanee and district. He was the agent for the C. P. R. Telegraph Company, and supervised the transfer of the local mails. This brought him into contact with the townsfolk daily and made for him a great host of friends by whom he will be greatly missed. He was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, and for a number of years a devoted and energetic member of the Board of Management. As a member of the local Oddfellows organization, of the Masonic Order and the Chapter, he devoted much time to these fraternal societies.

About a year or two ago Mr. McLaughlin began to fail in health, and finally in December of last year an operation was decided on. It afforded temporary relief, but it was seen at that time he was suffering from an incurable malady. For about ten weeks he has been confined to his bed, cheerful, and accompanying to the very last, he finally passed away on Wednesday.

Besides brothers and sisters at a distance, there are left to mourn his loss in Napanee, his wife, who has carried on the business during his illness; a son, William, in the employ of the C.N.R., and two daughters, Vivian, a teacher in the Collegiate, and Geraldine, at home.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family in their sorrow.

The funeral takes place at his late home, this (Friday) afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock.

OBITUARY

John Albert Davis,

One of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of the Township of Richmond, in the person of Mr. John Albert Davis, passed away to the "Great Beyond", on Tuesday, November 1st, 1927.

The deceased, who was in his 57th year, had been a patient sufferer for many months, and from the nature of the malady all hope for recovery had been abandoned.

Additional pathos is added to the passing away by the fact of the death of his brother, the late Mr. Alvin Davis, who predeceased him by only a few months.

The late Mr. Davis was a life long resident of the county and district, and his passing will be learned with regret by a wide circle of friends.

For some time he was in the Kingston General Hospital undergoing treatment, but the best of medical skill was unavailing in the end.

The funeral service was held at the family residence, on Thursday, Nov. 3rd, and was one of the largely attended. Despite the downpour of rain, a host of friends and neighbors were present to pay their last tribute of respect. The service was in charge of Rev. T. Woodger, Minister of Grace United Church, who, in the course of a very appropriate sermon, referred very feelingly to the patient suffering during the long illness of the deceased.

The late Mr. Davis leaves to mourn his loss his widow, one son, Albert, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Hagerman. He also leaves two brothers, George and Jeff, and five sisters, Mrs. E. W. Dafoe of Miss Nancy Davis, of Napanee; Mrs. E. D. Robinson and Mrs. Martin Bradshaw, of Selby, and Mrs. Martin Davis, of Michigan.

Many friends accompanied the funeral cortege to Napanee, interment taking place at Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. James Lake Miller.

Mrs. James Lake Miller, of Switzerville, after a brief illness, passed peacefully away at her home, on Friday, November 17th, 1927, in her 86th year.

The deceased was formerly Mary Emily Frazer, and was the wife of Allen McLain Fraser and Harriet Ellen Elliott. She was born in the Township of Ernestown.

She was a faithful member of the Methodist Church in Switzerville, and was always kind and charitable. Mrs. Miller was a charter and Life Member of the W. M. S. of that church.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, five sons, Harvey E., of Fort Hope, Ont.; Albert R., at Morven; Allen F., at Elm Grove; Victor V., of Fort Saskatchewan; Lemuel W., Switzerville; Jewelle Emily and Lillian Blanche, New York City, and Wilma Eleanor, at home.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held Sunday afternoon, from her late residence, where the service was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. W. R. Herrick, assisted by Rev. A. C. Wilson, of St. Andrew's United Church Napanee. She was laid to rest beside her husband, in Riverside cemetery. The pall bearers were her sons, Harvey, Fred and Ernest, and sons-in-law, J. E. Johnston and C. W. Vandervoort, and nephew, Dr. G. F. Cliff.

G. F. C. TAMWORTH, REMEMBERS THE FALLEN

On Armistice Sunday, after the Orange Memorial sermon, the members of the G. F. C. of Tamworth, accompanied by the Orangemen, marched in a body from the church to the War Memorial for the purpose of decorating it.

Mrs. E. Glinson, President of the Guild, and Mrs. J. Copeland, mother of four sons who served, preceded the procession with a beautiful wreath which Mrs. Copeland later placed on the monument.

After finishing the monument the gathering joined in singing, "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past". Rev. Mr. Berkstead made a few appropriate remarks, and closed the service with a short prayer.

The G. F. C. members were distinguished by the wearing of a poppy as a memorial to those who lie in Flanders Fields.

TRUSTING THE PEOPLE

The Beaver has authorized the Santa Claus Committee to go on with the work for the children. We haven't the money with which to pay the bills that will be incurred, but we are "trusting the people".

Other years it has been cold weather at this time of the year, and people seem not to think of Christmas until the cold and snow arrive. But it comes whether there is snow or not.

We have not received many donations for this fund to date, yet the expenditure is authorized, for we cannot wait until the last minute. It takes a good deal of time and thought to prepare adequate gifts for fifty or sixty children. And remember there are children that will have no Christmas unless it comes through the Beaver Santa Claus fund. While we are spending so much for ourselves and our friends, do not forget those of our own town who are needy.

Please do not delay. Bring or send your donation to the Beaver Office; make cheques payable to Beaver Santa Claus Fund.

Bring the matter to the attention of your club, your lodge, or society. Encourage the children to share their good things with others. No matter how small the amount, it will be welcome. But of course we must have some generous ones as well from those who can afford it.

Every cent will be acknowledged and 100% of it will be spent on the purpose for which it is given.

ILLUSTRATION FARM AT ORION VISITED

Experimental Farm Experts See Crops That Look Good for 40 Bushels

On the evening of July 25th a successful meeting was held at the Illustration Station of the Experimental Farms branch, located upon the farm of Mr. G. Wagar, Orion. Thirty farmers of the district were present. The program consisted of an inspection of the vegetable garden, a trip over the station fields, and an address from Mr. W. D. Hay, assistant superintendent, Experimental Station, Lethbridge.

The garden, a fairly extensive one, was in clean neat condition and carried all the classes of vegetables that are common to and profitable for the farm home. Garden peas were abundant and in use. With four varieties of corn, Improved Squaw was the furthest advanced, being in the silking stage. Of special interest was the strawberry section. From three rows of plants for weeks past fruit for canning and for table use three times a week, as well as for other means of distribution, had been picked.

Mr. Wagar observed in discussing the work that anyone could grow their own strawberries.

In the review of the station fields, Mr. Everest, supervisor, drew the attention of those present in a complimentary way to the excellent condition in which Mr. Wagar had his work in lines straight, fallows back, cornfield clean, clear edges to wheat fields, and fence sides trim.

Nine five-acre fields comprise the work. On these fields were viewed and discussed wheat on May plowed summerfallow, wheat on June plowed fallow, wheat second crop on spring cultivation, western rye grass seeded in wheat, sweet clover seeded in wheat, a field of oats and sweet clover, the oats a substitute hay crop in a sparse stand of sweet clover, fallows spring disced, June plowed and now in black shape with one cultivation; and a field of corn above the knees in height, a fair stand, and the whole station head in appearance. Wheat fields were standing well above the waist, fully in head, and the comment was passed, "No better grain in the neighborhood."

Gathering in the yard under the protection of a mosquitto smudge, Mr. Eckmyer introduced Mr. W. D. Hay, the speaker of the occasion, for an address on cereals, and among other things, Mr. Hay said:

"A visit to the Dominion Illustration Station on the farm of Mr. Wagar, as well as a little attention to Mr. Wagar's results from year to year, should prove both interesting and profitable to the farmers of the Orion district. The manner in which the crops have been seeded and are being looked after impress one with the fact that they have received that thorough treatment which characterizes good farming practices.

"Proceed conditions for the next few weeks are sufficiently favorable to keep crops progressing as they have done up till the present, a few of the rotation fields should yield in the neighborhood of 40 bushels per acre."

The foregoing clipping was received by Mrs. George Wagar, Sillsville, from her son, Mr. G. O. Wagar, Orion, Alta., and was the result of the crop on his farm in Southern Alberta. He had 3210 bushels of wheat, and 200 acres yet to thresh; 3200 bushels of oats, 1360 bushels of rye, 300 bushels barley; making a total of 13,710 bushels.

Gained in Health And in Weight

Now Gives All the Credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

When a young girl becomes pale, complains of exhaustion at the least exertion, has dizzy spells, headaches or stomach trouble, she should know that these are some of the many symptoms of anaemia, which means that her blood is thin and weak. In such conditions there is the most urgent need for a tonic that will promptly restore the missing qualities to the blood and thus bring back health and strength. For this purpose there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thousands of weak and ailing girls have found new health and happiness through this great medicine. Miss Gladys V. Bond, Kentville, N.S., used this treatment successfully, and says:—"I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly for the good they have done me. I was in a condition of very poor health, suffered from severe headaches and nervousness. My appetite was poor, and very little exertion would leave me tired out. On the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a few weeks I began to feel better, my appetite improved and the headaches were less frequent. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken six boxes, by which time I felt as well as ever, and I gained in weight from 98 pounds to 114 pounds. For this reason I advise all weak girls to try this medicine."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and stomach trouble. Take them as a tonic and enjoy the result-ance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

In Samoa the natives have most heartily adopted cricket as a pastime. In one match the game was opened by a gigantic fuzzy-head sending down a terrifically fast ball which beat the batsman, missed the stumps and hit the wicketkeeper on the head. The stumper happened to be looking in another direction at the moment. The spectators expected to see the injured man drop senseless to the ground. But not a bit of it. He merely rubbed his cranium thoughtfully and said, "Say, kin I take it that this game's begun?"

THRILLS OF EXPLORERS

Exploring Is Still as Exciting as In the Time of Drake.

An expedition is now forcing its way into the wilds of Brazil, paying special attention to the Matto Grosso region, in search of Col. Fawcett, and two companions who vanished over two years ago on an exploration tour.

The colonel knew that he would be faced by terrible dangers — hostile natives, fever, man-eating snakes, poisonous plants and insects, and unbridled jungle—but he had travelled extensively on the fringe of the Matta Grosso region, and he felt that the time had come for those millions of square miles of mystery to yield up their secrets.

When two years had elapsed, a search party set out. It had hardly entered the region before it was attacked by natives and had to return minus its stores, and without discovering any clue to the fate of the intrepid explorers. Other explorers besides Col. Fawcett have found that being an explorer to-day is every bit as thrilling as it was in the time of Drake and the old pioneers.

Michael Terry, the young Australian explorer, came within an ace of perishing from thirst during the last lap of his daring journey across Northern Australia by motor-car only five years ago.

With one companion, he found himself stranded in the "Never Never" country with no petrol. They abandoned the car and proceeded on foot for three days. Their water was found to be unfit to drink and the heat nearly killed them. Terry's companion left him in a state of collapse, and pushed on alone in a last desperate attempt to secure aid. The explorer was very nearly "all in" when a search-party found him two days later.

Roald Amundsen is another explorer who has more than once missed death by inches. His narrowest escape was when during his famous voyage through the Northwest Passage above the northern shores of Canada, his tiny ship, loaded with stores for a voyage of three years, grounded on some submerged rocks in a storm.

Stores were thrown overboard to lighten ship in the hope that the vessel would float off, but without success. Finally, no further stores could be spared, yet Amundsen realized that if the boat continued to pound up and down on the rocks she would go to pieces.

He decided to try a desperate expedient. He had all sail set; if the boat would not float off the rocks, it must be blown off. There followed ten minutes of terror while the seven men on board held on for their lives. Bump followed bump, each worse than the last, as the vessel was blown from rock to rock towards the deep water.

At last, after what seemed an age, they were afloat again and the danger was past. It says much for Amundsen's wonderful gift for organization that, after thus throwing overboard part of his stores, at the end of the voyage, two years later, he had enough flour left to offer a supply to an American whaler.

Not so fortunate was another explorer. In Central Asia is the Gobi Desert, a vast sunbaked, waterless region, devoid of trees, plants, or any living thing. Only one man has ever penetrated it.

That was Sezen Hedin, the Swedish explorer, who made a "dash" from one end of the desert to the other. He accomplished the feat after losing all his camels and baggage, and nearly his own life as well.

During last year over two hundred expeditions set out to explore our unknown world. Yet so well does nature guard her secrets that it will be many years before we can say that we know all there is to be known about the earth on which we live.

Miss Pirate!

There are few professions and occupations that women of the West have not invaded. They have even tackled the steeplejack's job and tried marine engineering. It has, however, been left to the women of the East to lead the way as pioneers of piracy on the high seases.

Women pirates, indeed, played an important part in some of the recent naval attacks on the West river, near Canton. One woman is said to have appeared on deck with the cutlass in her mouth and pistols in each hand and wearing a mask made from a handkerchief. She held up the purser in his office and threatened to shoot the rest of the crew unless he handed over the keys.

She was a Chinese woman, smartly dressed and wearing black patent leather shoes, white silk stockings, a serge skirt and a silk fan.

When a band of river brigands were captured recently it was found that two of them were women. Forty-one of the gang were sentenced to death, but the women were spared.

Making Safes Safer.

A new safe that has an almost human power of giving a warning should any attempt be made to rob it has been invented. Should burglars attempt to break it open by the usual methods of using heat, the material of which the safe is built gives off a series of loud reports.

The new material is in the form of plates, one inch thick, applied inside the safe. Up to the present, no method has been found of melting, breaking, or destroying the material.

Make Women's Voices Harsh.

Smoking, according to one expert, is tending to make women's voices harsh and guttural, enlarging the vocal chords and creating a general catarrhal condition.

Sleep.

Loss of sleep gives the mind slightly higher power at the expense of a heavier drain on the physical condition.

SICK ABED EIGHT MONTHS

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Could Do All Her Work and Gained in Weight

Melfort, Saskatchewan. — "I had [illegible] backaches and severe pains in my back and both sides. I was sick generally and could not sleep and I was tired most of the time for eight months. An aunt came to visit and advised me as I was unable to attend to my baby and could not do my work. She told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles I could get up and dress myself. I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. When I first took the Compound I only weighed seventy-eight pounds. Now I weigh twice as much. If I get out of sorts or weary and can't sleep I always take another bottle of the Vegetable Compound, and find it wonderfully good for female troubles, and after taking two bottles I recommended it to my neighbors. I will be only too glad to answer any letters I receive telling about it."—Mrs. WILLIAM RITCHIE, Box 486, Melfort, Saskatchewan. C

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Nancy Bradshaw, who entered into rest on Nov. 23rd, 1922.

Sad and sudden was the call of our dear mother who was loved by all;
We little thought that on that day our dear mother would be called away.
Five years have passed, our hearts still sore,
As time flies on we miss her more.
Her loving face, her gentle smile,
We seem to miss her all the while.
God loved her too, and thought it best
To take her home where loved ones rest.
She went to her work in the usual way
With a tender smile on her lips that day,
And she little thought of her fatal return,
And the broken hearts she left to mourn.
Sadly missed by Husband, seven Daughters and one Son. 47ap

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Bertha Fox, who departed this life on Nov. 25th, 1924.

One of the best whom God could lend,
A faithful daughter, true to the end;
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother. 47ap

OBITUARY

Henry Reid.

On November 1st there was laid to rest at the White Church Cemetery the remains of the late Henry Reid, Moscow, Ont. He was a patient sufferer of the dread disease cancer, from which he suffered acutely for three months or more, but the end was peace, as the words of his former pastor, the Rev. A. M. Little, who visited him a few times during his last illness: "What a comfort it would give to all those who know the end is near to have the strong faith in Christ, which he had, the faith which overcomes the world and conquers all fear."

The late Mr. Reid was a man of sound principles and sterling character, of the old Presbyterian faith, an enthusiastic temperance worker and prohibitionist, and a staunch Conservative, but one who put principle before party. He was a member of Piccadilly Royal Black Preceptory and Moscow L. O. L. No. 2711, of which he was a most energetic worker.

He was of North of Ireland descent, being the son of the late Robert Reid, formerly of County Antrim, Ireland, and his wife, Sarah Ann Black, both of Enniskillen, Ont., where he was born and spent his early days. When a young man he and his brother, John, spent a few years in Michigan around Bay City, Saginaw, and other places, in lumbering and river driving operations, at which he was one of the best. They were also at Winnipeg, Man., when it was only a small Red River settlement. Shortly after his return he was married to Permelia Craig, and he bought a farm at Moscow, Ont., where he reared his family and became a prosperous farmer. He then bought the old Amey homestead, where he built up a beautiful farmstead and spent his remaining days. He was a Presbyterian worker to the last, although in failing health for a couple of years, and had few worldly pleasures, except in his work, for he was anxious to give his children a good start in the world, in fact he gave his life for others.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, four sons and two daughters, Harry W. and Cecil E., at home; Charles H., of Belleville; Ross R., of Moscow; Violet, wife of Orderly Assistant Dayhind, Alta., and Ilah, at home; and two brothers and two sisters, John, of Enniskillen; James, of California; Martha, of Odessa, and (Hannah) Mrs. E. Hockensmith, of Carson City, Nevada. Two brothers and two sisters predeceased him, William and Joseph, of California; Mrs. D. Frank, of Moscow, and Mrs. John Stinson, of Tamworth.

The funeral, which was conducted by the residence by the pastor of the United Church, the Rev. Mackenzie, who visited him many times during his last illness, was one of the largest ever held at Moscow, and it and the many floral tributes bore silent testimony to the esteem in which he was held among his friends and neighbors. The burial service at the grave was under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodge, and there were one hundred members of the Orange Order and the Royal Black Knights of Ireland.

Among the floral offerings noted were a pillow from the family; wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Reid and Maggie Reid, L. O. L. No. 2711, Royal Black Preceptory No. 204, and the Moscow Dairy Co., of which he was a Director; and sheaves from Mr. and Mrs. W. Burgess and Laura and Mr. and Mrs. James Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wess Price and family, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers (No. 30), and a cross from the L. W. Prov. Grand Lodge of Ontario East of the L. O. B. A.

Those from a distance were his four sons and his two brothers-in-law, John Craig, of Switzerville, and Byron Storey, of Napanee.

Mr. Gibson, for some years, has occupied a position with the Carborundum Company, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and on the morning of the accident had just left the street car to go to his office, when an automobile, driven by an intoxicated man, struck him, knocking him down and running over his ankle, crushed it so as to necessity amputation. His friends will be pleased to hear that he is getting on well, recovering from the operation and shock.

On Friday evening last the annual meeting of the Newburgh branch of the Canadian Bible Society, which is an auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, was held in the School Room of the United Church. There was a large attendance. The business meeting was opened with devotional exercises, and presided over by the President, Rev. R. H. P. Anderson. The officers elected for the following year were: Pres., Rev. R. P. Spencer; Secty., Mrs. John Wartman; Treas., Mr. J. W. Courtney. After the business meeting Pattern Hills were favored by giving a picturesque history of the translation of the Holy Scriptures from the first centuries on clay tablets and writings on papyrus, and parchments down to the time of the Scriptures as found in the Mohawk and Cree Indians of Canada.

Toy Shop,
Nov. 24th, 1927.

Dear Little Children,—

I feel as if I know you all well, for Santa Claus speaks of you often and often.

I wish you could see him now, in the short while he is at home, between visits to all his Toylands!

He is rushing about the Toy Shop, painting sleighs, and winding trains, and finding dolls the head they want, running upstairs, and sometimes sliding down again to save time; dashing to the shed for sawdust, and scurrying through my sewing basket for needle and thread.

Every day he is sending off sleigh loads of toys to his headquarters in stores all over the country. You may see them yourself any day, bright and fresh from Santa Claus' hands in his Toy Departments—so that on Christmas Eve all he will have to do will be to drive around on his sleigh, gather up the Toys in his big pack, and drop them in your stockings in no time at all.

Here he is now, all piled up with a rocking horse and teddy bears, and drums and boxes. He wants me to teach a new baby doll to go to sleep.

So goodbye for the present, and we hope to hear from you soon.

Yours lovingly,
MRS. SANTA CLAUS.

A STRANGE CRATER

Did a Giant Meteor Dig This Huge Hole In Arizona.

Many conjectures have been advanced in scientific circles regarding the so-called "meteor crater" in Arizona. Many believe that a giant meteor dug this huge hole, and there now probably lies underneath it millions of dollars' worth of recoverable metals. In Science and Invention, many interesting facts and comments emanating from H. J. Minhinnick, editor of Verde Copper News, are presented. Writing in Progressive Arizona, Mr. Minhinnick acknowledges some of the possibilities of this crater.

For a time many geologists attributed the formation of the crater to volcanism, and others insisted that it was a "blow-out," caused by steam. There are, he says, three possible theories; the first, that the crater is the result of volcanic action; the second, that it is a result of an explosion of steam rising from the lower strata of the earth, and the third, that it was caused by the direct impact of a huge meteor or swarm of meteors of which the tons of iron which have been picked up on the surface were the "stragglers."

In proceeding, Mr. Minhinnick says:

Was Northern Arizona the target at which thousands, perhaps tens of thousands of years ago, there was aimed from the fathomless depths of space a monster meteor or a group of meteorites sufficiently large to be dignified with the name of a small comet.

Did this visitor strike the earth with force sufficient to dig a crater more than three-quarters of a mile in diameter and several hundred feet deep; to upturn blands of feet of solid sedimentary rocks; to reduce some of these rocks to an almost impalpable powder; to hurl out of the crater 150,000,000 tons or more of crushed and shattered sandstone and limestone, such debris forming a "rim" 120 feet or more in height above the surrounding plain, an equal amount falling back into the crater

These are questions which have engaged the attention of men of science for more than a third of a century; questions which, it is hoped, will be definitely decided in the near future.

But before discussing possible theories, Mr. Minhinnick proceeds to set down the facts, concerning which he believes there is absolutely no dispute. He writes:

In North Central Arizona, not far from the town of Winslow, on the main line of the Santa Fe Railroad, and close to the famous Canyon Diablo, there is a curious crater, or depression, 3,950 feet in one diameter and 4,150 feet in the other, surrounded by a "rim" which rises approximately 150 feet above the level plain, and which has a depth of nearly 600 feet from the top of the rim, although this is much less than the original depth.

There is not the slightest trace of volcanic activity within many miles of the crater.

The rock strata, everywhere else horizontal, are tremendously upheaved and discorded, and are all tilted up so as to slope away from the crater. In two places they are practically vertical, and between these places there is an uplifted arch, half a mile long, along the southern wall of the crater.

The plain surrounding the crater is thickly covered with huge sandstone and limestone boulders, some weighing many tons. In and around the crater are tremendous deposits of "rock flour," consisting of sandstone ground to an almost impalpable powder. In many cases these deposits are ten feet or more in thickness.

In and around this crater there have been gathered more metallic meteorites than have been found on the entire surface of the earth elsewhere. These range in weight from a few grains to 1,800 pounds.

The crater was first noticed by white men in 1871, when A. F. Banta, a scout for Gen. Crook, discovered it and christened it "Franklin's Hole." A few years later the attention of the scientific world was drawn to the crater and it was visited, in the early nineties, by several distinguished scientists. The famous Swedish astronomer, Svante Arrhenius, declared: "It is, perhaps, the most interesting feature on the surface of our planet." In the summer of 1902, D. M. Barringer, a mining engineer of Philadelphia, visited the locality and became convinced that the crater had been formed by the impact of a huge meteor or a small comet. He located the ground as four mineral claims and inaugurated a campaign of exploration.

The Happiest People.

The happiest people in the world are the African tribes, according to Mr. Percy-Kerr, British explorer. "My experience with African tribes, remote and uncontaminated with modern civilization, leads me to think that they are better able to live happily than we are," he told a meeting of the British Science Association. "Happiness has been defined, 'to have the fewest wants and to know it.' The tribes in some parts of Africa are happy by acceptation of the definition."

An Unclean Spirit.

"What is an unclean spirit?" the teacher asked young Mike during the Scripture lesson.

"Plase sor, a shurty divil," said Mike promptly.

To make Dominion Tires and other good tires worth more to the public;

To give the man who buys tires the mileage he pays for;

To make it possible for car owners to drive with greater faith in the soundness of their tires;

To make the care of tires as high as lightly as possible on the motorist;

A system of service to car owners has been organized, known as Dominion Tire Depots.

At these Depots, which are readily recognized by their distinctive colors, orange and blue, the motorist may expect to find well-equipped and completely organized tire service, along the most modern lines.

I agree entirely with this idea of organized service and now announce that I am operating a Dominion Tire Depot.

Drop in and have your tires checked for pressure. It's a step to greater mileage. And it will give me a chance to explain the Dominion Depot idea to you.

Heals Eczema In 7 Days or Less

Or Your Money Back

Here is a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost, that will do more towards helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

Not only does this great healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds, but boils, abcesses and ulcers that are discharging are almost immediately relieved and cleanly healed.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of eczema is instantly stopped; the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of burgers' itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use, and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. Wallace's Drug Store can supply you at any time.

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is an excellent medicine to destroy worms.

A young man was boasting that his family traced its ancestry much farther back than the Conqueror.

"I suppose," sneered one of his friends, "you'll be telling us that your forefathers were in the Ark with Noah?"

"Certainly not," said the young man, with a lift of his eyebrows. "My people had a boat of their own."

For Catarrh.—It is one of the chief recommendations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it can be used internally with as much success as it can outwardly. Sufferers from catahrr will find that the Oil when used according to directions will give prompt relief. Many sufferers from this ailment have found relief in the Oil and have sent testimonials.

A young woman of fair complexion remarked to her escort that all her ancestors were blondes.

"Ah", he returned wittily, "you come of preferred stock."

Wretched from Asthma. Strength of body and vigor of mind are inevitably impaired by the visitations of asthma. Who can live under the cloud of recurring attacks and keep body and mind at their full efficiency? Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy dissipates the cloud by removing the cause. It does relieve. It does restore the sufferer to normal bodily trim and mental happiness.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, a most effective vermifuge. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring those healthy conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is a most trustworthy worm exterminator.

A burly navvy, with a mate, boarded a first-class carriage on the London District Railway. A pompous elderly man, complete with spats, "mutton-chops," and topper, by whom they squeezed themselves into a seat, peered at them dubiously over his glasses, and at last said, with a slight cough: "Er, this is a first-class carriage." "Good," replied the other, without even deigning to look round. "Me and my mate feel first-class this morning." And an ordinary, genial, third-class grin appeared on every face in the compartment.

A VALUABLE TREE.

All Kinds of Things Are Made From the Coconut Tree.

There is probably no tree so valuable to man as the coco-palm. Margarine, lard, soap, and candles are all produced from the oil of the coconut, and from the coir or fibre with which the latter is covered, ropes, brushes, mats, and a host of other useful articles are manufactured. Even fine perfumes can be made from the coconut tree!

The coconut has not always been highly valued. At one time the average man regarded the nut as merely a target at which to shy at fair grounds. When it was discovered, however, that from its fruit (or nut) a valuable oil could be extracted, coconut plantations began to spring up in all parts of the tropics, particularly in the Malay States, Ceylon, British North Borneo, the West Indies, and the South Sea Islands.

When the wonderful properties of the coco-palm were discovered, the world was beginning to suffer from a shortage of animal fats and oils. Even to-day, without the coconut, there would be a famine in oils and fats, and all kinds of food would be much dearer in consequence.

A fully-grown coconut tree attains a height of about 80 feet, with a diameter of about 15 inches. The stem is surmounted by a crown of twenty or more leaves, and bears flowers, which produce the nuts. The coconuts are a little larger than an ordinary football, and weigh from five to six pounds apiece.

The husk of the nut, a mass of fibre lying between the smooth outer skin and the shell, is about two inches thick, and weighs nearly two pounds. Most of the coconuts seen in these islands are stripped of this husk. The "flesh," or white portion of the nut, is the most valuable from a commercial point of view. When the nuts are picked from the tree they are cut in two and the flesh is placed on trays to dry in the sun. From the copra (as the sun-dried kernels are known), most of our present-day margarine is manufactured, says an Old Country paper.

WALKING ACROSS A LAKE.

Long Gliders Render It Almost Impossible For Walker to Sink.

Visitors to the Worther See, the largest lake in Carinthia, have been astonished recently to see a woman and two men walking together across the waters of the lake. The Worther See is nearly half a mile broad at this point, and the adventurous trio "walked" quietly across the surface from on bank to another.

One of the men was Herr A. G. Kollmann, an engineer on the Klagenfurt forestry staff, who has invented this method of walking on the water.

The invention consists of long gliders, similar to broad skis, which are fixed to ordinary boots, and which, it is claimed, render it almost impossible for the walker to sink.

A man who has watched the demonstration obtained permission to put on a pair of the gliders, and, without being instructed, strolled out into the lake.

The water was rough, but he had no difficulty in threading his way among a number of boats, and finally reached the shore three-quarters of a mile from his starting point.

He was followed in the afternoon by a number of men and women who had watched the previous successful efforts, and who walked gaily about the lake without any difficulty.

The inventor declares that lake-gliding requires no practice, and that non-swimmers run no undue risk as long as they do not go too far away from the shore, as the gliders will serve to support anyone meeting with an accident.

Hospital for Sick Children

67 College St., Toronto 2, Ont.

December, 1927.

Dear Mr. Editor:—

Most of your readers are well aware of the wonderful service which the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto is enabled to perform through the generosity of its friends. During the Christmas season the Hospital appropriately makes its annual appeal for the funds necessary to carry on the work throughout the new year. Now is the time to give tangible expression to the feeling of good-will which "The Sick Kids" Hospital—as it is familiarly called—has won for itself in every part of this province.

The magnitude of the Hospital's task continually enlarges. In its little blue cots there are always nearer three hundred than two hundred youngsters being tenderly ushered back to health and strength. For every patient a dollar a day must be secured through voluntary contributions which adds up to at least $100,000 for each year of the hospital's ministry.

Its service, however, is not confined to its own four walls. Note these arresting facts. The infant mortality rate in Ontario is 78.5, while in Quebec it is 142. In our towns and cities the loss of infant life is less than half what it is in the sister province. Now, for Ontario's priceless advantage, one outstanding reason is the maintenance by public benevolence of a world-famous provincial institution dedicated to the care of the on-coming generation. An entire department of the Hospital for Sick Children is devoted to the care of babies under one year of age. Here every aid which medical science can devise is extended to help the tiny patients through the first hard round in their struggle for existence.

Familiarity with the methods here employed is an invaluable asset to doctors and nurses enlisting for service in the homes of the province. Thus is the childhood of even the most remote community within the compass of the wide-spread ministration of the Hospital for Sick Children benefitted. It is indeed a work for humanity which deserves cordial remembrance at Christmas time.

Faithfully yours,

IRVING E. ROBERTSON,
Chairman Appeal Committee.

RUGBY

B.H.S. 16, N.C.I. 0.

Once again N.C.I. is forced to admit defeat, but this time to the winners of the Bay of Quinte League, namely the Belleville High School twelve. On Tuesday the Belleville field was a mass of mud, and during the first half a cold rain made the playing and players miserable. When the game was over the two teams were mud through and through, and soaked as well.

While the score does not indicate the superiority of B.H.S., nevertheless that is what counts, and without a doubt the best team won.

"Bud" Galloway, one of Belleville's best all-round and cleanest athletes, made the most outstanding gains for the visitors. He bucked his way over for the record try, and is a hard man to stop on the end runs. Ross, Redfern and St. Denis, were also very much in limelight. Redfern always came up smiling, although he seemed to get more than his share of mud. Cowling, the quarterback, was also very effective, scoring the last touch after several clever fakes. Their first try was made when the N.C.I. backs let a tricky kick slip and Belleville recovered. MacFadden was forced to rouge, and since no touch was converted, the total was 16.

The locals all played well, but it was Daverin's sensational tackling that saved Belleville from piling up a higher score. He brought down Galloway time after time when the latter was seemingly away for a touch. Asselstine, Exley, Boyes, and Conway got in their share, but the elusive B.H.S. half got past them more than once. "Pa" Howitt was back again, after being "on the hospital list" for three weeks. The line tightened up about the middle of the first quarter and played exceedingly well. Belleville tried time after time to break it but it was like hitting a stone wall. The playing was hard and the men had to be changed often and broke up a great many plays. Belleville lost ground seven times on off-sides and forward passes, but never once was N.C.I. penalized.

The following are the teams :—

B.H.S.—Flying wing, St. Denis; halves, Galloway, Ross, Redfern; quarter, Cowling; snap, Faulkner; insides, Gillen, Sprague; middles, Kinnear, Twiddy; outsides, Byrns, Williams; subs., Smith, Parnall, Champagne, Morgan, Blakely, Cousins.

N.C.I.—Flying wing, Boyes; halves, Conway, MacFadden, Gibbard; quarter, Daverin; snap, Webster; insides, MacGregor, Dean; middles, Howitt, Way; outsides, Exley, Asselstine; subs., VanLuven, Gilbride, Vick, Gibson, McGuire, Templeton.

Referee—Reynolds, Queen's University.

Umpire—Armstrong, Toronto.

Timer—G. W. Gibbard, Napanee.

After the game both teams scrapped the "dust" off, and then enjoyed a fine lunch at Dickens', supplied by the Bellgville team. N.C.I. can take a defeat from a team of Belleville's calibre without disgrace, and can only wish them every success for their remaining games. They play the powerful Delta squad from Hamilton next.

N.C.I. team is very grateful to Messrs. Gibbard, Caton, Boyes, and Exley for the use of their cars for the transportation of the team. If it was not for the generosity of the business men these games would be practically impossible.

ENTERPRISE

Considerable excitement was created in our village on Sunday last, when it became known that there was a wreck on the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. Dr. Horton was immediately called. He was the means of saving several lives by heroic effort and speedy work. He had two coaches full of casualties to look after. Several valises have bled to death but for his prompt action.

Then our undertaker, Sid. D. Wagar, was called to take care of the dead. He had to convey six mutilated bodies from the wreck to the vault in Enterprise. Among the dead was the body of Wm. Barnett, the engineer on the train. Mr. Wagar shipped the body to Smiths Falls on Monday, after the Coroner, Dr. Cowan, of Napanee, had given his permit. Then on Tuesday he had orders from The Canadian Pacific officials to ship the bodies of four men and one woman to Toronto. All the week a constant stream of spectators and railway officials from the government and railway policemen have been in the village. This wreck scene will never be forgotten by those who saw it.

Merrick, who gave a splendid sermon, assisted by the choir in a service of song. On Monday night a supper was held on the following Wednesday evening. An excellent program was given by the "People's Concert Company", with Mrs. Catharine Powell as reader. The receipts of the evening amounted to $220.00. The Quarterly Official Board and the members of the various congregations are grateful to all for their hearty co-operation in making this anniversary such a success.—Mr. Wilson's Society will meet in the Brick Church on Friday evening.

OBITUARY

Mr. Thomas Copeland Graham.

The many friends of Mr. Thomas Copeland Graham were very sorry to hear that he passed away last Thursday morning, after a comparatively short illness, although in poor health for some time. Mr. Graham was born about half a mile from Odessa, and practically all his life was spent in that vicinity. Owing to failing health he retired from his farm over a year ago and purchased the W. R. Lake residence. He was a man of sterling qualities and a highly respected citizen, and will be greatly missed by a large number of relatives and friends. To mourn his loss, besides the widow, are one step-son and four daughters, Peter of Toronto; John, of Watertown; Oscar, of Westbrook, and Roy, on the homestead; also two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Marshall and Miss Stella, Toronto, and Miss Bertha, at home; and one sister, Mrs. Wilson, Watertown, all of whom were present at the funeral, which was held last Saturday afternoon, from his late home to St. Alban's Church. Rev. G. Swayne officiated. The Bath Choir sang beautifully during the service. The casket was banked with floral offerings, which gave evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers were his three sons and Mr. Marshall and Mr. Brant, of Toronto, and Harry Lee. Interment took place in Wilton cemetery.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Tamworth, Nov. 30th, 1927.

Dear Sir and Bro.—On behalf of John W. Bell, R.S.C. No. 18, we beg to convey to you the sympathy of the Preceptory in the bereavement you have sustained during the life-time you father. A strong tie has been broken, and you cannot but feel the effects of such a severance of relationship. At a time like this it is a great consolation to know that your esteemed father passed away in peace and charity with his neighbors and in the enjoyment of the respect and affection of all the brethren. Your father also during his life-time was granted many blessings by Divine Providence, and we trust and believe that he now enjoys blessings far greater than those of earth.

We wish you, dear Sir Knight, and your family every comfort and happiness during many years to come.

I am, dear Sir Knight, and
Yours fraternally,
O. A. McKNIGHT,
W.P.
C. E. LOCHEAD,
D.P.

No happiness like the happiness of sharing. Remember the Santa Claus fund.

POULTRY DAYS IN NAPANEE

The reputation of Napanee as Ontario's leading poultry centre was sustained on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, when the buyers from the large Canadian packing houses were here to purchase in the open market from the poultry producers.

Never before has there been so many cars and conveyances in Napanee at any one time. The streets in the centre of the town were crowded and packed solid, so that it was almost impossible to move them for several hours.

The weather on Wednesday was very disagreeable and wet, but that did not deter the producers, many of whom came from far distances. Twenty ton of poultry came from Amherst Island, some from as far East as Battersea, and one truckload came from the vicinity of Kitchener.

As an evidence of the interest in this growing market, the Government had their movie men here for the purpose of getting pictures, but it is feared the wet weather will interfer with the success of the pictures. So many were the people with poultry to sell on Wednesday, that it was impossible to get them unloaded, and over eighty cars had to remain parked over night.

The prices were from 3 to 3½ cents lower than last year. The buyers account for that in two ways. First, there was not the same demand this year, and then the quality was not quite up to that of last year; not nearly so many milk fed chickens were to be seen. Those who had prime fowl got the price they demanded. The producers should remember that the buyers will pay the top price for quality goods.

The prevailing prices were as follows:—

Fowl	15c. to 20c.
Turkey	34c. to 37c.
Ducks	15c. to 18c.
Geese	15c. to 18c.
Chicken	23c. to 29c.

There were about 20c. for all kinds, which was about 3½c. to 4c. less than last year.

Though accurate figures will not be available until the banks have completed their work, yet the amount paid out up the time of going to press was about $90,000.00. In the neighborhood of 185 tons were bought in the two days.

PERENNIAL CLIMBING PLANTS

Many kinds of perennial climbing plants may be used to improve the appearance of houses. A vine will often break the monotony of a straight wall, and rough, unsightly stumps, boulders, rocks and old stumps of trees may be made things of beauty with a few judiciously placed climbing plants. For many years a large number of kinds of these plants have been under test at the Central Experimental Farm and a descriptive list of them is contained in a new bulletin on Ornamental Trees, Shrubs, and Woody Climbers, distributed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The bulletin describes many good, hardy native climbers that may be obtained with little expense. It is pointed out that though these climbers usually make rapid growth when once established, it is better to thoroughly prepare the soil before planting. Since the soil about buildings is generally poor it is advisable to replace it with a good loamy soil mixed with well-rotted manure.

A PROMISE MORE THAN KEPT.

When the publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal two years ago announced that the new owner of the paper wished them to reduce the subscription price from two dollars to one dollar a year, they promised that not a single feature of the paper would be eliminated, but new features would be added, and the paper made more valuable than ever. It is frankly admitted by the great army of readers that their promise has been more than fulfilled, and to-day The Family Herald and Weekly Star at one dollar a year is the marvel of the newspaper world. No home in Canada would regret this investment. Just think of a great big 72 page publication at less than two cents per week, and every page of it alone worth the money. No wonder The Family Herald and Weekly Star has over a million readers. It deserves them all, and more, too.

ODESSA

The Peerless Jubilee Concert Co. gave a very fine entertainment in the United Church last Wednesday night. The many choice selections were appreciated by the large audience. It was a great success financially and otherwise. The concert was given in behalf of the Choir.

Mr. Garnet Moore, who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Kilgannon, returned to her home in Watertown, last Friday.

Mrs. W. R. Lee, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. John Manzur, returned to her home in Toronto last Sunday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Manzur, who contemplates spending the winter there.

Frank McCormac motored from his home in St. Catharines last Friday. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Bond, who spent the past summer there. Mr. and Mrs. Bond's many friends were pleased to hear that they had returned to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Laidley, Kingston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. King, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Douglas Emmons and little son, Donald, Kingston, spent last week with relatives.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Friday.

The Special Committee, on County Roads reported, enclosing the County Road Superintendent's report of expenditure on County Road construction and maintainance in 1927, up to October 1st, in detail, showing total expenditure:—Construction of roads, $92,520.23; construction of bridges $9,546.00; total $102,068.23. Maintainance roads $44,127.23; general account $5,239.21. Total expenditure $151,434.67.

In addition to the above there is a balance owing to the contractors for the amiesite roads of $8,608.77.

The amount authorized by the Council on roads was $100,000.00 for construction, and $50,000.00 for maintainance, and the over expenditure is $10,043.44 occasioned by an extra amount of amiesite laid to fill gaps in the road, and the extra tax applied to the road from Selby north to Sharp's Corners.

Considerable discussion took place as to the reason and responsibility for the shortfall. Report adopted.

A By-law to borrow $33,571.25 from the Dominion Bank was introduced, and through its various stages, and finally passed.

On motion a vote of thanks was tendered to Chas. Ball by the County Council for their entertainment by Mr. Ball on their visit to his home last summer. Also to the gentlemen who furnished cars for the transportation of the party.

Moved by Coun. Ball, seconded by Coun. Glenn, that on account of a misunderstanding, the Township of Denbigh, Kaladar and Amherst Island were charged with an advance of $300, which amount was greater than the amount they were entitled to receive, and the present motion is to allow these townships to retain the extra money they received in 1926, as the County have already received a 50% Government bonus on the amount paid.

Communication from Victoria Industrial School, re committment of one Blower to that institution, was read and filed.

The following accounts were ordered paid:—

U. M. Wilson, rent, 1925, $30.00; U. M. Wilson, rent, 1926-27, $200.00; U. M. Wilson, rent, 1927, $75.00; S. R. Hart & Co., Registry Office, $50.60; Templeton & Son, $57.20; Newby's Bookstore, $11.15; Boyle & Son, $4.60.

Mr. U. M. Wilson was heard in reference to his rent account. $305.00, explaining that by arrangement with the committee of 1926, Mr. Wilson's allowance for rent was raised to $100.00 per year, and produced the Clerk's letter acknowledging the increase in rent.

Re account Township of Ernestown, per J. Herbert, $62.00, $30.00 was ordered paid.

Accounts, E. J. Corkill, sundries, $16.30; and W. E. Loyst, $13.50, were ordered paid.

Moved by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Loyst, that the Council recommend Mr. Jos. Dawson as a tile drainage expert. Carried.

CIRCUIT LADIES' AID CONCERT.

In Yarker, on Friday evening, Nov. 18th, the Ladies' Aid of the Yarker Circuit of the Napanee River Pastoral Charge held their annual concert in the League Hall. Before the hour of commencing the program arrived, the hall was filled to the doors with an eager, waiting audience, expectant of an evening's good enjoyment. They were not disappointed.

The program consisted of two one-act plays, one "Murder Will Out", by the ladies of Colebrook, and the other, "Jumbo Jim", by the Petworth Young People. Both these playettes were well acted by the players, and well listened to by the audience.

Between the plays, a debate was given on the subject of "Money vs. Brains", by two ladies from Moscow and two from Yarker, which resulted in Yarker's favor by a unanimous vote over the "yellow metal". Perhaps the judges, having more brains than money, were the ones to give the decision.

Instrumental music was furnished in the form of solos by Miss Bessie and Mr. Borden Leonard, their selections being highly appreciated by the audience.

A special feature of the entertainment was the singing by Mrs. Waterhouse, of Smiths Falls, who graciously gave of her splendid talent to the success of the evening's program. Mrs. Waterhouse is a member of the United Church choir in her home town, and sings the contralto part in the choir's mixed quartette. She is the possessor of an exceptionally fine voice, clear and strong, and sings with perfect articulation. Her voice is specially adapted for solo and concert work.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Isaac Fraser.

On Friday, October 21st, 1927, there passed away, at her late residence, Sarah Ann Fraser, beloved wife of Mr. Isaac Fraser. Mrs. Fraser was born at Big Island in her 74th year, where she spent her long life within Ernesttown Township. She was of U. E. L. stock. Early in life she united with the church, the Methodist Church at Violet, and at union entered the United Church. She was a faithful member of the Sunday School, and continued to serve in that department many years. She was much interested in missionary work and gave of her best to the W. M. S. During the war her patriotism was aglow and several scores of pairs of socks were knit for the soldiers overseas, and her inspiring zeal at the cool until the guns ceased on the firing line. Sixty-three years ago she was happily married, and in passing leaves behind, her husband, three sons, Mrs. Jas. Hall, of Newburgh; Mrs. Scott, of Montreal, and Mrs. Lucas, of Odessa; and two sons, William and Isaac, of Ernesttown. Interment was made at the Violet cemetery, on Monday, October 24th, 1927.

FATHER SICK! CHILDREN SUFFERING!

This letter came in the morning mail:—

To the Beaver Santa Claus Fund.

I am calling your attention to a family who are greatly in need. It is

His wife has been sick in bed a long time, and only now is able to walk a short distance. They are right up against hard luck. Mr. is a good fellow to work, but he is in poor health himself, and has a little family to look after. Pretty hard, isn't it? The poor man hasn't the money even to live and make ends meet. Can't you help him and his family in their time of need? The original is in the office—names are left out for obvious reasons.

This and other families and children are suffering in our town of plenty and wealth. The money is coming in disappointingly slow. Within the next two weeks we must have a hundred dollars or more to make sure of a real Christmas. Think of that and get a subscription in at once. Make cheque payable Beaver Santa Claus Fund.

CAMDEN EAST

The Women's Institute's monthly meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stewart' on Thursday last. About thirty were in attendance. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Salisbury gave an excellent report, which was appreciated. There was a committee appointed to look after the sick and the needy at Christmas time. The sewing class, which closed on Friday, was a decided success.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Thomas and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Amey.—Mr. and Mrs. B. Close, of Croydon, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Black, en route from Kingston.—Mrs. F. E. McWilliams and Mrs. G. The ladies will serve afternoon tea, and in the evening an excellent concert is to be provided. The special feature will be a two act comedy play, time about 1½ hours, as well as other first class entertainment. Lunch will be served to all following the concert. Reserve this date.—A number from here attended the shower in the Parish Hall, on Friday night last, for Mr. and Mrs. Pennell, from Oshawa. Mrs. Pennell was one of our fair ladies, being Miss Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamilton, Bethel Street.

A DELIGHTFUL DANCE.

The Masonic Hall on Friday evening last was the scene of one of the most delightful dances ever given in Napanee. Mr. and Mrs. John Geale Daly, the host and hostess, received in the daintily decorated hall room, where evergreens, huge yellow mums and colored lights made a fairyland for dancing. Bowls of mums were also placed in the lounge, the halls, and on the supper table. Mrs. Daly wore a charming French gown of pink crepe, embroidered in gold thread and beads. Miss Losey, Johnstown and Miss Shaw received with their hostess; Miss Losey wearing yellow georgette, beaded in crystal; Miss Johnston being in blue French georgette with sequins, and Miss Shaw in a Paris gown of flame color, with crystal and velvet trimming.

Mrs. Georgie Scott and Miss Doris Anderson assisted with the programmes and guest book. Warning-ton's Orchestra from Kingston furnished music for dancing, and favors were distributed to the guests during the evening. Prize and Confetti dances created much amusement, and the many pretty gowns made a pretty picture throughout the evening. A buffet supper was served at midnight. Out-of-town and local guests were Miss Marguerite Losey, of Cleveland, Ohio; Miss Aimee Shaw, Miss Jean Johnston, Mr. Clifford Seygert, Mr. Reginald Batten, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Travers, Mr. and Mrs. Wray VanLuven, Miss Lena Pyke, Mr. W. Cusich, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bodes and Mr. and Mrs. W. Root, of Brockville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Metcalfe, Deseronto.

A TIGHT SQUEEZE

One of the worst indignities to which the citizens of Napanee have been subjected to in a long time is that of having the Postoffice door slammed in its face. That a town the size of Napanee should be forced to squeeze through half a door in order to get its mail, is a direct travesty of common decency and courtesy, to say nothing of service which the Postoffice is supposed to specialize in.

It is a common sight these wet days to see a line-up of half a dozen or more patiently and slowly moving through a space about two foot six inches wide, in order to get into the office, while some long suffering citizen acts as porter and holds the half door open for the single file parade, or to see someone going in, bang into some other coming out. Poultry day was simply a disgrace. What will happen at Christmas, when the snow comes and the walks get slippery, can only be imagined.

When the whole town can be inconvenienced this way without a word of explanation, it is time for a protest. We in Napanee take life so easily that we can get away with anything, while the rest of us sit around or stand in file like a lot of "Dumb Doras" without a word.

For years half of each door has been nailed up, and conditions were bad enough even then at that, but now only half of one door is left. The next step, doubtless, will be to nail that too and force us to climb through the windows.

If the Town Council or the Chamber of Commerce want to justify their existence, they have a dandy chance right now.

—ONE OF THE SQUEEZED.

NEWBURGH

The monthly meeting of the Newburgh W. C. T. U. was held in the vestry of the United Church, on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 17th. After the usual opening service and routine business, the Superintendent of Travellers' Aid work, Dr. Detweiler, was introduced and addressed the meeting. She spoke of work among the children, and said that fifty years of work among children resulted in the United States having a prohibition law. We have neglected the children with the result in Ontario that we have returned to sale of liquor for beverage purposes. We must now begin again to educate the young along temperance lines, working for the future. Speaking of her own department of work—Traveller's Aid—she explained the methods used, which make this a preventive agency which is really better than rescue work. Girls travelling should be warned against having any communication with strangers. Mothers should know the need for care and safeguard their daughters by having the local representative send word when they are leaving home for the large centres or even to a local place if they have no friends there. The speaker advocated having a local committee consisting of a representative from each congregation, to work together, rather than any society directing them to their particular church and keeping in touch with them till the new organization takes their new home. Mrs. Lucas is the local representative in Newburgh. After the meeting had a cup of tea which was served by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Moore, assisted by Miss Milligan and Miss Pero.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunt, of Kingston, were with Mrs. A. Conway on Sunday.

His wife survives, also an adopted daughter, Mrs. Walter Clancy, of Oshawa. Mrs. R. Price, of Wesley, is a niece of the deceased. The funeral was held in the United Church, on Monday afternoon, Rev. H. P. Anderson officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and family, of Trenton, visited with Mrs. Fred Perry during the week.

Mr. Charles Carter has returned from Kingston Hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Farley is confined to the house, recovering from the effects of a fall on Sunday evening.

Extra Eggs Extra Profits

Every sack of Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash contains the correctly balanced feed to make hens lay most eggs. You get biggest profits out of Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash.

The base of Quaker Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash is pure oatmeal. This, with many other important ingredients, provides the right amounts of protein and carbohydrates which every money-making hen must have. Bone meal and calcium carbonate supply the minerals so necessary for heavy egg production. Those elements which the hen reproduces in eggs are fully restored to her. The Cod Liver Meal in Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash replaces missing sunlight during winter months, and its vitamines make all ingredients do better work.

Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash is finely ground. Easily digested. No waste. Hens eat it all. Gives you more eggs, bigger and stronger-shelled eggs, and of more uniform size. Therefore, it is the most economical feed you can buy. Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash and Ful-O-Pep Scratch Grains form the ideal combination to make heavy layers. Ask your dealer for them.

THE NEW FORD

"The new Ford car is now on display in the larger centres of population," said Mr. Anderson, local Ford dealer, in commenting on the recent announcement of an advance showing of the New Car. "The big factories at Ford, Ontario, are beginning to produce cars in limited number, but they have not yet swung into the enormous volume of production that will be necessary to satisfy the demand for this extraordinary car, and I expect that it will be a few days yet before we have a car for display in our own town.

"In the meantime," he continued, "I have secured large display pictures showing each of the six passenger models—the Tudor Sedan, Fordor Sedan, Coupe, Sport Coupe, Phaeton, and Roadster—and a supply of catalogues giving full specifications on the car, and am showing these in my showroom. They afford an idea of the splendid consequence of the Ford company's long and enormous task in designing and perfecting the new car."

"I have ridden in the car and driven it," said Mr. Anderson, referring to his visit to the branch of the Ford Motor Company at Toronto, "and it surpasses my greatest expectations in every regard."

Mr. Anderson describes the new car as a car of handsome appearance available in a wide range of color combinations, combining all the best features of contemporary car design irrespective of price and incorporating a number of features which have never before been available. "It offers great power, comfort, high speed, flexibility, unusual getaway, remarkable roadability, economical operation and rugged, simplified construction. It is a car of the highest quality through and through," he said.

The lines of the new Ford are distinctive, according to Mr. Anderson. A wheelbase of 103½ inches, lower suspension, improved lines, gracefully contoured one-piece fenders command attention and suggest speed and stability. But it is in performance that it is most striking. It is capable of more than 60 miles per hour for hours on end, and will hold that speed without discomfort to passengers and without injury to the mechanism. It accelerates at a terrific pace and can be made to literally leap forward when the clutch is engaged. It has been driven at more than 40 miles per hour in intermediate gear. It manoeuvres with great ease, holds the roughest roads at speed, holds on sharp unbanked curves at 45 miles per hour and has a turning radius of only 17 feet.

Bodies of the new Ford car are of all-steel construction, and a new type of one-piece steel-spoke wheel employing a drop centre tire and eliminating the old fashioned rim and rim clamps is employed. The transmission is selective sliding gear with three forward speeds and one reverse, and the clutch is of a plate multiple dry-disc design, patterned after the famous Lincoln clutch. Rear axle is of the three-quarter floating design which employs the axle shafts for driving only and does not require them to carry the weight of the car. Final drive is by spiral bevel gear permanently adjusted and noiseless.

Full torque tube drive is used and relieves the springs of all starting and stopping strains. Four-wheel, internal expanding, mechanically actuated bre employed. Throughout the design, ease and quietness of operation, great strength and accessibility of all parts, and economical operation have been kept in mind. According to Mr. Anderson, the purpose back of the new car is to provide a small car which will incorporate all light car advantages with the features of comfort, speed and safety hitherto regarded as peculiar to heavy and expensive machines.

The four-cylinder powerplant of the new Ford develops 40 horse-power at 2200 revolutions. The S. A. E. rating for licence purposes is 24.03 h.p. This great power has been effected without sacrifice of economy and the new car will give 30 or more miles to the gallon, Mr. Anderson says. Through use of a larger cylinder bore and shorter stroke, by static and dynamic balancing of flywheel and crankshaft and by the use of light reciprocating parts and careful balancing of all parts the new motor is practically vibrationless.

The Model A Ford motor incorporates a number of unusual features of design which have been born of years of experiment. Most of these features make for long life, simplified service and more economical maintenance. Lubrication is a combination of pump and splash systems while cooling combines thermo-syphon and pump circulation of water. The action of the water pump is desifned that it comes into effect after the motor has reached the ideal temperature for engine performance, and overcooling at low engine speeds or in cold weather is thus avoided. The motor itself is essentially a low-speed motor, developing its maximum power at 2200 r. p. m. This is consistent with established Ford practice which always has aimed at securing a minimum amount of piston travel per mile of road travel, with a resultant minimum of strain and wear on moving parts.

The motor is set in the frame at an angle of 3½ degrees which affords practically a straight-line drive to the rear axle. The clutch comprises four driving and five driven discs which operate without lubrication. A feature of the clutch is that on disengagement it immediately and completely neutralizes the driven discs with the result that the gearshift lever may be snapped across immediately without fear of clashing gears. Clutches of this type have hitherto been peculiar to high-priced cars.

The transmission, Mr. Anderson says, departs from conventional light car practice in the use of ball and roller bearings instead of bushings. These bearings make for more satisfactory operation, smoother performance and longer life. The steering gear also is unique in the light car field, being of the irreversible worm and sector type with the worm carried in ball bearings. Front-end weight of the car also is carried on roller bearings which are placed at the top of the spindle bolts, resulting in unusual steering ease.

Transverse semi-elliptic springs are used, and for it Ford engineers claim the following advantages: that the springs contact with the frame at only one point and that at the centre line of the chassis with the result that the chassis is subjected to no twisting strains even on the worst roads; that it permits full torque tube drive; that it reduces unsprung weight to a minimum and improves riding qualities; that the springs have only their natural function of absorbing road shocks to perform; and that danger of uneven application of front wheel brakes is avoided because the front axle is held rigidly at right angles to the centre line of the chassis and these is no possibility of uneven tension upon brake rods.

The brakes are of special Ford design and operate on the inner surface of substantial steel drums. All brake parts are cadmium plated as a precaution against rust and each brake is instantaneously adjustable through manipulation of a small adjusting stud on the exterior of each brake drum. Brake pedal or hand lever will apply all four brakes simultaneously, sixty per cent of the braking effort is applied to the rear wheels and forty per cent to the front wheels.

The new Ford car is completely equipped with five steel spoke wheels, Alemite-Zerk chassis lubrication, four hydraulic shock absorbers, speedometer, windshield wiper, rear-view mirror, remote door-latch controls, etc. There are six body models: Tudor, Fordor, Phaeton, Coupe, Sport Coupe, Sport Roadster, each available in a number of color options. Mr. Anderson expects to have Tudor and Phaeton models on display here soon.

Famous Kings

"BLUFF KING HAL" is the title of one of the many pictures in the Famous Kings series which spread pestilence and death in the English realm. He lived in times of all man's woes, and in addition was a victim of wife complications.

Henry's strength was also his weakness. He was fierce in self-assertion and self-love. Even Wolsey could not save him once he had outwitted him.

In spite of his failings, Henry left a lasting influence on the destiny of England. He laid the foundation of the Navy, and to this day is the great asset to the work of the nations.

THE "EMPEROR" confers upon you powers undreamed of by any king of old and not surpassed by any reigning monarch. You, too, can command the talent of the hour and enjoy entertainment that would delight a royal audience.

The "Emperor" is a six tube stabilized tuned radio frequency receiver with two stages of tuned radio frequency, detector, and three stages of a newly developed type of audio frequency.

It is specially adapted for use with "B" battery eliminator but will work equally well with "B" batteries. Each screened coil is completely shielded in copper which eliminates all interference and makes for knife edged selectivity.

The "Emperor" Console is the last word in cabinet design and is a remarkably handsome piece of furniture. It has separate compartments for all accessories including loud speaker.

A demonstration will enlist you under the banner of the King!

No More Pretty Shoes—for Dorothy

Dorothy peers shyly at you over a tangle of pretty dark curls. If you are a man, she is hoping against hope that you are not her father. The cause his used to come and go and bring her pretty shoes. He doesn't come any more, understand. Dorothy is barefoot these days. If you are a woman, understand that Dorothy belongs to her mother and that her mother did give her shoes.
